CHILDREN'S CORNER BEFORE THE SANDMAN COMES

ONE day in the late fall, three little leaves were talking together under a big pine tree. "Wasn't that fun to sail through the air!" exclaimed the oak leaf.

story—what happened after Jack Frost came? "Oh!" laughed the oak leaf, his ill humor instantly forgotten, "then the winds came and loosened us from the tree and gave us such a sail!

"I wonder what it wants," said the other person. "I wish it was happy, for I love its leaves that stay green after the others have blown away."

And all night long the pine leaves fretted and sighed and begged the wind to take them for a sail.

And every stiff little pine leaf bristled erectly and shone happily in the morning sunshine.
