

PERSONS, PLACES AND SCENES PROMINENT IN THE NEWS OF A WORLD'S DOINGS DAY BY DAY

GENERALS IN THE WAR ON THE RUM TRAFFIC
Former Governor R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina, at right, and District Superintendent Homer W. Tope, of the Anti-Saloon League, caught by the camera on Chestnut street. The former sees no humor in the popular jest about what the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina

ENGLAND'S NATIVE BARRIER AGAINST THE TURK
Egyptian warriors now serving with Australian and New Zealand troops in defense of the Suez Canal. There is a fine contrast here between the uniformed fellaheens and the undisciplined camel corps.

MISS CONSTANCE DREXEL

Back from nursing French soldiers, she has joined the forces of the suffragists at Washington, believing that women ought to have a voice in deciding for or against war.

YOU MUST HAVE A MILITARY CLOAK NOW, GIRLS
A midwinter snapshot from Nice, on the Riviera, where the modistes are flocking to get an idea of what the new season's fashions are to be. The war influence is still strong.

HAVING A JOKE ON HIS ABSENT MASTER
While his rider is away untangling a traffic snarl, this police horse has twisted around directly in the path of the passing throng. Philadelphia's traffic is the best handled in the world.

WINTER NET FISHING IN THE SCHUYLKILL CANAL
A picture taken at one of the locks just above the Fairmount dam. The fish taken are mostly carp, which grow to large size in these waters.

A picture taken from the deck of one of the fast patrols in the English Channel which is trying to hit a German scout cruiser.
