

PALMER DECLARES PENROSEISM ONLY SENATORIAL ISSUE

"Calamity Howl" Designed to Cloud the Real Situation in State and Divert Public Attention.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 1.—"There is no issue of importance in the present campaign to elect a United States Senator in Pennsylvania except Penrose and Penroseism," declared Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer in a speech here this morning.

"The calamity howl, of which Penrose himself is making up and down the State," he continued, "is only designed to cloud the issue and turn the public attention away from his own misdeeds."

The Democratic campaign party arrived here by automobile this morning from Clarion. En route they stopped at New Bethlehem, Reiterburg and East Brady.

DR. BRUMBAUGH STANDS ON HIS OWN RECORD

Asserts Independence and Promises Consistent Administration.

MANSFIELD, Pa., Oct. 1.—Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican nominee for Governor, arrived here this morning to carry his campaign through Bradford County.

Dr. Brumbaugh has been campaigning under a severe strain for several days, owing to the illness of his aged father, but the information that his father had rallied after his release yesterday and is now out of danger served to encourage him.

The Republican campaign party, headed by Doctor Brumbaugh, came here from Wellsboro, where they addressed a Republican mass meeting in Bache's auditorium last night.

Doctor Brumbaugh declared last night that he wanted no man's vote unless there was conscience and character back of it.

Accompanying Doctor Brumbaugh on part of the tour yesterday were Henry Heck, Frank B. McClain, Daniel F. LeFebvre, Thomas B. Crazo, Mahlon M. Gardner and Congressman Edgar R. Kloss.

It was noticeable on the day that many former followers of Colonel Roosevelt joined in the demonstration in favor of Doctor Brumbaugh.

SISTERS DOUBLE-WEDDING BRIDES

MAY E. HAMPTON EDWARD STERNER

EVELYN G. HAMPTON LEWIS HOLLAR

SISTERS IN DUAL ROMANCE WILL WED SUNDAY EVENING

Father of the Brides Objects, But the Ceremony Will Go On.

Following a double romance, which was enacted at their boarding house, 504 Market street, May Elizabeth Hampton and Evelyn Grace Hampton, sisters, will be married at twilight on Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Henry Frankland, pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church, Eighteenth and Spring Garden streets.

The prospective bridegrooms are Louis Hollar, 126 Arch street, who will wed Miss May Hampton, and Edward Sterner, who won the hand of Evelyn while boarding at the Market street address.

Despite the work of Cupid, however, there are ominous clouds hovering over the matrimonial horizon. They are due to the attitude of the girls' father. It has been learned that he strenuously objects to the wedding, but as each bride adores to be paired off, the young people intend to go on with the double ceremony.

Evelyn Hampton contends that there is no reason for her father's opposition, as she knew her intended husband since childhood. May voices the same spirit and asserts that her fiancé is all that a girl could expect her husband to be.

Friends of the couples declare that it was learned that he intends to go to Atlantic City on Sunday instead of paying his usual weekly visit to his daughters. While he is viewing the sad sea waves the ceremony will take place here.

The girls' mother, who, it is said, has been separated from her husband for several years, is on the way here to attend the wedding and has sent her congratulations in advance.

Three hundred guests have been invited to the wedding. Following the ceremony the couples will go to Palm Beach for two weeks.

SCHOOLS IN MICHIGAN BLINDLY APPROVED, CHARGES MEMBER

Chicago Schoolmen Much Stirred Until Mrs. Young Tells What the Money Was Spent For.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Joseph A. Holpuch, a school trustee, accuses the Board of Education of spending about $12,000,000 illegally and without authority. He said, at the meeting of the Finance Committee, that the money expended for educational purposes has been spent on the basis of a budget that never was adopted and was discarded for another, called the "scientific budget."

The auditor and secretary of the board replied that it was impossible to spend money according to the "scientific budget" when the latter had not been passed until the end of June and the money was spent from January 1. The new budget is an entirely different basis from the one on which the money has been spent.

The board members wrangled for a long time over a seemingly mysterious $3,000,000. The figures which had been given to the board from the expenditures of the educational department, gave the total of the educational budget as $12,355,123.25. The "scientific budget" which they had before them, showed $12,425,029.25.

'DEMOCRATS' SUCCESS PRESAGED, SAYS GOVERNOR FIELDER

Executive Tells Politicians at Interstate Fair That Party Is Uniting Solidly for Victory in State.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 1.—Governor Fielder, as the guest of honor at the Interstate Fair here today on Politicians Day, declared that reports are coming to him from all parts of the State that the Democrats, after the primary contest, are uniting solidly for party victory.

"In my opinion," he continued, "this presages Democratic success November 3 all along the line."

From Governor Fielder down to the floor cleaners in the Capitol, the State House was represented along "politicians' row," near the grandstand. Nearly all the State officials were there, in addition to hundreds of candidates successful in the recent State primaries.

"Titles were on every tongue. 'General,' 'Colonel,' 'Major,' 'Captain,' 'Senator,' 'Sheriff,' 'Surrogate' and 'Chief' were those most frequently heard. There was handshaking on every side and the noise of political discussions vied with the shouts of the factors about the grounds.

Following the custom of previous years, the fair management provided an automobile to take the three most prominent men about the race course in full view of the cheering thousands before taking them to seats in a clubhouse box on the grandstand. These men were Governor Fielder, Democrat; ex-Governor E. C. Stokes, Republican; and ex-Senator Everett Colby, Progressive. By thus bunching the three parties the fair management escaped all charges of impartiality.

Representative Allan B. Walsh, of this district, who is seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket, was paired off in an automobile with his Republican rival for the office, ex-Senator T. C. Hutchinson, of this county. The occupants of the car received plenty of applause, but it couldn't be ascertained whether the Democrat or the Republican was the favorite in the cheering.

Nearly a score of automobiles, with rivals for office riding together similarly, were in the procession which circled the track just before the racing and vaudeville program began.

TALK GOES THREE WAYS

The political talk at the fair went three ways—Democratic, Republican and Progressive. The Wilson men were jubilant over the fact that all of the Wilson Congressmen who ran in the recent primaries were renominated and pointed to this as a sure indication of a Democratic victory in New Jersey this fall.

On the other hand the Republicans claimed that with the tariff, a "war" and probable State tax, as great issues to be used against the Democrats, the Republicans would easily elect a majority of the New Jersey congressional delegation. They claimed the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth and probably the Ninth districts. In the Ninth district President Wilson removed the democratic representative, McCoy, by appointing him to the bench, thus leaving the Democrats without a nominee.

The 11th and 12th districts were conceded over by radical Republicans to the Democrats.

Democratic candidates argued that their party would carry six and probably eight districts out of the 12, while the most radical party men declared the party would make a clean sweep.

The situation in the Ninth, McCoy's District, was the subject of a great deal of discussion. McCoy's successor on the ticket must be placed there by petition and he is barred from using the designation "Democratic party" because McCoy pre-empted that title in the primary election. It was pointed out that the Democrats for this reason started with a handicap.

It was agreed even among Republicans that the likelihood of carrying the State this year is doubtful, but they claimed a fighting chance. The Assembly, they declared, would be Republican because of the disgust Essex Wilson Democrats feel toward the Smith-Nugent machine and also because of Democratic dissatisfaction in Hudson over the Assembly ticket.

One Dead and Another Injured as Car Strikes Horse.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 1.—Charles M. Godfrey, of Bridgeport, N. Y., was killed and M. Clark, of New York, was seriously hurt when the automobile in which they were riding hit a horse wandering along the road on Tokes Hill, near Stegney Village. Godfrey was thrown from a car on his fiancée.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY

Governor Fielder Suggests Fire Drills and Removal of Rubbish.

TRENTON, Oct. 1.—In a proclamation issued today Governor Fielder calls on all citizens of New Jersey to observe Friday, October 9, as "Fire Prevention Day."

The executive suggests that fire drills be held in places of employment, that rubbish and other inflammable material be removed from buildings and that every precaution be taken against fire. He states precautions are taken in other States along these lines, and he feels the same action should be taken in New Jersey.

LOOKS FOR $3,000

"What I want to know," said Mr. Holpuch, "is what has been done with this $3,000. When the 'scientific budget' was made out we had it, and appropriated it with the rest. These figures are misleading. They are guesswork. You may present them to some people, but some more of us can see. If we had the correct figures from the books, we would be all right. Somebody is trying to keep these matters away from the board members, and I am not going to stand for it. Mrs. Young announced here that I am going to hold up a number of recommendations."

"You people go ahead and vote money blindly. You don't know where the money is coming from or how much money remains in the fund which is appropriated for that particular purpose."

MRS. YOUNG'S REPLY

"Because some people can talk louder than others," replied Mrs. Young, "we won't allow them to put on us the odium of not knowing what we are voting for. In the school management committee we have always known from what fund we were recommending expenditures."

The auditor was called in and said that the missing $3,000 was the amount which was eliminated from the budget when the board voted that 51 per cent. of the appropriations for school supplies should be cut off after it was learned that there would be a deficit.

"The reason for that," asserted Mrs. Young, "is that last February we had $3,000 more in the treasury than in February, and now we have 14,000 more than we had a year ago. If we let these children go to school we have to pay teachers."

Mrs. Young announced that none of the students in the evening elementary schools would be charged fees, according to the original plan which is now pending before the board. The latest plan is to accept money from over 100 high school pupils only for the supplies used. Mrs. Young said she thought the cost per pupil would not be more than 25 cents.
