KING GEORGE VISITS WAR ZONE

Great Britain's monarch has recently followed the example of the heads of the other nations at war in inspecting troops at the front. This time he appears without his usual panoplied staff.

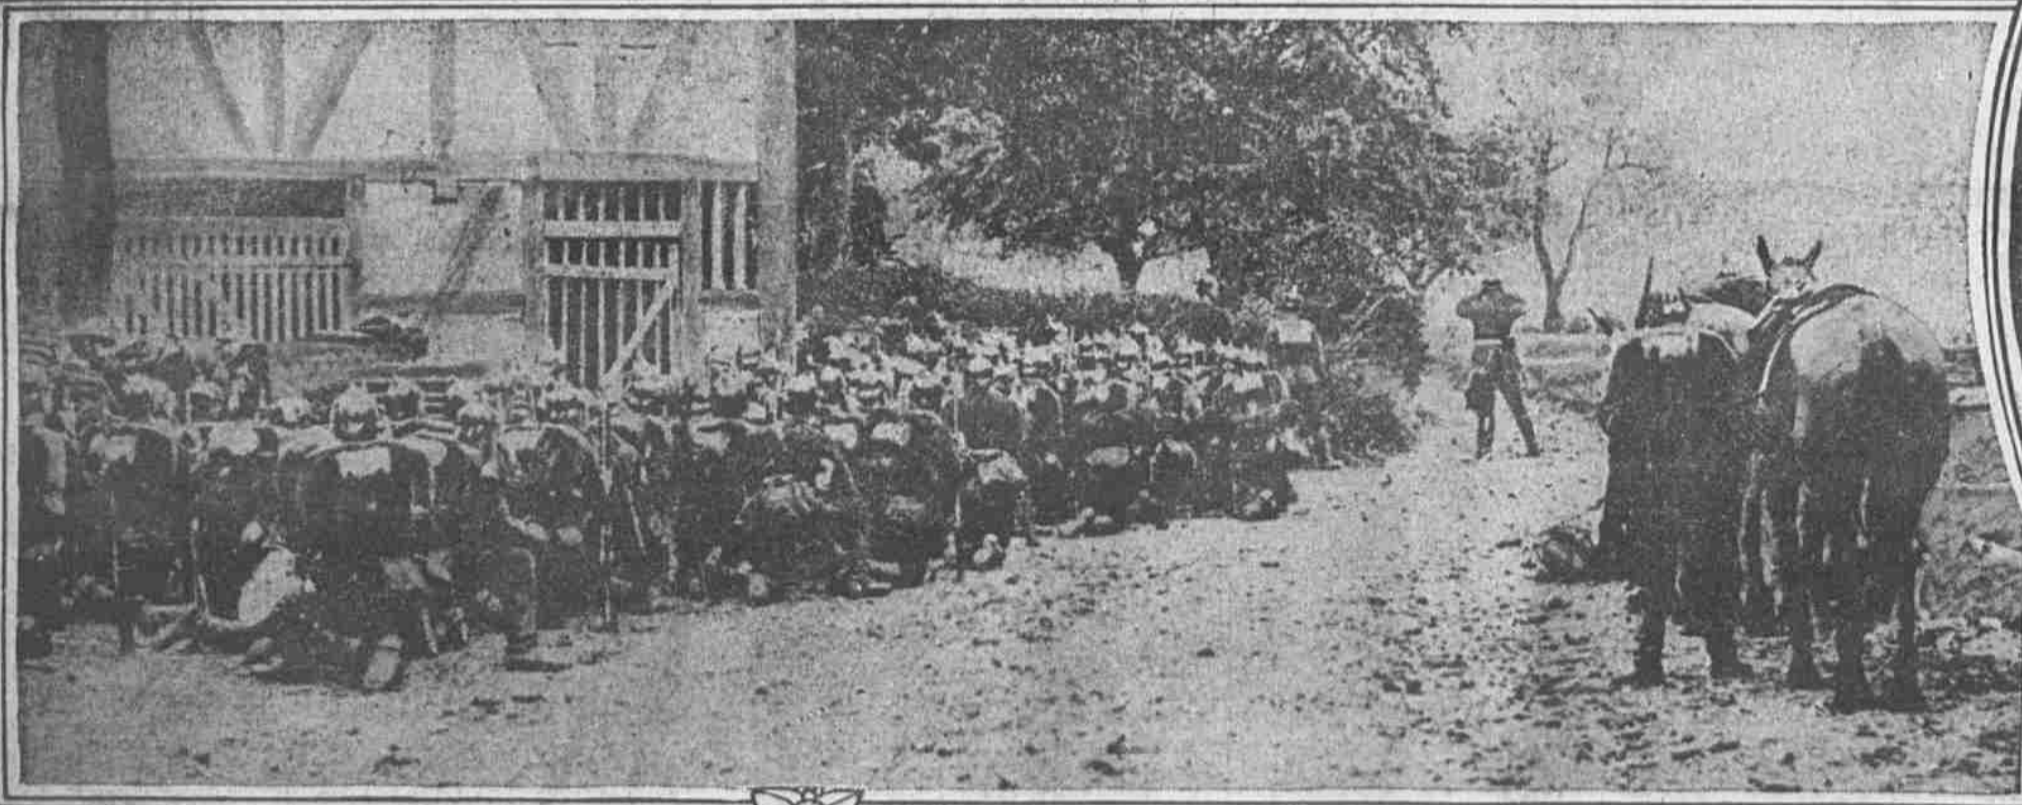

KITCHENER'S NEW ARMY PRACTICES ATHLETIC FEATS

Great Britain is reported to have a million and a quarter men now undergoing a course of sprouts in preparation for active service against the Kaiser in the spring.

THE KAISER'S PLUMP SON REPORTED CRIPPLED

Prince August Wilhelm in dress uniform. He is said to have met with an accident in eastern France recently, probably a motorcycle collision, in which his thigh was fractured. As the photograph shows, the Prince is a well-upholstered youth.

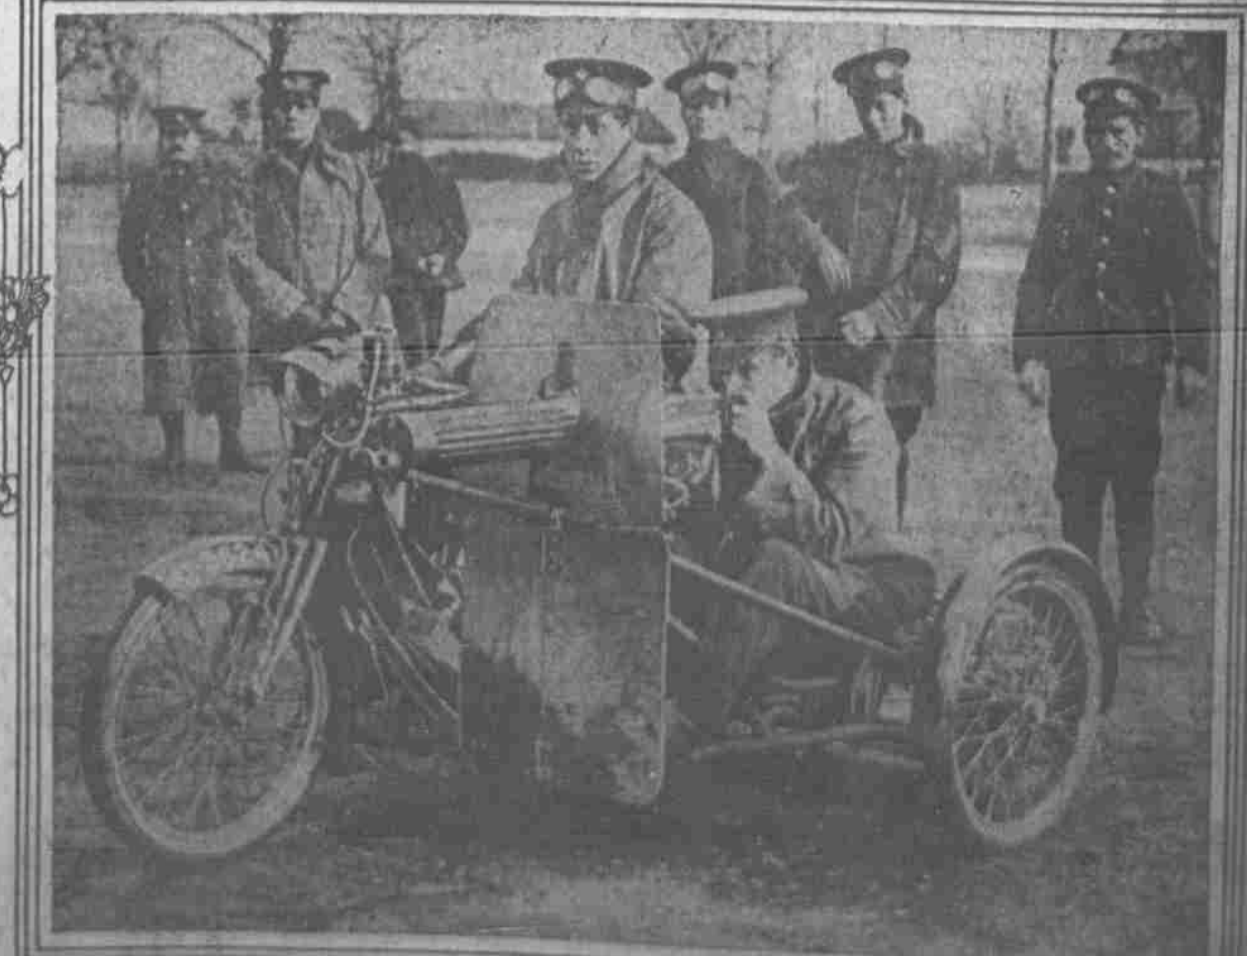

A TENSE MOMENT—SHALL IT BE ADVANCE OR RETREAT?
A German company advancing along a country road has observed suspicious signs in the distance.

CROWN PRINCESS ACCLAIMED BY LOYAL SUBJECTS IN BERLIN

Crowds gathered around to cheer when the future Empress of Germany recently appeared on the streets of Charlottenburg in the capital on her way to attend a benefit performance given for war sufferers at the Imperial Opera House. The Crown Princess and her son are exceedingly popular with all Germans. She has much charm and vivacity.

ANOTHER WAR INNOVATION—A MACHINE-GUN MOTORCYCLE

The young gunner shown here is the son of an American, his father being Colonel Cody, an aviator who was killed when performing aerial feats in England about two years ago. Great Britain is organizing a corps of these motorcycling gunners to use the best roads in France.
