NORTH PHILADELPHIA

A reception will be held during the coming week at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Kalmbach, 251 North 29th street, in honor of the home-coming of their daughter, Miss Helen Kalmbach, who created a considerable furore at the fashionable resorts in Florida during the winter season because of her attainments with the violin. Upon her graduation from the Conservatory of Music in this city several years ago many tempting inducements to take up music professionally were offered Miss Kalmbach. One of the most distinguished vocal teachers in town has recently discovered the young lady to be the possessor of a lyric soprano voice of unusually fine quality. Miss Kalmbach is well known in this city, due to her many recitals for social and philanthropic purposes.

Miss Gertrude M. Sommer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sommer, of 1905 North 27th street, entertained at cards followed by dinner on Saturday. The color scheme was pink and white, carried out in the flowers and favors. Her guests included Miss Gertrude Lauber, Miss Virginia Sauer, Miss Helen Lynch, Miss Helen Schopp, Miss Mary Loughlin, Miss Dorothy Groves, Miss Sylvia Kaercher, Miss Carolyn Hayes, Miss Laura Hackman, Miss Anna Sommer and Miss Olga Smith.

Schanz, Mrs. Mary McCaulley, Mrs. Guillian Claymer and Mrs. William Goll.

NORTHEAST PHILADELPHIA

Miss Rose Walsh and Miss Edith Wolf, well known in the social life of the younger set of the Northeast, spent the week-end at Atlantic City.

Captain John Hughes, U. S. Marine Corps, stationed at San Francisco, Cal., is enjoying his furlough at the home of his sisters, Mrs. Winifred Burke, Miss Claire Hughes and Miss Aneaa Hughes, 315 Aramingo avenue. The visit is enjoyable, due to the fact that Captain Hughes has been separated from his sisters for 12 years owing to the exigencies of his profession. A reception will be given in the near future in honor of the gallant marine, at which many of his old school chums will be present.

C. W. Moore, of 555 East Cambria street, has announced the engagement of his daughter, Lillian M. Moore, to Charles Newell, a prominent newspaper man of Cincinnati. It is planned to hold the wedding ceremony around the Easter season, after which the young couple will take up their residence in Cincinnati. Arrangements are now being made by Miss Moore for a "bachelor" dinner March 24 at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Theodore Harris, 6605 Hagerman street, Tacony, to her large list of girl friends.

The Six Jolly Sailors Club, composed of members of the police department stationed at the 15th district, 4th and York streets, will give a "sauekraut dinner" at their clubhouse in Wisconsin this coming Wednesday. The guests of honor will be Lieutenant Keith, Sergeant Brennan, Sergeant Schwab, Sergeant Little and several friends in civil life. The members of the club are Officers John Riley, Edward Bloom, John Ruehl, Harry Lassner, James Delaney and James Whitely.

The Cambria Athletic Club will give a banquet at Rock's Hall, Kensington and Allegheny avenues, on Wednesday evening, March 17. The committee in charge promises the best affair in the history of the club and it will introduce many new features.

The 21st birthday of Miss Eva Hill was celebrated Saturday night at her home, 2424 North Lawrence street. The decorations were very pretty. After an impromptu "500" dinner was served, followed by dancing. The guests were Miss Marie Moll, Miss Esther Williams, Miss Sara McGuire, Miss Hannah McDonough, Miss Edna Snyder, Miss Carrie Moll, Miss Agnes Ryder, Miss Catherine McDonough, Miss Anna McLean, Miss Nora Laferly, Ralph Kalck, Harry Nagle, Frederick Nagle, John Keeshan, Arthur Walther, August Walther, Joseph Raf, Thomas Ellis, George Suter, Philip Laferly and Leonard Geeson.

Mrs. Helen H. Irons, of West 2d street, has returned from a week's visit to friends at Lancaster.

Miss Elizabeth Devine has returned to her home on East 2d street from Washington, D. C., where she was entertained by friends for a week.

PURIM BALL

TIOGA

A March wedding of much interest will be that of Miss Urtilla Salvily, daughter of Mrs. Cynthia T. Salvily, of 304 West Tioga street, which will take place on Thursday night, March 11, at the home of the bride's mother. Miss Salvily is the daughter of the late Dr. I. Newton Salvily, who at the time of his death a few years ago was dean of the medical department of Temple University. The ceremony will be a quiet one, but will be followed by a large reception.

Mrs. John J. Bannon, of 356 North Broad street, will give a card party on Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the poor children of the parish at St. Stephen's Church, Broad and Butler streets. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Burk, Jr. About 100 guests have accepted the invitations.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Trumbower entertained at dinner and cards last night at their home, 1825 West Venango street. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Wetland, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Querns and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis.

FRANKFORD

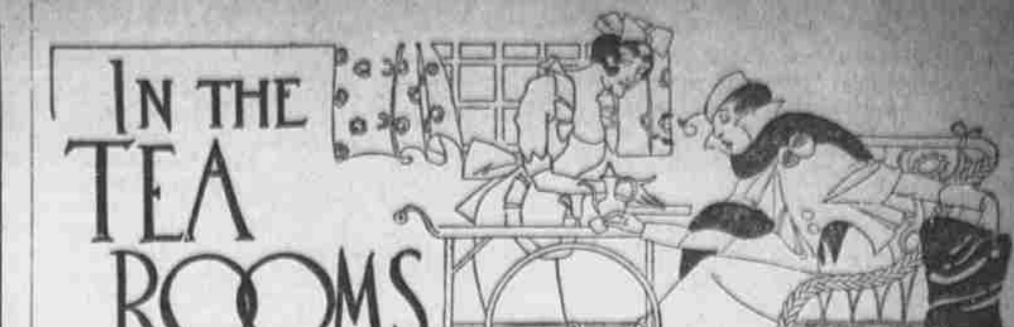

"The Philosophers" Club gave a social night at its new clubhouse Saturday in Frankford. A dance followed the reception. During the evening Miss Martha Morgan and Mr. William Anterich entertained the guests with musical novelties. James Walker, an old minstrel, entertained the gathering with his witticisms, and Frank O'Neil and Maurice Devlin gave the latest song hits. Others present were William Sproat, John Brown, Duke Bowers, Raymond Stack, William Hamilton, William Hagle, Leo Wilson, James Thurtle, John McGarvey, Anthony Haney, William Meadams, Harry Murray, Willis Flack and Edward Diamond. Two noted followers of the realm of Iliana, Jack Redmond and Ad Wolgast, ex-champion, were guests of Duke Bowers at the affair. The girls present were Miss Mabel Dressler, Miss Alice Melts, Miss Mae Braten, Miss Catherine Berry, Miss Mae Linder, Miss Anna Call, Miss Tillie Tinsinger, Miss Laura O'Neil, Miss Ella Gaynor, Miss Olga Diamond, Miss Elizabeth McShea, Miss Florence White, Miss Anna Hanlon, Miss Winifred Warren, Miss Cecil Baren, Miss Jennette Paul and Miss Anna Williams.

There will be a musicale Wednesday evening, March 2, at the Frankford Methodist Episcopal Church, given by the Adrian Quartet, which includes Mrs. Charles Caster, Miss Elsie Binker, B. Harris Knowles, George Kirkpatrick and Miss Edna J. Reynolds.

CHESTER AND VICINITY

Mrs. Helen H. Irons, of West 2d street, has returned from a week's visit to friends at Lancaster.

Miss Elizabeth Devine has returned to her home on East 2d street from Washington, D. C., where she was entertained by friends for a week.

THE Lenten season, now in its second week, finds society's interest in the art of tea-tables unabated, and the hotels and clubs, fully aware of the fact, have, most of them, inaugurated a new series of tea dances and supper dances, to continue until tea houses are boarded up and the usual "summer fitting" begins. So that Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at the Bellevue-Stratford, Saturday afternoons and evenings at the Ritz-Carlton and every afternoon at Brooke House find a congenial coterie tripping to the strains of the orchestra and sipping between times.

The Ritz-Carlton dancette, which is chaperoned by Mrs. R. W. Hawkesworth and Mrs. J. Hutchinson Scott, proved attractive on Saturday. Among those who entertained were Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson McCree, whose guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Pease, Dr. and Mrs. W. Reynolds Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dexter Warriner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hacker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Earle White, Mrs. J. Harrison Smith, Mrs. Burton Price, Miss Marian B. Snow, Mr. and Mrs. James Niels, Oliver Hopkinson Baird, E. Spencer Bight, Edward Carey Gardner, Edward Osborne Troth, Archibald C. V. Wells and Dr. James Weir Robinson.

At the supper-dance in the evening among those who entertained were Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Casatt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Churchill Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard Pancoast, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tevis Huhn, Dr. and Mrs. Albert P. Francine and Harry C. Adams.

The Rose Garden of the Bellevue-Stratford was a perfect Mecca on Saturday afternoon, and every table was occupied by gay parties. Mrs. George Fritz Chandler entertained at one table and at another table were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drinton, Mrs. Temple and Penn-Gaskell Hall.

Among the dancers was Miss Mary Stuart Wurts, looking very attractive in a demi-taille of marine blue velvet trimmed with collar and cuffs of skunk fur, with a small black velvet hat flaring at one side and edged with skunk fur.

Miss Marie Camblos wore a becoming frock of sapphire blue velvet effectively combined with taffeta. Her bottle green hat was trimmed with tiny posies around the crown. Another party consisted of Miss Helen Gray Murray, Miss Laura Dotterer McCowen and Miss Eleanor Bonnell. Miss Murray wore a smart trottier of black broadcloth with collar and cuffs of fitch. Her small, close-fitting black velvet chapeau was trimmed with black mercury wings. Miss McCowen looked extremely well in a two-piece suit of golden brown broadcloth, quite simple in cut. The coat, which sloped sharply away from the waist line in front, was bordered with broadtail. With this costume was worn a rather large brown velvet hat, with two self-toned ears flaring out from the crown. Miss Bonnell's suit was a good-looking model in hunter's green and black checked material.

Among those noticed were Mrs. Frank Howe, Mrs. Henry Brown, Miss Dorothy Welsh, Dr. Daniel M. Hoyt, Earle Hepburn and Thomas Dice.

ROXBOROUGH

A. L. Phillips, of 6429 Ridge avenue, will give a reception and musicale tonight at his home. His guests, who are members of the Roxborough Melody Club, will include Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Keely, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Simpson, Mrs. S. D. Cornog, Mrs. H. H. Thompson, Miss Mildred Wetherill, Mrs. James Hindle, Miss Lenore Cassel, Miss Elsie Held, Miss Anna Du Gau, Miss Helen Mattis, Miss Eleanor Hendren, Mrs. A. Tongue, Miss Jessie Allison, Miss Edith L. Jones, Miss Elizabeth Simpson, the Misses Iva and Edith Kerkeslager, Miss Helen Irwin, Miss Florence Corman, Mrs. Hunter Lord, Mrs. Joseph Blaney, Mrs. Harry Caywood, George W. Wentling, William Smith, William Hardman, Albert H. Allison, F. Willard Corman, John Hodgson, Edward Wilson, Lester Blankin, J. E. Foering, Herbert Hanna, M. J. Garrity, D. S. Bechtel, J. H. Foering, William Keely, H. Moyer, W. Moyer and T. W. Schofield.

LANSDOWNE

Mrs. Howard W. Read, of North Lansdowne avenue, entertained her daughter's dancing class Saturday afternoon. Among the children present were Miss Helen Statzell, Miss Alice Statzell, Robert Statzell, Harlan Statzell, Miss Muriel Krall, Miss Janet Krall, Miss Laura Krall, Thomas Krall, Miss Eleanor Reid, Miss Sue Reid, Miss Mary Voker, Carroll Maris, Bertram Balch and Ernest McKenna.

Mrs. James J. Breen, of La Crosse avenue, is visiting Mrs. Lenox Birchhead, of Baltimore.

WILMINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. George Stone, of Vera Cruz, Cal., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary here Saturday evening at the New Century Club. All of Mr. and Mrs. Stone's children and grandchildren were present and many of their friends and family connections. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stone were present; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stone and their son and daughter came from Detroit, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Stone from Boston.
