

SCENES AND PERSONS IN DAY'S GRIST OF NEWS FROM HOME AND ABROAD AS CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA

A GLIMPSE INTO THE HEART OF "KRUPPISM"

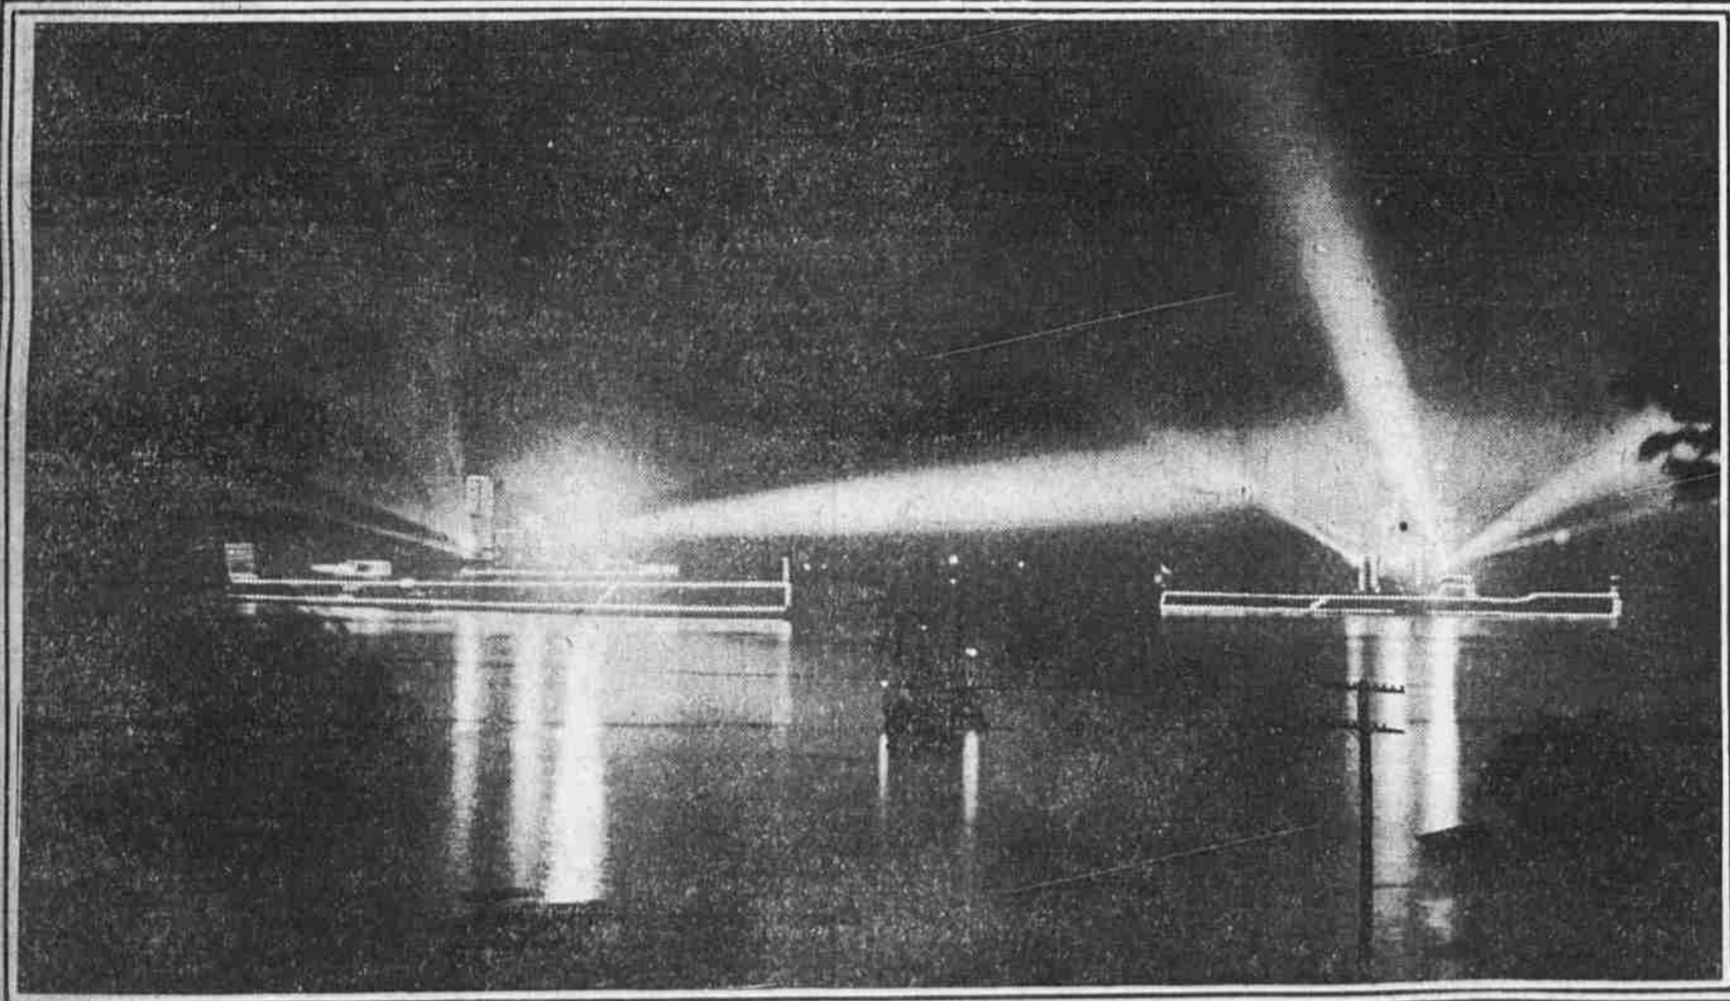

Photo by Brown Brothers.

The Krupp Gun Works, employing 45,000 workers, are at Essen, in Prussia. It is here that the Kaiser's great war equipment, particularly his deadly big guns, is made. Only a few months before the outbreak of war there was a scandal in which Krupp agents were charged with fomenting national hatreds in order that the company might benefit. Two minor employes were convicted.

THE BRAINS BEHIND THE GERMAN SUBMARINE POLICY.

Admiral von Tirpitz, from a recent portrait by a noted German artist. The German Minister of Marine is reported to have resigned because of a disagreement over the sinking of the Lusitania. The details are not given.

OUTLINED AGAINST A CURTAIN OF DARKNESS

A fleet of destroyers and torpedoboats has now arrived at New York to join the heavy ships of the line. Altogether, about 50 vessels will be assembled when the ceremonies begin next Monday. It is promised that the strained international relations will have no effect on the parade.

FOR THE DEFENSE OF THE CANAL

This enormous gun, a United States army 16-inch, to be specific, is now at the Arsenal in Watertown, Mass. It will presently be shipped and placed on the fortifications of the Panama Canal. It weighs a matter of 82½ tons, is 48 feet long and will hurl a projectile of 1660 pounds to a distance of 22 miles.

PAVILIONS AND BEACH CHAIRS ON THE ATLANTIC'S TAWNY SANDS

The season has hardly begun at Atlantic City, but this view, with its crowded pavilions and the clustered awnings of the beach chairs, gives an idea of the appearance of the beach in early summer.

THE "HUMAN INTEREST" TOUCH ON THE BEACH

Another view of one of the main attractions of the city by the sea. A strong contrast to the grim European scenes above.
