SIX-CENT BREAD THREATENS PATRONS OF LUNCH ROOMS

Additional Price May Be Tacked on to Meal Checks if Cost of Flour Continues to Rise.

Six-cent bread is a problem which the housewives of the city are not alone in trying to solve. The vast horde of men and women who daily invade the lunch rooms may also have to meet it, and the beef-stew or ham-and-egg devotee, accustomed to receive his three slices as a free "side order," may receive a shock in no slight degree in the near future, when he finds an additional 5 cents tacked on to his meal check.

The unprecedented rise in the price of wheat is responsible for this calamity. Bakers have practically decided that 6-cent, and perhaps 7-cent bread, is inevitable.

Already some of the bakers have been forced to raise their prices. Fred Meixner, the proprietor of a West Philadelphia bakeshop, has been selling 6-cent bread for a week, and it is expected that the small restaurants will soon be forced to act.

According to the manager of Childs, however, the price of wheat will have to go very high before their patrons will be forced to pay out extra for bread in those orders in which it has heretofore been included.

"If wheat goes to $2 a bushel, or bread to 8 or 9 cents a loaf we may be obliged to take some steps, but at present we are not contemplating raising prices."

John R. Thompson, proprietor of a string of lunch rooms in Philadelphia, New York and Chicago, admitted that a cutting down of the size of bread orders in view of the situation was plausible.

"The smaller lunch rooms," said he, "may find it necessary to cut out 'sinkers' with coffee and make them and all bread and cakes a separate order, because of the already high price of sugar and the rising flour cost."

In the opinion of Frank Hardart, of the Horn & Hardart Baking Company, it is quite possible that the lunch room proprietors will be forced to give smaller portions if bread is at all to be included in the order.

"However," he added, "there is no cause for great alarm because the wheat situation can be only temporary. Such high prices cannot possibly last for any length of time."

At Horn & Horn's it was said that there was no immediate intention of raising prices or eliminating free bread orders.

In addition to the rise in the price of flour, bakers of the city have another serious situation confronting them. Yesterday every one of the 875 bakeries in Philadelphia passed under the supervision of the State Department of Industry and Labor, and many changes will have to be made in order to bring the shops up to the sanitary requirements necessary for the safeguarding of the public health, according to an act passed by the last Legislature.

In the first place no bakery will be permitted in a basement less than nine feet in height or totally under ground, and all employes will have to submit themselves to medical inspection and will required to wear washable clothing, preferably white.

Special precautions against mice, rats and flies must be taken and pets of all kinds are barred from the shops. Particular instructions are also given for the plumbing location.

WIG'S DIARY

FEB. 2, 1911
(A TRUE DIARY OF A BOY)

THERE WAS ICE ALL OVER THE GROUND TODAY BECAUSE IT HAILED LAST NIGHT. WE HAD ARITHMETIC EXAM P.M. AND I FINISHED AT HALF PAST TWO SO I GOT OUT EARLY. JUT AND I PLAYED TAG WITH SARTO AND WE HAD GOOD FUN BECAUSE IT WAS ALL SLIPPERY. JUT AND SARTO TOOK A FEW SPILLS BUT I DIDN'T TAKE ANY. WE TRIED TO COAST BUT IT WAS NO GOOD. MY NICKNAME IS WIG. IT ORIGINATED BY POP ABOUT 10 YEARS AGO WHEN I HAD A BIG BUNCH OF HAIR

Made Over

"He is a self-made man, is he not?"

"Yes, except for the alterations made by his wife and her mother."—St. James' Gazette.

—Lampoon.

"Nonsense, Gertrude; how do you know that the prunes at Wellesley are old?"

"I tell you, Auntie, I can see the wrinkles."

THE PADDED CELL

Woe! Woe!

"Growcher is a confirmed pessimist, isn't he?"

"Yes. Just now he is worrying about who will bury the last man on earth."—Judge.

A Good Reason

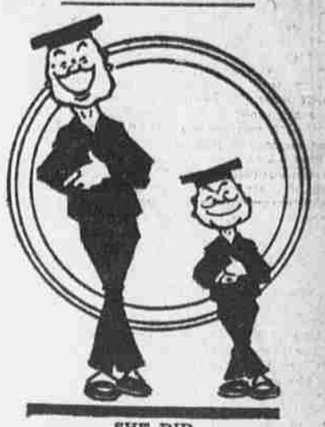
Netty—"Hear you have thrown Bob over."

Betty—"Yes; he was such a poor letter writer I was ashamed to show his love letters to the girls."—Stanford Chaparral.

Cruel!

"Mister, can you spare me a nickel for a plate o' soup? I ha'nt grubbed for two days."

"Oh—why, yes! Get change for a dollar!"—Punch Bowl.



SHE DID.

"Mary Rose sat on a tack!"

"Then Mary Rose!"

Cracked

Detective—I caught this guy picking pockets in Wall street.

Desk Sergeant—Nutty, eh? Well, lock him up with that boob Roley caught looking for gold nuggets in ash cans!—Judge.

—Penn State Froth.

A MUTUAL FILM.

Passed by those bored of censorships.
