HUNTING ENTHUSIASTS

PLAN SPRING RACE MEET

Rose Tree Club Will Hold Series of Contests Next Saturday

All roads as far as the hunting en-thusiasts are concerned will lead to the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club's annual spring race meet on Saturday after-

There will be six races at distances varying from six furiongs to three and a half miles, for horses of every variety nd weight from the heavy work horses neighboring farmers to the hunters and thoroughbreds of clubmen and gentlemen horse owners. Four of the six races are flat races and two cross country. Both the cross country races are classic features of the Rose Tree Club. The first cross country event, the third race of the day, is for the Hunting Hill Plate. This race is for half-bred hunters only and has been productive in times ridden by a member of the Rose Tree Club and a sport is also expected from the annual race for farmers' work horses. This race will be the first on the pro-gram and is open to 3-year-olds and up-ward owned by farmers in Delaware, Chester and Monigomery Counties, and youched for as bona fida work horses. They are ridden by farmers or farmers' sons who have never won a horse race excent those given for farm horses.

Many reservations of parking spaces for coaching and automobile parties have been already requested by members of the social set. Considerable delegations from Washington, Baltimore and New York society folk will also be present, although not as many partles from the lat-ter city n = usual will come, because of the fact that the spring race meet of the Meadowbrook Club, of Long Island, will take place on the same day.
