CONTROL OF COPPER NOT IN THE HANDS OF ANY ONE 'KING'

Question of Dominance Probably Will Be Fought Out by Guggenheim and Standard Oil Interests.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.-The United States produces more than 56 per cent. of the world's output of copper. Last year, out of a total of 913,162 metric tons, this country contributed 515,184; Japan, 68,-658; Spain and Portugal, 47,500; Chill, 28,-270; Mexico, 35,456, and Canada, 23,245.

No one "king" controls copper. What may be called the Standard Oil-Lewisohn combination is responsible for an annual output approximately 39 per cent. of the aggregate of 1,130,000.000 pounds, while the so-called Guggenheim properties account for 32 per cent. The remainder is distributed among interests, including the Phelps-Dodge, Cole-Ryan (associated with Standard Oil), Hayden, Stone & Co. and the various independents, of which the Calumet-Hecla and Tennessee Copper Company are the most The nearest approach to a monopoly in copper industry is in the smelting end of it. Here the vast organization operated by the "Seven Guggenheim Brothers" has come to be known as the "Smelter Trust." This control is centred in the American Smelting and Refining Company. So important has this branch become that, instead of the mine seeking the smelter, the smelter is seeking the

This explains the enormous purchases of copper-bearing ore properties by the Guggenheims in South America. It is early in the last few years that the Guggenheims have risen to the position of the second greatest producing interest in the country.

Copper mining on a gigantic scale received its impetus from H. H. Rogers. He was instrumental in forming the Amalgamated Copper Company in 1899 to operate mines in and around Butte. o operate mines in and around Butte,

The Amalgamated is a holding corpor-The Amalgamated is a holding corporation and not a mining company. It owns 3,185,800 shares, or about 73 per cent of the stock of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, the most important producer in the world. Its output in 1912 was 294,500,000 pounds, as compared with the production of 150,000,000 pounds by Phelps, Dodge & Co, at its mines in the United States and Maying.

United States and Mexico.

An authority on copper finance says of Amsigamated's future that it does not ever seem likely to control the copper industry, but appears to be a useful bal-ance wheel in steadying copper prices and is seemingly a party to a rapproche-ment of all the leading copper-producing interests of North America and Europe. A "gentlemen's agreement" has done much to prevent violent fluctuations in either price or output since August, 1910. Much notoriety was gained by the Amalgamated in its earlier days, as it was said to be grossly overcapitalized, and in addition its stock was unloaded on the public at top-heavy prices. The market movements of the stock showed woird fluctuations, and insiders are supposed to have profited by the queer course of At the moment the question of domi-

at the moment the question of dominance in copper promises to be fought out by the Guggenheim family and the Standard Oll interests, although both the Lewischn and Phelps-Dodge interests command vast resources as well as

SOCIAL ELECT TO HAVE TEMPLE OF THE DANCE

Jones Wister House to Be Devoted to Terpsichorean Art.

An exclusive "temple of the dance" for the use of Philadelphia's social elect has been dedicated by Mrs. Horace Keen, at 1819 Chestnut street, known as the Jones Wister house. The temple is officially called "Keen House," and it will be the place where Philadelphia society will devote itself to the terpsichorean art, away from the noise and tumult of public dancing places. He or she who enters "Keen House" will have to enter by a muchcoveted special invitation, and only after passing the keen scrutiny of two maids and a butler, who have the countenances of the city's elect quite clear in their The traditions and historical ancestry which surrounds the person of Mrs. Keen are enough in themselves to lend the characteristics to "Keen House" which would make the ordinary devotes of danca halls shy with embarrassment. Mrs. Keen and Courtney Campbell, who will be associated with her in teaching the dance, are of old families. Mrs. Keen is a niece of Dr. William W. Keen, the aminent Philadelphia surgeon. Her huahand is a direct descendant of David Rittenhouse. Mr. Campbell is a descend-

Rittenhouse. Mr. Campbell is a descendsat of an old Virginia family and is a fraduate of the University of Virginia.
Mrs. James T. Halsey is managing
"Keen House" for Mrs. Keen.
"Keen House" will meet the needs of both the learning of dancing and entertainment. In the morning and during part of the afternoon Mrs. Keen and Mr.
Campbell will give private leasons in dancing. At 4:30 in the afternoon, every day, a the danasnt will be held. In the drening classes will be taught the steps, and supper will be served.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION PLAN Prof. Samuel A. King, of Bryn Mawr, alli continue his interesting series of iectures on "Voice Culture" under the alapies of the University Extension Society in Griffith Hall, 1420 Chestnut street. A discussion on "The Twentieth Century Church" will be held tonight, also under the Extension Society's direction, in Association Hall, his Germantown avenue. The apeakers will be Charles Zuebiln, of Bostos, Mass; Progident H. A. W. Mass, of Muhlamberg College, and William F. Overman, principal of the Friends' Astemy, Moorestown, N. J. The society's program for the antire week is interesting.
