TURKEY INVADED BY ALLIES; 20,000 TROOPS LAND AT ENOS; CZAZ FORCED FROM TARNOW

Allied Army Disembarked at Seaport' on Aegean Coast for Drive Against Dardanelles Defenses of Constantinople, Berlin Reports-Heavy Bombardment by Fleet Covers Action.

The Allies have landed 20,000 troops at Enos, on the Gulf of Enos, west of the Gulf of Saros, for an attack on the land side of the Dardonelles forts, defending Constantinople. More transports have sailed from the island of Lemnos. The landing was effected while the Anglo-French fleet maintained a heavy bombardment of the Turkish forts and masked batteries. This information comes from Berlin.

Enos is a scaport 47 miles north of the entrance to the Dardanelles. It is connected with Constantinople by railroad, branches of which also run into Gallipoli peninsula.

All dispatches are heavily consored, but reports indicate that a great assoult on the Ottoman positions is under way. Should the landing party be able to maintain its position additional troops, now under way, will reinforce Constantinople reports that the bombardment of the Dardanelles was renewed from the Gulf of Saros and a fleet of destroyers was driven from the atraits.

Austrian artillery, reaching Tarnow in the Teutonic advance from the Dunajec and Biala Rivers, in western Galicia, have forced the evacuation of that important Galician railway centre, located 15 miles cast of Cracow and used as the Slav base against this gateway into Silesia.

Launching of a drive between the Nida and Pillea Rivers, in southwestern Poland, admitted in today's official bulletin from Petrograd, is connected with delia Biddle to Angler Buchanan Duke, of the fresh Germanic activity at Tarnow and augments the rapidly developing New York, son of the wealthy tobacco trans-Carpathian offensive. A general campaign to divert hostile operations from Hungary and to repeat last fall's Teutonic succep into Poland is in progress. Wednesday, did not receive invitations Russians, forced out of several Uszok Pass heights, have recaptured these positions, according to reports circulated in Geneva. The defenders lost 18,000 men in the conflict. Germany has rushed 600,000 men to the Carpathian Iront to check the spring unset of a Slav host of reserves hurled against Hungary's gates.

Further progress in their Alsace drive was made by the French, and in the Woovre they repulsed several attacks. French air squadrons raided Alsace towns and destroyed German supply depots. Several noncombatants were killed.

TROOPS LAND FOR ATTACK ON DARDANELLES FORTS

BERLIN, April 21. Twenty thousand English and French teeps have been landed near Enos, European Turkey, for a land attack upon the Dardanelles forts, according to a heavily tensored dispatch printed in the Tages Zeiting. The landing was effected after a heavy cannonade between the Turkish batteries and the Allies' warships

The dispatch printed by the Tages Zeitung was mutilated by the censor, who also deleted its place of origin.

Another dispatch, from Athens, says

THE WEATHER

The spring shower, the trademark of the month of April, put in an appearance with a vengeance yesterday p. m. Even if you have been following these weather talks from day to day and discussing the place in the universe of weather conditions, and have agreed with us that in the great scheme of things they were not of supreme importance, perhaps this same spring shower altered your convictions. Were you jitting homeward at the time and did you get thoroughly wet before the fitjockey could get his top up? Or were you-still litting-at the bottom of a fourply jig pile with six or seven layers of humanity between you and the dampness outside? If you were the former perhaps it cost you the price of your new spring tweeds. And if it did that you must agree that weather can matter enormously at Anyhow it showered and May flower tradition is justified. FORECAST

For Philadelphia and vicinity-Fair tonight; Thursday increasing cloudiness; moderate winds, mostly mortheast.

FOE'S HOT BOMBARDMENT FORCES SLAVS FROM TARNOW

BERLIN, April 21. Tarnow, the important Galician city to miles cast of Cracow, which was lost by the Austrians several months ago, has been evacuated by the Russians, according to dispatches from Vienna to-

These advices sinte that all Russian troops were withdrawn to avoid the effects of the heavy fire of Austrian artiflery brought up to bombard the town. The Russians still hold positions east of Tarnow, which have not yet been occu-

The Austro-German offensive, resumed about a week ago, is making evident about a week ago, is making evident progress. The advance from the Duna-iec and Biala Rivers, designed to pro-tect Cracow on the west and Dukla Pass on the south, has pushed its van-guard and artillery to Tarnow, one of the most important railway centres in Ga-licia the evacuation of which is a licia, the evacuation of which is a severe loss to the Czar. The Germanic allies' offensive in the Stryj Valley, north of Uszok Pass, in its constant gains, menaced Tarnow from the west. The evacuation is a distinct triumph for German strategy, as it is a token of a program of Carpathian defense of obvious achievement.

TRANSPORTS OFF ANATOLIA PREPARE TO LAND TROOPS

CONSTANTINOPLE April 21 British and French warships have re-newed their attack on the Dardanelles and a great fleet of the Allies' transports and a great fleet of the Allies transports is maneuvring off the Anatollan coast between Tenedos and Mitylene awaiting a favorable opportunity to land troops.

The bombardment of the Dardanelles forts was resumed late Monday afternoon. Under cover of the warships' fire transportant attempted to constrain six torpedoboats attempted to penetrate the Dardanelles, but an official state-ment issued by the War Office today states they were driven back. The bombardment was kept up for two nours from the Gulf of Saros, and was resumed the next day for more than five hours. A heavy fog then forced the war-ships to cease their operations. The official statement from the War Office says two of the torpedoboats were damaged by the return fire from the Turkish forts, and that one is believed to Five battleships and seven cruisers comprised the attacking fleet in the oper-ations of Monday and Tuesday.

TEUTONS LAUNCH NEW DRIVE UPON SOUTHWESTERN POLAND

Attacks on Nida and Pilica Augment Resumed Galician Offensive.

PETROGRAD, April 21. Renewal of fighting along the Pilica-Nida front in southwestern Poland is reported in official advices received from the front today.

It is believed that the Austro-German forces in this region have opened an offensive to co-operate with the troops on the Dunajec River front in Galicia. Miller. No details of the fighting have yet been received, beyond the accusation that the fos is using dum-dum bullets Teuton activity in Poland just beyond the Galican frontier confirmed the rethe Galican frontier confirmed the reports from other sectors of a general Austro-Germanic campaign of offense for grotection of Hungary. The developing Trans-Carpathian battle now rages in the Stryl Valley south of Lemberg, in the Dunajec-Blaia Rivers zone, west of Cracow, and in the Pollah region watered by the Pilica and the Nida, which dows southward into the Vistula near the entry of the northerly flowing Dunajec. Operations on these rivers connect the various fronts related to Tarnaw, Cracow, Przemysi and Lembers. Apparently the Austro-Germans, under their new German leadership, are preparing a repetition of the sweeping invasion of Poland from the south and west which won its way last fall to the very autposts of Wayaaw.

BIDDLES' INVITATIONS TO WEDDING LOST IN POSTOFFICE MUDDLE

Old Friends Thought They Had Been "Slighted" in Failure to Be Asked to Attend Marriage of Miss Biddle to Angier Duke.

Scores of persons prominent in Philadelphia society, who had anticipated being asked to the wedding of Miss Corman, which will take place here next and felt they had been slighted.

These worried persons were trassured today when they received a formal printed announcement from Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexet Biddle, the parents of Miss Biddle, announcing that the invitations had been mailed on April 2, but that a great number of them had been lost in the Philadelphia postoffice. It is understood that more than 25 per cent, of the invitations, which numbered several thousand, had gone astray in this The printed announcement said:

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle beg to inform you that an invitation to their daughter's weiding was mailed to you on April the second. TUCKER REFUSES PLEA OF MILLER TO FORGIVE

'I Hope You Get What You Deserve," Says Detective to Weeping Prisoner.

A wish that Jacob Miller, alias "Doggie Miller," receive no mercy was expressed today by Detective Harry Tucker, in the Episcopal Hospital, after Miller, handcuffed to two detectives, had pleaded at the detective's bedside for forgiveness.

Miller, accompanied by five detectives, was taken from his cell in Moyamensing Prison to the Episcopal Hospital, after physicians had informed Captain of Detectives Cameron that the wounded man had no chance to live.

When Miller entered the ward Magisrate Glenn was sifting near Tucker's cot. "You wretch, this is your work," said Magistrate Glenn, looking at the prisoner. "My God, I did it; yes, I did it," replied

"Do you know this man?" Detective Ulrich asked Tucker, as he pointed his finger at Miller, whose hair was disheveled and who, by this time, was crying. Tucker looked at Miller, who stood in rent of his cot.

"Yes, I know him; he is the man who hot me." answered Tucker. Then Tucker made another ante-mor-tem statement, in which he accused Mil-ler of shooting him. After the statement ler of shooting him. After the statement had been read to him, the wounded man was asked to sign it. A pen was placed in his right hand.

"I am in terrible pain and can't hold the pen," said Tucker.

After Tucker had touched the pen, his statement was signed for him. As the pen was taken from his hand, Tucker said he wanted to die soon.

"May God bless you. Tucker," said Miller. "I hope you will be better soon.

"Forgive me, old man, I am sorry for my act," Miller added, atretching out his hand to the wounded man.

"I hope you get what you deserve,"

"I hope you get what you deserve," answered Tucker.
"Will you let me shake your hand?" asked Miller. Now forgive me, wen't you?" pleaded

"Let me alone. I hope you get what you deserve," said Tucker again. At this time he sopeared to be in intense agony.

CONGRESSMAN SHOT DEAD: NO GUN FOUND: MYSTERY

Five Persons in House With Him, But None Heard Shot.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., April 21.—Mystery shrouds the death of Congressman John M. Faison, 3d North Carolina district, who was found dead with a bullet hole through his head at his home in Faison

The mystery lies in the fact that no weapon was found near the scene, and though five members of the family were sleepers in the house last night, all said they heard no shot during the night. Some advance the idea that Paison committed suicide and lived long enough to conceal the weapon before he expired. Poor health is assigned as a motive.

they packed the hall of the House long before the hour of 11 o'clock was reached. Representative Williams, the sponsor of the bill, was the first speaker.

"The people who are seeking the enactment of a local option law are not fanatics," he said. "We are all agreed that the liquor traffic that we legalize is an evil. The problem is to regulate this traffic. The Brooks high license law has outlived its usefulness. It is a form of minority rule. No law on our statute books has been subject to so many different interpretations by the courts.

"Why not give to the people of the communities that compose this Commonwealth the right to say by their ballots, instead of by petitions or remonstrances, whether they want saloens?"

He sounded the keynote of the argument for local option, by asserting that the local option question is a question of unjority rule.

Girl Sues Ned Wayburn, Producer of Show, for Alleged Cost of Bathtub.

It has been announced by Ned Wayburn that there are 353 solid laughs in the gir in the bath tub show, the official name of which is "She's in Again," at the Broad Street Theatre.

There will be only 352 smiles in the show, as one laugh will be lost by the action of Miss Olive M. Gilmore, of 210 South 12th street. She had a foreign attachment served on New Wayburn, pro ducer of the show, for a claim of $300, and unless Wayburn produces, it is probable that the bath tub in the last act, which is one of the hits of the offering, may be seized in lieu of the cash. This tub is real and helps to emphasize the fact that the production is clean.

John R. K. Scott, who has been engaged as counsel to look after Miss Gilmore's interest, declined to discuss the case, but Miss Gilmore said that she had just reasons for taking such action. 'I advanced the money to Wayburn when he was hard up,' she said, 'and he forgot all about it when he was on his feet. I understand, however, that it is going to
