Soissons Victory by Wining Foothold on South Bank of River.

BERLIN, Jan. 16. Refolding over the victory on the Aisne River was increased today by reports launch an attack upon Seissons.

General Joffre's forces are still handlapped on the Alane by the flooded condition of the river, which makes it difficult for the men to cross. The usually alugaish stream is high and swift and sappers who try to build pontoon bridges. rk under a double difficulty-first, they have to face a hot artillery fire from the erman guns; second, they have to contend against a treacherous current and a stream filled with floating debris. The Gormans have begun another bom-

A report was current here that the Germans might try to debouch across the Alsne to the south bank and capture Soissons, but such an attempt, it was said at the War Office, would undoubtedly end in failure for the invaders, who would have to suffer enormous losses in the

WORK, NOT CHARITY, ZIEGLER'S SLOGAN; AWARDS CONTRACTS

Kaiser's Forces Follow Up Health Director Takes First Step in Solving City Problem of Aiding 150,000 Unemployed.

> "Workingmen today are asking for work -not charity."

This is the slogan adopted by Doctor that the German troops had been able to | Ziegler, of the Department of Health and capture a bridge near Missy and gain a Charities, who today took the first step feethold on the south bank of the Alsne. in a movement to induce Philadelphia to from which they were preparing to help itself in solving the problem of assisting the 150,000 unemployed workingmen in this city.

> As soon as Doctor Ziegler took office he was confronted with the need of immediate help for the great army of men who are out of work. At once, practical means to this end suggested themselves to him, and today he awarded all the building contracts in his department for which bids had been asked to the successful bidders and ordered work to be begun at once. In announcing the awards Director Ziegler made the following state-

DOCTOR ZIEGLER'S STATEMENT. The lively competition in bids for new construction at the Philadelphia Hospital for Contagious Diseases, 2d and Luzerne streets, and at the Home for the Indigent, Ho mesburg, Pa., suggests that this is a good time to build. A total of 25 bids were received for the power plant at Holmesburg, while 28 bidders were in competition for the work at the Philadelphia Hospital for Contagious Discusses.

Contagious Diseases.

The Department of Public Health and charities has awarded contracts within the past 24 hours for all of this work for which money is available, and building will begin at once. This will have an appreciable effect on un-employment. The city could do no better work in the direction of relieving unemployment than to start now all the public work for which money could be made available. There remains in this department

There remains in this department about $190,000 for power plant and conduits at Byberry. I am trying to familiarize myself with the problems of that institution as quickly as possible, so that we may proceed with its construction, and thus give additional work to mechanics and laborers who are now out of employment.

Private individuals could do much to Private individuals could do much to relieve conditions of unemployment by entering at this time upon any building operations that are in contemplation for the near future. They would find, as we have found, that contractors are keen to secure work just now and that bidding would be lively. Such conditions always bring about the best possible prices for such work, so that it would probably be more economical to build now than later. Working-men today are asking for work-not

CHARITY NOT WANTED.

In discussing the general situation in the city Doctor Ziegler spoke of the necessity of some organized movement on the part of the employers of this city and those having money, property and business interests to give work to the unemployed and help them to help them-

Date. Doctor Ziegler thinks that the great majority of the men who need jobs are self-respecting, honest and earnest men who will work at anything rather than be dependent for a minute upon charity. He said that he had not been in his present RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE office long enough as yet to become familiar with all of the contributory causes of the hard times, but that he realized the necessity of organization and unselfish co-operation among the many institutions that exist to help the needy and deserving. In this respect Doctor Ziegler seld:

"It is impossible for this department or any department to control trade and commerce so far as concerns employ-ment. It is the function and desire of this department to so regulate the dis-pensing of charity that the greatest good shall be accomplished with every dollar and every ounce of energy that we pos-sees. It was with this in mind that I awarded these contracts for immediate operation and I urge upon the builders the need and merit of beginning operations at once and employing as many men at good living wages as the several jobs

"I believe that a movement for the employment of the working men will carry a message of vast importance to carry a message of vast importance to many persons in private life who have money to spend in building and other lines, but who have delayed operations to await the passing of the present much talked of hard times. It is true that the general idea obtains that there is upon us a period of financial depression, but I think that the general acceptance of that idea together with the widespread tendency to delay all investments until times shall be better, contributes towards making that golden area of renewed prosperity more remote.

nawed prosperity more remote.
"My idea is that we should all wake up and get together and produce among ourselves and within ourselves conditions ourselves and within ourselves conditions that will give the working man work to do, wages with which to feed and clothe his family. This all can be done with no gifts towards the cause except intelligent co-operation. Factories that are closed, that when running manufacture non-perishable products, can run as well now as by and by. It is in the by-and-by that the working man will not need a job. It is today that calls for work.

"In awarding these contracts to and offering jobs for some hundreds of men I have done all that my departmental have done all that my departmental duties permit and I and those who think with me in this matter ask the assistance of the great public. Can we not join hands and work together to the common end of making the times what they should be right here in this great big, warmhearted, generous town of ours?"

ment last night: "According to a cable received by the Belgian Legation today, the city of Courtrai (Helgium) has been fined 10,000,500 marks (about $2,500,000) by Germany, not for disobadience, but for obeying the orders of German commanders. "Commander Maxeman and Commander Pachone ordered the municipal authorities to have all arms deposited in the Tower of Broel, under threat of a neavy penalty. Then there arrived a new German commander. Commander von Encessbeck, who saw the arms and fined the city of Churtrai Box Not marks, under pretext that it is a classicating derived of arms." SOISSONS BATTLE MARKS GAIN FOR GERMANS

Vregny, northwest of Soissons, is now in possession of the Kaiser's forces, who, in driving the French across the Aisne at that point, have advanced to within 38 miles of the outer forts of Paris. Northeast of Roye, the Allies claim a gain, but it in no way compensates for the loss on the Aisne, which is admitted to be the most notable suffered by either side in many weeks. Elsewhere along the battle line from the sea to the Vosges the hostile armies, in general, maintain the positions they have occupied since October.

Dominion Regiment Routs Germans in "Dead Man's Alley."

LONDON, Jan. 16 .- The Canadian regiment at the front has distinguished itself in a stirring beyonet charge at a place near Ypres known as "Dead Man's Alley," according to the Daily Chronicle's correspondent in Northeast France.

"The Germans," the correspondent says, 'had moved a great mass of men egainst this spot on the British front. Mud helped the thin British line to hold, but the honors were barely even until the Canadian regiment hurrled up from the renr.

Suddenly there was heard a roar of voices and a long line of slouch-hatted men with fixed bayonets rushed forward with the battle cry 'For Canada and Old England!

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS

In Belgium there have been artillery combats in the region of sleupert and in that of Ypres.

Between the Lys and the Somme, at Notre Dame de Lorette, near Garency, the enemy has reoccupied part of the trenches which he had lost on January 14.

At Blangy, near Arras, our progress has continued. The enemy made a sharp attack, preceded by a vicient bombardment, upon our positions to the west of La Posselle. That attack was repulsed.

On the entire frent, from the Somme to the Meuse, not a single infantry engagement has been reported.

In the sectors of Reissons and of Ehelms our artillery has obtained appreciable results at several points, this including the dispersing of a regiment that was attempting to concentrate for attack, an explosion in one of the enemy's batteries and the demolition of an earthworks, etc. of an earthworks, etc.

In the sector of the Vosges there has been an artillery combat on all the front, with some rifle fire, particularly at Tete De Faux. In Upper Alsace there is no change.
