SUIT STIRS INTEREST IN ST. CYR WEDDING

Major Edward Pendleton Said to Have Introduced Dapper Young Man to Rich Widow.

The suit of Major Edward Pendleton. in the Camden Courts, to seize property now held by the wife of Charles F. Gondorf, in payment of $55,000, out of which he says he was swindled by Gondorf, now in fall, has revived interest here in the marriage of the dapper Jean H. C. St. Cyr to the widow of James Henry, "Silent" Smith. Major Penduleton is the man credited with having been the matchmaker between the pair.

Gondorffa wife, Mrs. Mary E. Gondorf, was called to the witness stand in the Chancery Court at Camden in the trial of the suit today. She said her husband was cretive about his affairs and she did no know much about them. Mrs. Gondorf identified a photograph of Dora Collins, a friend of hers, who is said to hold title to a property formerly owned by Gon-dorf. This is one of the properties of which Colonel Pendleton seeks control.

They have not left their apartment since arriving at the resort. Gifts, messages and cards sent up to their room have been refused. Also stopping at the Mariborough-Blenheim is Robert von Swemm, for years the constant companion of Saint Cyr. He traveled with the pair from White Sulphur Springs.

SAINT CYR IS DAINTY.

NEW STEEL AND ASPHALT FACTORIES AT NEW MARKET

Large Companies Break Ground for Plants in New Jersey.

NEW MARKET, N. J., April 28.— Ground has just been broken here for the first two big manufacturing plants, obtained for the community by P. H. Burnett, industrial commissioner of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Harris, Silvers, Baker Co., which will erect a plant for the manufacture of fabricated steel, has purchased 20 acres of land and will begin work soon. The cost of the plant, which will be 300 by 100 feet and of steel construction, will be $75,000. It will employ 250 men.

Ground has just been broken for the plant of Gabriel & Schall on a 12-acre tract of land it has purchased and upon which it will locate a factory for the making of asphalt products, composition fleors, etc. Its factory, a building 225 by 135 feet, will be of reinforced concrete and hollow tile construction, costing $100,000.

been accused by the borough council of intoxication and inattention to duties. It was alleged that recently, while he was intoxicated and asleep in the city hall, a crowd of young men had cut off the policeman's whiskers and taken away his badge and club.

MARTINDALE TO SHOOT BEAR

Hunter of Big Game Will Penetrate Wild Yukon Country.

Thomas Martindale, Philadelphia's best known hunter of big game, will leave for Alaska in search of bear Friday afternoon. He expects to reach Seattle about May 5, and will leave by boat for the southern coast of Alaska. Although the Alaskan game law limits hunters to three bears a season. Mr. Martindale carries a special permit from Secretary Houston, of the Department of Agriculture, authorizing him to bring back two brown bears for the Academy of Natural Sciences, in this city, in addition to the three allowed by the game laws.

The well-known sportsman has hunted big game in the Yuken country on other occasions, but this time he will push out from Cook's Inlet, on the southern coast from Cook's Inlet, on the southern coast, into territory inhabited only by hears and wild goats. On the sides of two of these mountains, Mount Redoubt and Mount Illamund, he expects to find bear. He will spend at least 30 days there.

As guides Mr. Martindale will have J. C. Tolman, formerly Government head of the Alaskan guides, and Tolman's son. After a month's hunting the party will cross the inlet and take a trip through the Guggenheim copper country, return-

A feature of his trip this year will be his rifle. Formerly he carried a Man-licher, a German rifle, but he found it impossible to obtain a supply of ammuni-tion for the gun, owing to the war. In-stead of the German riffe he will use a Springfield army riffe.

Presence of mind and a pair of strong arms probably saved the life of Simon Brown, 83 years old, 227 West Pirth street, a foreman machinist, today, when he fell into a vat of bolling water at the plant of the Philadelphia Steel Forging Company, at Tacony.

Brown, walking beside the vat, turned and stepped backward into it. As he fell he grasped the edge of the tub and pulled himself out, despite the excruciating pain. His legs were badly scaled. The Tacony patrol wagon took him to the Frankford Hospital, where it is said he will recover.

The Spring Greens and Some Suggestions for Preparing Them.

Asparagus and all delicately flavored vegetables should be cooked in very little water—just enough to cover, but dandelion and strong flavored vegetables should be cooked in a generous quantity. All greens should be cooked with the cover partially off. This gives them a better color and a more delicious flavor. The average housekeeper is careless as to the time of cooking vegetables, yet a vegetable is as much injured by too much to the time of cooking vestables, yet we could be as much injured by too much or too little cooking as is a loaf of bread or a cake. DANDELIONE.

The value of dandelion as a high-grade saind is rapidly being recognized. Use only the young, tender, bleached root leaves, and serve with mayonnaise.

The older and green portions are best prepared just as spinach is. Dandelions form one of the most wholesome greens, containing as they do "Taraxacum," which acts on the liver. Dandelion roots are cut into slices, dried and used medicinally. In some parts of the West they are also toasted and used as coffee substitute. Mixed with roasted wheat and barley they form what is known as "poor man's coffee."

From the blossoms delicious wine is made, so that the entire plant is utilized. DANDELION BALAD

Into this put well beaten egg mixed with a little water and three tablesmoothis of vinesar, a senerthree tablespoonfuls of vinegar, a generous pinch of salt and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Stir and let it come to a boil, but care must be taken not to boil too much or it will curdle. Place dandelions in dressing in pan and stir constantly until thoroughly scalded. Do not let it stand. Serve at once in dish and garnish with sliced hard bolled eggs.

ANOTHER GERMAN WAY TO PRE-PARE DANDELIONS.

Place several bacon strips in a pan and fry until nicely browned; remove to let it crisp and allow bacon fat to cool. Ar-range dandelions in salad bowl, put over it the alices of bacon. Add to bacon fat two teblespoonfuls vinegar, a good pinch of salt, pepper and one tablespoonful of chopped onion or chives; mix and pour over dandellons and serve at once.

Chop moderately fine-in bowl. Take a large bunch of garden sorrel, wash, drain thoroceshy and chop quite fine. There should be one-third as much chopped sorrel as dandelion. Into a deep anucepan put one heaping tablespoonful of butter for each cupful of sorrel. When quite hot add the sorrel and stir over a mederate fire until it has turned brown. Now add dandelious, stir until boiling hot, remove from the fire, add one beaten egg for each pint of greens and serve. The egg may be omitted without spoiling the dish. More or less sorrel may be used, to taste. No vinegar is used with the greens this way. The wild

A common error is to boil asparagus too much. Cut off lower parts of stalks (which may be used for soup), wash, remove scales and retie in a bunch with strips of white muslin instead of cord, so as not to break the asparagus, placing tips all one way. Set upright in boiling salt water. In this way the tops will cook only in the steam and the asparagus will not be boiled to shreds, as would be the case if the bunch were laid on its Destruction of Fly's Breeding Place Essential to Removal of Dangerous Pest.

Don't wait until the fly has attained full-grown proportions before you begin your swatting. Attack him in his infancy. Go even further than that. Destroy his breeding place. All's fair in love and war and where files are concerned it's all war.

In a pamphlet issued especially for the next Monday, Dr. S. Lewis Ziegler, Director of the Department of Health, points the relation of flies to dirt.

"The place to swat the fly is where he breeds, not where he basks,' "House files are filthy and dangerous to human life. Born in filth, reared in filth, they feed upon filth and carry filth with them, not only causing annoyance, but marking a trail of disease and death wherever they go."

Although typhoid exacts the biggest toll, many fatal cases of consumption, diarrhoes and dysentery are directly traceable to the fly. A single insect has been known to carry more than 350,000 But, according to Doctor Ziegler, the fly cannot develop from the egg, which is have undisturbed filth to grow in, in than eight days. This puts the question up to you squarely, Mr. and Mrs. Phila-delphia; for if all filth is cleaned up or destroyed at least once a week the eggs will not have time to develop and there will be no flies. What are you going to do about it? The thing that you ought to do, in the opinion of the Bureau of Health, is to maintain throughout the entire season, the same stand you take against the fly in Clean-up Week. Here are a few don'ts recommended by Doctor Ziegler: DON'T tolerate flies.

DON'T tolerate files.

DON'T allow them in your house.

DON'T allow them on your premises.

DON'T allow garbage, rubbish or manure to accumulate on your lot or near it.

DON'T allow dirt in your house. Look in the corners, behind the doors and furniture, under stairs and beds. Remove the cuspidors. In brief, keep the house clean. house clean

DON'T allow flies near food, especially DON'T buy foodstuffs where files are DON'T buy milk where files are on the cans or bottles.

The British Government refused passports for the majority of the selected delegates, taking the ground that to have so many English women close to an enemy's stronghold would make an inducement for the enemy to try and learn from them matters which were really military secrets.
