HIGHLAND DOG SHOW TO TAKE PLACE TOMORROW

Future Beaus and Belles of Society to Hold Show For Benefit of Dog Hos.

pital Tomorrow. A number of small children, who, ten or more years from now will be debutantes, held a dog show last year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thaxter Blcknell, 201 Highland avenue, for the benefit of the Dog Hospital. So great was the success and so well behaved were the dogs, so brushed and cleaned and shined up, indeed, that the little officers have decided to make the show an annual affair.

This year's exhibition will take place at Mr. Bicknell's house tomorrow morning, and the next-door yard, referred to in the rules drawn up by the small officers themselves, is that of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wray, and it will be doubtless well crowded, if all the dogs entered arrive and are all tied to the back fence. The rules for the show are:

RULES FOR THE HIGHLAND DOG SHOW. 1. Everybody must bring their dog on a strap or chain, or must not come at all.

Everybody is responsible for their dogif they get into a fight no one is to blame but the owner. 3. The dogs must be in good shape or they cannot be shown. They must be clean and well behaved-their collars must be bright and shiny. No one must be disappointed if their dog does not take a prize.

Everybody must treat their dog nicely or they will be put out of the show. The dog must be entered by October 9. Twenty-five cents (25c.) must be paid for every dog to the treasurer-Frances Warner Bicknell-money to go to the Dog Hospital. Everybody must bring a dress for their dog if they want them to enter the funny class, for which a prize will be given. This class will be at the end of the show.

All dogs must be fastened in the next yard until their class is called,

10. All dogs must be at 301 Highland avenue at 9:45 a. m. Saturday, October 10th, 1914.

11. In case of rain the show will be held in the morning of the following Saturday, By order of BETTY PURVIANCE,

THE DRAMA

FLASHES FROM "STARS"

The present revival of Clyde Fitch's play, "The Truth," with Grace George in the leading role, at the Adelphi Theatre, is the first of the distinguished dramatist's plays to be given since his death at Chalons-sur-Marne, France, in 1909. As it was maintained that all of Fitch's plays were written with a sort of journalistic eye for the news of the day, and were, therefore, ephemeral, many were curious to see how "The Truth" would stand the test of time seven years after the original production with Clara Bloodyood. The production made by Winthrop Ames, in New York last Easter, was a complete vindication of Fitch.

Many reminiscences relative to Mr. Fitch's brilliant career are being related. An old-time admirer of Mr. Fitch declared the other day that the secret of his thorough success was his penchant for taking advice from any one whose idea seemed good. "He respected the counsel of a janitor as well as that of a states man. He was always willing to give any idea a trial without trusting absolutely to his own judgment. His motto seemed to be to let the people decide. The result was auccess."

"The Yellow Ticket" will come to the Garrick Theatre, beginning Tuesday evening, October 13. The reason for opening on Tuesday evening is that the original company, headed by Florence Reed, Edwin Arden, Sydney Booth, Edward Mawson, David Torrence, Macey Harlan and Maud Leslie, will jump from Chicago after the Sunday night performance on October 11, and come direct to the Garrielt. "The Yellow Ticket" deals with the adventures of a poor Jewish girl in St. Petersburg.

Fanny Ward, that sparkling and popular comedienne, will appear at the Broad Street Theatre in the piquant farce from the French. "Madam President," the week of October 28, Miss Ward made a triumphant success as Cobette, the leading woman of "The Pot of the Harem" company. The base of most farces is mistaken identity, and "Madam President" is no exception, for as soon as one of the characters arrives on the scene, he or she is immediately taken for some one elso-
