DEBUTANTE AFFAIRS

Miss Cordelia Biddle will be presented at a Damsel Today.

One of the largest teas of the season will be given this afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle, at the Bellevue-Stratford Rose Gardens, to introduce their attractive daughter, Miss Cordelia Biddle. The large north garden is decorated with great palms and ferns, and certainly no debutante yet has received more flowers than Miss Biddle—every kind of exquisite and rare bloom, from the violet and tiny sweetheart rose, to the great snowball chrysanthemum and stately American beauty.

Mrs. Biddle's gown is a combination of satin, velvet and lace, and the bodice is finished with tulle folds. Miss Biddle wears an extremely dainty frock of satin and silver shot lace, made with a long basque girde and frilly overskirt. Mrs. Biddle will have assisting her in receiving Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, Mrs. George W. C. Drexel, Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mrs. Samuel K. Reeves, Mrs. Isaac T. Starr, Mrs. Daniel L. Hutchinson, Mrs. Charles B. Penrose, Mrs. J. Harrison Smith, Mrs. C. Miss Biddle will be assisted by the following young ladies: Miss Mary Duke, of the New York; Miss Ellen You, of New York; Miss Charlotte Brown, Miss Ruth Cox, Miss Margaret Scull, Miss Katharine Ashurst Bowie, Miss Inez Drayton, Miss Pauline Dismont, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Marie Louise Wamamaker, Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Miss Elizabeth Wester, Miss Jean Thompson and Miss Elizabeth Thompson.

A theatre party and supper for the receiving party and additional main guests will follow the dance.

A second tea and dance, which will take place this afternoon, will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibbons Davis, at the Germantown Cricket Club, Manheim.

Mrs. Davis and her daughter will receive their guests near the entrance to the ballroom. Miss Davis will wear an exquisite gown of white satin with an overskirt of tulle. A number of the season's buds will receive with Miss Davis. They will include Miss Elizabeth E. Walter, Miss Charlotte Harding Brown, Miss Ruth Mann, Miss Marjorie H. Mann, Miss Christine Clark, Miss Marjorie Taylor, Miss Emma A. Dorr, Miss Helena S. Robinson, Miss Mary E. Clayton, Miss Huberta Potter, Miss Katharine Tenney, Miss Jean M. Little, Miss Alice Denniston Laughlin, of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Henry Hobart Brown will give a debutante luncheon at the Acorn Club in honor of Miss Hope McMichael, who will be introduced at a dance on December 3. About 30 debutantes will attend the luncheon today.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Yanzza Stewart, of 999 Spruce street, will entertain at dinner in honor of Miss Margaret Edward daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Augustus Herwind.

WEDDINGS IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Miss Caroline Franklin is Married to S. MacDonald Smith Today—Cupid Has Other Followers.

The marriage of Miss Caroline Beates Franklin, daughter of Henry S. Franklin, and Stanley MacDonald Smith took place today at noon in St. James' Episcopal Church, Lancaster. The bride was attired in white satin and lace and her veil was trimmed with lace and orange blossoms. Her father gave her in marriage. Mr. Smith was attended by his brother William Howard Smith, as best man, and the ushers were Henry Pepper Norris, of this city, and Franklin Bauman, of Lancaster. Mr. Smith is the son of Mrs. L. Heber Smith, of this city. The wedding was an extremely quiet affair. Only the families and a very few intimate friends were present. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Smith will live in Lancaster.

BURNETT-ALLEN

The marriage of Miss Mildred Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Allen, to Warren A. Burnett will take place tonight at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 6357 Overbrook avenue. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. H. Alfred Rogers, pastor of the Princeton Presbyterian Church. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be gowned in lustrous white satin, veiled in lace, with a court train. Her veil will be of tulle, surmounted by a coronet of orange blossoms, and she will carry white chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor will be Miss May Allen, a sister of the bride. She will wear a gown of pale pink satin, and will carry pink chrysanthemums.

Clarence M. Burnett, a brother of the bridegroom, will act as best man. Following the ceremony a small reception will be held, after which Mr. and Mrs. Burnett will leave for their wedding journey. They will live in Lexington, Ky.

WHITE-FEGLEY

A very interesting wedding will take place in Tiosa tonight, when Miss Edith M. Fegley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Fegley, of 122 West Ontario street, will be given in marriage by her father to Clarence B. White, of 121 West Erie avenue. The ceremony will be performed at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Albert Henry, of the First Presbyterian Church of Kensington, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Dunn, pastor of the Tiosa Presbyterian Church, Tiosa and 16th streets.

A gown of soft white satin and princess lace, beautiful in its long straight lines, and made with a court train, will be worn by the bride. Her tulle veil, edged with lace, will be arranged with a cap and orange blossoms to hold it in place, and the bouquet will be a shower of orchids and lilies of the valley. There will be two attendants, Miss Margery Baum, maid of honor, and Helen Cramp, the flower girl. The former will wear a charming frock of white lace, with a touch of pale blue trimming. Her flowers will be pink roses. Little Miss Cramp's white lace frock will be trimmed with pink ribbons. She will carry a dainty basket of pink rosebuds.

Mr. White will have John P. Fegley, the bride's brother, for best man. The ceremony will be followed by a reception from 8 to 10 o'clock. Upon their return from an extended journey Mr. and Mrs. White will be at home after February 1 at 635 North 13th street, Oak Lane.

FOSTER-ANKINS

Miss Catherine Ankina, daughter of the Rev. J. Wesley and Mrs. Ankina, of 2034 North 9th street, and Woolston H. Foster, of Washington, were married last night in the Fifth Tabernacle, 21 street above Lehigh avenue, of which the bride's father is pastor. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ellwood Roberts, of the Church of the Brethren, Allentown. Miss Ankina was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Miss Frances Griffen as maid of honor. George Griffen was the bridegroom's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Foster, on their return from their wedding journey, will occupy their new home on East Allegheny avenue.

TESTIMONIAL LUNCHEON

Dr. Laura Carnell Guest of Honor at Rittenhouse Function.

A delightfully appointed testimonial luncheon was given this afternoon at the Rittenhouse in honor of Dr. Laura Carnell, dean of the Temple University, in celebration of the completion by her of 21 years of service at the college. The guests were received by the officers, Mrs. Walter Shumway, Mrs. Percy M. Chandler, Mrs. T. Lewis Thomas and Mrs. Walter Hancock. The reception room was banked with palms and flowers and draped with a large American flag, in front of which a miniature fountain played.

Among the interesting guests were Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, Mrs. L. H. O'Hara, Dean Marian Kelly, of Bryn Mawr College; Miss Elizabeth Kirkbride, president of the College Club; Mrs. B. P. Richardson, president of the Philomathean Club; Mrs. S. P. Snowden Mitchell, Mrs. George W. Edwards, Mrs. Edwin C. Grice, Miss Abby Sutherland, Mrs. Edith Pierce and Mrs. Munford.

The luncheon was served in the main banquet room, with the tables arranged to form a half wheel, radiating from the speaker's table. The room was hung with autumn leaves from Maryland and chrysanthemums, and the centre pieces were pink rosebuds. Covers were laid for 125 guests.

During the course of the affair Doctor Carnell was presented with a huge bunch of gas-tulas and orchids, in the centre of which was concealed a handsome bracelet watch.

The speakers of the afternoon, who were introduced by Mrs. Walter Hancock, were Mrs. H. S. Prentiss Nichols, president of the Century Club, who spoke on "Woman's Work in Club Life"; Miss Henrietta Meter, dean of Swarthmore College, "Woman's Work in Educational Institutions"; Dr. Eleanor Jones, "Opportunity Open to Women Graduates in Medicine"; Miss Winifred Robinson, dean of the new Delaware State College for Women, "Harmony Between Academic and Vocational Training."

TIOGA

Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Schmid, of 219 North 5th street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Bertha C. to John Henry Beckman last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Beckman will be at home after November 23 at 432 North 13th street, Logan.

THE DRAMA

ANNE MURDOCK AND MRS. THOMAS WHIFFEN

In "The Beautiful Adventure" coming to the Broad. Mrs. Whiffen will make her last appearance after 50 years on the stage.

Future Promising for American Dramatists

While young American dramatists lack technique, their work, according to Winthrop Ames, of the Little Theatre, New York, reveals a rich fertility of original ideas. Technique can be learned, but ideas cannot. Therefore Mr. Ames considers the future promising for the development of native playwrights.

In the $10,000 play contest conducted by Mr. Ames 250 manuscripts were submitted. Of this number 130 were written by women, which shows that the writing of plays is pursued by women as much as by men. Of the 12 manuscripts selected for final consideration, six were written by women. Three of these were from New Yorkers, three came from Chicago, two from Boston, two from California, one from Washington, D. C., and one from Seattle.

"This shows that plays are being written throughout the country," said Mr. Ames. "The greater number were modern in theme, and the majority were plays about criminals."

Only a small portion of the manuscripts were correctly written, but, considered generally, revealed originality of plot and ideas. In discussing the preparation for play writing, Mr. Ames said a serious study of successful dramas from the theatre is better than actual work on the stage. To be successful, a dramatist must understand the development of action toward a proper climax, and, most important of all, the play of suspense which makes an audience hold its breath until the denouement.

The price was won, as already announced, by Miss Alice Brown. Her play, "Children of Earth," will be produced about Thanksgiving, with Herbert Keiley and Effie Shannon heading the cast.

FLASHES FROM "STARS"

David Belasco will present at the Broad Street Theatre, beginning November 30, Frances Starr in Henri Bernstein's latest play, "The Secret."

Low Fields is to act before the camera, appearing in "Old Dutch," one of the familiar successes, having been engaged by the World Film Corporation. Associated with Mr. Fields in the "movies" are Miss Vivian Martin, now appearing with him in "The High Cost of Living," and George Haysel.

The production of "Hindle Wakes," a delightfully witty presentation of the feminist question, will be followed November 30 at the Little Theatre by "Joy," by John Galsworthy.

The step from "straight" drama to motion pictures and back again is very brief these

THEATRICAL BAEDEKER

ADELPHI—"A Pair of Sixes," farce by Edward Peple. Two business partners shoot a cold hand, the winner to retain the business, the loser to become his body-servant for a year. Maude Eburne imitatively funny as a slavey.

BROAD—"The Song of Songs," new play by Edward Sheldon. An episodic adaptation of Hermann Sudermann's novel detailing a girl's quest of love, in which Irene Fenwick proves herself a capable great actress.

FORREST—"Sari," charming operetta, with Mimi Hajas and Irene Powelowska. Mimi Hajas, as Sari, an Hungarian girl, transported to Paris, is imitatively, cooly funny—and just captivating. Miss Powelowska sings operatically and charmingly.

GARRICK—"The Debutante," new musical comedy, with book by H. R. and L. B. Smith and music by Victor Herbert. A trite plot, enlivened by bits of insinuating music, with Hazel Dawn as roseate an ever.

KEITH'S—Celebration of the 12th anniversary of this popular vaudeville house, with Jesse L. Lasky's titillating musical comedy, "The Society Buds."

LITTLE THEATRE—Excellent revival of "The Rivals" in original form as written by Sheridan, admirably acted.

LYRIC—"The Story of the Rosary." Elaborately staged melodrama, which will weary some in the first act and thrill others to the last, appreciation being a matter of taste.

WALNUT—"Within the Law." Catherine Tower convincingly portrays Mary Turner, who is unjustly sentenced to prison, but finally triumphs.

days. Edith Taliaferro, last seen in "Tipping the Winner," will appear in a forthcoming motion picture production for the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, Dustin Farnum, Winifred Kingston and Marguerite Clark will all journey to the coast together, each being booked for appearance in a picture. Elsie Janie will also appear on the screen.
