AN UNHAPPY WIFE

In a town in Illinois, one afternoon after I had preached, a woman came down the aisle... I heard the rattle of her silk slippers...

"No more blighting sin." I am not going to talk very much on that portion of it tonight...

"You shalt not steal." Listen a minute. A man is a thief when he takes that for which he does not give adequate return...

ALL SORTS OF THIEVES.

"You shalt not steal." Listen a minute. A man is a thief when he takes that for which he does not give adequate return... The man who stands by the wayside and holds a revolver under your nose...

"You shalt not steal." Listen a minute. A man is a thief when he takes that for which he does not give adequate return... I know some of you don't like what I am saying...

Building Homes

Last year 23,144 people who wanted to build homes wrote to THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL with questions to be answered by its architectural editors.

ALTOGETHER, more than 30,000 homes in the United States have been built from plans supplied by the JOURNAL.

Two booklets—"What You Should Know When Building a Little House" (40 pp.) and "How to Finance the Building of a Little House" (20 pp.)—have been published by the JOURNAL and thousands of copies of these distributed free to its readers.

Such service as this has a three-fold significance. First: However conservative the estimate, many millions of dollars a year are spent by the direct personal advice of JOURNAL editors in building homes. Furthermore, for each thousand who write us letters there are many thousands more who are devouring and developing the plans and ideas presented in the pages of the publication itself.

At the same time, these thousands, who are at the very moment getting ready to buy or specify building materials, heaters, paints and varnishes, shades, plumbing supplies and the like, are poring over the advertising columns as well. The opportunity for manufacturers of all such goods is obvious.

The second significance of this service is this: When you have built a home for a family, you have built with that family a confidence as sturdy and lasting as the four walls of the home itself—a confidence by which all advertisers in the publication may profit.

And third: Through this vast correspondence the editors are daily feeling the pulse of home owners everywhere, sensing their needs, their hopes, their problems, and thus learning from day to day how to bring the publication always closer and closer to the reader, and make it therefore more and more serviceable to all advertisers.
