

ALLIES HURL BACK FIERCE RUSH ALONG WHOLE LINE

Paris Reports Advances In Northern France, in Center, and On Right, Despite Violent Assaults Night and Day.

Germans Admitted to Have Gained Ground Around Messines in Belgium, But Their Attacks on Arras Are Thrown Back.

In Vosges, the French Are Declared to Have Pushed Further Toward Frontier and Reoccupied Positions Previously Lost.

Repulses for violent but generally unsuccessful German attacks on the Allies' lines all the way from Dixmude to the Vosges were told of in the French official report today.

In the region of Messines, a few miles south of Ypres, is the only point at which it is admitted the Germans have gained ground.

It is asserted the Kaiser's forces were thrown back at Arras and other points above the center of the line.

On the Aisne all assaults were repulsed and on the heights of the Meuse the line held firm.

In the Vosges, on the right wing above Belfort, important advances were made and positions previously lost were reoccupied.

Turkish warships are reported in Berlin to have dispersed the Russian fleet which was attempting to mine the Bosphorus and cut off the Sultan's squadron. A mine layer is reported sunk.

The Turkish Ambassador to Berlin declares a holy war will be made at once, and the Sultan will assume sovereignty in Egypt.

Invasion of Egypt has already begun, say London reports, with the march of 2000 Bedouins onto British soil. Britain, however, announces it is amply prepared to defend Egypt and the Suez Canal.

The Turkish envoy to Great Britain has received his passports and will leave at once, presumably for Berlin. Representatives of the Allies have left Constantinople, placing their interests with Ambassador Morgenthau, of the United States.

Representatives of both the Allies and Germany are in Bucharest today in an endeavor to persuade Bulgaria to war. Greece also is expected to enter the conflict.

Russians have retaken Cernowitz, according to a report from Bucharest. Hungarians, who occupied the town when the Russian left wing evacuated it to participate in the San battle, were driven out with great slaughter.

German retreat is reported in two places.

The ship, together with her mails, is reported to be at Para.

The Vanduyck belongs to the Lamport and Holt Steamship Line.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Twenty-one indictments against directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad during the period in which the Interstate Commerce Commission has held that the road was looted, were returned by the Federal Grand Jury here today. The directors named in indictments are:

The directors are charged with violation of the anti-trust law in having "combined and conspired together with numerous other persons to monopolize commerce consisting of transportation business."

The indictment was found as a result of the inquiry made by the Grand Jury into the New Haven's alleged criminal violation of the Sherman act. Charles S. Melton, former president of the road, was the principal witness examined. He furnished most of the evidence, and received an immunity bath for his services.

The investigation was conducted by Frank W. Swacker, assistant United States attorney.

Brumbaugh Confidently Submits His Candidacy to People of State

The voters of Pennsylvania have my case before them. As the hour for voting draws near I feel a renewed confidence in the result. In my tour of the State I have talked with thousands of citizens, and to them I have presented my candidacy with all the sincerity and conviction at my command. I am confident that my campaign, conducted without abuse and vilification, has won me thousands of new friends. I know that my trip throughout the State has enabled me to renew the friendships made in the many years of my educational work.

My old friends are back of my candidacy, and I have assurances that the newly made friends have unwavering faith in my word and my pledge. Nothing in this campaign has been a greater source of gratification to me than a renewal of old-time friendships and the making of thousands of new ones. I feel that to those friends, both old and new, I owe an administration of the affairs of this State that will be efficient, clean and honest. To this end I pledge my best efforts. I have had the heartiest reception in every part of this State; from the old counties where I have spent my life—Huntingdon, Blair, Dauphin, Centre, Mifflin, Berks, Franklin. In these counties I have known personally many of the leading citizens in the school, in the workshop, in the church and in the home. And I have been more than pleased to learn that in the counties I have gone—practically for the first time—in Clarion, Greene, Venango, Lawrence, Westmoreland, Beaver—my reception has been equally warm, and the agreement with the principles which I have stated has been as hearty as in the old counties in the centre of the State.

The active help of those right-thinking citizens who have rallied by thousands to my support leaves no doubt of the result. It is not conceivable that any citizen should at this time fail to know exactly where I stand on the issues of this campaign. So that there need be no misunderstanding, I want to say that I am irrevocably for county local option, good roads, workmen's compensation, an advanced employers' liability act, a better child labor law and more humane provisions for the women who toil in our industrial establishments. I also favor most heartily the enactment of a corrupt practices act and the submission of the woman suffrage amendment to the voters.

I can give you positive assurance, just as emphatic tomorrow as it is today, that there will be a thorough and effective reorganization of the public service. Inefficiency and incompetence shall go as surely as shall dishonesty. A new day of open, honest, effective public service will be inaugurated for the citizens of Pennsylvania.

It is in this spirit that I seek the support of my neighbors and my fellow-citizens throughout the State. I have a conviction that the State needs as a sacred thing to be kept as fully in spirit as in letter.

I have given my word to the people of Pennsylvania. If my fellow-citizens put their conscience into the ballot I have no fear of the result.

DIES WHILE AWAITING TRIAL

Dentone Had Been in Prison and Was Released Saturday.

Released from Moyamensing Prison on Saturday, under bail, pending his retrial, Ernest Dentone, of 6th street near Reed, died at his home yesterday afternoon. Dentone had been in prison since last June, when he was arrested with "Diamond Tooth" Edward Hanley, accused of conspiracy to enter straw ball.

Both men were convicted on the conspiracy charge, but last week Judge Wilson granted them a new trial on a technical point. Dentone died of tuberculosis.

FIRE DESTROYS ART WORKS

Several persons narrowly escaped death and many valuable paintings were destroyed by a fire which swept the parlor of Mrs. J. Franklin Smith's home, 2104 Chestnut street, this morning.

The fire broke out at about 5 o'clock and was discovered by a maid, who was aroused by the smell of smoke. She immediately woke members of the family, who succeeded in leaving the house in time. The oil paintings destroyed were family heirlooms. Mrs. Smith ascribed the fire to a lantern, which, she said, might have been left burning on Saturday night when a Halloween party was held in the parlor.

CHARGE BOYS STOLE AUTO

Accused Say They Tried to Stop Machine.

Despite the plea that they wanted to be heroes, Louis Sosa, 18 years old, of 618 Callowhill street and John Swift, 19 years old, of 637 Lansdowne avenue, were held in $500 bail for court by Magistrate Boyle in the old and Thompson streets station this morning on a charge of stealing an automobile belonging to George W. Crowley, of 123 North 69th street.

Crowley missed his automobile late last night. He appealed to Sergeant McMullin, of the 61st and Thompson streets station, who found the machine standing between two street cars at Edgewood street and Girard avenue, occupied by four boys. The occupants fled, but Ness and Swift were caught. They told the Magistrate that the automobile had started to run away by itself and that they jumped in to stop it as it became heroic.

TRUCE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Britain Expected to Be Lenient With Boers.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Nov. 2. A five days' truce has been arranged between the loyal South African forces under General Botha and the rebellious Boers under General Christian De Wet.

It is believed that terms of peace will be arranged and that leniency will be shown toward the rebels if they will pledge themselves to lay down their arms, return to their homes and attempt to exercise no political influence in the future.

Palmer With Convincing Logic Shows the Only Way to End Penroseism

To the Editor of the Evening Ledger: I could speak, face to face with every voter in Pennsylvania in these closing hours of a stirring campaign. I would have but two things to say; and the first is the more important.

I would point to Senator Penrose as the issue paramount. No Evening Ledger reader needs further words on this subject.

In the intimate personal contact which I have had with tens of thousands in this campaign, I have seen sure signs of a deep, purposeful, State-wide revolt against Penrose and Penroseism. The conscience of Pennsylvania is not only aroused, but also hotly indignant.

Since I have grown rather chummy with so many voters, the folks who make up our state, I am ready to be confidential concerning the candidacy of my friend Mr. Pinchot. I have, on many occasions, bidden men, historically Republican in their party allegiance, and not yet at the point of putting patriotism above partisanship, to vote for Mr. Pinchot, for that act will ease their consciences and take half a vote away from Penrose.

Of course, Mr. Pinchot cannot be elected. He would have to be stronger than Colonel Roosevelt to carry Pennsylvania. His party, as every reader of the newspaper dispatches knows, is enthusiastic but unorganized, and thousands of votes weaker for any personality other than Roosevelt himself; and even if, by a work of wonder, he were elected, he would only be one of a hopeless, helpless minority in a Senate where President Wilson is dominant. The average voter readily believes this in contrast with this, as a member of the majority, I would be in a position to make effective in Washington Pennsylvania's historic dreams and desires.

For this, and many other reasons, I make an appeal to that great company of independent Republicans who, with the clear, hard, practical sense of the typical American, want to make their votes count. And they know that of the two men opposing Penrose, I alone can be elected, for I have, to begin with, about 400,000 votes of a revivified and united Democracy. Therefore, every independent citizen who adds his ballot to the number assures himself that he is helping to elect a Senator who will be in a position, as a member of the party in power at Washington, to aid in restoring the purposes of Penn and his people to its place of power in the nation. Is it not reasonable that I should ask, as I do, for the support of every man, irrespective of party, who wants both to protest against Penroseism and also to send to Washington a Senator who will be in a position to do things for the State and nation, a Senator through whom they can reasonably expect to obtain the recognition to which they will be entitled, and which otherwise would be a somewhat hazy mirage?

Let us make tomorrow Pennsylvania's new Emancipation Day.

NATION'S BUSINESS TAKES A BIG STRIDE TOWARD RECOVERY

Exports Show Great Increase. Wheat a New Record, and the Financial Situation a Feeling of Firm Confidence

A firmly established revival of business confidence, indicated convincingly by many signs in the past week, is manifest in reports from all parts of the country. In trade statistics and in the statements of men of affairs.

Exports for October made a great advance, a statement by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, based on reports from the principal ports, shows. The monthly records show a balance of trade of $2,822,559 in favor of the United States.

The war demand for wheat brought exports for the three months ending with September to the highest point ever reached in any corresponding period.

Foreign exchange is almost normal; the cotton problem appears to be well in hand; the fact that New York banks have regained their legal reserve and are paying off the clearing house certificates and have begun to redeem the emergency currency; these are important factors "to awaken new courage," emphasized by Seth Low, president of the New York Chamber of Commerce.

From the western coast comes an enthusiastic summary of the general business recovery from Henry T. Scott, a director of the Panama-Pacific Exposition and former president of the Union Iron Works of San Francisco.

GAIN IN FOREIGN TRADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—An extraordinary gain in foreign trade with an increasing balance in favor of the United States is reflected in telegraphic reports to the Secretary of the Treasury from the principal ports of the country for October.

A statement issued from the office of the Secretary of the Treasury is as follows:

"Material improvement in the foreign commerce of the United States and a substantial trade balance in favor of this country for the month of October were indicated by the graphic reports to Secretary McAdoo of imports and exports at the principal customs ports for the month just closed.

"Figures from Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Galveston, Norfolk, Newport News, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Seattle and Tacoma show that the value of total imports at these ports from October 5 to October 21 was $16,341,261, and exports for the same period $13,963,631, or an excess of $2,377,630 in the value of exports over imports.

The imports and exports at these ports represent about 87 per cent and 78 per cent, respectively, of the total for the whole country.

"Reports to the Secretary indicate that grain is moving with increasing freedom, and that the cotton export trade is opening measurably. For the week ended October 23, 112,053 bales of cotton were exported.

PENROSE VICTORY MEANS A CONTEST; OPPONENTS READY

Galaxy of Charges, Including $1,000,000 "Slush" Fund, Will Be Immediately Presented to Expel Liquor Senator.

After the most remarkable campaign ever waged in this State, Boies Penrose tomorrow submits himself to the people as a candidate for the United States Senate. If, on the face of returns, he should be elected in the three-cornered fight an immediate attempt will be made by the Pennsylvania reorganization Democrats, backed by the power of the Administration, to prevent him from taking his seat as Senator.

An investigation of the $1,000,000 "slush fund" of the bipartisan liquor combination, of the various political organizations formed to advance his candidacy and of the charges preferred by the North American is inevitable. Several United States Senators who have heard witnesses and examined the documentary evidence against Penrose declare he will
