

$500 SPENT FOR RIDING SHORE OF MOSQUITOES HAS LITTLE EFFECT

Commission Says Pests Have Deserted the Oil-soaked Marshes for Boardwalk, but They Have Not Increased.

PHILADELPHIA, N. J., Oct. 5.—Now that cooler weather—now to the pest—here, the dreaded New Jersey mosquito suffered by residents and visitors to the seashore and nearby mainland towns are seen to be decreasing rapidly in numbers, and but for so many warm days during September no doubt the few remaining on the mainland would by this time have passed in for the season.

Naturally, residents breath relief at the passing of another, one of the worst mosquito seasons of the seashore, and visitors from Philadelphia, New York and other cities welcome their return from the seashore, if only to be rid of the pests.

On account of the unusually large numbers of mosquitoes on the mainland and meadows, some of which also braved the ocean breezes some weeks of the past summer, to the annoyance of Boardwalk strollers in Atlantic City, the vehement declarations of old county folks that mosquitoes were never so bad as the present year, and the increased protest of visitors that they never suffered from them so badly in previous summers as the past one.

COMMISSION SPENDS $500. Since January 1 of this year the local mosquito commission has spent a sum of $500 in the drainage of meadows, through ditch irrigation and the application to breeding places of the mosquito of an oil prepared to kill the mosquitoes and eggs.

TWO CLASSES OF PESTS. There are two classes of pests, one the marsh and salt water mosquito and the other the fresh water. One breeds in the meadow and the second breeds in water barrels, cess pools and other receptacles containing water.

POLICEMAN LOSES LIFE IN FIGHT WITH BURGLAR

Struck and Shot, He Clings to Prisoner, Who Escapes When Aid Comes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Harry F. Simmons, a special policeman, gave up his life today to prevent a burglar from robbing a safe in a theatre opposite Tammany Hall at 1909. With nine knife cuts and two bullet wounds in his body, he fought off the safe-cracker until help arrived.

The burglar, though stunned by a blow from a shovel, escaped. He had effected an entrance to the theatre through a coal chute, but was detected when he reached the main floor.

AEOLIAN-MADE Player-Piano for $395. A term that has come to be a synonym for player-piano perfection throughout the civilized world. And now, to meet the popular demand, the Aeolian company has produced a Player-Piano for $395. Probably no articles of American manufacture have received so many and such distinguished honors as the instruments made by the Aeolian Company. Paderewski says—"I cannot conceive of any reason why a Pianola should not be in every home. When the keyboard is used, it leaves nothing to be desired, while for good music it is undoubtedly the most perfect and really great medium." The one bar to the fulfillment of this wish has now been removed by the production by the Aeolian Company of an instrument at a price that puts it within easy reach of all—$395. To hear it is to realize that like all other Aeolian products it stands alone in its class. Come and let us demonstrate it for you. Convenient payment terms can be arranged. C. J.
