

NIGHT
EXTRA

Evening Ledger

NIGHT
EXTRA

VOL. I—NO. 61

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1914,

CONTAINED, 1914, BY THE PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY.

PRICE ONE CENT

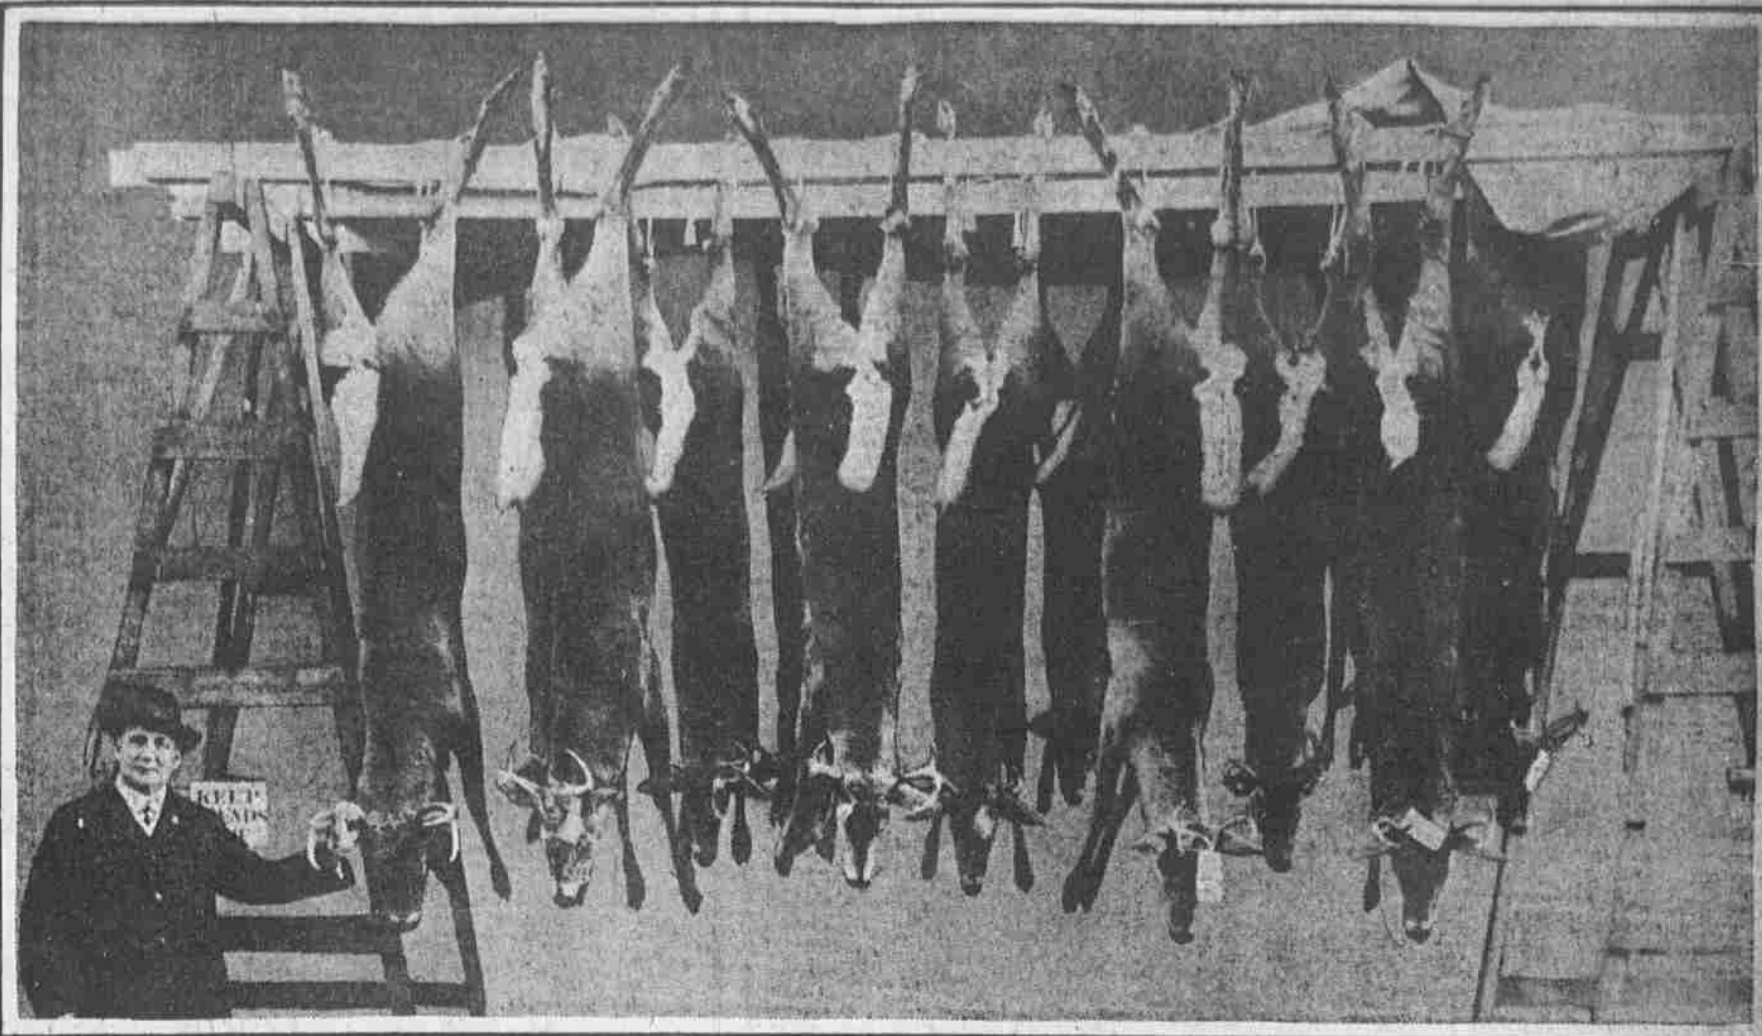

German Big Guns Boom Along Coast—Drive on Warsaw Halted Two Stabbed at Wedding—U. S. May Buy Midvale Steel Plant

SCENES AND EVENTS IN THE NEWS OF THE DAY

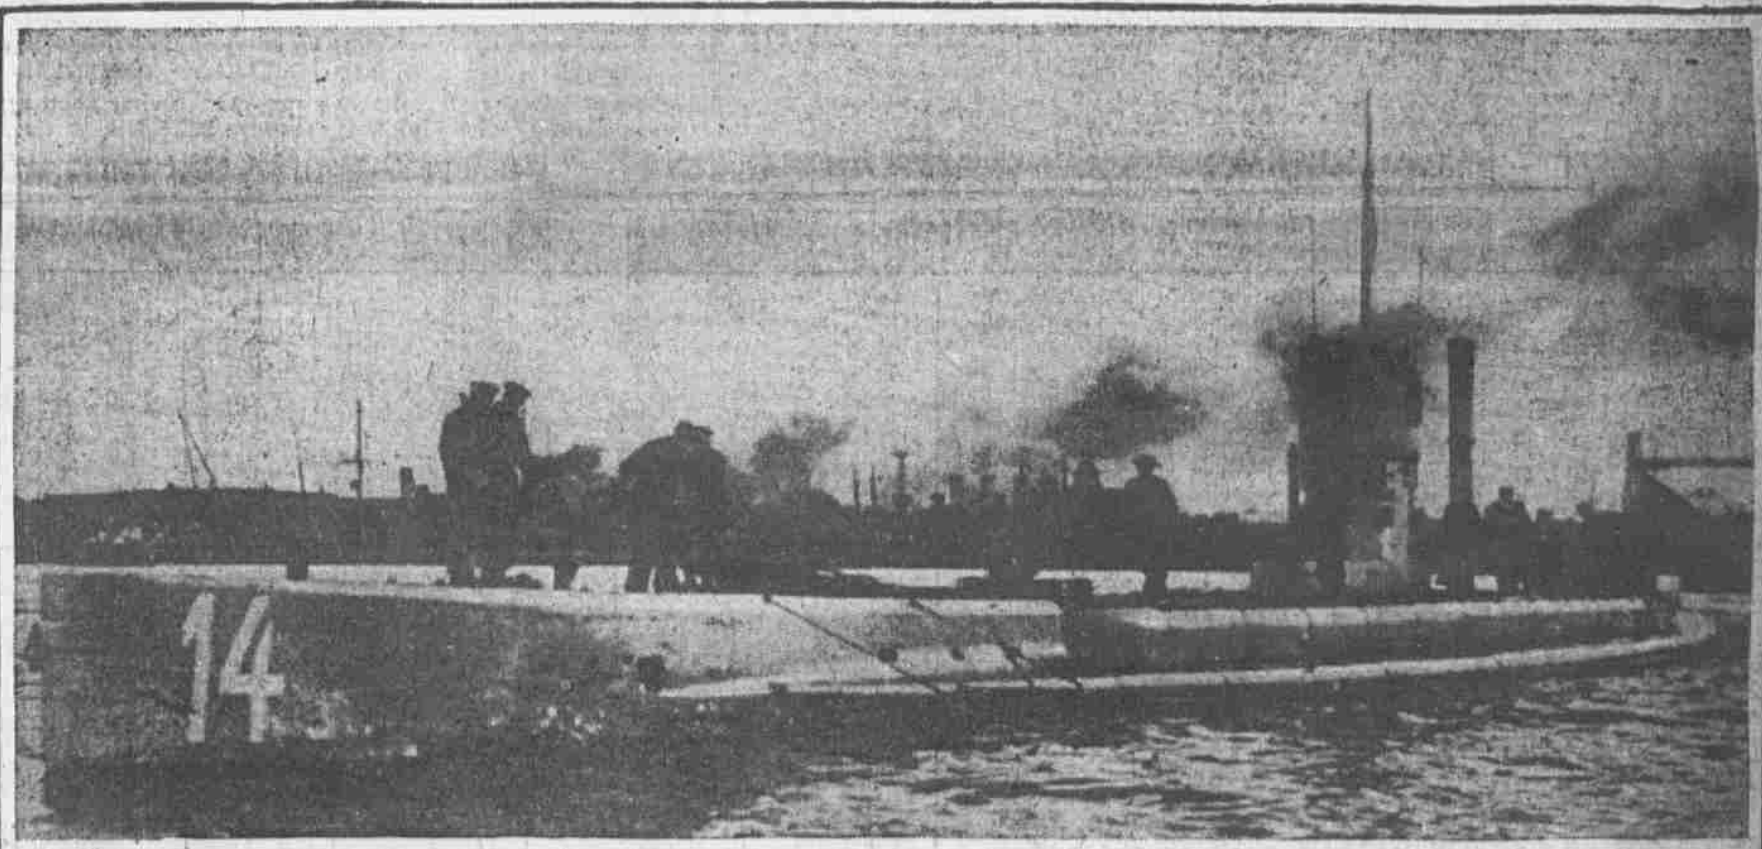

—Photo by Harris & Ewing.

ONE OF THE NAVY DEBUTANTES WHO WILL ATTEND ARMY GAME HERE
Miss Dorothy I. Mason is the daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Newton Mason, of Washington, and is deemed one of the prettiest girls in capital society. She will be among the feminine rooters here on the Navy side at Franklin Field, next Saturday, November 28.

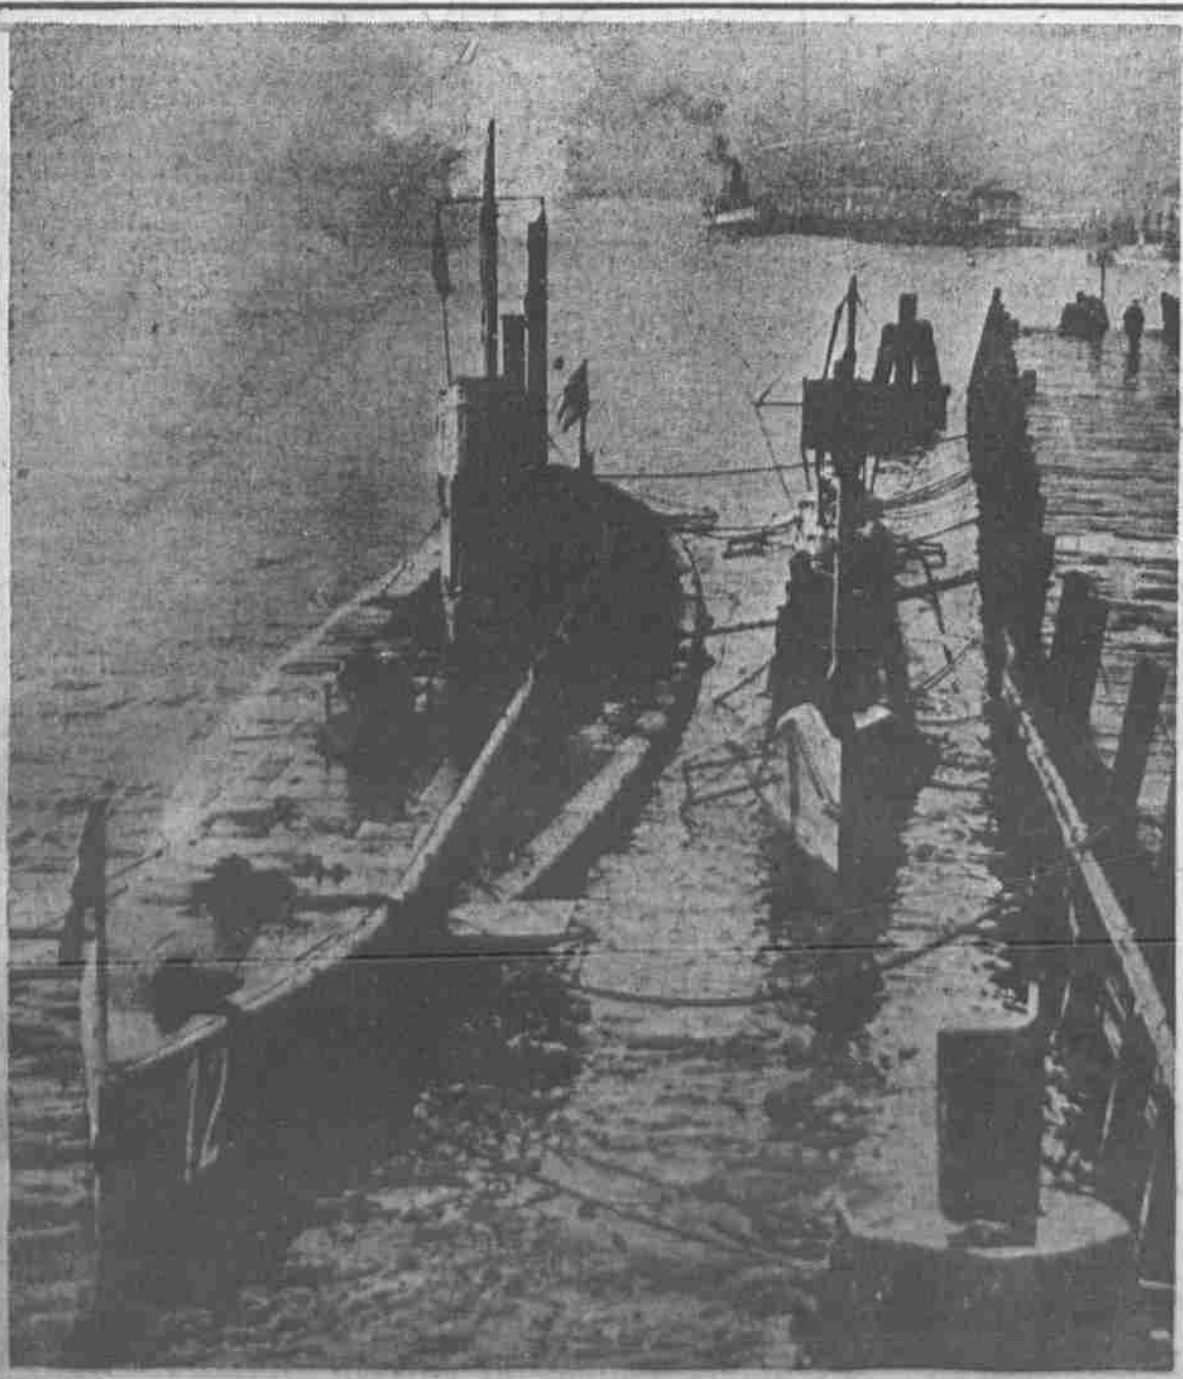

GAME THAT FELL VICTIMS TO RIFLES OF CITY OFFICIALS

Director of Public Safety Porter and Receiver of Taxes Kendrick recently sought recreation from official duties by disappearing into the wilds of Pike County in search of game. Here is what they brought back. These ten deer may be seen hanging at the plant of the Weisbrod & Hess brewery, at Frankford road and Adams street. They prove that Messrs. Porter and Kendrick are entitled to respect as Nimrods.

—Photo by Bain News Service.

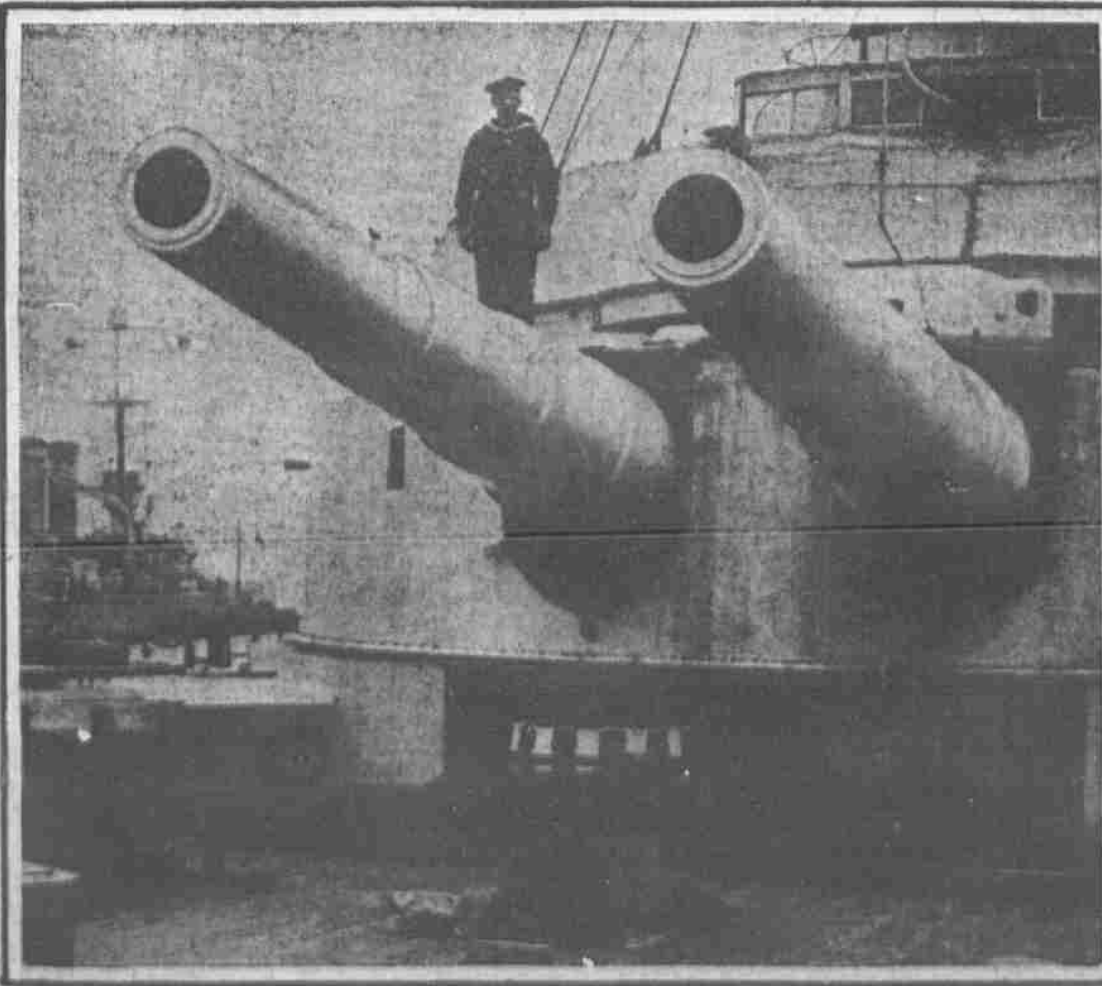

ONE OF THE GERMAN SUBMARINES WHICH HAS GIVEN THE BRITISH NAVY SOME ANXIOUS MOMENTS
This is No. 14 of the "U" class which has figured so much in the news of German operations by sea. The famous U-9 is a sister craft. "U" by the way, simply stands for "Unterseeboot," the German word for submarine. Literally translated, it means "under-sea-boat." The sinking of the great British dreadnought Audacious is now ascribed to one of these stealthy vessels, which apparently roamed far from base.

—Photo by Bain News Service.

LARGE AND SMALL TYPES OF GERMAN SUBMARINES

This photograph illustrates strikingly the difference in the sizes of the Kaiser's under-water craft. The smaller vessel is maintained mostly for harbor defense, but the larger is capable of making extended cruises. It would be impossible to guard against attacks by such deadly vessels except for the fact that they must come to the surface to take observations.

—Photo by Bain News Service.

BIG GUNS OF GERMAN BATTLESHIP LOTHRINGEN

It is quite probable that the crews of the French battleships would like nothing better than to meet this warship, as her name is the German one for Lorraine, the province which Germany took from France in the war of 1870. The vessel carries four of these great rifles, each 11-inch. She is 13,000 tons displacement and 16,000 horsepower.

—Photo by Bain News Service.

CAPTAIN OMAN, OF THE UNITED STATES CRUISER NORTH CAROLINA

With Captain Decker, of the Tennessee, he is charged with the responsibility of looking after American interests threatened by war in Turkey.