EQUAL SUFFRAGE OPPONENTS BEGIN CAMPAIGNS ANEW

Announcement That "Antis" "Franked" 125,000 Pieces of Literature May Result in Congressional Probe.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 .- As an aftermath of the election, renewed struggle was begun today between suffragists and anti-suffragists, when the latter issued a proclamation announcing it was due to their efforts that suffrage was defeated

Announcement by anti-suffrage leaders that they had sent out 125,000 copies of an article under the Congressional frank of Representative Heffin, of Alabama, is fikely to precipitate trouble. It was intimated today a Congressional inquiry into the use or misuse of the frank for such purposes would be demanded by the suffragists when Congress reassembled. In States where large votes were cast against suffrage for women, thousands of these articles had been distributed by the district associations. In North Dakota every third farmer received this literature, which had been printed in the Congressional Record, it was said. Announcement by anti-suffrage leaders

GERMANS MOVING FROM ANTWERP AND BRUSSELS

Wounded Taken From Hospitals and Baggage Is Sent East.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 6 .- A sudden movement indicating a hurried departure by the Germans from Antwerp began Wed-nesday midnight and continued throughout yesterday. The wounded in the hos-pitals were removed in the night and the long trains going east also carried heaps of baggage of German officers.

The central station, in which all the documents belonging to the Military Governor had been packed up, has been hastly reopened for official traffic. It is reported that the Acting Belgian Burgomaster Franck and Burgomaster de Vos have been taken as hostages. In Antwerp all Belgians between the ages of 13 and 30 have been arrested, and soldiers with fixed bayonets placed to guard them. About 100 were taken to the Merrom station.

the Merxem station.

Firing was heard at Rosendael. This is regarded as very strange.

DUNKIRK, Nov. 6.—A Brussels official, who was able to hide his identity by the who was able to hide his identity by the use of a fictitious name and thus pass through the German lines, arrived here. He said the Germans practically evacuated Brussels on October 25 and 25, leaving only a few military posts behind. The German authorities previously had called up the civil guard. Many members of the guard fied rather than answer the call. Those whe did not respond were summened to sign an engagement by which they undertook not to take up arms again in the svent of the city's evacuation.

INSURANCE RATES ADVANCED

Mansas Supreme Court Orders Increase to Former Schedule,

TOPERA. Ran. Nov. 6.—Following a decision by the State Supreme Court old fire insurance rates will be increased more than if per cent. on mercantile risks and 16 per cent. on dwelling risks. The rates were lowered 12 and 4 per cent. in 1909 and 1810 by the Insurance Department but the case was taken to the ment, but the case was taken to the Kansas Supreme Court. The Court holds the order void, and decrees the restora-tion of the old rates. The company al-leged they operated in this State at an annual loss of $500,000.

POLISH FALCONS READY TO FIGHT FOR FATHERLAND

Twelve Hundred in This City Drill Twice a Week. Forty Thousand in America Await Call to Battle.

Twelve hundred Folish Falcons, residents of Philadelphia, are undergoing grueling military drill twice every week grueling military drill twice every week and field maneuvers once each month, awaiting the moment when the national body may be called to arms to fight for the freedom of Poland.

This is not the drilling of an "awkward squad," but the expert drilling of uniformed and armed soldlers, who are keeping strict military training, hoping that the freedom of their Fatherland may be accomplished peacefully, but determined to fight to the end if it cannot mined to fight to the end if it cannot. The fact that the Polish Falcons existed in this country has never been a secret, but few have realized the mag-nitude of this force—there are 40,000 in America and 20,000 of these are in the United States—while fewer still have realized that the outbreak of the Euro-pean war has placed the military activity of this body in an entirely new light, for the present conflict is what the Fal-cons have been waiting for for years, a conflict in which the Powers now holding portions of their country are fighting against each other and are having their waiting attention was the state of the country are now the state of the country are now the state of the country attention was the state of the country attention to the country nilitary strength weakened by staggering losses.

The Falcons of this country are divided into 16 major districts or circuits, which are subdivided into 516 smaller units called "nests." Philadelphia is in Circuit No. 13, which includes such neighboring cities as which includes such neighboring cities as Camden, Trenton, Reading, Baitimore and Wilmington. This circuit is composed of 123 nests, 12 of these being in this city. The officers of Circuit No. 13 are P. Borowicz, president; G. Kocie, vice president; A. Wojsowski, secretary; W. Nowak, treasurer. The nests have their local president, who oversees the military drill of that division; but once every month, without previous notice, the directions of the control of the control of the circuit of the control of the circuit of the control of the circuit of the cir month, without previous notice, the cir-cuit president mobilizes the forces of the entire circuit, and extensive field drills

WOMEN READY TO FIGHT, TOO. The military activity of the Poles is not confined to the men—there are 4000 Polish women in this country who go through drills no less rigorous. They, too, meet twice each week, and are trained in bandaging wounds and the performing of other duties of field nurses, while some of the bolder ones among them have or of the bolder ones among them have organized uniformed and armed fighting companies which are capable of performing active duty at the front. Poland is at present split into three sec tions—Galicia, ewned by Austria-Hun-gary; Russian Poland and Prussian Po-land. At the outbreak of the present hostilitles the Poles of Gallela and Prussis were allowed to organize an independent body of troops numbering 20,000 men, who were to protect their territory from Russian invasion, the intimation being that f they did so Germany and Austria would recognize their national independence at the close of the war.

The Poles of Russian Poland, on the other hand, were informed that if they fought for Russin, that nation would recognize their national independence eventually. This has put the Poles in a precarlous position, some of them being obliged to support the one side and some the other; the result has been the an-nouncement on the part of Russia that the offer for independence is now void. for, it is said, some of the Russian Poles have not only refused to fight for Russia. but have gone to the aid of the Poles of Prussia and Galicia.

TO PETITION THE POWERS. With this situation in mind, the Polish Falcons of this country intend to demand their national independence at the first opportunity; they will present a petition signed by 3,000,000 Poles to the Powers, and if this is denied they will rush to the aid of their Fatherland and attempt to accomplish by force what the rebellions

The enthusiaism of the Falcons is splendid. P. Wasowicz, vice president of one of the Philadelphia nests, when questioned as to the probable outcome of their plans, replied: "I do not know, but whatever happens every one of us will give his life gladly for his country. We hate the slavery that holds our country down, and the time has almost come when the Falcon will break from his bonds or die.
"Every one of us is ready to return to fight; after that we stay as long as our country needs us-perhaps some stay after that and some return. Anyway, the life of every Falcon belongs to the Fatherland-that is all that matters, and if he dies, each one wants to die fighting for the freedom of the Falcon.

"Poland once had the white eagle for her symbol-the cagle which fears nothing and fights against the foe until he is conquered. But when we are subects and can no longer overcome the oppressor, the symbol is no longer fitting, and we organize the Falcons—named after the bird which longs for freedom and dies in the cage, if she is not liberated, but fights and fights hard before she

According to soldiers back in Paris from the firing line, troops that are supposed to face each other grimly across a fire-swept space only a few hundred yards wide are not the bloodthirsty fellows we all book them for.

They carry chivalry into their work and certain conventions, all making for comfort, have been tacitly established be-tween them. For example, toward mid-day both sides suspend fire in order that they may eat function in peace. They would undoubtedly oblige each other when the evening meal is due but for the unhappy fact that the dinner hours of the contending armies do not tally.
Obviously, says a facetious Frenchman, It is somebody's duty to see that the meal hours of the opposing forces synchronize exactly. The soldiers entertain each other with music, the trenches on either side furnishing items turn and turn
