HILTON CONTENDS VARDON IS BEST OF "PRO" GOLFERS

Success of Open Champion Attributed to Remarkable Improvement in Putting, Says Editor of Magazine.

In reviewing the 1914 record of professional golf in Great Britain Harold H. Hilton, in the golfing magazine of which he is the editor, accords first place to Harry Vardon, who won the open championship for the sixth time, and further attributes Vardon's success to a remarkable improvement in putting. As Vardon's putting has been his weak spot for many years and was the poorest feature of his game while he was in America in 1913, Hilton's comment on this point is interesting. He confines himself to Vardon's work in two tournaments, a match affair at Cruden Bay, and the British open championship at Prestwick. Concerning Vardon's improvement on the greens he says:

At this tournament (Cruden Bay) nearly every member of the first class professional quarantine was present, and in the score play which preceded the match play tournament Vardon headed the field with a score of 146. The match play he in turn accounted for Taylor, Mayo, Hay and Duncan, and this at Cruden Bay may be said to represent the most brilliant achievement recorded by Harry Vardon during the last 12 or 14 years. The evidence of those who suffered at his hands in this tournament the completeness of Vardon's success was almost entirely attributable to his deadliness when putting eight feet of the hole. He very rarely missed a put of under ten feet in length, and as it is well recognized that this task of holing possible putts is the one great weakness in the steel magic of his game, it is not difficult to see how this newly found accuracy must of necessity have affected his caddie himself, moreover, the morale of those whom he was called upon to play.

Vardon must have depended upon the ability of Prestwick more than upon any other green to maintain his one-round gift of never able to get the ball into the hole with confident accuracy. And there was always the danger that his confidence might disappear as quickly as it had arrived. But while his putting was not actually so fit as it had been on the links in the far North, it was nevertheless infinitely more accurate than the class of putting one is apt to associate with the name of Harry Vardon—at least during recent years. And it was sufficiently good to pull him through after a close tussle with Taylor.

VETERAN ATHLETES HAVE JOLLY TIME AT BANQUET

Hotel Majestic Scene of Annual Affair Last Night.

Men once famous in athletics, former champion record-holders and those who were just in the ranks, sat side by side with directors of athletic departments, Judges, noted men in the law, State Senators, Congressmen, doctors, preachers and the executive, fraternal and civic organizations and representative sportsmen at the annual banquet of the Veteran Athletes of Philadelphia, held at the Hotel Majestic last evening. The organization is composed of those who took part in or were actively identified with athletics prior to 1901.

A business meeting and the annual election of officers preceded the dinner. Eugene C. Bonniwell, one of the Judges of the Municipal Court, was re-elected president; Dr. Frank Fisher was elected vice president, James H. Sweet being again chosen as secretary-treasurer.

The following members of the board of directors, whose terms had expired, were re-elected to office: William G. Friedgen, Morris Markeville, Walter Gilbert, Alonzo J. Kitchen and Herman F. Wolff. Those with H. Walter Schlichter, Dr. George W. Orton, Alfred W. Ohl, Dr. Frederick W. Allen, Charles H. Linde, Fred T. Harshaw and Howard C. Ross, whose terms run until 1916, complete the board. William H. Hogan and Dr. J. Elmer Shell, in view of past services to amateur athletics, were elected ex-officio members of the board by a special vote.

The following were among those present: Howard M. Amsler, Dr. Frederick W. Allen, Edwin M. Abbott, Arthur T. Atherholt, W. G. Anderson, Caspar Allemus, Henry Budd, E. C. Bonniwell, A. J. ### Hoffecker Signs With Richmond

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Frank Hoffecker, star pitcher at the Maryland Agricultural College for the last four years, has signed a contract to play with the Richmond Club of the International League. Hoffecker is still at M. A. C., but his action in putting his name to a contract with a professional team, with which it has promised to go early in the spring, probably means that he will not be a member of the college nine this year.

WIG'S DIARY
JAN. 28 1911
(A TRUE DIARY BY A BOY)

IN THE MORNING I HELPED JUT PUT UR A WIRE SCREEN ON HIS CHICKEN YARD FENCE AND THEN THE COW GOT LOOSE SO WE HAD TO CHASE HER AND TIE HER UP. AFTERWARDS WE GOT OUR PISTOLS AND SWORDS AND PLAYED COWBOY. IN THE AFTERNOON JACK AND WE WALKED EIGHT MILES ON THE RAILROAD TRACKS TO PATERSON AT THE FOOT OF THE ORANGE MOUNTAINS. WE PASSED ONE TRAIN AND ATHENIA, ALLWOOD AND SOUTH PATERSON AND RODE HOME ON THE TRAIN. THERE WAS A SHARP WIND BLOWING AND MY COLD GREW WORSE. AT THE CROWDED PATERSON DEPOT THE WIND SCATTERED A NEWSBOYS PAPERS WAY DOWN THE TRACKS

For the Defense

Judge—And you still claim to be innocent, although six witnesses say they saw you commit the crime?

Prisoner—Your honor, I can produce six thousand who didn't see me.—Cornell Widow.

Limits in Literature

"You've read 'The Heavenly Twins?'" asked an Englishman of an Irishman.

"Yes, I have."

"And 'The Sorrows of Satan'?"

"Yes."

"And have you read 'Looking Backwards'?"

"How the divil could I do that?" said Pat.—London Evening Standard.

THE PADDED CELL

—London Opinion.

Lady Bountiful—Have you any nice warm underclothing?
New Assistant—Oh, yes, Miss, thank you.

—Lampoon.

Disappointed Hop—I'll bet you don't even tip your hat.

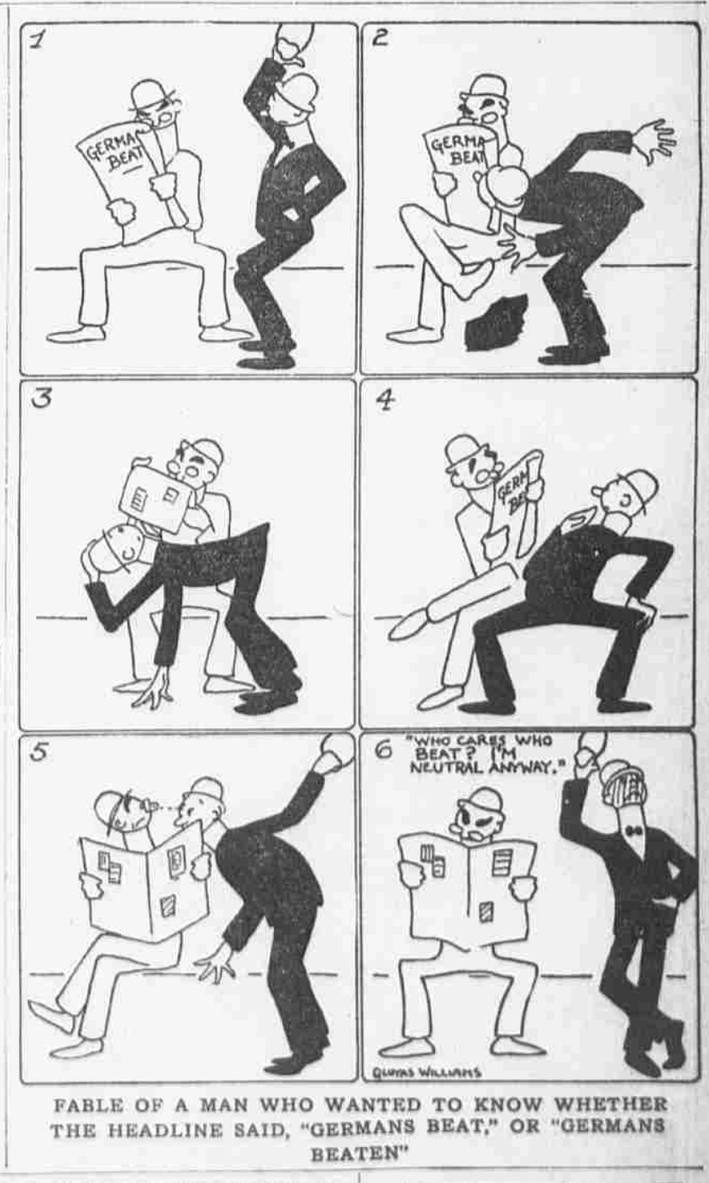
Wild-eyed customer—I want a quarter's worth of carbolic acid.
Clerk—This is a hardware store, but we have—er—a fine line of ropes, revolvers and razors.—Yale Record.

A GERMAN PORTRAIT.

The Next Ally.

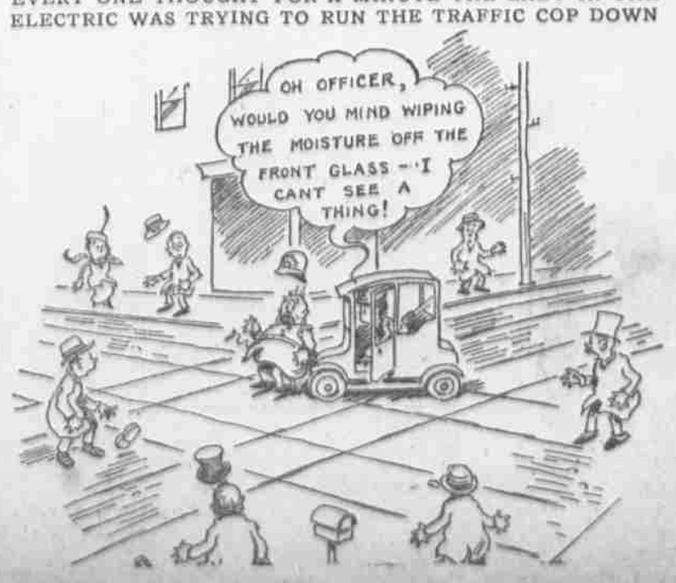
—Punch.

Patriotic Wife—Now, Richard, before you go, let me hear you repeat my instructions.
Richard—I must remember I'm the husband of an Englishwoman, and I'm not to come back without the Kaiser."



FABLE OF A MAN WHO WANTED TO KNOW WHETHER THE HEADLINE SAID, "GERMANS BEAT," OR "GERMANS BEATEN"

EVERY ONE THOUGHT FOR A MINUTE THE LADY IN THE ELECTRIC WAS TRYING TO RUN THE TRAFFIC COP DOWN



SO TOUGH.

Bride—That flour you sold me was tough.
Grocer—Tough, ma'am?
Bride—Yes, tough! I made a pie with it, and my husband could hardly cut it!
