GOLF HANDICAP COMMITTEE HAS DONE GOOD WORK

Francis B. Warner Deserves Much Credit—News and Comment From Clubs in This Vicinity.

The work of the Handicap Committee of the Golf Association of Philadelphia is an exceedingly difficult task, but this year's committee, of which Francis B. Warner, Philadelphia Cricket Club, is chairman, has done its work well. This was proven when the midsummer handicap event, played in July at St. David's, ended in a five-cornered tie for low net score. It wasn't so much the tie as the varying handicaps held by the men in the tie that made it remarkable.

The five men, with their stroke allowances, were H. W. Perrin, Merion, 3; Cecil B. Calvert, Aronimink, 5; Frank H. Mahan, St. David's, 9; W. Kemble Yarrow, Merion, 12, and Philip L. Corson, Plymouth, 15. When five men with handicaps ranging from 3 to 15 get into a tie for low score it proves conclusively that the handicapping has been well done.

The idea of a handicap tournament is to give the man, no matter how high or low his allowance may be, who plays a little better than his regular game a chance to win. Occasionally a murmur of discontent is heard when a high handicap player wins a prize, but as he has done nothing more or less than achieved what the tournament was held for, the murmur should not be countenanced for an instant. In nine cases out of ten the handicap is just, for it just happened on that day that the player was going better than ever before, and the chances are it will be many a day before he does as well again.

The only time that a player's handicap should be lowered is when it is found that he or she is coming in with net scores well into the 60s. That means that since the allowance was given the player has shown marked improvement, and then the handicap should be reduced according to the average scores. But handicaps should not be lowered on the showing in a single event.

While on the subject of handicapping it might be well to mention the good work done by the North Hills Country Club Committee, headed by W. W. Dudley. In a handicap event held there last Saturday three men with handicaps of 24, 29 and 30 were tied for first place, with net scores of 73. Four men with handicaps of 14, 14, 22 and 36 were next in line with 75, and three men with 19, 19 and 22 had net scores of 76. Four other scores under 80 were made by golfers with handicaps of 28, 26, 24 and 30. The man in the event with the lowest handicap, a 9, was way off his game, and the best net he could show for the day's play was 87. The North Hills golfers are to be congratulated upon having such an able handicap committee.

INDOOR TENNIS MEN WILL MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

C. M. Beard, ex-Champion of Ohio, Has Joined Local Racquet Colony—He Is a Valuable Asset.

By THE VOLLEYER

Members of the Indoor Tennis Club have received notices from Hosmar W. Hanna, secretary, of the first meeting to be held at the offices, 1204 Chestnut street, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. This will be the "get together" meeting of the tennis stars, and an elaborate program will be mapped out for the winter season.

The club is limited to a small membership. It is likely that C. M. Beard, the former Ohio State champion, will be included in the list, as he has joined the local tennis colony. Beard is a tournament player of note, having competed in many of the New York and New Jersey meetings during the last few years. Last summer he took part in the Plymouth Country Club tournament at Norristown.

Dr. Philip H. Hawk, the present indoor tennis champion, has not played since early August. He is anxious to start work on the indoor courts and will get ready to defend his title. The indoor championship event is closed to members of the club, and is usually held early in February.

The Indoor Club will be the centre of interest from now until the spring of 1915, when another outdoor tennis season will open. The covered courts at the Commercial Museum grounds are much in demand and those affiliated with the indoor organization make good use of them. For two months the racquet wielders will assuage in practice and then will come the annual championship tournament, which carries with it the indoor tennis title of Philadelphia and vicinity.

CORNELL MEN REST

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—In order to give the varsity men plenty of rest no regular practice was held at the Cornell camp yesterday, but last evening the entire squad was called together by the coaches and listened to reports of the men who had seen Penn and Michigan play last Saturday.

SHAKE UP FOR STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 10.—The Penn State football coaches were very much disappointed over the work of the team against Lehigh last Saturday. As a result of the poor showing made by the team a general shake-up is imminent.

SWARTHMORE BATTERED UP

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Nov. 10.—It was a very stiff and battered Swarthmore squad which answered Coach Glen's call for yesterday afternoon's practice on Whittier Field. All of the men showed the effects of their long trip to Lynchburg and the hard battle which they put up against Washington and Lee last Saturday. Hunter, Endicott and McGovern were stiff and sore, although they had no serious breaks.

CHARITY GAME FOR INDIANS

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The football season in New England will wind up in a blaze of glory on Saturday, November 28, when the Carlisle Indian football team will meet an all-star eleven made up of some of the most famous players that ever wore moleskins. The proceeds will go to the Red Cross and the Children's Island Sanitarium, a local charity. Hamilton Fish Kavanagh, '10, Harvard's captain and guard, will captain the all-star eleven, which will be coached by Percy Haughton.

FINAL SPRINT FOR YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Opening the week of the Princeton game with a 15-minute signal practice session, Yale's football squad this morning began the final period of the season's practice, every ten-string player and substitute and all varsity coaches and trainers were on the gridiron hereby.

CRIMSON HAS DAY OFF

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 10.—Harvard's football squad had a day off today, the players being given a chance to rest after the hard practice of the past week. The Crimson eleven will play its last game of the season against Princeton at Princeton, N. J., on November 21.

DE NERI QUINTET ABLE TO WIN IN CAGE OF ENEMY

Trenton Defeated in Hot Contest Last Night by Philadelphians—Score Was 29 to 22.

Working like a well-oiled machine, the De Neri quintet of the Eastern Basketball League jumped into second place when it handed a defeat to the Trenton five last night in the lair of the Bengals, winning by a score of 29 to 22.

NEAR-SCANDAL AT UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Gamblers Said to Be Attempting Approach of Wolverine Players.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 10.—The student body of the University of Michigan was wildly excited yesterday afternoon when Athletic Director Bartelme announced that he had received a letter notifying him that an attempt would be made to "approach" Johnny Maulbetsch, left halfback, and Tommy Hughitt, quarterback, on the varsity football team, before Saturday's big game with Cornell.

F. AND M. IN GOOD SHAPE

LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 10.—Franklin and Marshall's team returned from Ithaca in good shape, but Coach Mayser let the men off yesterday with a talk, pointing out where they might have done better in the battle with Cornell. The team has no more games scheduled before Thanksgiving day, when the big annual battle with Gettysburg comes off.

M'ANDREWS AND MURPHY MEET IN NORRISTOWN

Tonight's Card Will Be Good One—Also Excellent List of Bouts at the Fairmount A. C.

With three six-round fights and a ten-round windup, Manager "Lew" Bailey will present a clever bill to the patrons of the Palace Athletic Club, Norristown, tonight. The main event will be between two little rivals in "Jimmy" Murphy, of this city, and "Eddie" McAndrews, of Manayunk. The complete program follows:

Main bout, ten rounds—"Eddie" McAndrews, Manayunk, vs. "Jimmy" Murphy, Philadelphia.

Third bout—"Young" Ketchel, Manayunk vs. "Joe" O'Keefe, Philadelphia.

Second bout—"Kid" Gardner, Tioga, vs. "Tommy" Jamison, Philadelphia.

First bout—Harvey Campbell, Conshohocken, vs. "Kid" Held, Bridgeport.

A double windup will be the feature of Marcus Williams' presentation to his patrons at the Fairmount Athletic Club tonight. "Marty" Kane and "Mike" Daly will perform in the last half, and Jack Farrell and Kid Haney, Kensington, in the first. The full program is as follows:

Double windup—"Marty" Kane, 17th Ward, and "Mike" Daly, 18th Ward; "Jack" Farrell, 17th Ward, and Kid Haney, Kensington.

Semi-windup—"Mickey" Trainor, Southwark, vs. "Joe" Phelan, 17th Ward. Second bout—"Willie" Boyle, Richmond, vs. "Johnny" Hoey, Kensington. First bout—"Joe" Rivers, 12th Ward, vs. "Tommy" Britt, 11th Ward.

George Chaney, the Baltimore featherweight is being spoken of by Western fight critics as the only boy in sight who can give Champion Kilbane a good fight. Chaney's recent victory over Carl Delaney, of Cleveland, at Akron, was so decisive that a number of managers in the Middle West are bidding for his services.

Leo Houck, of Lancaster, one of the hardest hitting middleweights in the business, and Jack Britton, of this city, who has been showing class in the welterweight division, are matched to meet in a 12-round bout in Providence, R. I., on November 26.

MILLER WINS AUTO RACE

Phoenix Driver Sends Car Over El Paso Course in Record Time.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10.—Hugh Miller, of this city, yesterday won the El Paso-Phoenix road race of 555 miles in 14 hours 35 minutes, reducing last year's time more than two hours. J. T. Hutchins, Alamo Gordo, N. M., was second, in 15.57, and C. W. Tucker, El Paso, third, in 16:40.

Miller's average was 37 miles per hour.

AMATEURS FIGHT WELL

The finals of the 107th amateur boxing tournament, last night, at the Athletic Club of Philadelphia, brought together four good boys. The 145-pound bout between Sylvester O'Donnel and Joe Carlin was a hard fight, Carlin winning the decision by his clever use of a left jab. A six-round exhibition bout between George Blackburn, who was defeated in the semifinals on Saturday after eight rounds of hard fighting, and Tommy Sharpe, who before turning professional won many prizes in the amateur tournaments, went the limit.

In the 125-pound class, Mike Vincent stopped Charles Lawson. Lawson started off like a winner, but grew careless, and Vincent dropped him with a hard blow to the stomach.

"ALL-FOR-GLORY" STREET CONTEST PLANNED TONIGHT

Third Weekly Race to Be Held From West Branch Y. M. C. A.—Other Track News.

The third weekly "All-for glory" 2-mile street race will be held tonight from the West Branch Y. M. C. A. headquarters, 53d and Sansom streets, at 8 o'clock. Local training athletes are invited to take part. No entry fee is required. The race is sanctioned.

A "good fellowship" gathering of the members and friends of the Veteran Athletes Association of Philadelphia, has been scheduled Thursday night, November 19, at the Bingham Hotel.

The association numbers more than 250 men, most of whom were prominently identified with amateur athletics prior to 1895 and many of them at that time the foremost athletes in the United States. The committee in charge consists of Walter Gilbert, chairman; James H. Sterrett, secretary; William J. Herrmann, H. Walter Schlichter, Howard M. Ambler and Herman F. Wolf. Permission to bring friends as guests has been granted, and arrangements will only be made to set covers for those who send notice to Secretary James H. Sterrett, 6037 Sansom street, by Monday, November 16.

A number of local athletes will take part in the national indoor track and field championships, December 31.

MINORS MAY VOTE TO SIDE WITH MAJORS

Central League Holds Its Annual Meeting at Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 10.—Indications are that the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, in convention here, will declare for remaining under the national agreement. The Central League, composed of Ohio and Indiana clubs, already has pledged itself to that policy.

The Central League began its annual meeting yesterday, and beside re-electing President Louis Heilbroner, of Fort Wayne, Ind., adopted a resolution pledging the league's support to organized baseball. The resolution also declared that baseball peace should come on terms dictated by the organization.

WARNER MAY COACH PITT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—It is reported here that the University of Pittsburgh has contracted with Glenn S. Warner, football coach of the Carlisle Indian School, to coach the Pittsburgh football team for 10 years, at an annual salary of $7000.

Warner will leave Carlisle at Christmas, according to this report, which says that Pittsburgh has engaged him because of dissatisfaction with Joe Duff, the former Princeton star.

WORK FOR INDIANS

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 10.—The Carlisle Indian football squad divided practice honors yesterday afternoon with the annual Indian cross-country run. The football men, however, were seldom had such a full afternoon's work. Coach Warner and his assistants, Lonestar, Lubs and McCaffie, took each practice eleven through the principal fundamentals and included a 15-minute period of bucking the heavy football sled.

LEHIGH MEN UNINJURED

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 10.—The Lehigh team came through the hard Penn State game without injuries, and every regular was in togs. The practice started yesterday afternoon. Scrimmage was omitted and most of the varsity men were excused after running through signals for a short time to loosen up.

TALK FOR NAVY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 10.—Head Coach Hogsett gave his usual Monday talk to the Navy football squad this afternoon. He also showed to illustrate his comments on the work of the team in Saturday's game against Cornell. Plans for the Princeton game were discussed in signal formations and attacks.

Personal Touches in Sports

Supporters of the Princeton eleven blame the coaches for the poor showing made by the Tigers on Saturday against Harvard. They have the wrong "dope." They should blame Mahan.

Connie Mack is being censured by the press and by many fans for cutting down the efficiency of the Athletics by letting a number of stars go. But if the men who are doing the criticising were in the place of Mack they would do the same thing, except possibly in a more radical way. Suppose, for instance, you owned a plant calculated to be worth $500,000. At least you would want to make a profit of $30,000 for the year, which would be 6 per cent. on the investment. Instead of making this profit, the books of the American League Club of Philadelphia show a deficit of something like $12,000, or $42,000 less than enough to pay 6 per cent. on the Athletic plant. And this occurred during a season when the team won the pennant and had the previous year won both the pennant and the world's championship. Can you blame Mack and the other owners for wanting to cut downs? If you do your are unjust.

Joe Fogarty, the veteran foreward of the De Neri basketball team, is the cog around which that five is built, and to him must be given the bulk of the credit for what the team is doing today and what it has done in the past. Fogarty is one of the most thorough students of the cage game in the country and one of its greatest exponents. Although he isn't as fast as he used to be, he is still, thanks to wonderful knowledge of the game and his keen eye, untarnished by the frequent use of alcoholics, able to be a star among men ten years his junior. It is to be hoped that Fogarty has many good years ahead of him, both as a player and a developer of basketball athletes.

In nearly every branch of sport now there is an effort being made to stage special contests for the benefit of the suffering Belgians. This worthy cause has been taken up with creditable alacrity by Philadelphia golfers, and other devotees of the links are following suit. It is now proposed to have the football champions of the East and West play a post-season game, the receipts from which to be applied to the Belgian relief fund. If this game could be played in the Yale bowl it would net a profit close to the $50,000 mark. Aside from the worthy cause involved, such a fray would be highly interesting to the football followers throughout the country, regardless of which teams finally won the right to play. At present it appears that Harvard would get the honor in the East, although this cannot be definitely determined until after the Yale-Harvard and Princeton-Yale games.

Should Princeton be fortunate enough to defeat Yale and the Elis in turn trim Harvard, the resulting triple tie would make it necessary to cast lots for the Eastern winner. However, the chances are that Harvard will win the championship by a good margin over the rival sons of Eli. If this happens, the crimson eleven will be regarded as undisputed champions, regardless of the result of the Yale-Princeton mix-up next Saturday. In the West the champions are still symbolized by the letter X. Chicago, Wisconsin and Illinois are in the running for highest honors in the Middle West section, and only after the final battles of the season can the champion eleven be determined, if then.

At any rate, whatever teams win the laurels in their respective sections, they should be willing to spend a little extra time in training to make a universal championship game possible, to say nothing of assisting a people who have been thrown into a deplorable condition of poverty through no fault of their own.

DEER SEASON IN PENNSYLVANIA STARTS IN EARNEST

Deer shooting began today at dawn in Pennsylvania and hunters were out in large numbers after the fleetfooted animals. Hundreds of sportsmen left the city last night for distant covers and woods upstate, where deer shooting is permitted. Many clubs formed parties to camp out in the open until the season closes, on November 2[illegible].

Hunters are only pe[illegible]itted to bag bucks with horns projecting two inches above the hair, and the catch is only one to each sportsman. Here is where the entertainment in the woods comes in for its fullness of purpose. Huntsmen are very fond of the venison and relish it with a ravenous appetite.

Sixteen days are open for deer shooting. The season is closed in the following counties: Chester, Jefferson, Forest, Clarion, Warren, Somerset, Fayette, Westmoreland and Cambria.

According to reports that have reached the State Game Commission, deer are plentiful. In some districts they are reported as making raids on farmers' fields, while other stories say that in the Juniata Valley they run along the roads.

MAUPOME TO MEET KEICKHEFER HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

Local Representative Will Play Last Year's Champion in Interstate Billiard League Match.

Members of the sport-loving fraternity will again have the opportunity to witness Pierre Maupome, the local representative in the Interstate Three Cushion Billiard League, in action when he meets August Keickhefer, of Milwaukee, last year's champion of the Interstate League, Wednesday evening, November 11, at Allinger's Billiard Academy. Maupome played Hugh Heel, of Toledo, last week, winning the match by making a sensational five-cushion bank shot in the 93d inning, scoring 50 points. He expects to again carry off the honors for Philadelphia in the coming event.

Not long ago Maupome's run of 18 in a practice game at St. Louis attracted widespread interest in billiard circles, and a little later Keickhefer's run of 17 in an exhibition match at Milwaukee electrified billiard enthusiasts throughout the country.

A phenomenal performance is in store for the local followers of the three-cushion style of game when these two wizards meet in competition.

DARTMOUTH MUST HUSTLE

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 10.—Despite what was a glorious victory from the undergraduates' viewpoint over the Tufts team Saturday there was no undue or unnatural jubilation among the members of the Dartmouth squad yesterday over the game. Neither are the coaches anticipating a let-up in the work because of the 65 to 0 score, but they plan the most strenuous week's practice of the season, feeling that it will be an entirely different matter meeting Penn at Philadelphia next Saturday.

OVATION FOR PRINCETON

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—Princeton received the returning Tiger football eleven last night with a demonstration almost equal to that accorded to a winning team, and so started the motion of the wheels that are to grind out order from the chaos of the whipped and discouraged Tigers.

Even the rest of two days in Lenox, Mass., has left the Tiger team a pretty well battered aggregation, but injuries amounted only to bruises and stiffness that Keene Fitzpatrick expects to cure before next Saturday, when the Princeton men will play their second game in the new stadium.

NO MORE FEVER AT EASTON

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 10.—For the first time this year Coach Crowell was able to start the practice on Monday with the same team that started the game on the Saturday before. Not a man was seriously injured in the melee at Muhlenberg, and not another man has come down with the typhoid fever or the symptoms of it.

KNOCKS OUT WEINERT

"Jack" Dillon, Indianapolis Boxer, Wins in Second Round at Olympia.

"Jack" Dillon made an auspicious debut at a light-heavyweight fighter at the Olympia Athletic Association last night by knocking out "Young" Weinert, of Newark, in the second round of a battle scheduled to go six. Weinert proved to be a great boxer, and up to the time Dillon landed that crushing right to the head had the better of the fighting.

Toward the close of the second round, after Dillon had been tantalized by Weinert's left jabs, the former waded in and with rights and left practically smothered his opponent with blows. A right overhand punch back of the ear proved Weinert's undoing, for he was down for the count of nine. Dillon followed up this advantage, having tasted blood, and had Weinert helpless over the ropes when the bell rang. The bout was mercifully stopped here, for Weinert was dead to the world so far as strength was concerned.

"Johnny" Duffy deserved the decision over "Frankie" Netter, while "Mickey" Donley won from Leo Tracey. "Joe" Hefferman outboxed "Pete" Malone, and in the first bout "Young Mickey" Donovan whipped "Frankie" McManus to the proverbial frazzle.

WHITE OUTPOINTS WELSH

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 10. — Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, was held to a draw in a fiercely fought ten-round contest here last night. Under the law a referee's decision could not be given, but it was the opinion of the newspaper experts that Charley White thoroughly earned the decision by his whirlwind finish.

PENN ELEVEN IS FACING TODAY A GREAT CRISIS

Much Improvement Will Be Necessary in Order to Make Good Showing Against Dartmouth.

By EDWARD R. BUSHNELL

Pennsylvania's football team today faces about as big a crisis as any team that ever wore the Red and Blue. Completely overwhelmed by Michigan and bruised in body, the Quakers have but three working days in which to prepare for Dartmouth, an eleven which most of the critics think is even stronger than Michigan. If the Quakers do not play infinitely better against Dartmouth on Saturday than they did against Michigan, they will be fortunate to escape being utterly crushed.

Their only hope lies in the assumption that the failure against Michigan was due to inability to break up Michigan's long forward passes, a weakness which certainly can be corrected. There is a measure of truth in this, for even Coach Yost himself was astonished at the ease with which these long passes were made and the demoralization they wrought in the Pennsylvania secondary defense. Had Pennsylvania been able to furnish even an average defense for these plays, Michigan would hardly have scored more than two touchdowns.

In Dartmouth, Pennsylvania will meet a team which is stronger than the one that wore the Green a year ago. Therefore, if Dartmouth plays up to form on Saturday and Pennsylvania doesn't improve about 100 per cent. it is hard to see how a Red and Blue victory can be looked for.

Just how green this Pennsylvania eleven is was shown by the way the backfield acted when Michigan began to heave forward passes. The Quakers were outguessed repeatedly. If Michigan wanted to throw a forward pass the Quaker backs would be pulled up to the line, and if they played back for such passes then Maulbetsch would hurl himself like a projectile into their line.

In this respect the game bore close resemblance to that between Pennsylvania and Dartmouth a year ago. In that game Dartmouth scored two touchdowns on forward passes and the Pennsylvania ends and backs were drawn out of position, and Dartmouth made two runs for touchdowns for more than half the length of the field. Michigan did the same thing, only getting three touchdowns in this manner. As the 1913 game proceeded the Pennsylvania secondary defense solved Dartmouth's forward passes, and the gains stopped.

Considering the ease with which Michigan gained by the forward pass, the football experts are interested in a discussion waged a year ago by Percy D. Haughton, Harvard coach, and Harry Williams, the old Yale player, now coaching the University of Minnesota. Harvard has never taken the forward pass seriously as an offensive play and has studied it principally to prepare a defense for it. Haughton insisted that a live backfield could absolutely kill the forward pass, and the success of Harvard against supports this contention. Williams, on the other hand, claimed that there was no defense possible against the play, perfectly executed.

The Car for All Weather

Rain or shine, in fair days and stormy, the Chalmers "Light Six" Coupelet is instantly at your service. You can convert it from a smart roadster to an enclosed car, and vice versa, in two minutes.

This Chalmers model is an economical car because it saves you the expense of purchasing two bodies, one for summer and one for winter. Its economy extends also to its cost of operation; for like all Chalmers models, this "Light Six" Coupelet is properly balanced, not so light as to be flimsy, not so heavy as to be ponderous in operation and excessive in fuel and tire charge.

With top up, the Chalmers "Light Six" Coupelet is as luxuriously comfortable as a permanently closed coupe. The windshield is built integral with the front of the body.

With glasses raised, the doors are identically like those on the regular types of enclosed cars. The doors are flush fitting and with the glass windows set down deeply into the doors make the car both weather and draft-proof. At the same time, the Coupelet body is considerably lighter in weight than most permanent coupe types.

This Chalmers model has a style seldom found in even the highest priced cars. Its tapered motor bonnet, genuine molded oval fenders, streamline body, clear running boards, flush fitting doors, and rich, dignified trimmings, give an appearance of class that bespeaks both efficiency and comfort.

Take your first opportunity to come in and see this "Light Six" Coupelet.
