

ARMY-NAVY UNION KEEN FOR STADIUM IN PHILADELPHIA

Officers of Both Branches Support Project to Have Place Here for Monster Outdoor Events.

Interest in plans for a national stadium and a desire for details of the project to be made public tomorrow at the meeting of the Jovian League at the Hotel Philadelphia was shown today by business men and directors of fraternal organizations and police department directors of athletics.

Increased confidence in early action toward financing a stadium was felt following the statement of George E. Nitschke, recorder of the University of Pennsylvania, who said he believed there should be concerted action on the part of the University authorities, the city and the Army and Navy Committee of prominent business men.

With both the University and the Army and Navy Committee united in working for the construction of a great amphitheatre, quick results are assured, it is believed.

Prominent Navy officers hinted today that support might be looked for from both the Army and Navy Athletic Councils if the difficulties between the two academies were adjusted, in view of the adequate accommodations a great stadium would afford.

Prospects for holding the Olympic games in Philadelphia during the years the meetings were in the United States, the outlook for national meetings of the Amateur Athletic Union and advantages a big stadium would hold for gatherings of all kinds became increasing apparent with the growing interest in the stadium plans.

Sites for the proposed stadium have been suggested in many quarters. The Woodland Cemetery, 30th and 31st streets and Woodland avenue, suggested by Mr. Nitschke, held the advantage of accessibility and natural topography that would make building a stadium there comparatively inexpensive.

Penn men interested in the stadium project declared no site could be easier to reach than the Woodland Cemetery. It is a site which would be built in a ravine which forms a natural amphitheatre. The ravine has not yet been made part of the cemetery proper.

Grading for the site is to be done on the sides and closing both ends of the ravine would be all the work needed, according to engineers who have viewed the site. It is said, however, that there may be some difficulty in securing the land.

Transit facilities would be one of the most important arguments for the Woodland avenue site, according to those who favor it. The subway-elevated runs within three blocks of the site, six lines of street cars serve it, and the Pennsylvania, Reading and Baltimore and Ohio Railroads have spurs which could be extended to a stadium station within a short walk of the entrance to the field.

"MOVIE" MAN'S SCENARIO "KNOCKS EM OFF SEATS"

Camera Experts Goner on Rampage on Train and Later to Jail.

Charles Reilly raised so much commotion on the Pennsylvania Railroad train that Magistrate Emley this morning sent him to the county prison for 30 days to recuperate.

Reilly was formerly employed by the Lubin Company, according to those who boarded a train at Norristown. On the train, it appears, he was inspired with a scenario for a moving picture, and started to rehearse it immediately with the passengers. He ran from one coach to the other, according to the police. To add a touch of realism to his imaginary pictures, Reilly pulled one of the car windows and pulled the emergency cord.

Reilly's final act, to use a theatrical term, knocked the audience off their seats and brought new characters on the stage in the shape of the conductor and the motor man.

At Huntingdon street they turned the author over to two policemen of the Park and Lehigh avenue station. The scene recalled of one reel of Reilly's proposed picture caused the Magistrate to take the action mentioned. The prisoner gave his address at 214 North Hemburg street.

WARDEN SAYS PRISONERS WANT DEEDS, NOT TALK

Penitentiary Head Avers Greatest Need is Better Living Conditions

Theorists are not respected by prisoners and are, therefore, of no use as lecturers in penitentiaries is the opinion of Warden Robert J. McKenty of the Eastern Penitentiary. Mr. McKenty gave his views today when asked what he thought of the new warden of Sing Sing, New York.

Mr. McKenty declared that the warden should devote part of his time to the raising of the convicts. He said he had arranged for informal talks by outside lecturers.

"Prisoners are not fools," said Warden McKenty. "They know that college professors are theorists, and they do not listen to them. I am watching Mr. O'Connell with a great deal of interest to see what result of his work at Sing Sing will be. His big problem here is upon education, but reform of the sanitary conditions, making the buildings of Sing Sing to live in. I do not believe in the theoretic lecture to prisoners."

"I say what is practical talk by experts," he said.

ARTIST'S INDIAN COLLECTION BEQUEATHED TO MUSEUM

Peter Moran Left Costumes, Pottery and Blankets to Art School.

Peter Moran, the Philadelphia artist, who died November 9 at 1322 Jefferson street, bequeathed to the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art all Indian costumes, pottery, blankets and other articles included in his collection.

The will disposing of the artist's estate, estimated at $1,500, was admitted to probate in the District Court of Philadelphia on the 21st inst. Charles W. Moran, and the residue shall go to the widow, Sarah D. Moran. She and George F. Keene are named executors.

The will of Mary McAnally, late of 5223 Columbia avenue, bequeaths from a $5000 estate sums of $200 each to the Seminary of St. Charles Borromeo, Overbrook, and the Society of Christiana in the Holy Land. A bequest of $100 is made to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of St. Gregory's Church, and after a number of private bequests are made the residue of the estate is left to St. John's Orphan Asylum.

The $5000 estate of Elizabeth Brines, late of 2425 Thompson street, is left in trust for a grandchild, William F. Brines. The Methodist Hospital will receive the trust in the event of the death of the grandchild before attaining the age of 21 years.

Rebecca P. Wetherill, widow of Henry M. Wetherill, 216 Penn street, Germantown, left $100 to each of two servants and directed that the remainder of her $50,700 estate be divided equally between her two daughters, Rebecca W. Tiers and Mary L. Wetherill, who are named executors.

Other wills probated today were those of Mary A. W. Farnum, 220 Allen street, whose $63,500 estate is distributed in private bequests; Robert Spratt, 1913 North 23d street, $20,000; Ann Carraway, 424 Peach street, $12,500; Martha Watt, 437 Hoffnagle street, $2800; Benjamin Silvia, 2525 North 6th street, $1650; William B. Taylor, 2025 North 42d street, $2500.

Personal property of Frank Fetz has been appraised at $102,338; Anna E. Walter, $4000.11; Mattie Taylor, $2500; and Mary C. Carr, $2500.

PENROSE NOT INVITED TO BRUMBAUGH DINNER

Politicians See Slight to Senator in Washington Affair.

Senator Penrose has not been invited to attend the dinner which Representative William S. Vare will give in honor of Governor-elect Brumbaugh at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., next Saturday night. Politicians in Philadelphia today, in discussing the affair, viewed it as a slight to the Senator, and as a formal alignment of the Vares behind the Governor-elect.

Doctor Brumbaugh has been asked by Representative Vare to meet the Congressmen from Pennsylvania at the dinner, so that the slight to Senator Penrose, if any slight is intended, is not open.

Politicians, however, are pointing to the fact that the election night the Vares started a boom for Doctor Brumbaugh for President, and that they have sponsored the boom since then, and that a few days ago Senator Penrose threw a wet blanket over the boom by asserting that Pennsylvania is not entitled to the nomination in view of the overwhelming Republican victory.

Gilford Pinchot spent $45,275.95 of his own money in his unsuccessful campaign for United States Senator. In making public this figure, Pinchot stated that of this amount $20,000, or 50 per cent, was spent for publicity.

The defeated Bull Moose candidate last night in the election night will continue in politics in Pennsylvania. "I do not propose," he said, "to abandon the 270,000 voters who gave me their suffrages in the election, and, as I said on the morning of November 4, 'with a little will keep on with the fight for conservation of natural resources for the use of the people against the monopolies and special interests and in particular against that kind of government that Penrose represents.'"

Andrew F. McAllister, a Washington party worker in the 15th Ward, has been ousted from a $2000 a year post as inspector of moving picture houses under the auspices of the Mercantile Appraisers. The reason given was that he was too many inspectors, and that the work could be done by two instead of three men.

GETTING READY FOR MARINES

Transport With First Vera Cruz Contingent Expected Tonight.

Preparations are being made at the Philadelphia Navy Yard today to take care of the marines due to arrive in this city tonight and tomorrow from Vera Cruz.

The vanguard of the marines is expected at the navy yard about 9 o'clock tonight on the transport City of Denver, although it is probable they will be delayed in coming up the river by the fog. It was reported this morning that the transport was fog-bound off the Delaware Capes.

The other two transports, the San Marcos and the City of Memphis, also are making their way up the coast and are expected to dock here tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock.

The brigade consists of 2500 men and is in charge of Colonel Ly. T. Smith. Upon their arrival here the men, who left Philadelphia in April, will be given a month's shore leave. Two thousand of the returning marines will be retained at the local barracks, while the others will be sent to the Brooklyn Navy Yard and other points.

FOXES WORTH $2000 STOLEN

Radnor Hunt Club Member Offers $100 Reward for Arrests.

Philadelphia detectives have been asked to join Captain Maria Mulhall and other members of the Radnor Township police in an unusual fox hunt. The capture of Reynard in this case will bring a reward of $100. Five foxes valued at $2000 have been stolen from the Radnor Hunt Club near Bryn Mawr, and the reward has been offered by Horace Binney Hare, of the club. One of the animals, a beautiful silver fox, is valued at $1000.

The Radnor Hunt Club has been engaged for years seeking to obtain a fox that will be game enough for the most expert hunter. The animals were kept in a special runway, and as they live in holes it was necessary for the thieves to drive them into a trap before they could be taken.

WOMEN DEFEND THEIR STATUS IN BUSINESS WORLD

Reply to Barclay J. Doyle's Statement That They Are Not as Useful as Men in the Selling of Goods.

Salesgirls, saleswomen, suffragists are rallying today to the defense of their sex, which was severely criticized by Barclay J. Doyle, of the Keystone Publishing Company, in his speech yesterday at the weekly meeting of the Walnut Street Business Association, at the St. James.

Mr. Doyle told his audience that the wise merchant employed men, that women were antagonized by salespeople of their own sex, and that men in general did not care to deal with women.

"Employ salesmen and not saleswomen," was his advice in a nutshell. More than 50 per cent of the sales made in Philadelphia stores, he said, were made by the customers themselves; they pick out what they want and the clerk makes out the bill.

"Well," said Miss Nellie Meyers, from behind the suspender counter at a prominent department store, where she is employed, "I have worked here 14 years, and this is the first time I ever heard that customers make the purchases themselves. Most of the customers at this store are women, and we frequently help them decide what they want. I have worked at dressmaking and I know you have nearly to make a dress for a woman before she will make up her mind."

Miss Doyle, head of the shirtwaist department, who said she was no relation to Barclay J. Doyle, explained, nevertheless, that she could recommend him any number of good saleswomen. "Women make just as good salespeople as men," she said, "and in many cases they are better and more suited for the business."

"Saleswomen may be indifferent at times," said Mrs. George A. Pierce, chairman of the Woman Suffrage Party County Committee, "but don't you think salesmen are just as much so? If girls lack interest, let them be put in the line because they are not properly fed and properly paid. To work intelligently at least substantial food is required. Raise women's wages and you have the solution of the problem."

"As for employing men instead of women, it is all very well for some occupations. Women can't sell ice and deliver it, but on the other hand, if a woman's wearing apparel saleswoman as you know are not only a necessity, but a great help. I know any number of good saleswomen."

"There are more than 200,000 women employed in this city and 10,000 of them are saleswomen. The comparison with the number of men employed is not disparaging. Women are being employed more than ever before, and the idea that men can be employed in their places is, I think, ridiculous."

WOMAN NOW IN CHARGE OF RECREATION CENTRES

Miss Elizabeth O'Neill Begins Task of Popularizing Playground.

Miss Elizabeth O'Neill today assumed charge of the recreation centres conducted by the Board of Education. She fills a new office created by the school board to add an impetus to the playgrounds movement.

After serving for 15 years as a teacher at the Norrumb School and School of Practice, Miss O'Neill will devote all of her time in the future to the development of recreation as a feature of the city's educational system. Heretofore the playgrounds have been conducted without any permanent supervision. The number of open air recreation centres will be increased and Miss O'Neill will organize a system of educational play that will have the same status in the school system as instruction in geography or arithmetic.

Letters have been sent to every elementary school principal urging cooperation with Miss O'Neill. These letters were signed by getting Superintendent Jacobs, William A. Stecher, director of physical education, and Dr. Oliver P. Cornman, associate superintendent of schools, who is in general charge of all sociological features of the public school system.

A special feature of her work will be the arrangement of a course for the physical training of the hundreds of mentally defective boys and girls who attend public schools in Philadelphia. The resolution authorizing the creation of the new office adopted by the Board of Education, provides that she make this phase of education one of her most important duties.

"YALLER" DOGS HAVE DAY

Given Chance to Mingle With Aristocratic Breeds.

Common "yaller kloodies" will rub shoulders with the more aristocratic blooded Pomeranian at the first annual Dog Show, to be held in Washington Square between 2 and 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The show will be under the auspices of the Common Dog Show Association of Philadelphia. Every year the dapper little Boston bullpups and the shaggy-stained collies and other "blooded" breeds have bled at admiring throngs, but now the common, little "yaller" mongrel, the kind that lives off the tender mercies of small boys, will have his innings.

The great dog show of the neighborhood, many prizes of collars, chains and other bow-wow paraphernalia have been offered. Just what some uncouth kloodies do with a collar and chain after he gets it no one can answer, but just the same he's to have his day.

NAVY YARD IMPROVEMENTS

Report Shows Costly Work Finished at League Island.

Reports showing the work completed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard in the last year and the work nearing completion are included in the report of the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks of the Navy Department, issued at Washington.

Completed work includes the construction of Pier No. 5, at a cost of $12,525.33; construction of gasoline storage buildings, $2998.25; dredging in reserve basin, $28,911.19; dredging Delaware water front, $30,444.41; construction of Pier D and section of quay wall, $28,922.47, and contract for three electrically driven capstans for Pier No. 5, $2870. A vast amount of work at the yard is rapidly nearing completion.

The bishop was discharged at a hearing in Night Court before Magistrate Penneck.

CIVIC BODIES LINE UP AGAINST RISE IN R. R. TARIFFS

Proposed Increase Deplored at Joint Meeting Under Auspices of Ridley Park Civic Association.

Representatives of virtually every civic and improvement association in Delaware and Montgomery Counties are lined up in the fight against an increase in fares by the railroads as the result of a resolution adopted at a meeting under the auspices of the Ridley Park Civic Association, in the auditorium at Ridley Park.

The primary object of the meeting was a symposium on how to improve living conditions in the suburbs. Prior to the discussions under this head, however, E. J. Berlet, president of the association, called for a vote on a resolution introduced at a previous meeting protesting against the increase in railroad fares. It was adopted unanimously.

One of the most significant addresses of the night was that delivered by George Sullivan, secretary of the Suburban Metropolitan Planning Commission, who urged the building of a sewage disposal plant as the best safeguard of the suburbs against absorption by Philadelphia.

Mr. Sullivan declared that Merion township's real estate assessment had risen from $7,000,000 to $25,000,000 as the result of a plant being built there. Eddytown was suggested by the speaker as a good site for a co-operative sewage disposal plant to serve communities between Philadelphia and Chester.

An immediate fight on mosquitoes was urged by Dr. A. Parker Hitchens, director of the Mifflord Laboratories, and a member of the Glendolen Civic Association. Other speakers were J. V. E. Titus, William L. Price, Benjamin Ludlow, George M. Henry, Ryland W. Greene.

The suburban organizations represented included the Clifton Heights Civic Association, Cynwyd-Bala Neighborhood Club, Media Civic Association, Glendolen Civic Association, Merchantville Floral and Civic Association, Rose Valley Community Association, Narberth Civic Association and Suburban Improvement League.

FOUND DEAD IN LODGING HOUSE

Palmyra Farmer Succumbed After Bringing Produce Here.

William Walker, 55 years old, a farmer living at Palmyra, N. J., was found dead this morning in his room in a lodging house, at 428 North Front street, the St. James Hotel, due to natural causes.

Walker came to the city yesterday with a load of produce from his farm for market. He took a room at the Front street address last night and when he failed to appear this morning the proprietor investigated. The man was found lying across the bed.

WOODSMEN COMING HERE WITH CHRISTMAS TREES

Vermonters Plan to Sell Direct to Householders in Cities.

Vermont woodmen who for years have been getting six cents for Christmas trees which later sell in the retail market for 50 cents and $1, it was reported today, are preparing to invade Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, New York and other cities. The plan of some of the woodmen is to undersell local merchants.

More than 1,000,000 Christmas trees have already been shipped from the State of Vermont to the city markets in various parts of the country. Many carloads containing evergreens are now speeding toward Pennsylvania cities. The first shipment of trees from Vermont reached here last week.

Although trees are plentiful this year in Vermont, woodmen of that State have received a lower price than in former years. The excuse of the agents representing the "middleman" and speculators in Christmas trees was that the freight rates this year are higher than ever.

RUSH TO BUY WAR TAX STAMPS MARKS SECOND DAY'S SALE

Crowd Assembles Outside Federal Building at 6:30 to Purchase Stickers Demanded by Uncle Sam.

A line that formed at 6:30 this morning to wait for the opening of the Internal Revenue Office in the Federal Building reached from the Chestnut street side to Market before 8 o'clock, when the sale of emergency war tax stamps began for the second day.

It is expected the sales today will be as great as those yesterday. Yesterday the Government sold $75,000 in stamps for documents, shipping goods, wines and cigars. Some issues of the stamps have been bought out at the Philadelphia office, but until new stamps arrive arrangements are being made to obviate delays due to the lack of official intorsements.

The anxiety felt by merchants unable to purchase stamps who feared they might be presented and made to pay double the tax was relieved by a telegram received by Collector of Internal Revenue Lederer here from W. H. Osborn, Commissioner of Internal Revenue. It read:

"Date all special tax returns November 30 until you are able to handle applications promptly, unless you have information that no office in this city is available prior to that date. If unable to supply demands for documentary stamps for bills of lading, permit shipments to go forward, have record kept and affixed cancellation stamps when received. Notify railroads."

Later a second telegram was sent out by the commissioner in response to urgent requests for more stamps from this city and several other points where the throng of purchasers ran out the supplies. It read:

"Impossible to furnish proprietary stamps to dealers. Allow articles taxable under Schedule B to be sold unstamped, provided a record of sales is kept and sworn statements delivered to collector as soon as stamps are obtainable. Stamps may be purchased then and canceled to cover sales."

The Power of Personality

When Napoleon returned from Elba in his Little Corporal's uniform, he walked out in front of the legions sent to seize him, but before he said a word, they cried, "COMMAND US!" and threw down their arms.

The other day a Perry customer of many years' standing told us that he and a friend were discussing clothes. He told his friend that he always bought his clothes at Perry's.

Whereupon his friend replied: "You know I always wanted to ask you where you got them, you always look so well dressed!"
