OSCAR GERNEY IS NEW DIRECTOR AT NORTHEAST SCHOOL

Begins Active Work Today as Leader of Athletic Interests at That Institution.

An office much in demand has been filled today at the Northeast High School when Oscar Gerney was appointed director of physical education of the in-stitution. He will be the first official of the kind Northeast has ever had, holding a position similar to that of Dr. M. C. O'Brien, at the Central High School. Gerney will act as a trainer for the members of all the athletic teams and will furthermore superintend the forming of section and class teams as well as drill the students in symnasium work.

Mr. Gerney is a former Northeast High athlete, who graduated in 1907. He was likewise graduated from Temple College in 1910 and the University of Pennsylvania in 1911, after completing successfully a couse in physical education. His advent into Northeast athletics as physical director should do-much to straighten out an otherwise entangled system of ath-

With six regular men ineligible to play, With six regular men ineligible to play, the Northeast High soccer team won a well-earned victory over Central High chiefly through the good judgment of the Archives. A strong gale blowing against them in the first half, they were content to play safe, and with a remarkably able defense prevented Central from scoring. In the second half Ebberts and Asquith got busy advancing the ball and scored the two goals that won the contest,

It is safe to say few fans would recognize their favorites.

MRS. BARLOW HAS WONDERFUL RECORD FOR PAST SEASON

No Woman Golfer in the Country Has Done More Playing on Links.

It is safe to say that no golfer in America, of either sex, has an individual record for the season just closed that com-aggregate score in the Farnum Cup and the coming the qualifying round for the local title was awarded the Silver Cross by the Golf Association of Philadelphia. In the spring tournament, at Overbrook, Mrs. Barlow was also the winner of the approaching and putting contest and the driving contest. Mrs. Barlow has won the Philadelphia championship for the past three years and five times in the past ten, and has won the Mary Thayer Farnum Memorial tro-phy 10 times out of 12. Taken all in all, her record is an enviable one. The summary of her success this year follows:

May 8-Wen one-day invitation at Overbrock Country Club.

Gridiron Gleamings From Leading Colleges

By EDWARD R. BUSHNELL In spite of their smashing victory over

Michigan and the spleadid record they have made since the first ten days of their season, Cornell football authorities are not chuck full of confidence that they will beat Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving Day. They have experienced too often in the long series with the Quakers the truth of the proverb that "pride Brilliant and Consistent goeth before a fall" to count this game won until the final whistle blows. On the records of the two teams to date Cornell ought to beat Pennsylvania about 40 to 0, though this is not a prediction. The two teams have played just two common opponents, Franklin and Marshall and Michigan. Both beat Pennord for the season just closed that compares in any way with the performance of Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Merion Chicket Club.

During the past season Mrs. Barlow yet Cornell beat this same eleven 28-3. was entered in 13 events. She won the While Michigan beat Pennsylvania 33-3, chief trophy in ten of them, won five qualifying round medals, and for the best 28-15. So, no matter from what angle the coming game is viewed, Cornell is > final game of the year with such rec-ords half a dozen years ago the writer would have put every comfidence in Pennsylvania to win. And a good many Cornell men would have felt the same way. Why? Simply because in those days Cornell football had not grown up. It wasn't founded on the same sort of basis as track athletics and rowing. Cornell men themselves blamed the inter-ference of fraternities, inefficient coaching, particularly the lack of a man with a strong personality who could teach football and who could make the Ithaa strong personality who could teach football and who could make the Ithacans fight against overwhelming odds.

> Cornell now has that personality in Dr. Albert H. Sharpe, the old Vale halfback, Sharpe is an extremely democratic man, but he has a personality that is likable and respected. He has done two things at Cornell. He has taught the rudiments of the game to a hig gound of man and they know football from the ground up. But he has done even better than that, for he has taught Cornell how to fight in football just as Jack Moakley and Courtney taught them to fight in track and rowing.
> And speaking of Penn-Cornell football, there is going to be a mighty interesting acrao on Frankii Field Saturday afternoon between the Gusker youngsters vow they wilk win, possibly because they fear what may happen to the senior Red and Blue team on the Thursday following. Ex-Caustan Lou Young, who is coaching the first-year men, has one of the best freshman teams in the country. Only one team has beaten the Gusker youngsters allyear, and that was Exeter, a team that has also beaten the first-year men of Yale and Princeton, and which is considered good enough to best most of the minor colleges.

When these elevens met annually the interest in their game was second only to the interest in Pennsylvania's big matches. The teams appear to be very evenly matched this year, though Haverford has done the more consistent work. Haverford is being coached by Dr. M. B. Hennett, fullback on Pennsylvania's 1902 and 1903 teams, and for many years coach at the Chestnut Hill Academy. Bwarthmore is being coached by ex-Cantain Geig and Roy Mercer, captain of Pennsylvania's 1911 and 1812 teams.

BLUE BATTLES WITH SCRUBS NEW HAVEN, Conn. Nov. 18.—Sending Yale's regular line-up against the scrubs for 30 minutes' scrimmaging yesterday atternoon, Coach Hinkey continued a policy of aggressive hard work in preparation for the meeting with Harvard next Saturday. The play was in the bowl, although preceded by half an hour's signal rehearsal on old Yale Field. Fred Sillman's atakle did not allow him to join the line-up, but Trainer Mack promised to produce him tomorrow for the final scrimmage bractice, and that he would be inexcellent condition for the liarvard game.

Scrimmage at Haverford HAVERPORD COLLEGE, Nov. 18.—Coach Bennett put his whole squad through a stiff work-out yesterday on Walton Field. Following the signal practice the varsity fined upagainst the scrubs, and after a long scrimmage the final score was given out as 18 to 12 in favor of the first-string men.

To Stop Yale Passes

CAMBRIDGE. Mass., Nov. 18.—With only two days remaining to get the team into shape for the Yale game, the Harvard varsity coaches mapped out a long day's work for the players yesterday. The coaches, who have been work-long overtime trying to figure how Yale's passing same may be stopped and what is needed to make Harvard's attack prepared to play to Yale's rush line weaknesses, split the afternoon's session in three parts.

Belmont Track at Narberth Will Be Scene of Stirring Events-List of the En-

Local horsemen, others whose names are recognized as patrons and devotees of the turf throughout the country, will lend their efforts this afternoon at the Belmont race track at Narberth in aid of the Belgian Relief Fund. Trotting and pacing horses, representative of the high standard which this sport has attained in Philadelphia, will be seen at their best, and a large attendance of feminine and masculine admirers of the horse is assured.

The Evening Ledger will also contribute its aid to the event and help swell the fund to supply the starving and homeless in Belgium with sustenance. Papers will be on sale at the track which will contain the official list of entries, and special representatives will ex-ALLENTOWN, Pa., Nov. 15.—Practice by ert their utmost efforts to make the aright and against two teams at once is share contributed by the Evening Ledger a large one. "Johnny" Kilbane, the featherweight champion of the world, has been training for his invasion in the lightweight ranks next month. He meets "Joe" Mandot, the New Orleans lightweight, at Akron on December 7 for 12 rounds, and four nights later he is to meet "Frankie" Daly be-fore the Royal Sport Club of Toledo for 10 rounds. Kilbane is much in earnest about the lightweight proposition. He figures that he is faster than the majority of the high-class lightweight boys, and he is as tall and has as long a reach as any of them. He believes that he is strong enough to cope with any of the good ones, and tells his friends that he is not afraid that he will lack in hitting pow-ers in comparison with his opponents. He expects to win over Mandot and Daly, after which he proposes to go after "Freddy" Welsh, "Charley" White and the others.

Work was resumed yesterday on the new club which is to be built at 28th and Somerset streets. The proposal to oulld this club was announced exclusivebuild this club was announced exclusively in the EVENING LEDGER several weeks ago, but after a few days' work on it the building inspectors found some haw in the plans and work was temperarily stopped until new plans, which met the requirements of the inspectors, were drawn up. The new club will be under the ownership and business management of William Nusbickle, Jr., and William Welsb, a well-known devotee of the game, will be matchmaker and referee. Conwill be matchmaker and referee. Con-tracts for the brickwork have been given out with instructions to go ahead at full speed. The club is expected to throw-open its doors about the latter part of December.

M'GUIGAN SAYS M'CARRON BEAT M'COY IN FIGHT

Lauds the Work of "Pennsy" Boy the Other Night. Brings All the Facts of Ring to Light.

In the opinion of "Jack" McGuigan, the well-known fight promoter of Philadelphia, who witnessed the contest, Jack" McCarron, of Allentown, wen eight of the ten rounds against "Al" McCoy at Pottsville last night. McGuigan stated this morning: "The reports sent out to the effect that McCoy beat McCarron are a gross injustice to the latter fighter, as he whipped McCoy in eight of the ten rounds, and at the end was unmarked. McCoy was puffing and blowing like a porpoise at the end, and hundreds of others who witnessed the fight will bear me out in my judg-ment. It appears to be another case of ment. It appears to be another case of victory to the man who reaches the tela-graph key first. The report that McCar-ron lost is not fair, and I want the peo-ple of Philadelphia to know it." COOMBS WON'T QUIT

"Jack" Coombs is not going to quit bass-ball even if "Connie" Mack does decide te part with him, as "Connie" apparently in-tends to do, since he has asked for walvers on his forms: "Iron Man."

DE NERI FIVE IS OUT TO TOP THE READING TEAM

Musical Fund Hall Players Can Take Undisputed Possession of Second Place by Beating Camden Tonight.

The De Neri quintet, of the Eastern Basketball League, will go to Camden, where they will meet the Skeeters in an effort to dethrone the Camden five from their position in first place with Jasper.

The Musical Funders are tied up for second place with the Reading five, and they will make an effort to fathom the teamwork of the Skecters. The De Neri five in the game with the Jewels on Saturday night was not up to the form that it had displayed in the first three games of the season. "Joe" Fogarty and Dark at forwards are practically the men around which the De Neri five revolves. Kennan, who is at centre, is not up to his usual form, and since the season started has been outjumped by the other centres in the league. "Doe" Newman and Riefkalds are a good working pair of guards, and if the team respits more to the passing game it will have a batter chance of winning.

The Skeeters will line up the same as when they were handed a defeat by the Beading quintet on Saturday. Adams and Beel will be at forwards.
