Deaths of Babies More Nu- William Draper Lewis and merous Than Last Year Despite Crusade Against Evils-4740 the Total.

VOL. I-NO. 22

Infant mortality records for Philadelphia during the last nine months show an increase of deaths of bables less than one and two years old over the same period for 1913, in spite of the active efforts of the Health Department and al-Hed private organizations to reduce the infant death rate.

There were 4740 deaths of bables less than two years old reported from all causes during the last nine months, or $74 more than the same period in 1913. when 4466 infant deaths were reported. This year 3922 of that number were less than one year old, and last year 2687 of the total number were under one year Those figures were compiled by Dr. George H. Schuman, statistician for the Department of Health and Charitles.

Although the figures apparently show an increase in infant mortality, it is pointed out that a rigid analysis might disclose that the death rate of infants shows a decrease per thousand of pop-ulation under the same ratio of previous years. Accurate figures on the city's additional population in 1914, gained by families moving into the city as well as by births, are not available until the Dext consult

The average temperature this year was lower than in 1913, and great advances have been made in baby-saving efforts, which factors are declared to have kept down the death rate to a considerable degree.

Charges of graft reaching far up into the millions were laid at the door of Senator Pennose by William Draper Lewis and Vance C. McCormick, the latter Democratic and Washington Party candidtan for Governor, who addressed workers from the Disston Saw Works at Tacony today. Mr. Lewis declared that out of every dollar appropriated for the improvement of roads in this State, at least 60 per cont. of it went to the Reoublican Organization, of which Penrose is the head.

Workers begrimed with the dust o hours of toll gathered by the hundred at Penn and Wissinoming streets to hear the orators. Teh applause was frequent during each of the speeches, and at their conclusion the men gave a rousing cheer. Mr. Lewis spoke first. He pointed out bills of vital interest to every worker in the State which he said had been killed by Penrose and his gang. Among these were the child labor bill, the women's minimum wage bill and the workmen's compensation bill. "These are of interest to you," said the speaker. "They mean protection to you and to your children and they have gone down to de-feat at the hands of the very man in whom you put your trust. You have been betrayed, and do not think for a minute the same thing will not happen again." Mr. Lewis clied the roads throughout New York State as some of the finest in the country today. It costs the State of New York about $5000 a mile for those ork about $8000 a mile for those he said. "but in Pennsylvania, roads.

where the roads are not nearly so perfect, we are obliged to pay from $14,000 to $24,000 a mile."

Traffic Held Up Half Hour When Wagon Crashes Into Car.

Three men were injured and traffic tied up for a half hour when a southbound Ridge avenue trolley car, whose brakes refused to hold to the slippery rail, crashed into the rear end of a Philadelphia Rapid Transit repair wagon at Ridge avenue and Thompson streets shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Thousands of working people were late in reaching their places of employment as a result of the accident.

The wagon was about to turn out from the tracks when the car crashed full force into it. Henry Muffener, of The passengers expressed rather and-ible opinions of Stewart and the chicken, but as he was rather tired he dropped thrown head-first to the ground. William Smith, an electrician, of 6148 Sansom street, and John Warring, of 3427 North Lee street, were thrown from the driver's seat. All three men were taken Nineteenth and Oxford streets station, who were standing on the corner when the accident happened, saw the crash and sent in an emergency call which brought five ambulances and three trolley repair wagons to the scene within minutes. ## THOUSANDS CHEER UNFURLING OF HUGE BRUMBAUGH BANNER

Broad Street Is Packed With Citizens for Ceremony at Which Judge Beeber Presides.

An assemblage unique in the annals of Pennsylvania politics thronged Broad from Chestnut to South Penn street Square this noon and witnessed the unfurling of a huge Brumbaugh banner, which now stretches across Broad strest before the headquarters of the Brumbaugh Citizens Committee in the Lincoln building to the West Trust building.

More than 5000 business and professional men left their offices at noon and assembled to attend the banner-raising ceremonles in the heart of the city. They received Brumbaugh buttons and literature and enthusiastically applauded when x-Judge Dimner Beeber, who presided and ex-Judge William W. Porter told of Doctor Brumbaugh's sterling qualities and of the confidence the hundreds of citizens who are taking an active part in his campaign in all parts of the State have in the candidate.

The banner virtually hides City Hall from view, and can be seen for a great distance down Broad street. It bears a likeness of Doctor Brumbaugh, with this inscription:

"in which I have voted for 50 cars, still stands for the protection of our workingmen and women from comp tition with the people of foreign lands, and as for Doctor Brumbaugh, I find among my acquaintances that every one wants him for oGvernor, and I move that all parties vote to make it unanimous." The message from John Wanamaker was received by wireless from New York just before noon. It read:

To Dimner Beeber:

Impossible to write a letter as it is a few minutes of 12. I will be pleased to congratulate the chairman and members of the committee on their having such a splendid candidate for Governor as my old friend Docto Brumbaugh, who cannot be written down. His life-long principles and the courage of his convictions have proven him to be a true man with fine prep aration in every particular to hold the Governorship of Pennsylvania. (Signed), JOHN WANAMAKER.

BAND PLAYS NATIONAL AIRS.

The banner was then unfuried, while a ind played national airs, and the throng stood with heads uncovered. When the ropes were pulled and the huge banner was stretched across the street, thousands of small flags and miniature Brumbaugh hanners were released and floated down to the thousands who packed Broad street Ex-Judge Beeber spoke for only a few minutes. He said in part: "For the first time in the history of the State of Pennsylvania the choice of a candidate for Governor of the State was given to the individual voter. By more than a quarter of a million votes the voters selected Doctor Brumbaugh, the nominee of the Republican party. We nominee of the Republican party. We now expose to view in the banner un-furled the features of the man we confidently expect will be the next Governor of Pennsylvania. He stands for a square deal for every one, and the Republican voters who selected him as their nominee will have no cause for regret in his administration of the affairs of this great ommonwealth."

PERMANENT INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL SHOW PLANNED

"Made in America" Exhibit Would Be Part of Exposition.

A "Made in America" exhibit will be a first-year feature of the permanent industrial and commercial exposition in Philadelphia if plans for the establishment of such an institution are successful. William H. Carpenter, president of the Union National Bank, of this city; Theodore H. Conderman, vice president of the Philadelphia Fire Association, and S. S. Marvin, president of the Pennsylvania Chocolate Company, comprise the committee back of the project, and they feel the institution, particularly with such an opening feature, will be of tremendous educational and economic value to the city.

The plan of the committee is to follow as closely as possible the permanent industrial and commercial exposition of Pittsburgh, which is now celebrating its 56th year of successful operation, having in that time been self-supporting through admission fees and the sale of exhibition space to industrial concerns, and acquired $1,000,000, which has been applied to the erection of new buildings and the improvement of grounds. The committee has approached Mayor Blankenburg and outlined its plans, telling him that the cost of buildings would be between $1.000.000 and $2.000.000 and suggesting that the city grant land for the operation near Memorial Halt, in ir the operation near Memorial Hall, in airmount Park. In return for the grant of land, or its rental at a nominal figure they propose that the institution issue an nually a free ticket of admission to each nually a free ticket of admission to each achool child in the city. This, it is point-ed out, would be of great value to the children, as it would instil in them at an early age an interest in the industrial and economic activity of their native

The project, if launched, will be whinout financial return to those who head the exhibition, the only paid office in the list being that of a manager, who will devote his entire time and attention to the success of the operation. Any profits realized will be set saids for improving and enlarging the original buildings of the creation of new ones, while it is hoped that a subscription list containing about 2000 names will be the means of Taining Sands for the initial cost of building.
