Treasury Department Refuses to Comment on Rumors That Commander Thierichens Would Not Attempt to Leave Port.

WASHINGTON, April 7.

With no report from Newport News regarding the intentions of the German raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, which is still at anchor there, Assistant Secretary still at anchor there, Assistant Scoredary of the Treasury Peters today declared that he has adopted a policy of "watchful waiting" in the matter. He would not comment on reports that the Eitel would be interned today. Neverthelees, it was rumored that Com-mander Thierichens, of the Eitel, had notified the Federal authorities that he would there.

would intern. He alarmed British watchers again however, by fresh activity last night bidding Port Collector Hamilton, of Norbidding Port Collector Hamilton, of Nor-fulk, good-by, as if he did not expect to see him again. The Elicel was said to have received a wireless message. Its own apparatus was reported working, Government officials said this was un-true. The fog last night effered a good chance to escape, but the raider failed to make use of the opportunity. Dispatches from Norffolk were to the effect that the Government has ordered all enomy merchant ships held up "until further notice." but this was thought to be the last touch to the formal preser-vation of American neatrality.

vation of American neutrality. Reports of protests by the Brillsh Gov-ernment that the Eltel was overstaying ernment that the Elter was overstaying her time limit were again empinitically denied by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Peters, who reported that Great Britain could not frame such a protest without officially knowing the time limit given the Elter by Admiral Beatty's Naval Board. Intense Interest attached to the Norfolk Intense Interest attached to the Norfolk report that the holding up of British merchant vessels hast Friday for 24 hours was by direct order of British Consuls at Norfolk, Newnort News and Balti-more. Although official comment on the report is lacking, it was generally be-lieved that the British Admirálty wished to keep the seas off the Capes free of its own cargo shipping at a time when the Elitel was expected to make a dash for freedom.

Significance was attached to reports that the battleship Alabama had cleared for action off the Capes. "Clearing for action" in this case, however, appeared to have consisted only of shifting of the vessel's davits so as not to interfere with her cure. her guns.

In the region shown in this map, lying between the Meuse and Moselle Rivers, the French are delivering tremendous attacks on the German lines in an effort to smash the sides of the German wedge whose apex is at St. Mihiel. In the last heavy operations in this region the French took Combre (1), on the Meuse watershed, and Hendicourt (2), an important railroad and road point, thus getting favorable positions on the northern side of the salient. Chief efforts now seem to be centred at Ailly. Apremont and Flirey, on the southern side (3), and northwest of Ponta-Jourson (5). A counter German drive is taking place at Regnieville (4), where the French say they have made an important advance.
