

DEFEAT OF PENROSE PRESAGED IN LARGE NON-PARTISAN VOTE

Heavy Republican Enrollment Seems to Spell Splitting of Tickets and Brumbaugh Victory.

A victory for Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican gubernatorial candidate, and the defeat of Senator Penrose on November 3, are indicated by the complete unofficial returns for the three fall registration days of 1914.

In addition to a general back-to-the-Republican party movement, a strong independent vote was registered. Political leaders said today that the unusually large non-partisan enrollment and the heavy Republican enrollment presages the splitting of tickets by voters of all three parties in favor of Doctor Brumbaugh and A. Mitchell Palmer, Penrose's Democratic opponent.

Approximately 275,000 electors have qualified to vote in November for the election of a United States Senator, a Governor, Congressmen and State officers. Of this number two-thirds elected as Republicans and more than 45,000 electors who declined to enroll were enrolled as "non-partisans."

INDEPENDENCE AT POLLS EXPECTED

The inevitable result of the large "non-partisan" registration, political leaders say, will be independence at the polls in November. Many Brumbaugh followers will vote for Palmer for United States Senator, and many Progressives will vote for Brumbaugh in preference to Vance C. McCormick, the Democratic nominee, who is also the Washington party candidate for Governor.

A large number of the electors enrolled as "non-partisans" are former Washington party voters, who headed the call sent out by independent Washington party leaders opposed to the Flinn-Van Valkenburg regime, and refused to enroll under the Progressive standard.

This call was sent out several days ago to voters of Philadelphia, following a conference between R. E. Quay, of Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia Washington party independents. The entire anti-Flinn-Van Valkenburg vote is expected to be cast for Doctor Brumbaugh.

The utter collapse of the Washington party is shown by the following complete but unofficial returns for the three days' registration:

Total, three days, 1914, 270,658. PARTY NEARLY AS STRONG AS IN 1908.

The back-to-the-party movement has been so complete, Republican leaders point out, that the republican strength is now almost where it was in 1908. The vote in Philadelphia for Taft that year was 185,563.

In 1910 Tener received only 130,465 votes in Philadelphia. The Republican vote again fell off in 1911, when George H. Blaker, Blaker's Republican opponent for Mayor, received 130,132.

Political leaders are predicting that Doctor Brumbaugh will get a larger Republican vote in Philadelphia than did either Tener or Earle, at the vote for both Tener and Earle was 50,000 below the Republican registration this year.

The troops that the Republicans have made on the County third party movement is shown in a comparison of figures with the results in 1912. That year Taft received 61,944 votes in Philadelphia and Roosevelt received 52,563. The 1914 Republican registration of 182,248 is more than 8000 greater than the combined Roosevelt-Taft vote of two years ago.

SAVED LITTLE NEIGHBOR FROM THE POTTER'S FIELD

Children to Bring Flowers for "Allie" McCord's Funeral.

"Allie" McCord, 5 weeks old, 807 North Fifth street, will not be buried in a pauper's grave. His body will rest tomorrow in a white casket, and there will be flowers supplied by children who live in the row of brick houses near Eighth and Broad streets.

"Allie" died of measles last night in the Roosevelt hospital. The children all ways called him "Allie." On the register of the Roosevelt hospital he was known as Albert.

Mrs. McCord is the wife of a longshoreman. The husband lost his job down at the river front many months ago. The McCord family had a little account in a savings bank. The money melted away quickly. It was necessary to buy food, and to buy clothes for the other McCord children.

The body of "Allie" was brought home this morning. They live in two rooms. In a corner of the front room, the father, dozed. For weeks he had been suffering from rheumatism. On chairs sat the other McCord children—Mildred, 11 years old; Winifred, 5, and Louise, 3. When "Allie" came home his little neighbors all began to cry. Every one soon knew that the boy was to be buried in potter's field. Mrs. May A. McDewitt, 1029 North Front street, an undertaker, heard about it. She acted promptly—sent a message that she would arrange the funeral free of charge. Tomorrow the McCords will have carriages. The interment will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

ZEAL TO REGISTER GIVES RURAL VOTERS VAIN TRAMP

Thought "Call to Arms" Meant That They Had to Seek Polls, Too.

The bitter fight between the allied Penrose and liquor interests and the independent working for the rehabilitation of the Republican party caused confusion in the rural districts of Pennsylvania last Saturday, the final registration day for the fall election in cities of the first, second and third class.

According to reports received from all parts of the State, the urgent appeal made for independent voters to register in order to qualify to vote against Penrose and his friends on November 3 reached the rural districts where registration was not required, and brought a ready, though mistaken, response.

ANTI-SALOON CHIEF ATTACKS PENROSEISM

Dr. Homer W. Tope Asks People to Stand Up for Interests of State.

An appeal to the people of Pennsylvania to elect candidates who are standing up for the interests of the people of the State and not for their own private interests and the interests of those whose taxes they are paid to grind, was made yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Homer W. Tope, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Philadelphia, in an address at the Leverington Presbyterian Church. Doctor Tope denounced the candidacy of Senator Penrose when he said: "We want men in the Legislature, Senate and Congress who will represent us, and not misrepresent us as Senator Penrose has done heretofore. We want men who stand for civic righteousness."

Doctor Tope's address was the first of a series which he is to deliver as part of the campaign of the local option forces of this State.

"This is the opening battle of the anti-liquor war in this country," Doctor Tope said. "We may expect more battles, but we are confident we will win in the end. As the war across the sea is a shame to human nature, a shame to Christianity and a shame to civilization, the saloon of America is a greater shame."

A meeting of local option forces will be held in the Presbyterian Church at Darby, tonight. The Rev. R. E. McClure will speak. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon and No-Licenses League of Delaware County.

COUNCILS' APATHY BLAMED FOR PERIL TO CITY'S HEALTH

Housing Commission Urges Relief From Grossly Unsanitary Conditions in Many Sections.

Relief from grossly unsanitary conditions existing in many sections of the city has again been urged upon Councils in a letter from the Philadelphia Housing Commission, which asks both the Select and Common branches of the city administration to provide adequate funds for the organization of a Division of Housing and Sanitation, required by the act of June 22, 1913.

It is pointed out in the letter that the apathetic attitude of Councils concerning the welfare of citizens of Philadelphia is dangerous to public health, and equally damaging in its influence upon morals.

Failure to provide necessary measures, according to the Housing Commission, has left 50 per cent. of over 2800 nuisances and violations of housing laws, reported by the commission to the Bureau of Health unattended to since the first of last January.

The letter, in part, reads: "We are aware that this matter has been before you for over a year now, and although many ordinances relating thereto have been introduced and considered by your Committee, no definite action has been taken. Seven times has his Honor, Mayor Blankenburg, requested you to make appropriate provision for the division of Health and Charities from the Department of Public Health and Charities been sent to you, calling attention to the importance of early action. Twice has City Solicitor Ryan urged upon you the legal obligation to conform to this act of Assembly. The Philadelphia Housing Commission has long petitioned you in opinion papers. Frank P. Pritchard and John G. Johnson that the law is mandatory. Twice have the courts signified their belief that the act is mandatory. Thirty social and philanthropic associations have petitioned you in behalf of the poor for whom they are working to make the law operative. The only reason can there be for further delay?"

"Furthermore, certain provisions in the tenement law of 1885, which would be repealed by the new housing act, have not and never have been thoroughly enforced. Were this old law of 1885 enforced as it stands, 90 per cent. of the tenements of this city would be closed by law, and the inactivity of your honorable bodies this old law of 1885 still remains on the statute books, and the city holds the anomalous position of having no law, and knowingly so, to the violations of this law."

OBJECTIONS ARE FILED TO "NON-PARTISAN TICKET"

Term Is Declared to Be Confusing and to Endanger Judicial Ballot.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Objections to nominations of candidates on the "non-partisan" ticket in seven districts were filed today with the Dauphin County Court, and hearings were fixed by Judge McCarroll for next Monday afternoon.

Among the objectors are the following: George P. Darrow, 5th Congressional; Edward W. Patton, 4th Senatorial; John McClintock and William Walsh, 2d and 3d Representatives. All the others are from Allegheny.

The principal objection is that "non-partisan" is a confusing term because of the official non-partisan ballot for judicial offices.

William M. Hargest, of Harrisburg, filed the Eastern objections, and George W. Allen, of Pittsburgh, the Western. Allen is the man who filed the "personal liberty" nominations last week. Hargest is a strong supporter of Judge Kunkel for the Supreme court, and Allen is equally ardent for Robert S. Fraser, of Allegheny. Each says that a "non-partisan" ticket of such a character endangers the judicial ballot.

ROOSEVELT STAMPING NEW YORK STATE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Theodore Roosevelt left here today on a whirlwind campaign through New York State.

COL. HARVEY'S CALL ON THE PRESIDENT A PUZZLE TO MANY

Washington Asks What Peace Meeting Means and Sees Cryptic Phrase in Mr. Wilson's Explanation.

(FROM OUR STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Politicians were treated to the sensation of the year last night when the announcement was issued at the White House that President Wilson had conferred with Colonel George Harvey, the New York editor, who has been the most severe critic of the Administration. Before their misunderstanding in 1912, after the now historic conference at the Manhattan Club in New York. Mr. Wilson and Colonel Harvey were most intimate friends.

In the pre-convention campaign, Mr. Wilson, then Governor of New Jersey, reached the decision that Colonel Harvey was too intimate with certain Wall Street interests, and he politely, but firmly, informed the Colonel that his support was "hurting rather than helping the Wilson presidential boom." Colonel Harvey promptly withdrew the name of Woodrow Wilson from the masthead of the editorial page of Harper's Weekly, where it had appeared for months as the magazine's choice for the presidential nomination.

Several weeks later the story of the meeting at the Manhattan Club, when Colonel Harvey and Colonel Henry Waterson, of Kentucky, invited the New Jersey Governor to accept the financial support of Thomas P. Ryan in his campaign for the presidential nomination, was made public. Governor Wilson, according to the generally accepted version of the controversy at the time, refused to accept the support of Mr. Ryan.

This announcement was issued by the White House last night.

Colonel Harvey, on the invitation of the President, spent an hour with him at the White House this afternoon, discussing the general situation.

Republican and Democratic politicians are trying today to agree upon a definition of what was meant in the cryptic statement by "the general situation." Some of the Republican leaders believe that the pending legislative program of the administration was discussed, while the Democrats interpret the White House statement as meaning that the President and Colonel Harvey confined their discussion to financial matters.

The Republicans will formally open the campaign Thursday night with a reception to the various candidates in the clubhouse of the Young Men's Republican Club. Several thousand invitations have been sent out. All of the candidates on the State and county tickets will be present.

PINCHOT RESUMES STUMP AND ATTACKS PENROSEISM

Washington Party Candidate for Senator Has Busy Day.

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 5.—Gifford Pinchot, the Washington party candidate for the United States Senate, who was forced to abandon his campaign last week when he was taken ill at Erie, resumed his quest for votes here this morning.

He reached here last night and remained at the Nixon Hotel. He was out early this morning, making an address at 8:30 o'clock to the workmen of the Standard Steel Car Wheel Works, at Lyndora, speaking to them before they went to work. There was a large gathering and the tollers listened to Pinchot, whose remarks dealt with what he termed to be the real issue of the campaign—"Penroseism."

At 8 o'clock an automobile trip was started, the first stop being made at Interville. Later Evans City, Callery and Mars were visited. After lunch the party crossed over into the northern part of Allegheny county, visiting Tarentum and Freeport.

Pinchot was accompanied by his wife, and other members of the party were James Hammond, F. H. Davy, of this place; Dr. W. R. Hockenberry, of Slippery Rock, candidate for the Senate on the Washington Party ticket, and W. B. McGeary, the county chairman of the party.

Pinchot in starting out on his tour this morning said he was feeling no bad effects from his illness last week, and had fully recovered his strength. He said he expected to be busy from now until election day in visiting the voters of this State.

MAGISTRATE NORRIS TAKES FLING AT ADMINISTRATION

Calls Officials a "Bunch of Narrow-Minded Old Men."

Magistrate Morris criticized the administration today when he discharged nine prisoners who were arrested last night by the police of the 5th and York streets station, on the charge of loitering.

"Young men can consider themselves fortunate if they can breathe in peace," Magistrate Morris referred to some of the officials of the administration as "a bunch of narrow minded old men who sit on a second floor, who have no idea of regulating the lives of young men." The arrests were made on complaint of residents.

QUARREL OVER $10,000 POST

Democratic State Chairman Reports Clash Between Penrose Supporters.

Democratic State Chairman Morris is authorized by the statement that there had been a clash between the State leaders supporting Senator Penrose.

He said a split had come over the question of a successor to the late Judge Nathaniel Irving, of public Service Commission. The position pays $10,000 a year. Republican State Chairman Crow, a McNichol leader, is said to be after the post, as well as Secretary of the Commonwealth McEafie, a supporter of Senator Oliver.

Senator Penrose attempted to obtain a trustee between the men until after election, but it is said was unsuccessful.

CROKER, MINUS BEARD, ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

Change Softens Former Tammany Chief's Severe Expression.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Richard Croker, minus the close-cropped, grizzled beard long familiar in pictures and cartoons, arrived here yesterday from Liverpool on the belated Campania to attend the funeral of his wife, who died on September 9 in Austria, and whose body was brought to this country last week from Naples on the steamship Tommaso di Savoia.

The absence of the beard, which he has worn in fashion distinctly his own, seemed to soften the severe expression of the ex-Tammany chief's face, and the change jolted for a moment the friends who were to the pier to greet him. A short white mustache remained on his lip.

Mr. Croker greeted the little group with his customary abrupt handshake and low-toned words. Throughout the trip the passengers said he kept much to himself, and when he did appear on the promenade deck he walked alone.

Those who expected Mr. Croker to say anything on the coming retirement of Charles F. Murphy from Tammany Hall were disappointed.

"I shall be in New York about three weeks," he continued, "and will be at the Democratic Club. I expect to make a few short trips before going to Palm Beach for the winter. I have come over a little earlier than I expected."

Mr. Croker attended his wife's funeral at 10 a. m. today at the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola, 8th street and Park avenue.

SUFFRAGE FLYING SQUADRON

Women Will Begin City Campaign for Their Bill on October 19.

"Flying squadrons" of suffragists, which will visit each of the 26 legislative districts in the city, will begin their suffrage bill to be introduced in the Legislature at the coming session, will begin work throughout the city on Monday.

Mrs. Frank Roessing, State president of the Pennsylvania Suffrage Association; Miss Pateron and Miss Piersol will be the leaders of the "flying squadrons." In each district suffrage workers will meet with 50 local organizers, who will begin a house-to-house canvass after hearing the leaders speak.

From three to six districts will be visited each day. The squadron's part in the activities will end on Saturday, October 24, with a mass meeting on City Hall plaza in the afternoon and an evening rally at Scottish Rite Hall, Broad and Cherry streets.

The Republicans will formally open the campaign Thursday night with a reception to the various candidates in the clubhouse of the Young Men's Republican Club. Several thousand invitations have been sent out. All of the candidates on the State and county tickets will be present.

BRUMBAUGH, IN CITY, TELLS WHY VICTORY SEEMS CERTAIN NOW

Declares Many Democrats and Progressives in All Parts of State Are Promising Support.

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, the Republican nominee for Governor, radiantly confident of the outcome of his campaign, stopped at the headquarters of the Brumbaugh Citizens' Committee in the Lincoln Building today just long enough to assure 100 supporters that five weeks' campaigning in all parts of the State had convinced him that there was no longer any doubt about how the people will decide on November 3.

The final registration on Saturday, the last day to qualify for the November election, he said, will be the answer of the people to any question as to which party would prevail. The back-to-Republican party movement might be seen, he declared, in the fact that Philadelphia, but in every county in the State.

"The voice of the people at the polls on Saturday was the answer to Colonel Roosevelt in this State," he added.

"I covered more than 600 miles in the northern central part of the State last week, and in almost every town where I spoke I could see plainly the disintegration of the Washington party. Many Democrats, too, came to me and pledged their support. This was largely on account of their opposition to the Administration's war tax in time of peace. The people in Pennsylvania will have to bear nearly 10 per cent. of this tax, but it is not the amount which they will have to pay, but the principle to which they make the strongest objection."

"The campaign issues throughout Potter, Tison, Bradford and McKean Counties are good, rural school and problems of agricultural importance. Local option, too, is a vital issue there, and made it as plain as daylight that I am for local option heart and soul. Despite the efforts of some to misrepresent my position on this question I think I have made it clear."

"The most remarkable part of it all to me is the great number of former pupils of mine and teachers whom I meet in one small rural community. I met a woman, a former pupil of mine, whose husband was, until the primaries, a candidate on the Progressive ticket for the Legislature. She told me that she had gone through the district circulating my petition while her husband was circulating his on another ticket. And on November 3 she declared that she would be only one vote—her husband's—that would not be mine in that division."

"There is one thing certain; whether victorious or defeated, I shall be a good sport," concluded Doctor Brumbaugh. "To be a modest victor or to submit to defeat without complaint I think one of the finest things we may see in any candidate."

Doctor Brumbaugh will leave this afternoon for Harrisburg, and tomorrow morning he will resume his campaign in the Cumberland Valley.

LIQUOR LEADERS IN SECRET CONFAB WITH LABOR MEN

Retail Dealers' Association Warns Saloonkeepers That Their Business Is in Jeopardy.

A secret conference of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers' Association was held yesterday at 1728 North Broad street. Plans were made to aid the candidacy of Senator Penrose for re-election.

The call to the saloonkeepers to attend the meeting was worded as follows: "Possibly your continuance in business will be in jeopardy after this fall election. Our opposition has been successful in having the two political bodies whose platforms are positively against us to unite in an effort to elect candidates opposed to us."

Among those who attended the session was a committee of the Central Labor Union, Joseph Fitchie, a follower of Frank Feeney, of the Penrose-McNichol faction, and two bartenders. The members of the committee upon adjournment stated that they had been discussing nothing but questions pertinent to the welfare of their unions.

The campaign issues throughout Potter, Tison, Bradford and McKean Counties are good, rural school and problems of agricultural importance. Local option, too, is a vital issue there, and made it as plain as daylight that I am for local option heart and soul. M'COMBS SAYS NO TO GLYNN

But Governor Will Press Him to Take State Chairmanship.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, yesterday sent word to Governor Glynn that he would not accept the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee. Governor Glynn wants Mr. McCombs to serve, however, and he will make another effort to persuade him to change his mind before the committee meets in Albany at noon tomorrow.

One reason why Mr. McCombs is not willing to succeed William Church O'Brien, one of his friends said yesterday, was because he did not want to be associated with a campaign that might result in failure after conducting a campaign that resulted in the election of a President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—President Wilson was pleased this afternoon at William F. McCombs' declination of the New York Democratic State Chairmanship.

"In my judgment, Mr. McCombs has done the right thing," the President declared. "It would not be wise for the National Chairman to withdraw his attention from the national campaign to conduct the campaign in a single State."
