

ALLIES' NEW DRIVE BREAKS FOE'S LINE AT ARRAS SALIENT

French and British Take Offensive on Twenty-five Mile Line North of La Bassée—Germans Hurdled Back.

The French and British armies have taken the offensive on a 25-mile line from Arras to Laventie, near La Bassée, and have driven the Germans back at two points, capturing their trenches and maintaining the positions gained despite violent counter-attacks by the Kaiser's troops.

The positions gained by the Allies cover a front of more than four miles, including a great portion of the Arras-Lens road. Previous to the Allies' attacks the German line was heavily bombarded, especially between Carency and Neuville, where the Allies succeeded in making their greatest advance.

Both Paris and London report that the Allies have succeeded in holding their positions about Ypres, although the Germans have delivered constant assaults upon the lines in that section. Berlin admits the gain of the Allies at Carency and reports that the attack was made by reinforcements, consisting of four new corps, 150,000 men.

The Russians report that they have successfully started a new Galician drive to turn the Austro-German wing. They have driven their foes from the right bank of the Dniester River and gained several important positions. Uszok Pass is still held by the Czar's troops, assert Petrograd.

The Russians are being pressed back on their positions near Przemyel by the Austrian troops and have suffered tremendous losses, according to a report from the Vienna War Office.

BRITISH HURL GERMAN BACK AT TWO POINTS

Gain Trenches on Laventie Aubers Line and Hold Them.

The Allies have successfully started a great offensive on a line roughly 25 miles long between Laventie, six miles north of La Bassée, and Arras, and, according to the latest information, have driven back the Germans along two considerable sections of this front.

A correspondent, in a dispatch from Northern France, sends the following account of the new offensive: "The British and French on the line from the neighborhood of Laventie to the Scarps (the river on which Arras is situated) have given the Germans some unpleasant experiences. Yesterday they subjected this line to a heavy bombardment."

"Following up this bombardment, the British infantry attacked and carried the front lines of the German trenches over a front of a mile in width from Laventie toward Aubers. The British troops were subjected to the fire of many German guns which were posted in concealed positions on their flanks, but in spite of this and German counter-attacks, the British are still in possession of the trenches they won."

"Aided by this energetic action, the French troops on the right made notable progress yesterday. They overthrew the Germans on a front of nearly four miles and captured the German trenches. At sunset they had won nearly the whole of Arras-Lens road, capturing a number of prisoners and guns. The fighting all along this front still continues."

FRENCH MAKE FURTHER GAINS NORTH OF ARRAS

German Aviator Drops Bombs on Dunkirk Fort, Killing Twelve.

PARIS, May 11.—In the face of severe German counter-attacks the French have made a further gain north of Arras, where the Allies are striking against the Germans over a 25-mile front, according to an official statement issued by the French War Office today.

Another German air raid has been launched against Dunkirk. Eleven bombs were dropped upon Bergues, four miles south of Dunkirk, killing 12 persons. One of the outer rings of forts defending Dunkirk is at Bergues.

Not only have the French pressed forward north of Arras, but they took a number of German prisoners and were successful in checking the German counter-attack.

RUSSIANS HURLED BACK ON PRZEMYSL POSITIONS

Vienna Reports Czar's Army Suffered Tremendous Losses.

VIENNA, May 11.—Russian losses suffered in the defeat that resulted in a general retreat of the Czar's troops in the Carpathians total 150,000, according to a statement issued by the Austrian War Office. Late dispatches from the front today confirmed earlier reports of an overwhelming victory.

The Russians have retreated to the Sanok-Lisko front and are now only 31 miles from Przemyel, whence they launched their fruitless campaign for the invasion of Hungary.

"The Russian third army," says the official statement of the War Office, "has been driven with heavy losses from western Galicia and the Carpathians, and it is now being pressed in the region of Sanok and Lisko. The Allies' army has taken the passage of the Wislka and reached Linievk, Halligrod and Bukovka.

GERMAN SHOPS BURNED; BRITISH WRATH RISES

National wrath over the sinking of the Lusitania by a German submarine is venting itself in anti-German demonstrations, some of them of a very serious character.

In Liverpool, Birkenhead, Bootle and other cities on the west coast about 20 German shops were fired and pillaged by mobs, while scores of naturalized Germans and Austrians have been taken in custody by British and military authorities for their own safety.

Disorder was also reported from Swansea, Cardiff, Manchester, Lancaster and Ariside. Even Germans who are naturalized citizens and who have proclaimed their English sympathies were attacked in the streets. The military authorities have warned all Austrians and Germans to remain indoors.

Disorder in the saloons was closed at 6 o'clock, and the authorities threatened martial law if the riots continued.

CUNARD LINE CRITICISED FOR SLOW RESCUE WORK

QUEENSTOWN, May 11.—There is much complaint that the Cunard officials have made no systematic effort to recover bodies. Their tugs have been at the scene of the wreck only twice. They have made no effort to cruise well out from the coast where outgoing and incoming vessels report the presence of many bodies wearing life-belts.

It is stated here that many of the bodies found, especially those of women, are in a state of decay. Some had their straps so far down that the heads were drawn forward and the wearer drowned without a chance. There were a few, even of those saved, who had abandoned their boats so that they got the most benefit.

1150 REPORTED MISSING ON REVISED LUSITANIA LIST

QUEENSTOWN, May 11.—Although the Cunard officials suggest that there may be a few survivors of the Lusitania not yet reported, suffering from injuries at some lonely fishing hut or farmer's cottage, this hope finds no reflection in official circles. It is declared the living are all accounted for. The figures are little changed over those of 24 hours ago. The latest available show:

Dead, passengers and crew, 1150. Saved, passengers and crew, 737. Of the latter, 465 were passengers and 302 were members of the crew.

Eight bodies were brought here yesterday. Seven others are coming on a Cunard liner from Boston to New York. This makes a total of 139 that have been taken from the sea and tugs are searching for others.

TIDES BEARING VICTIMS' BODIES OUT INTO DEEPS

QUEENSTOWN, May 11.—Hope for the recovery of all the bodies of those killed when the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine was abandoned today. The strong tide which flowed swiftly westward into the Atlantic off the south coast of Ireland have already borne many corpses out to sea and out of reach. The latest recoveries are reported by a trawler, which picked up seven bodies of Passier, among them the corpse of Albert Thompson, Toronto. Fastnet is a rocky island off Cape Clear at the extreme southwestern point of Ireland and is approximately 50 miles from the point where the Lusitania went down.

VANDERBILTS GIVE UP HOPE; WIFE'S CONDITION CRITICAL

Conference of Family and Attorneys to Settle Vast Estate.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Mrs. A. G. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's mother, have abandoned all hope that he had escaped. It was said today. Word was received by cable that every effort made to locate Mr. Vanderbilt had failed and that the inevitable conclusion of his friends in England, Ireland and the States was that the condition of Mrs. A. G. Vanderbilt, as a result of the severe strain she has endured since the news of the sinking of the Lusitania was received here, has occasioned her friends great anxiety. It was said that she probably will return to Newport within the week to recuperate from her prostration.

With the removal of virtually all doubt regarding the fate of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, interest is manifested in steps that will be taken to settle his vast estate.

FRIENDS LAUD WILSON FOR STAND ON PEACE

"Vengeance Is Mine," Saith the Lord, Is Attitude Taken by Speakers.

Vengeance should be ignored as a consideration in the dealings of this nation with Germany, according to views pointed out by speakers at the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of the Hicokite Friends, today, when they convened at 15th and Race streets. Many speakers reiterated the idea that the Administration's aim should be to show Germany no mistake by moral suasion, without resorting to revenge.

President Wilson's speech of last night, sounding a note of peace, was roundly praised by Caroline Worth, who declared that this country is fortunate because its Executive has a high sense of duty. The people have been strengthened by his pronouncement, she added.

Albion T. Watson, Ohio, quoted the biblical passage: "Judge not, that ye be not judged; vengeance is Mine, saith the Lord," in maintaining the principle of pacification.

ALLIES' SHELLS FIRE DARDANELLES TOWN

Troops on the Gallipoli Peninsula show that a ruse was employed, which in ingenuity approached that by which the Greeks gained entrance inside the walls of Troy. Instead of a wooden horse, a collier's covering was used.

When the Dominion steamed from Washington yesterday, she had a capacity cargo stored beneath her hatchways. Much of it is contraband, consisting of foodstuffs and war implements.

Some striking parallels suggest themselves in a comparison of the death rolls of the Titanic and the Lusitania disasters. John Jacob Astor, Jr., who died on the Titanic, is in command of the American liner on the Lusitania. Each inherited a great fortune; each was a dominant figure in the social life of the city; each died in gallant relief sacrifice.

Henry B. Harris was a notable figure in the theatrical world when the sinking of the Titanic ended his career. Charles Frohman, when the Lusitania went down, was perhaps the most distinguished figure in the managerial field.

AUSTRIA ACCEDES TO ITALY'S DEMANDS

It is known that until late last night the military officials were working at fever heat with military preparations, and Prince von Buelow, the German Ambassador, had confided to friends that he feared he would have to leave not later than Wednesday. Following the receipt of the Austrian answer, however, the tension seemed relaxed.

While the Austrian concessions may keep Italy out of the war just at this juncture, it is expected further pressure will be applied by the Allies, who are yet to have their say on whether they will be willing that Italy can recede from her promises of assistance. The situation is again complicated, and because of the secrecy imposed by the Government, rumors of every sort are prevalent and go unchallenged officially.

The Women's Pro-War League, composed of many prominent women, has sent an appeal to the Government asking it to intervene in the war on account of the sinking of the Lusitania, which she characterizes as a "crime against humanity."

It is reported here that the Queen Dowager received from the Kaiser an autograph letter pointing out the advantage that Italy would derive from remaining neutral in the present war, and begging her intervention to avoid a conflict with Austria. In reply, he received the following telegram in the House of Royalty only one reigns at a time.

What purported to be an authoritative outline of Italy's demands of Austria was given in a dispatch from Rome on March 15, as follows:

As a concession of territory to the north and east which would extend her boundaries around the northern end of the Adriatic as far south as Trieste, the Austrians would include the Austrian naval base at Pola as well as the Province of Trent and Trieste.

In detail Italy desired the entire Province of Trent, bringing her frontier to Venoste, Passire and Brenno, including the districts of Rovereto, Trento, Bassano, Merano, Trento and Trieste; to the east desired to extend her frontier to the Julian Alps, including the Provinces of Gorizia and Istria, and the districts of Tolmino, Gorizia, Trieste, Pola and Fiume. In addition to this she demanded the Dalmatian Islands, especially Veglia, Cherso, Lunga, Brazza, Lesina, Curzola, Meleda and Lissa.

RUSSIANS START NEW DRIVE; TO TURN FOE'S RIGHT WING

PETROGRAD, May 11.—Successfully maintaining their position at Uszok Pass, the Russians have begun an offensive movement in southeastern Galicia with the aim of turning the Austro-German right wing. The War Office announced today that this offensive was developing successfully, forces of the enemy having been driven from the left bank of the Dniester River.

An official statement says: "Near the village of Zalaznyk, after stubborn fighting, the Russians compelled the enemy to cross the Dniester from the left bank. They attacked the enemy's lines from Kaborok, capturing 1300 prisoners, one cannon and several machine guns."

"At Uszok Pass the enemy made unsuccessful attacks Saturday. He also stormed the heights at Jamanok on the left bank of the Dniester. Part of the Russian position was defended by two companies. The enemy's losses were so heavy that the bodies of the dead prevented the Russians from firing."

DOMINION TO ENTER WAR ZONE TOMORROW

Kaiser's Troops Take Trenches at Berry-au-Bac.

Eight hundred French prisoners were captured in the fighting on the Lorette heights, in the Aisne sphere of operations, where the Allies launched a vigorous offensive against the Germans to oust the German attacks in West Flanders.

BARNES SUIT EVIDENCE SIMPLIFIED BY JUDGE

Both Sides Win and Lose Points in Court's Rulings on Evidence.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 11.—Evidence in the Barnes-Roosevelt libel trial was stripped to bed rock today, with minor issues swept aside and completely out of the case by rulings of Justice Andrews. Both sides won and lost. The rulings threw out pages of testimony and narrowed the case to cardinal disputes.

The rulings and arguments, which occupied the entire morning with the jury absent, preceded the opening of testimony for Barnes this afternoon.

August Belmont, Francis Lynde Stetson, attorney for J. P. Morgan & Co., and former Lieutenant Governor Sheehan were among the galaxy of political notables waiting in court today to testify for Barnes.

The whole case was simplified by Justice Andrews' rulings. He deferred until this afternoon deciding whether all testimony regarding printing graft shall be stricken out, a vital point in the Roosevelt defense.

Barnes' principal victory today was a ruling that the sole proof in the charge of a corrupt alliance between Barnes and "Boss" Murphy was that regarding Barnes' alleged agreement to keep "hands off" in the United States senatorial deadlock of 1911. The judge ruled that there was no proof of corruption or even impropriety of Barnes in the franchise tax, Hart-Arnold anti-trust legislation, Governor Hughes' renomination or the direct primary fight.

The legal forces battled over a motion of Barnes to exclude all testimony regarding printing graft, the chief point in proof of the defense's charges of an "alliance of crooked business and crooked politics."

Barnes lost an important point when Justice Andrews refused to narrow, to the scope asked by the plaintiff, the meaning of the word "corruption" in Roosevelt's charges. The judge held it meant only pecuniary wrong, but also unfaithfulness to political trust.

Of a dozen motions of the Barnes side to strike out testimony submitted only two important ones were granted. These eliminated testimony of State Senators regarding Barnes' part in the direct primary bill's defeat, not to show any corruption, but as proof of Barnes' political dominance.

The rulings today insured that Barnes must submit his testimony and the case go to the jury, but with Barnes' task made easier by being confined largely to the senatorial fight of 1911 and possibly printing matters.

FRENCH ARRAIGN U. S. FOR TOLERANCE TO GERMANY

Criticism Bitter for Failure "to Halt Barbarities."

PARIS, May 11.—Bitter criticism of the American Government for "failing to call a halt on German barbarities" appears in the French press today as a result of the Lusitania disaster.

Ex-Freemier Georges Clemenceau takes the opportunity to attack the efforts of President Wilson to remain impartial "in the face of repeated outrages to Americans." The ex-Freemier compares President Wilson with Pope Benedict XV, saying that "both have been unable to decide yet whether Belgian neutrality was violated."

"If Americans in a position to speak had spoken resolutely perhaps the Kaiser would have reflected before ordering the Lusitania torpedoed," Clemenceau concludes.

A New Book Psychology of Clothes

(A BOOK FOR MEN) SEND FOR COMPLIMENTARY COPT WILLIAM H. DIXON 1111 Walnut St. Philadelphia.

There is something about the cells in the 29th and Federal streets police station that appeals to Francis Stules. That's why he likes to be in them. As a rule he has little difficulty in getting under lock and key there, but today things were different. The cops tired of "regulating" the cop tired of arresting him. He staggered around the neighborhood and looked amazed when one bluecoat after the other passed him by. Finally Stules became desperate. He wobbled toward the station house and steered himself in the rear door on Point Breeze avenue as best he could. Peering in the rollroom Stules noticed a cart hurrying in from the court. It was an opportune moment. The voluntary prisoner climbed the grated door of his favorite cell and attempted to squeeze through between the top of the door and the ceiling, but he was about two inches thick for the operation and could get neither in nor out.

Stules yelled for help, but he was wedged in so tightly that Turnkey Mike Brugan had to take the man's clothes off to set him out. When he was made presentable for court he was taken before the Magistrate.

"Well, you were neither in nor out," said the Judge on hearing of the trouble. "Ten days," said the Judge.

by stopped dithering and viewed the bones with awe. So did two little negro boys who were gathering wood. They soon overcame their emotions, however, and believing they would be rewarded by the police, picked up the bones and dropped them in a bag. A discussion followed as to which one would carry the bag and they tried to settle it by a fist fight. Street Sergeant Fenn happened along and took boys, bones and bag to the 2d and Buttrick streets station. Sergeant Fenn and Sergeant Shaffer then examined the mysterious bones and found them to be decidedly unhuman.

"It's a case of murder," said Fenn as he stared at the two little negroes, who began to tremble, "but as the murderer was committed by a butcher and the victim was a pig, you can take the bones and sell them."

Several workmen employed on the Parkway dropped their picks suddenly today and ran to the sidewalk in alarm. The cause of their terror was the discovery of a mass of bones which looked as though they might have belonged to former residents of the neighborhood. When rumors began to fly, a ponderous individual with rather serious looking whiskers, who is regarded as an authority on matters in the neighborhood of 2d and Hamilton streets, declared that the bones were those of two old women who had been murdered in that section by two saloons in the early sixties. All the workmen disap-
