

CLAMPON "KID" WILL FIGHTS O'DONNELL TONIGHT

PENN FIVE MEETS RUTGERS IN BIG CONTEST TONIGHT

Quaker Squad Promises to Be Stronger Than Last Saturday—An Interesting Preliminary Is Anticipated

The Pennsylvania basketball team promises to be much stronger tonight for its game with Rutgers than they were last Saturday. This is due not only to changes in the team itself, but also to the improvement in the team work that has been shown this week. Coach Jourdan has given the men a lot of time in shooting goals, and he hopes that they will show up much better in this regard tonight. In addition, the passing game has been improved at all times, and the men are now getting more clever in this kind of work.

Captain Seibach will go in regularly at center, while Hardwick will replace Hillitt at guard. At the present time this seems to be for the strongest combination. Though defeated by Columbia last Saturday, the Rutgers five played a very strong game and kept the fast Columbia quiet only a very few minutes. Coleman and Austin are two very fast forwards, and they will keep Wallace and Hardwick very busy. This will be the last game before the Christmas holidays.

Jefferson, the star player from the Northeastern High School, has made a place on the freshman team and will play tonight. He and Martin, formerly of Southern High School, make a very strong pair of forwards. Jacobs will be valuable also in throwing for goals, as he is very clever in this department of the game. With him at forward, Welch will be moved back to center. These three form the strongest combination that has ever represented a freshman team at Pennsylvania. Grant will remain at guard, Diering will replace Hermann at the other guard position.

The West Philadelphia High School will be the opponents of the freshmen, and a very good game should result. This game will start at 7:30 p. m. and will be over by 9:15, when the Penn-Rutgers game is scheduled to begin.

WILLIAMS MEETS O'DONNELL

World's Bantam Champion to Appear at National Tonight.

"Kid" Williams, the bantamweight champion of the world, will have his hands full when he tackles the rugged and hard-hitting "Joe" O'Donnell, of Gloucester, at "Black" McGuigan's National Athletic Club tonight. O'Donnell's aggressiveness and stamina will doubtless keep the bantamweight on his toes, and as for hard-hitting, there is not a lad within 10 pounds of the Gloucester wonder who can hit harder. The boys weigh in at 116 pounds tonight, and a rare battle will be witnessed. The fight will take place at 8:30 p. m. at the South 11th street arena. The crowd is also a high-class attraction, showing "Huff" Seidel, who has made much of this club on two occasions, battling "Tommy" Gray, one of the greatest pugilists that ever put on a glove. The third fracas of the evening will introduce "Jimmy" Murphy, of Wilmington, and "Tommy" Gray, a great battler, while the curtain raiser will be between "Joe" Belmont, who is back in the old-time form, and "Joe" Welsh, a local favorite.

GEORGE CHANEY SICK

Featherweight Who Was to Have Met Mayo Monday Out of It.

George Chaney's manager, Henry Hoff, has wired Matchmaker "Eddie" Holland, of the Olympia A. A., that his boy is too sick to even think of fighting "Johnny" Mayo, as scheduled Monday night here. For a time Matchmaker Hoff was in a quandary, but later struck this happy idea of having "Kneeless" Mark, of Cincinnati, substitute. Many persons are of the opinion that this match will be more attractive than the Brit. Mars is the only man in the world who has a knockdown in his record over Featherweight Champion Kilbane.

REVOIRE DEFEATS TIGHE

Clever Local Fighter Gets Verdict at Shamrock Over Scranton Man.

Herman Hinch and his protégé, "Reddy" Revoire, acted in ways this morning in Philadelphia, Pa., and in saying they were away from the city. The Revoire fight was the main event at Shamrock, and it was a very close one. Revoire, who is a local favorite, won the fight by a narrow margin. The fight was a very close one, and it was a very close one.

SOME GOLFERS NEED A PACK MULE—NOT A CADDY

ROWLAND NOT LIKELY TO WIN PENNANT FOR SOX

Players Do Not Have Confidence in Manager Who Has Not Had Bright Career in the Major Leagues—Other Comment on Sporting Events.

It looks very much as if Comiskey made a blunder when he signed Clarence Rowland to manage the White Sox next season. While Rowland may be just as brainy a baseball man as "Jimmy" Callahan, and just as good a judge of players, his prestige is hardly sufficient to assure his making good at the helm of the Chicago Americans. It has always been the case that when a baseball manager is brought into the major leagues, with little experience in fast company, the players of his team have been prone to underrate his ability, regardless of his real worth. The whole trouble is that many baseball players are peculiarly vain, and when a man is put above them, they have great confidence in their own ability, and when a man is put above them, they have great confidence in their own ability.

It is true that Branch Rickey had little trouble in St. Louis, although he jumped from the position of coach of the University of Michigan into major league baseball, and as manager at that. But the reason why the players had great respect for Rickey was, in a great measure, because the malvolence of them were no longer in the way of his work. He had little experience that they were not prepared to put their judgment against Rickey's. While Rowland may be able to work along with the White Sox in a fairly harmonious way, the chances of his being a successful manager next year are slender indeed, even though the pitching staff of the Sox is an excellent one and the general defensive and offensive strength of the team has been increased by the addition of "Eddie" Collins.

Old California's put the ban alike on warfare of slug.

And those who fought with speed and skill—the State has unseated away this pug.

No more the moment's date star shall battle in the Golden West.

The law is in force, and banishes alike the pug and the slug.

Another camp of pugilists has felt the sting of the law.

At those who take and slug away, the pugilists have felt the sting of the law.

That does not mean boxing rings about the country, here and there.

When those who live by games of skill no longer play upon the square.

No use to kick, the deed is done; no use to grumble and be sore.

The fighters are upon their way, another camp has gone before.

The pugilists, who fight their way to North or South or East or West.

Though it is hard to see them leave, and hard to see the gateway close.

Where champions of the long ago wait down to better men, or more.

Yet there's a lesson in their trek for all who would be pugilists here.

Let them avoid the double-cross, the subtle lie will not stand for a day.

FOUR RECORDS FALL AT WEST BRANCH GAMES

Third Indoor Series of Contests Most Successful Yet Held.

Four West Branch Y. M. C. A. records were smashed last night at the third set of track and field games conducted by Director Owen V. Davis, of that institution. Harry Sands, by clearing 5 feet 7 inches, battered the old high jump mark by one inch. The other figures to go by the board were by M. J. B.
