LOCALS INVITE CRICKETERS

New York Players Are Urged to Take Part in Contests Here.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—That Philadelphia, the stronghold of cricket in America, will throw open the door to the outside world and admit out-of-town teams to her famous "Hall Cup" competition, and that New York will probably be represented in the contest this year was announced at the annual meeting of the New York Cricket Association held at the Marlborough Hotel Saturday.

Polka variation. Especially posed by Mlle. Pavlova and M. Clustine.

POLKA VARIATION MAKES ONE-STEP GRACEFUL DANCE

This article is the third of an illustrated series on Anna Pavlova's New Social Dances and How to Perform Them, which is to appear on Tuesdays and Thursdays exclusively in this newspaper. These articles have been written by Mlle. Pavlova, who, as premiere ballerina assoluta of the St. Petersburg Imperial Opera, is everywhere recognized as not only the greatest living dancer, but the greatest living authority on the art of the dance.

By ANNA PAVLOVA
ARTICLE III.
Lack of variety has done as much as anything else to make the one-step ordinary. When we see couples tearing along with a set look and using a succession of steps that are virtually repetitions it is no wonder we yawn.

STRIKES AND SPARES

SCHOLASTIC NOTES

La Salle College's student body was glad to see that football will probably be played in the institution's spring program next year.

$100,000 LOSS, SIX FIREMEN INJURED IN HARRISBURG FIRE

Thousands of Inauguration Visitors Watch Spectacular Blaze in Market Square Department Store.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18.—As the result of a spectacular fire that raged from 11 o'clock last night until 3:30 this morning, Kaufman's department store on Market Square, is in ruins, with a loss of $100,000.

The fire started in the basement of the department store and gained headway because the fire alarm system failed to work. The firemen fought in a downpour of rain and in streets thronged with thousands of inauguration visitors.

The injured firemen are: William Smith, Harry Corke, Samuel Diener, Harry Enders, Wayne Deatney and Joe O'Leary. Policeman George Shoemaker also was slightly injured.

The city was full of inauguration visitors when the fire began, clubs were parading the streets, bands were playing and the theatres were just leaving out.

"MADE IN PHILADELPHIA" CAMPAIGN TO START HERE

Manufacturer Says People of City Must Be First to Recognize Its Merits.

Before the trademark "Made in Philadelphia" can be recognized the world over as a standard symbol of excellence, Philadelphians themselves must insist that the goods they purchase bear this label.

McNichol Concern Gets Contract

The Union Paving Company, a McNichol concern, and the Eastern Paving Company were low bidders for supplying and placing respectively asphalt and binder for patching asphalt streets of Philadelphia in 1915.

parading the streets, bands were playing and the theatres were just leaving out. Market Square was jammed to overflowing and the throngs were beyond the control of the police, who were unable to throw out the usual fire lines.

WAR KEEPS FOREIGN STUDENTS FROM U. OF P.

Enrolment From Abroad Shows Decrease of 25 Per Cent.

Provost Edgar F. Smith has issued a statement to the effect that the European war has caused a decrease of 25 per cent in the foreign enrolment at the University of Pennsylvania.

The nations actually engaged in the war show the greatest decrease, but virtually all of the foreign students in the loss. Not a German has registered this semester, and South American countries have fallen far below last year's average.

The statistics are as follows:
1913-14
Argentina 8
Armenia 5

1914-15
Total 200
Decrease 25%

Woman's Keenest Interest

Last year 48,867 women wrote to the Fashion Editors of THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL for help with some part of the family wardrobe.

IN THE same period 17,812 women wrote to THE JOURNAL about millinery and the arrangement of the hair. Every one of these 66,679 letters was answered personally by a JOURNAL editor. For example, in many cases a reader sends in a sample of material just bought for her new dress. The Home Dressmaking Editor goes out and "shops" at the department stores of New York or Philadelphia, selects just the right trimming for that dress, then writes to tell the woman where she can get it and how to put it on.

How to make over last year's hat, how to turn a skirt, how to economize here and there—thousands of questions like these are answered skilfully. And, it must be, satisfactorily, for the same women come back. Such service continued year after year has built up a loyalty and confidence which could not have been obtained simply through the pages themselves, no matter how perfect. This loyalty and confidence are felt and availed of by every JOURNAL advertiser, whatever the product.
