DISPENSING CHRISTMAS CHEER TO THE KIDDIES OF PHILADELPHIA

HOSPITALS WILL BE HAVENS OF JOY ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Patients, Young and Old, Will Have Gifts and Entertainments - Doctors to Act Santa Claus.

Hospitals throughout the city and the putlying districts have taken on an air of galety and Christmas festivity which gives the lie to the statement that these nistletoe, trees erected, and doctors hange their white ospital garb for the

their beds on Christmas Day.

At the Pennsylvania Hospital elaborate preparations are under way. Dr. Thomas L. Harris will impersonate Santa Claus and will distribute gifts to the "kiddles" from a large hospital truck. Turkey dinners will be served tomorrow to all who are not too ill to partake of them and a number of Christmas trees have been

Dr. Oscar Abrahamsohn, who is known as Professor Santa Claus, will be the chief figure in the Christmas celebration at the University Hospital. Several days ago Dr. Abrahamsohn made the rounds of all of the beds, asking cach occupant what plans he had made for Christmas. If the answer showed that they had no prospect of enjoying a Christmas dinner Doctor Abrahamsohn quietly placed some money in the patient's hand with a "Don't worry, there's enough to buy a Christmas dinner for those at home."

In addition to this generosity Doctor Abrahamsohn will distribute #00 gifts to the grown-up patients and 200 to the children. Twenty trees are to be placed in the various wards, two in each of the two children's wards by the Christmas and Easter committee of the hospital. A turkey dinner will also be served. chief figure in the Christmas celebration

At the Presbyterian Hospital, 39th street and Powelton avenue, Miss Caroline Milne, director of the nurses, has been drilling all the white and blue linen ladies under her supervision in the singing of Christmas carols. At 5 in the morning they will visit each ward and sing beautiful hymns. Other Christmas festivities will follow later in the day.

The children's, women's and men's wards of the West Philadelphia Homeopathic Hospital will each be decorated with two Christmas trees. Gifts wills be distributed and a sumptuous dinner

For all the "kiddles" at the Samaritan Hospital, Broad and Ontario streets, a stocking will be filled, containing candles of the good and pure kind, oranges and toys. A beautiful tree is being set up in their ward, and if all of the plans mature, tomorrow will be a day of unalloyed joy for the little patients.

Extensive arrangements have been made at Fl. Timothy's, Roxborough. The young ladies of the Junior Aid have not only provided the trees that are to be erected in the five wards and the nurses' home, but they are also doing the decorating. The Ladies' Aid Society will furnish ice cream to give each patient a large por-tion. In addition, each child will receive a gift and the employes will also be remembered.

The 300 children at the Philadelphia General Hospital are to be given the time of their lives. Everything from a time of their lives. Banta Claus to a vaudeville entertainment in the amplitheatre of the operating room is to be theirs. There will be seven large trees and 12 small ones placed throughout the hospital and no stone is being left unturned to make Christmas of 1914 a day not to be for-

From the white crib of each and every "kiddie" who lies down tonight a little sock will descend and when everything is as still as a mouse. Superintendent Joseph Jesse will creep in and fill them up to the very top. Tomorrow Jacob D. Lit, president of the hospital, will pay his annual visit. He will come laden with toys enough for He will come laden with toys enough for all. A turkey dinner will also be a ature of the celebrations at the hos-

A brilliantly decorated tree will be placed in each ward of the Germantown Hospital and there is to be a Santa Claus for each ward, too. No patient, from the oldest to the youngest, will be forgotten in the distribution of gifts. St. Peter's Protestant Church choir will sing Christmas carols in the early morning.

Youngsters at the Widener Memorial for Crippled Children are eagerly looking forward to the annual visit of P. A. B. Widener and his family, who come every Christmas, britging bundles of toys, dolls and candy. This year a brass band will furnish music for the children.

For weeks the children at St. Christepher's Hospital, Kensington, have been awamping Santa's mail bag with requests. Miss Anna T. Jeffries, general superintendent of the hospital, has seen to it that no youngster's appeal goes unanswered. Trees have been placed in all the wards and there will be Kris wards and there will be a Kris

The Episcopal Hospital has left nothing undone to make Christmas a big day there. Beginning at 5 in the morning the natrees will sing the Christmas carols and this will be followed by all sorts of Christmas celebrations, not the least of them being a big turkey dinner.

One thousand poor children, who have been unable to attend school because they have no shoes or warm clothing, will be properly clothed by the Emergency Aid Committee. The task will be undertaken by the Home Relief Department. Airs J. Willie Martin, vice precident of the committee, said that abould the present funds taid sable for the purpose run short it would be necessary in use part of the 80,300 appropriated by Councils. The committee will seek the aid of the Board of Education in this work. Mrs. John C. Greenes, here advised Henry J. Univers. superintendent of the Board of Councils.

The Volunteers of America made many a heart glad today when its officers and regulars in the ranks gave Christmas gifts to thousands of those unfortunates whose homes are by force of circumstances without holiday joy. Colonel Alice V. Herron is shown as Lady Bountiful and Santa Claus combined in one.

YULE SPIRIT BRINGS A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO MEN IN TRENCHES

Traditional Mood of Joyous Season Prevails at Front, Even if Substance Is Lack-

CENTRAL FRANCE, Dec. 24. We are not going to spend Christmas Berlin, and the Germans certainly are not going to spend Christmas in Paris and London, as they imagined four months ago. Yet we shall spend it to- reverse. . Meanwhile, Petrograd gether-we in our trenches, they in theirs.

It has been my fortune to spend two Christmases under conditions of war. The first was in the siege of Ladysmith; the second in the Japanese trenches outside Port Arthur, Ladysmith had been invested for nearly two months, and we were beginning to feel the effect of short rations; yet Sir Edward Ward-or "Moses," as Sir George White afterward christened him-managed somehow to issue the ingredients for plum puddings. And there was joy in the garrison when it was made known that Queen Victoria had sent to every soldier and civilian a Christmas present in the shape of a box of chocolate.

The only trouble was that it could not reach us till the siege was over But we enjoyed it in anticipation. Walk-ing up to Caesar's Camp I overheard two hungry and weather-beaten soldiers talking over the gift: "I wonder 'ah much ther'll be. Dost tha' think ther'll be a pand o' choc'let?"

"Shet up!" shouted his comrade. "It ain't blooming appetite she's a-thinkin' on. It's the blooming 'over o' th' thing!"

KAISER ROUTS HIS ENEMIES

Westward movement of an important section of the Russian battle front and renewal of vigor against the Austro-German defenders of Cracow, chronicled in recent Petrograd dispatches are substantiated in an interview with Field Marshal on Hindenburg, who has admitted that recent German operations against Warsaw have not yet attained the proportions of a general victory. Private advices from Berlin contain the admission that the Czar's recent retirement was strategic and not in the nature of a

The Allies' offensive in Belgium and northern France is apparently slowing up as it meets stiffer resistance and fierce counter attacks by the Germans. The French War Office reports further gains, especially between the sea and the Lys, where the lines have been advanced by mining the dunes, but these gains are apparently of small importance and offset by German progress at several other points

Although the French official state-ments studiously avoid special reference to the fighting near the eastern end of the Franco-Belgian lines, unofficial reports show that a new of-fensive has started on the Meuse north of Verdun, as a preliminary to a far more important drive in Alsace, by which the French hope to drive the Kaiser's forces back across the Rhine and to invade Germany in force. Turco-Russian operations in Armenia continue in numerous skir-mishes. Russia claims repulse of the foe in the Van region, toward the Persian border and, in an official statement, reports rout of vigorous attacks west of Kars.

Reports in Berlin say the Austrians have sunk one of the Allies' submarines, presumably in the Adriatic.

A German aviator dropped a bomb upon Dover, on the British coast, but no damage was done, according to the British official statement. The flight was made from Ostend, the journey being 140 miles

POPE PLEADS FOR PEACE

Not Discouraged by Failure of Former Efforts to End War.

Pope Benedist XV today issued a new plea for peace in Europe. In rer-puse to an address New Year's greeting from the College of Cardinals, the Pope said: the College of Cardinals, the Pope said:

"As representative on earth of the Prince of Peace, I hope that peace will soon be established in Europe. I am not discouraged by the failure of my previous efforts to assure the mothers of England, France, Garmany and Austria that their sons would not be billed on Christmas Day. I have heard the voice of the Hoty Ghost saying, 'Keep on with your efforts.'"

Forward Movements Carry durance in battle and during the long marches which have been made. With such troops I must succeed.

"The Russians have great numbers of men. Considering their defective railways they have often made very quick move-ments of troops."

Field Marshal von Hindenburg is an extraordinary type of man. Bursed and Defenders West of Warsaw and Nearer Cracow extraordinary type of man. Rugged and vigorous, he has so manipulated his numerically weaker forces over the railroads as to check the Russian advance Goal.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 24.

The Czar's forces are driving back along the lines blocked at the beginning of the present Poland campaign by the Germans from Silesia and the Austro-German forces moving through Galicia. Progress already has been made in the claims repulse of the German efforts front, and large bodies of troops again to control the Bzura and Pilica are advancing against Cracow from the east and north. Most recent reports place the advance guard of the Russian wing in Galicia at Tuchow, south of Tarnow, which is less than two score miles from Great forces of Russians are moving in Poland between Kielce and Radom today, as well as to the south, in an effort to check the German advance, which has forced a retirement from Cracow.

The success of the Austro-German move-ment from the region of Pietrkow, it is now admitted, resulted in threatening the communications of the army about Cracow. This was followed by a retire-ment of the Russians in the south, 35 miles to the east of Cracow. The ad-vance of the Germans was directed toward the main railroad line from Ivan-gorod, running southwestward to Mie-chow along which the Russian movement upon Cracow was conducted. upon Cracow was conducted.

HINDENBURG DRIVES TO CUT OFF CZAR'S CENTRE

is making a vigorous drive at this position, which is essentially the key to the
at this point will cut off the right from the centre. The centre will be isolated if another stratesic move of von Hindenburg is consummated, the advance of the birs is consummated, the advance of the Austro-German contingent in southern Poiand, which already has made great progress in the Piotrkow region.

Today's War Office statement, containing the foregoing details, indicates that Marahal von Hindenburg refuses to be diverted from his major objective, the capture of Warsaw, by the Russian resistance along the inside of the East Prussian frontier or by the revived Russian advance in Galicia.

Military experts point out that Sochances is a most difficult point for the Garmans to attack, as the Russians are protected by rivers and their positions are defended off previously hullt fortifications. It is pointed out that a declaive result in this region cannot be expected soon. Sochaczew is near the Vistula, hetween Lowics and Wyssogrod.

ALLIES ADVANCE BY MINING DUNES ON BELGIAN LINE

Sappers' Operations Successful in Winning Ground Between the Lys and the Sea-German Resistance Stiffens.

PARIS, Dec. BL Advances are being made in Belgium near the coast by the mining of sand dunes. This is reported today in the official communique, which announced the repulse of all German attacks along the battle front.

In the region of Arras and Verdun fog has caused a lull in the fighting. Boat and southeast of Amiens, in the region of Lesigny, there is a flerce artillery duel in progress, the report indicating that the Germans are trying to resume the offensive in that district. The Belgian army has evidently been shifted from the North Sea coast, as the report says the Belgians have advanced south of Dixmude. Hitherto they were reported to be operating near Nieuport.

The official statement today does not report extensive advances along the wide front such as previous communiques of the week have announced. The number of German counter-attacks reported appears to indicate that the Allies are now meetings with more stubborn resistance and that the enemy is making strengous efforts to regain ground lest in the general advance of the French and British.

In the region of the Aline brilliant resistance by the zouaves repulsed attacks by the enemy. A German attack in the region of Ville Surtourbe, in the Champagne district, falled owing to the effectiveness of the French artillery.

A new offensive movement has been begun by the Allies east of Rheims, according to the lates' reports from the front, with the apparent intention of cutting a way to the German line of supplies at Meix and Luxemburg. The heavy fighting in Flanders has resulted in the strengthening of the German lines in the north, and it is believed that, relying on the strength of the natural defenses they occupy north of the Aline, the Germans have withdrawn large numbers from the latter point. The official statement today does not
