

1,250,000 BRITONS READY FOR DUTY, SAYS KITCHENER

Nation Needs More Men Despite Patriotic Response to Call to Colors, War Minister Announces.

LONDON, Nov. 10. Great Britain has 1,250,000 men in training for the war in England alone, this number not including those of the overseas dominions. This statement was made by Lord Kitchener in his speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet last night, and he added that he would continue to call for more men until the enemy had been crushed.

Confidence in the ultimate success of the allied arms was expressed by Lord Kitchener, who praised the territorialists, particularly the London Scottish and the East Indians; spoke of the admiration of the British troops for "the glorious French army," and said: "Under the direction of General Joffre, who is not only a great military leader, but a great man, we may confidently rely on the ultimate success of the allied forces in the western theatre of the war."

He praised the brilliant leadership of Grand Duke Nicholas and also "the splendid deeds of the gallant Belgian army" and the gallantry of the Japanese forces. Continuing, Lord Kitchener said: "The British Empire is now fighting for its existence. I want every citizen understand this cardinal fact, for only in a clear conception of the vast importance of the issue at stake can come great national moral impulse, with which the Government's War Minister, or even their navies, can do but little. We have enormous advantages in our resources of men and material, and in that wonderful spirit of ours, which has never understood the meaning of defeat. All these are great assets, but they must be used judiciously and effectively.

"I have no complaint to make whatever about the response to my appeals for men. The progress in the military training of those who already have enlisted is most remarkable, and the country may well be proud of them, but I shall want more men and still more, until the enemy is crushed.

"Armies cannot be called together as with the magician's wand, and in the process of formation there may have been discomforts, and inconveniences in some cases—even downright suffering. I cannot promise that these conditions will wholly cease to give you every assurance that they have already greatly diminished and everything that administrative energy can do to bring them to an end assuredly will be done.

"Our losses in the trenches have been severe, but such casualties are far from deterring the British nation from seeing the matter through. They will act rather as an incentive to British manhood to prepare themselves to take the places of those who have fallen."

In paying tribute to the leadership of Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary force, and his generals, and to the high efficiency and courage of the army, the War Minister said: "I think that it has now been conceded that the British army has proved itself to be not so contemptible an engine of war as some were disposed to consider it."

BAVARIAN PRINCE VOICES POETIC DEFI TO ENGLAND

Sven Hedin Praises Kaiser—Budget of Berlin News.

BERLIN, Nov. 10. Copies of a poem, giving free voice to German antagonism toward England, has been written by Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, and the War Office has ordered that copies of it be distributed among the soldiers. The refrain of the poem is: "We shall never cease hating England; we have but one hatred—England."

HUNT FOR "COTTONTAILS" OPENS IN JERSEY TODAY

Bang of Guns in Early Morning Announces Rabbit Season.

New Jersey rabbits are having a busy time today. Almost before it was light enough to distinguish the rabbits from the tufts of grass in the fields this morning the merry bang of the guns announced the opening of the hunting season for "cottontails" in New Jersey.

WATER FOR GRAZING LAND Dig Out Your Springs, Advises Forest Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Suggestions on how to develop water supplies on grazing lands are given in a statement today by the United States Forest Service.

LOTTIE BRISCOE, MOVING PICTURE STAR

BETTER BABIES AIM OF TEMPLE CLUB IN NEW PRIZE CONTEST

Child Welfare Conference Offers Rewards for Improvements in Health Conditions During Two Months' Race.

A contest to arouse mothers to the full appreciation of their duty to better the environment and physical health of their children has been inaugurated by the Child Welfare Conference of the Temple University in the new Temple Lyceum, Broad and Brown streets. Social workers generally have become interested in the project, which is hoped will pave the way for better home conditions in the tenement districts by means of an educational campaign.

The contest will run over a period of two months. Only infants under 2 years of age are eligible as contestants. Three prizes have been offered for their improvement, not only physically, but as to environments also. Their quarters must be made brighter and more healthful, and other rules have been laid down.

Registration began yesterday and will continue through Saturday, covering the same week of the Child Federation Conference, which is being held under the auspices of the Temple University's social workers. During the two months of the contest the physician in charge will see each baby at least once a week. The nurses attached to the district will also visit the home once a week and separate scores will be kept as to physical conditions and home surroundings.

LAMAR'S BAY HUNT FUTILE

"Wolf of Wall Street" Spends Another Day in Tombs. NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—David Lamar is still in the Tombs today. He was unable to find the $200,000 security required by Judge Rudkin in the Federal District Court as bail for the three indictments, which have been found against him in a service bond through Judge Rudkin's charge that he impersonated falsely members of Congress in telephoning to J. P. Morgan & Co. and others.

PLAYERS SEEK BACK SALARIES

Members of Boston Theatre Opera Company Strike Before Performance. BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Members of the disbanded Boston Theatre Opera Company are seeking to recover back salaries due them: In a discord of biases, cut-throats and boom, the troupe quit in a body at a performance given last night to Mayor Curley and the Boston City Club to arouse interest in the opera. Before the curtain went up $2200 was subscribed by the audience to pay back salaries. The musicians demanded full payment of wages before their performance started. The Mayor and his associates became angry and told the audience to get their money back at the box office.

WOMAN DRUGGED AND ROBBED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 10.—Police today began investigating the robbery in which Mrs. W. F. Powers, a wealthy tourist from Washington, D. C., was drugged and $1500 worth of her jewelry stolen. Mrs. Powers entered her apartments after dark, and as she unlocked the door a man grasped her by the throat. Mrs. Powers says she smelled ether and a moment later lost consciousness. The robber then stripped her fingers of several rings. Half an hour later Mrs. Powers was found unconscious on the floor. The air was heavy with ether. The officer overpowered a $500 diamond brooch in Mrs. Powers' hand.

REV. DR. ANNA SHAW TO APPEAR SOON IN 7-REEL PHOTOPLAY

Woman's Suffrage Association to Spread Propaganda Through Movies—Screen Unites Man and Wife. Film Finances.

Dr. Anna H. Shaw is the latest celebrity to be shown in a moving picture. She was moved in "Your Girl and Mine," together with Olive Wyndham, Katherine Kaelred and Sidney Booth, there being seven reels all told. The play is sponsored by Mrs. Medill McCormick, the executive head of the Woman's Suffrage Association, and deals with the propaganda.

That women are not exclusive when it comes to the presence of men in photoplay pictures is proved by the fate of the Exclusive Theatre in Los Angeles. Originally an ordinary "movie" house, it was converted into a show place for women and children, and men accompanied by women. Educational features were shown, and when these failed to draw comedies were introduced. Then came a mixed program, and, now, the old order has been restored and prosperity has returned to the house.

"Julius Caesar," not Shakespeare's play, but a version of the Roman's life, has been pictured by George Kleine. The reels take one and one-half hours to project on the screen. The production cost $100,000 and 2500 persons were employed in the various scenes. Antony Novelli appears as imperial Caesar.

Richard Harding Davis' "The Man Who Could Not Lose," with Favorite Players in the various roles, will soon be shown here. Twelve hundred actors were employed in the production.

FOUND THROUGH THE MOVIES. In 1911 Fred Robeson, a mine superintendent, was seriously hurt in an explosion in a Scranton mine. He was taken to the nearest hospital. The same day his wife had started for a visit to her parents in College City, O. On the train she learned of her husband's injuries and was so overcome by the shock that her mind became affected. She was interned in an asylum.

On recovering, Robeson searched high and low for his wife, but in vain. Then he moved to Richmond, Cal., mourning her as dead. Last week he went to a movie house. The first scene depicted was a mine accident, showing an explosion in realistic manner. A woman in the rear of the theatre screamed and fainted. Robeson rushed to her side and found to his amazement and joy that it was his wife.

And this is not a scenario either! Charlotte Briscoe, leading woman for Lubin, is a graduate of the speaking stage, where she played with Richard Mansfield and won much credit. Miss Briscoe, who plays with Arthur Johnson in "The Beloved Adventure," is the president of the Lottie Briscoe Club. She was chosen by a jury of artists last year as one of 30 representative American girls.

FILM FINANCES. The photoplay industry is on a sound financial basis. There are weekly quotations of its stocks, the latest at hand being:

Table with 3 columns: Company Name, Bid, Asked. Includes American Film Mfg. Co., Mutual Film Corp., New York Motion Picture, etc.

There is enormous profit in films is shown by the fact that the bookings of "The Million Dollar Mystery" are in excess of $1,200,000.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS. Add to the list of those who have succumbed to the movie lure: Elsie Janis, James K. Hackett, George Fawcett, Mac-

Graves, Master G. W. F. Grant, of the New Jersey State Grange, and a large number of delegates arrived today and the hotels are now practically filled with the delegates and officials. The Chamber of Commerce today completed the task of providing quarters for the visitors, and as the body had a list of 1500 rooms at its disposal there was no difficulty in getting board and lodging places for all who came.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 10.—In honor of the meeting of the National Grange, which opens this evening with a reception in the Hotel du Pont, merchants are using a novel decoration. As the grangers feed the community, scores of store windows are decorated with food products.

Hold I. W. W. Leader for Disturbance. NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Alexander Berkman, the I. W. W. leader, who was arrested after a celebration Sunday night in a Second Avenue cafe, was arraigned before Magistrate Simms today on a charge of interfering with an officer in the performance of his duty. He waived examination and was held to await action of the Grand Jury. His bail bond of $1000 was continued.

NOVEL DISPLAYS GREET NATIONAL GRANGE DELEGATES

Wilmington Merchants Decorate Their Stores With Fruits and Vegetables in Honor of Convention.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 10.—In honor of the meeting of the National Grange, which opens this evening with a reception in the Hotel du Pont, merchants are using a novel decoration. As the grangers feed the community, scores of store windows are decorated with food products.

The finest varieties of fruits and vegetables have been obtained, and the exhibits are proving attractive to all the visitors to Wilmington. Oliver Wilson, master of the State

SUBMARINES CHASE GOEBEN

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Bucharest reports that several Russian submarines are pursuing the Goeben and the Breslau.

ROAD ENTHUSIASTS FAVORS SUGGESTION OF PHILADELPHIAN

Robert P. Hooper Advocates National Highway System Connecting All States and Similar to Chain in France.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 10.—Delegates to the fourth American Road Congress, in session today, are heartily in favor of the suggestion of Robert P. Hooper, of Philadelphia, ex-president of the American Automobile Association, that Federal aid be given a system of highways connecting every State and equal to that of France.

Almost 5000 advocates of good roads are attending the congress. All are enthusiastic over the prospect of a well developed chain of highways as outlined by Mr. Hooper, who said: "No complete account of the good roads movement in Georgia or any other State could be given without some mention of the part played by automobiles. As this means of transportation has ceased to be the plaything of the rich, has adapted itself to manifold uses and has been brought within the compass of men in moderate circumstances, it has proved a more and more important factor in road development. Whenever automobiles come into general use in a country, good roads are sure to follow.

"Perhaps we motorists at times become unduly optimistic, but I look forward to the day when we shall have highways connecting every State the equal of those to be found in France. Furthermore, there will be an exchange of road travelers between North and South that will be beneficial and educational to both sections of the country.

"In no way can we become better acquainted than through the intimate channel of road travel, for then we truly discover that we all are only human beings, interdependent one upon the other and equally interested in the general welfare of our great country. The South and the North then will be a new South and North."

Mr. Hooper referred to the indomitable courage of the South, which section, he said, remains quite prosperous despite the low price of cotton.

He explained that the American Automobile Association believes the Government should help the State on their most important arteries of communication since the problem of good roads had become national in aspect.

Graveyard Vandal Believed Insane. PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 10.—An insane person is being sought today by the police on suspicion of having destroyed monuments and headstones on 30 graves in the Airmount Cemetery in Rahway, N. J. The monuments were tumbled off their base and headstones pulled from the graves and carted to another part of the graveyard.

MODERN DANCING. MISS MARGUERITE C. WALZ Studio of Modern Dances 1204 WALNUT STREET Mrs. Elizabeth W. Reed, Chaperone.

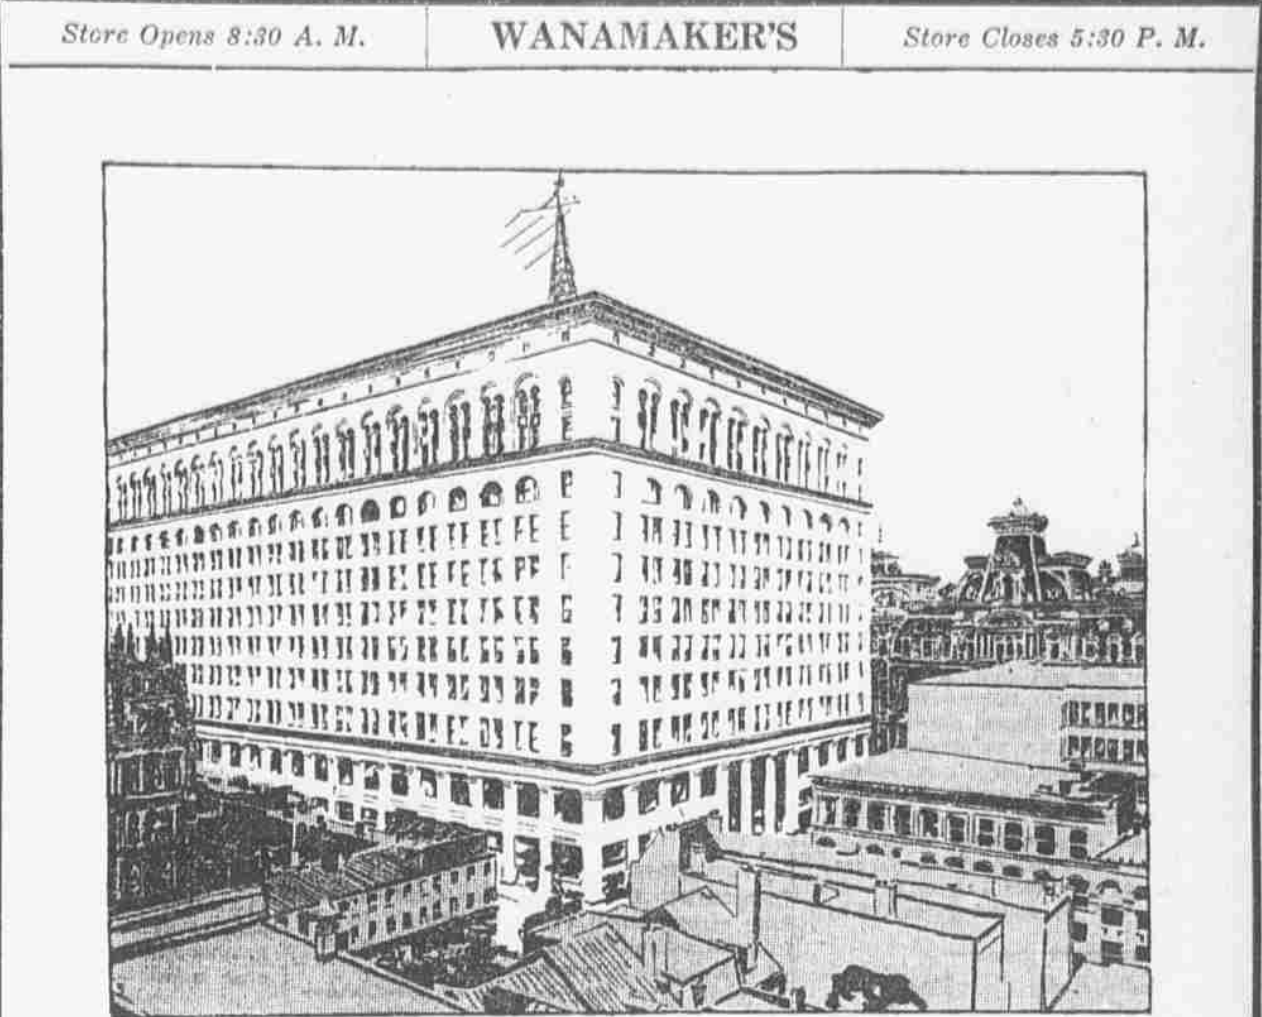

WANT TO FORM YOUR OWN CLASS or take a strictly private Lesson Consult Edw. Bruce, Chestnut St., 1124 SPECIALIST in up-to-the-minute dances.

RESORTS HOTEL DENNIS ATLANTIC CITY N. J. IN AUTUMN Provides a charm of comfort and ease amidst characteristic environment. Ideal seashore home. Directly on the ocean front. Capacity 90. WALTER J. RUZBY.

LAKEWOOD, N. J. OAK COURT A modern hotel with quiet air of domesticity and a homelike atmosphere. E. E. SPANGENBERG Mgr.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. ROOM WITH BATH, $1.50 HOTEL BURBRIDGE NEW MODERN FIREPROOF

Advertisement for Centemeri Gloves, featuring a large image of a hand in a glove and text describing the product as a 'Novelty Bandalette' with a price of 2.25 per pair.

Little Furs and Fur Coats

Plenty of the pretty little novelty pieces are here which women buy earliest in the season, and wear to finish or enrich their costumes.

Plain Hudson seal (sheared muskrat) is made up in twenty-five or more different styles of neckpieces, priced from $12.50 to $70; and a great variety of muffs including a curious bell shape, priced from $20 to $55.

Hudson seal (sheared muskrat) is combined with the fashionable fitch for all manner of chokers, little collars and pointed scarfs for $16.50 to $40, and muffs at $25 to $60.

Ermine and Hudson seal (sheared muskrat) are $12.50 to $35 for neck furs, and $45 to $60 for muffs.

Other combinations among the novelties are sheared muskrat and the pretty dark brown kolinsky; mole sometimes made up with chiffon velvet and ornaments; mole with skunk; sheared muskrat with monkey; ermine and mole; ermine and caracul.

Then there are charming little sets of skunk, kolinsky or black lynx, all combined with draped chiffon velvet.

Hudson Seal (Sheared Muskrat) Coats may be had as low as $75 for a three-quarter length model, plain or trimmed with fitch. Others with natural skunk collars are $85, and perfectly plain coats, 50 inches long and of beautiful quality, are $125 each.

(Third Floor, Chestnut) JOHN WANAMAKER PHILADELPHIA