

SENATOR PENROSE INQUIRY EXTENDED BY COUP TO OTHER STATES

Senate Committee Votes to Probe Elections in Alabama, Indiana, California and South Dakota.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections today, upon motion of Senator Sutherland, extended the Norris resolution providing for an investigation into charges of election fraud in Pennsylvania and Illinois and to include an inquiry into other states where charges are made.

This move was forced upon the committee by Senator Penrose and is resented by the Democrats as a retaliatory attack intended to forestall the proposed investigation into Senator Penrose's election, which Representative A. Mitchell Palmer charged cost $1,000,000.

Senator Sutherland presented evidence of alleged fraud in Indiana, California, Alabama and South Dakota and said the actions of Democratic Senators in these sections justified the committee to go into the conditions. He pointed out that in Indiana 23 persons had been convicted of election fraud, and reports made by Representative Penrose in the use of money by the liquor men in Alabama, warranted an investigation in that State.

The committee's action places the investigations of election fraud squarely upon the Senate, as the committee will now report on the resolution and inject another issue. It is probable that the Senate, now so tied up with the ship bill, will not take up any investigation at this session.

Democrats say Senator Penrose started the investigations into other States in the hope of throttling the proposed inquiry into his own election. He came here suddenly yesterday and summoned the defeated Republican Senators. After learning something about the fight in California, South Dakota, Alabama and Indiana, he decided upon the retaliatory move.

Senator Penrose did not appear at the meeting. He was not asked to go before the committee and answer the allegations made by Mr. Palmer, and will, it is believed, hurried every move and communicated with him. He smiled when told of the committee's action.

Representative Palmer said he was prepared to go on with the inquiry in Pennsylvania and he hoped the committee would start with Pennsylvania. He said he favored the action of the committee, but it was just as important to go into the situations in other States as Pennsylvania.

Representative Underwood said he had been told to fear from an inquiry and knew nothing of the money expended by liquor men in his behalf.

BUSINESS MEN MOVED
BY REDFIELD'S SPEECH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Business men attending the United States Chamber of Commerce convention here today were pulled "from pillar to post" by the Administration ship purchase bill. Many of these who were opposed to the measure yesterday declared today that Secretary of Commerce Redfield's speech at a breakfast banquet put the bill in a new light.

Redfield's intimation that President Wilson and his Cabinet "would place the facts before the people" in a country-wide speaking campaign in the bill is defeated, and in that event, Redfield said, "out of the way of American public opinion when it learns the facts."

"One way to build up commerce between the United States and Argentina," Ambassador Naon, of the latter country, said, "was to establish an Argentine-American chamber of commerce."

Edward A. Flinn, of Boston, approved Secretary Redfield's suggestion that American bankers combine in the foreign field to compete with the great foreign banking houses.

VAN HORNE STARTS FOR JAIL
Bridge Wrecker Will Serve 30 Days in Machias, Me., Prison.

TANCIBORO, Me., Feb. 5.—Vernor Van Horne, the German officer who tried to blow up the international railroad bridge here, started on his journey to the county jail at Machias this morning in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Ross. They will reach Bangor this afternoon and proceed to Machias.

Van Horne seemed glad to get out of the bridge town. He shook hands with a number of railroad men who were 30 days in the county jail for the damage done in this town as a result of the explosion on the bridge.

The authorities expect that a decision will have been reached by the State Department in regard to Canada's request for extradition before the expiration of Van Horne's 90-day sentence.

FIELDER THREATENS VETO
Says Republicans Are Playing Politics With Labor Department.

TRENTON, Feb. 5.—Governor Fielder declared today that he would not approve the economy and efficiency bill which provides to consolidate the Department of Labor and Bureau of Industrial Statistics in the General Lewis T. Bryant, head of the labor department, and sacrifice the labor department, and sacrifice the labor department, and sacrifice the labor department.

The general scheme suggested by the Economy and Efficiency Commission is on sound in its application to the Department of Labor, the same reasoning will be applied to the other bills," he said.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Wilbur Glenn Dowie, wife of the successor of John Dowie as pastor of the Christian Reformed Church of Zion City, died today of an illness of 15 months. Volva Dowie, 61 years of age, was the wife of the late pastor of Zion City, to whom she was married in 1884.

HEIR TO $50,000 A YEAR

The rights of "Teddy" Slingsby, 4 years old, to an estate in Yorkshire, England, have at last been established after long litigation. His father was a British naval lieutenant. His mother was accused of having substituted "Teddy" for her own baby, which is alleged to have died.

WHERE'S LIEUTENANT KING? HIS WIFE WANTS TO KNOW

Does Not Believe Son of English Landowner Has Been Drowned.

Where is Lieutenant William Somerville King, of the Royal Victoria Rifles, son of the Right Honorable Somerville King, formerly commander of the Royal Victoria Rifles, a wealthy English landowner, who, after the lieutenant King, Mrs. William Somerville King, who was one of the chorus girls in "The Kissing Maid," and whose maiden name was Miss Alice L. Searles, wants to know.

She has been wanting to know since Christmas, 1912, when after the lieutenant had been away for several days from their New York apartment, she got a telegram summoning her to meet him at the Hotel Majestic in this city.

At the Majestic, according to her story, she was met by another telegram. It was signed by H. A. Grier, whom she does not know, and read:

"Somerville has disappeared. Fear the worst. You had better return." This, still according to Mrs. King, was a "stunning blow," and she didn't know what to make of it. From that time until February 9, 1913, she says she got a telegram every day, assuring her she would "see Willie soon." They were signed by some one she did not know.

The final message assured Mrs. King that her husband had left some liner at Nantucket and was coming up the coast in a motorboat.

"I presume," she said, "they want me to believe he has been drowned." Mrs. King is now living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Searles, 157 East 75th street, New York. She met King in June, 1912, and they were married in September of that year in Hoboken, she says. There was nothing slinky about King, she says, but she took a "bit of money" and sometimes as much as $75 a week. His salary from the British Government, she says, was $300 a week. He had clippings to show that the English tenets issued in 1912 would be "seriously handicapped in the Davis Cup matches by the absence of Lieutenant W. S. King from its membership."

PACKING COMPANIES HAD PROFITABLE YEAR IN 1914
Sales $46,000,000 Greater Than in 1913.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Sales of the five leading packing companies last year approximated $1,200,000,000, an increase of $160,000,000 over 1913.

Statements of the four companies which have made full reports for 1914 follow:

Table with 3 columns: Company Name, Gross Sales, Net Earnings. Includes Swift & Co., Armour, Morris, and Cudahy.

Sulzberger & Sons Co. had a gross for the year of about $133,700,000, making it the fourth largest packing concern in the country.

In 1913 combined earnings of these companies showed $1,154,000,000 gross, $20,073,071 net.

Net earnings on gross sales in 1913 were 1.75 per cent. In 1914 earnings of four companies were 2.13 per cent.

Earnings were the largest they had ever been in the packing business, due largely to the increased demand from the European countries, especially England. Increased profits were mostly made in Argentine business.

Capital stock, surplus and total of Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Morris & Co., and Cudahy were $10,000,000, $169,804,361 and $270,844,251, respectively.

Earnings returns on the $10,000,000 capital stock of these four companies was 17.78 per cent. Amount earned on the capital stock and surplus invested was 7.22 per cent.

BAKERS FACE CONSPIRACY CHARGE IF PRICE GOES UP
Large "Chain" Stores to Continue Five-cent Loaf Indefinitely.

With the bakers determined on raising the price of bread and John Virdin, chief of the Bureau of Weights and Measures, to say nothing of the Federal authorities, equally determined to prosecute to the full extent of the law, the situation brought about by the almost unprecedented rise in wheat, looks interesting, to say the least.

Three of the largest "chain" stores in the city announced that, although they are selling at little or no profit, their bread will continue to be five cents a loaf indefinitely. Individual bakers, however, have decided that they cannot stand this loss, and many who have not raised their prices are contemplating doing so.

ARMY OF BANKERS HERE FOR BANQUET

Guests of Group Will Hear Monetary Problems Discussed.

An army of bankers invaded Philadelphia today for the annual banquet to be given tonight at the Bellevue-Stratford by Group No. 1, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association.

The banquet will be of particular importance, as it will afford bankers and business men an opportunity to express themselves publicly on the expedients adopted by the Wilson administration for the relief of the monetary and railroad crisis of 1914, growing out of the European war. Men of nation-wide prominence will be among the speakers.

Among them will be Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University; George Stuart Patterson, general solicitor for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who will speak on "Regulation of Railroads by the Government, State and National," and Patrick Francis Murphy, of New York, whose subject will be "Time and Chance." Joseph Wayne, Jr., chairman of Group No. 1, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association and president of the Girard National Bank, of this city, will act as toastmaster.

Virtually every important railroad system in the United States will be represented, as the Pennsylvania, Vanderbilt, Harriman, Gould, Rockefeller and Frick interests will have one or more representatives at the banquet.

HELD IN STRIKE RIOT CASES
Five Men Arrested in Trunkmakers' Fights.

Five men today were held in $500 bail each for a further hearing February 9 by Magistrate Hagerly at the 12th and Pine streets station in connection with fights growing out of the strike of 100 employees of the F. H. White Company, suit case and trunkmakers, 10th and Hamilton streets.

Samuel Green, leader of the strikers, for whom two warrants were issued, was arrested when he applied to the Pennsylvania Hospital for treatment, after being beaten by the strikebreakers, he alleged, at 10th and Lombard streets. He is accused of leading a gang of strikers against the strikebreakers several days ago.

Four men accused by Green were arrested by Policeman Higgins. They are Max Forman, 23 Lombard street; Morris and Nathan Waitz, 21 Lombard street, and Benjamin Zinberg, of the same address.

SLOT METER CAUSES DEATH
Chauffeur Asphyxiated When Gas Flow Is Turned On.

A slot-meter was responsible for another death today when Gus Panther, 24 years old, a chauffeur, was found dead in bed with gas poisoning in his room in an apartment house at 8 South 38th street. There was no evidence of suicide, and the police say the man retired leaving a dim light burning.

According to the police, Mrs. McCarthy told them she noticed the gas was low and sent her daughter to put a quarter in the meter. Later they noticed the odor of gas, but when they went to Panther's room today it was too late to save his life.

RIDLEY PARK HOUSE BURNED
S. W. Sims' Residence Destroyed. Defective Flue Cause.

Fire partly destroyed the home of S. W. Sims, at 20 Ridley avenue, Ridley Park, early this morning. A defective flue started the blaze. Mrs. Sims, who was alone in the house, her husband being in New York, was aroused by Mrs. Harry Hartman of Ridley and Welcome avenues.

Members of the Norwood and Ridley Park Fire Companies fought the flames for nearly two hours before getting the fire under control. Neighbors saved much of the furniture in the house. No one was injured.

CHEF'S MASTERPIECE WINS
Philadelphia's Creation Awarded Gold Medal at N. Y. Exhibition.

Alphonse Fiel, chef at the Bellevue-Stratford, returned to his duties today after winning the first prize gold medal at the exhibition of the Societe Culinare Philanthropique, which was held in New York on Wednesday. Fiel's creation, which was made entirely of sugar, was a miniature ocean liner, exact to the smallest details, and the judges considered it the masterpiece of the 83 pieces which were shown.

Alphonse had his work of art on view at the Bellevue a short time ago, and it was then the envy of all the chefs and cooks in town.

Silverman Wins Map Contest

Edwin H. Silverman, of the Jenkintown Troop, won the $1 prize offered by the Evening Ledger for the best map drawn by a Boy Scout from the data supplied in an article on map-making by George O. Potts, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 35, in the issue of Friday, January 23. The section of the country mapped out was given as bounded by a road, a stream, a railroad, a fence and a trail through the woods to the point of beginning. Mr. Potts, who judged the contest, wrote the following criticism of the prize-winning map: "There are several small errors. The starting point was B.M. 1, opposite pole No. 66. Silverman has made his starting point 150 feet N.N.W. of the pole. B.M. 1 is in center of century bridge, the railroad crosses the creek on the bridge, not under it, as shown by this map. Silverman has his railroad crossing the stream at a point 50 feet N.W. of where it should be. Nothing was said in directions about the fence running alongside the railroad, as is shown in the map. B.M. 7, a large pine tree, has not the correct sign for a tree. Compass direction and scale are wrong from B.M. 2 to B.M. 7 and from B.M. 7 to starting point. As the original directions were imaginary, it is natural that there should be some discrepancies. The B.M. 2 to B.M. 7, the distance in the directions the final direction was given as 'general direction W. by N.' to allow a little leeway for possible error. The map with this exception of the errors mentioned, which are small and to some extent unimportant—is excellent, and for the work of a 16-year-old boy very excellent."

The data given reads: B.M. 1, center of road opposite telegraph pole No. 66, 515 feet N.N.W. to B.M. 2, center of wooden bridge crossing small creek. Telegraph line on right of road. From B.M. 2, 150 feet S.E. to B.M. 3, center of creek bed at junction of small brook running from spring 135 feet S.S.E. From B.M. 3, 125 feet E. to B.M. 4, center of creek bed. Marshy ground on south side of creek. From B.M. 4, 125 feet S.E. to B.M. 5, center of concrete bridge over railroad. From B.M. 5, 420 feet S.E. to B.M. 6, center of track opposite smooth-wire fence. Single tree. From B.M. 6, 525 feet S.W., along fence to B.M. 7, large pine tree at junction of trail. From B.M. 7, 125 feet to point of beginning.

Indian Hunt Orders Given
"Wah-hoo-wah! Wah-hoo-wah!"

More than 3000 Philadelphia Boy Scouts, prepared for almost anything, are wondering what is going to happen. Preliminary orders have been issued by headquarters to scoutmasters to advise them to have their troops ready for the big Indian hunt February 22. That is all the Scouts know. Mystery surrounds the plans. Questions at headquarters are in vain, for the men in charge are not to discuss themselves. The order reads: "Messengers have arrived bearing tidings that marauding bands of the Lenni Lenape will attack our beloved town, with the paleface of Philadelphia as their chief, George Washington."

"Messages must be sent through the lines of Indians to the nearby communities imploring them to help ward off the danger. Will your boys help? How many scouts can we count on from your troop? The fun will start at 10:30 a. m., and all scouts will be safely home by sunset. Each troop taking part in the big Indian hunt must be represented at the Scoutmasters' Round Table on February 15, when sealed orders, with full details, will be distributed."

National Boy Scout Birthday
Philadelphia troops have been invited to observe the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scout movement in the United States at the Central Congregational Church, 18th and Green streets, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. William V. Berg, pastor of the church and scoutmaster of Troop 2, will address the scouts on "Cooking Your Game."

333 New Scouts
Eighteen new troops, representing 333 new Boy Scouts, have been formed since October 1, 1914, according to the report of Deputy Scout Commissioner Patton, read before the Executive Scout Council last evening. He told of a celebration in Cooper Hall, 21st and Christian streets, under scoutmaster G. J. Sauerbrun. The troop will receive a number soon.

Officers of the Gettysburg Boy Scout Service Corps, meeting at headquarters Thursday evening, made plans for a rally of the 389 scouts in this body in the Young Men's Christian Association auditorium, probably on March 4. It is likely that a speaker of national prominence will be secured for the occasion.

Daily "Good Turns"
A woman with a knife five inches long was saved from committing suicide by Charlie Smith, 12 years old, 125 Christian street, as he was coming from a meeting of his troop, No. 66, Saturday evening. She was standing at Carpenter and League streets brandishing the knife when he passed.

"What are you doing?" he asked. "Committing suicide," she answered. "Yes," she answered. He took the knife away from her. When she asked him who he was he replied, "I am a Boy Scout." She told him it was none of his business, but he asked her name, and went up the street mumbling to herself.

"When people are drunk they don't know what they are doing," explained Charlie later.

A baby carriage, with a baby in it, was rolling off the sidewalk at Front and Christian streets Monday, directly in the path of a heavy wagon, when Stephen Jacobs, 13 years old, 28 Christian street, of Troop 86, sprang forward and stopped it.

Instead of selling papers Wednesday, Abe Suedloff, of Troop 8, threw sand on the street to help horses pull their heavy loads over the slippery ice.

John Mason Anthony, 726 Kater street, of Troop 23, straightened out a big boxful of artificial flowers which a young woman inhaled when she slipped and fell Tuesday evening. She thanked him, saying that her employer would have reprimanded her if the flowers were ruined. That same evening he acted as interpreter for an Italian woman, who was looking for her son in a moving picture show. Wednesday evening he suggested that a driver put a blanket under a horse which could not walk in front of the Pennsylvania Hospital because of the slippery street.

An old woman who lives near the home of Morris Grossman, of Troop 57, does not worry over her supply of firewood, because the Scout chops it for her. She lives alone and has no one to do her chores.

Scout E. Martins, of Troop 18, ran an errand for a woman Tuesday and picked up a horse's feed box, which had overturned, spilling the horse's dinner.

His brother, Humber Martins, of the same troop, covered an open hole leading to a gas main with a piece of tin so that no one would fall in.

William Clark, of Troop 123, helped a blind man across the street at 82d and Arch streets Tuesday.

Atlantic City Scouts
"Some day the Boy Scouts will form a ring of brotherly love around this big world of ours, and war will be a thing of the past," declared Ludwig S. Dale, national field scout commissioner, at a Boy Scout rally at the First Presbyterian Church, Atlantic City, Saturday evening. Two hundred scouts from Troops 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 attended.

Wearing a scout uniform is not the whole making of a scout, he said, and he illustrated this by an incident which happened in England. A bicycle lying in the street was passed by several boys, who made no attempt to remove it to safety. A little chap came by and picked it up. Mr. Dale said the boy, who was surprised, "How did you know I am a scout?" he asked. "It is the boy beneath the uniform that makes a scout," replied Mr. Dale. He told of a celebration in Sweden on the arrival of a Boy Scout from the United States and the demonstration which was given the stranger.

It is signed by Samuel G. Friedman, chairman of the Scoutmasters' Committee, and Walter S. Cowing, scout executive. Additional rumors say that the Lenni Lenape, who represent the original tribe of Indians inhabiting the territory where Philadelphia now stands, are already on the warpath and that men from headquarters, disguised so that their best friends will not recognize them, will reconnoiter trails of their kind in the northern, northeastern and northwestern suburbs and in New Jersey Saturday afternoon. The big game will be similar to the "treasure hunt" along the Wissahickon held last Washington's Birthday.

Troop 11 will celebrate its fourth anniversary with a banquet and entertainment at 533 and Walnut streets this evening at 8:30 o'clock. The troop is headed by Scoutmaster Newcomb.

Cooking tests will be held at Troop 67's headquarters, 743 Sprague street, Mt. Airy, Monday evening, and Deputy Scout Commissioner Patton's illustrated lecture, "Roughing It Out of Doors With the Scouts," will be given.

Scout Crawford Gets Medal
The bronze medal offered by the scoutmaster of Troop 87 in an efficiency contest, which began last October, was awarded to Scout Harry Crawford, at the last meeting of the troop. The medal remains in the possession of the winner for a month, and whoever has the highest number of points for five months retains possession of it. Besides Crawford, the scouts with highest scores have been Benson (twice) and Klenie. This month Benson was second and Mackenzie third. The points are made on drill, attendance, good turns, non-use of tobacco, passing of tests and meritorious conduct. Crawford's watchfulness this month, and responsible for the return of valuable jewelry to its owner.

Troop 72 to Rally
Troop 72 will hold a rally from February 14 to 15, next week, for 20 members. There are now 36 scouts enrolled as members.

Troop 28 Entertains
Fathers, mothers and friends of Troop 28 attended a reception at the troop's headquarters, Immanuel Lutheran Church, 12d street and Cedar avenue, Tuesday evening. The scout's room, which was built and fitted out by the troop, was decorated for the evening. "Roughing it Out of Doors With the Scouts," Deputy Scout Commissioner's illustrated lecture, was given with new slides and motion pictures. Bugler Robert Boyle, of Troop 95, who holds the bugling merit badge, gave all the bugle calls, from "revolve" to "taps," and "Uncle Tom" Himes, a Civil War veteran, who attends the troop meetings, showed how he used to make the drum battle, Indian leg-wrestling, signaling, horse-and-rider tilts, and other scout games were held. Refreshments were served by the Camp Fire Girls.

Jersey's New Commissioners
H. H. Eiter, scoutmaster of the Woodbury Troop, J. E. Murdock, scoutmaster of the Riverton Troop, and S. R. Dobbs, scoutmaster of the Haddonfield Troop 1, have been commissioned as special field scout commissioners of Gloucester, Burlington and Camden Counties, respectively. They will take up the duties of H. H. Eiter, who resigned his commission recently. The Gloucester-Burlington-Camden Scoutmasters' Association will meet at the headquarters of Camden Troop 12 tomorrow evening.

"Pedagogues" Will Be Graduated
At the commencement exercises of the School of Pedagogy, to be held in the auditorium of the Central High School tonight, Dr. George Wheeler, associate superintendent of schools, will make the address to the graduates. Simon Gratz, of the Board of Education, will confer the collegiate certificates. Edward Thomas Myers, of the graduating class, will deliver the pedagogical oration on "Vocational Guidance in Philadelphia." District Superintendent Nushum will award the gold medal offered by the Alumni Association for the best pedagogical essay.

PRO-GERMAN MOVES SPUR U. S. PRESIDENT TO SHARP CRITICISM

Mr. Wilson Advises German-American Preacher, of St. Louis, to Let Administration Affairs Alone.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—"Think of America first," was the purport of the advice given by President Wilson to the Rev. Dr. Frederick Bente, of St. Louis, who called at the White House as the representative of a German-American organization seeking the enactment of legislation establishing an embargo on arms and munitions of war.

The President indicated to Doctor Bente that the activities of his own and similar organizations of Americans of foreign birth or parentage along this and similar lines were a source of embarrassment to the Administration. He was kindly in his criticism, but the clergyman was made to understand that enough had occurred already in the form of mass-meetings of sympathizers with one element or another of America's foreign-born population to give the President and his advisers serious concern.

The President put his remarks to Doctor Bente on the highest ground of patriotism and urged upon him the necessity of private individuals and organizations alike observing a policy of non-interference with the conduct of the American Government in its diplomatic relations.

The specific measure which Doctor Bente is seeking to have passed, and regarding which he appeared before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations yesterday, provides for an embargo on the shipment of arms and war munitions of every sort, and with Great Britain and France holding the mastery of the seas would tend to operate against the Allies to the great benefit of the two Teutonic Empires. High officials of the State Department have expressed the opinion that as such a measure was not enacted at the outbreak of the war, its enactment at this time would be a non-neutral act.

NEWSPAPER CARRIERS DINE
300 at Banquet of Protective and Beneficial Association.

Three hundred newspaper carriers and their guests attended the annual dinner of the Paper Carriers' Protective and Beneficial Association of Philadelphia at 13th street and Girard avenue last night. Two presentations were made—an American flag to the association by Colonel James Elverson, Jr., and a gift to the retiring president, O. B. Kulp, by the association. George R. Mundy and Charles W. Johnson made the presentations. The flag will float from the pole on the club grounds on Ogontz avenue east of Chelten avenue.

Other speakers were A. E. MacKinnon, of New York city; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Frank Clark, A. E. Sellers, Louis Rutherford, Frank S. Brandt, J. S. Harley and E. Wiggins. President J. Walter Myers acted as toastmaster. A vaudeville show followed.
