Bo all night long the pine leaves fretted and sighed and begged the wind to take them a sail.

"We were tired of our plain green dresses and tired of our work. Then one day who should come along but old Jack Frost, who took pity on our greenness and gave us beautiful colored frocks. See how handsome I look in this red and green dress?" And the oak leaf spread himself out flat so that the pine tree could see all of his lovely colors.

"I think I'm handsomer than any old oak leaf," said the sycamore proudly, "see my lovely brown dress?" "Pooh!" interrupted the maple, "any one can see I am the handsomest. None of you has such colors as my reds and yellows!"

"I'm sure you are all three very beautiful," said the pine tree tactfully. "but I want to hear the rest of the

> POLITENESS BY MALCOLM S. JOHNSTON

"O-pen the door!" "O-pen the door!" I know they hear me when I roar; But still they sit and take their ease, Because I won't say, "If-you-please." For they have said that I have hung Three little words upon my tongue, Three pretty little golden keys To open doors with, "If-you-please." I wonder why I'd rather stand And pound the door, and hurt my hand. and scream, and almost And kick freeze, Than say politely, "If-you-please?"

Oh, how I wish that I could turn The knob; I'd make the grown-ups learn How mean it is for them to tease, And make a boy say, "If you please." Copyright by Malcolm 8. Johnston, 1914.
