DELIBERATION URGED AS NATIONAL POLICY IN QUESTIONS OF STATE

1 =0

Philadelphians Advocate Calm Judgment in Handling of Every International Situation Confronting United States.

An ex-Ambassador, the head of a great bank a former member of the National State Department, and a Congressmansleet are four of many representative Philadelphians who today expressed ad-trocscy of caim and patient deliberation as a national policy at critical times in relations between the United States and other constitution relations between the United States and other countries. Not only at the present time, these men-urged, but in all delicate diplomatic sit-nations in the future, it should be under-stood that the United States Government stands for a look-before-you-leap policy. The interviews, which showed that prominent men believe in mature con-sideration of epoch-making questions, were based in part on the speech deliv-ered by ex-President Taft in the Union League on Tuesday night. He pointed out the danger of yielding to popular and temporary excitement. Commercial and temporary excitement. Charlemagne Tower, formerly Ambassa-dor to Germany and to Russia; Francia B. Reeves, chairman of the board of di-pertors of the Girard National Bank; B. Reeves, chairman of the board of di-rectors of the Girard National Bank; Henry LaBarre Jayne, president of the American Society for Extension of Uni-versity Teaching; John R. K. Seott, who will take a Congressional seat in Decem-ber; Russell Duane, connected with the December of State during President Department of State during President Harrison's administration, and Clement B. Newbold, of the banking firm of W. H. Newbold's Sons & Co., favored formula-tion of a policy by which it shall be tacitly understood that this country will consider long and earnestly before taking irretrievable action in important international situatons.

NATIONS ARE LIKE INDIVIDUALS. "We amire men who do not act too hastily," said Mr. Jayne, "and we know their caim, same judgment gets effective results. The situation of a national gov-ernment is much like that of an individ-ual. The Government of the United States should wait just as long as the exigencies of a case permit before tak-ing action in it. It is just another form of the theory we learned as children, that much harm may be avoided by counting 16 before taking action." Mr. Duane, well known as a student of international law and diplomacy, said: "I agree with the sentiment of Mr. Taft, that a demand for war which will not endure the test of delay and delibera-tion be all the smoole is not one that tion by all the people, is not one that should be yielded to. In the present emergency I do not think that the crime nitted will change its character for the better with the passage of time. On the contrary, as the days go by, it seems to grow worse rather than better

"But in dealing with it we should apply the wisdom which deliberation brings. The rengeance which we executed on Spain by destroying two armadas and depriving ber of her colonies was all the more im-pressive by reason of the fact that this ction was preceded by 10 weeks of deep deliberation

Mr. Scott said that as a nation it is de and should be as a state of the second state o waiting. In conclusion he said that he agreed with the views of Mr. Taft, in his Philadelphia address.

AMERICAN DIGNITY PRAISED.

. AMERICAN DIGNITY PRAISED. The calmness and dignity of the Amer-ican people at the present time were roundly praised by Mr. Tower. "Frudent action results not from im-pulsive decision, but from careful thought and mature judgment," he said. He added that he strongly recom-mended to his countrymen that "all should stand behind the President in his efforts to uphold our rights and to do efforts to uphold our rights and to do what is best for the country." Mr. Newbold said:

BARNES TAKES STAND TO REFUTE ROOSEVELT Defense Realized That Leader's Testimony Was Essential.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 15 .- With Willam Barnes on the witness stand this afternoon the end of the Barnes-Roosevelt libel trial was in sight. He testified in spite of the fact that his attorneys claim such a move is unnecessary.

However, he feels a bad impression yould result if he refrained from testifying.

His manner of testifying was the exact antitheals of the magnetic and fiery Colonel. Barnes' brevity of answer and his quiet manner was hurled at the jury to offset the loquacious defendant's lengthy nearly 200 women were present. xplanations.

Barnes is to be the last witness.

Tammany witnesses were sent home last night after Justice Andrews ruled Federal Work"; Miss Matilda Ferris, that the mere declaration of ignorance of a bipartisan combine during the senatorial deadlock in 1911 would not be cometent evidence

Only two big questions of fact remain. One is whether Barnes had an arrange-ment with Charles F. Murphy for the election of a United States Senator in 311, the other whether Barnes was guilty of corruption in the utilization of partisan campaigns.

SUNDAY TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN IN CHICAGO

Evangelist Accepts Invitation Extended in Petition a Mile Long.

PATERSON, May 13 .- "Billy" Sunday has accepted an invitation to conduct a campaign in Chicago either in January, 1916, or 1917. He has dispatched a special delegation to Trenton to confer with the proper authorities there, whom he has previously promised to conduct a revival there in 1916, to change dates with Chi-cago. If Trenton agrees to that Sunday will go to Chicago in 1916 and to Trenton in 1917. petition one mile

RHINELANDER CALLS SINKING MURDER

Bishop Denounces Torpedcing of Lusitania in Ascension Day Sermon.

"Outrageous murder," was the way Bishop Philip Mercer Rhinelander, of the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania, characterized the sinking of the Lusitania in his sermon this morning at the special services in St. James' Church, 22d and Walnut streets, when the Rev. John Mockridge was instituted as rector and Ascension Day was observed.

The Bishop did not dwell at any length on the sea disaster. He referred to it but once during his discourse, and it was then that he gave it the characterization. He was preaching of the importance of the Lord's ascersion into Heaven in order to make the divine plan complete, and to make the foundation of Christianity solid, when he said that without the ascension the crucifixion would have had no greater effect on the establishment of Christianity than "this recent outrageous murder." nurder."

Assertions by some persons that the up-heaval in Europe and the East tended to show that civilization was crumbling, Bishop Rhinelander denounced as with-out foundation "so long as we celebrate Christ's ascension into Heaven." The Bishop dwelt at length on the importance of the day, and expressed a hope that the service in St. James' would be the be-gluining of a new era in the diocese of Pennsylvania which would find such an observance as that at which he preached emulated in all the churches. The handsome edifice, which was beau-tifully decorated for the occasion, was crowded to overflowing by members of the parish and friends. There were also many persons in attendance from other churches, as well as music lovers of all denominations. Seldom has there been an opportunity for the public to listen to such an elaborate musical program as that for the choral celebration of the Holy Communion at St. James' today. A large orchestra, the pipe organ and choir were under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, leader of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Doctor Mockridge formerly was vicar of Trinity Church, New York elty. He was connected with Trinity parish for five years after becoming vicar of the chapel on West 23d street in 1910. Last year he was made vicar of the church. He accepted the call to Sr. James on Feb-

'Any exhibition of hysteria in a grave crisis, in either an individual or a na-tion, is folly pure and unadulterated. Therefore, it behooves us Americans in any great crisis to go slowly and never to act until a sufficient interval has elapsed to give food for second thought."

A "thoughtful, prayerful, just and true" attitude should rule in consideration of public questions of a delicate nature, in the opinion of Mr. Reeves.

He said they ought to govern the sit-uation arising from the sinking of the Guidfight and the Lusitania as well as in other great national matters which may arise. In maintaining this view he referred to President Wilson's declaration made in this city that statesmen and Government leaders must not be swayed by the emotions of the moment

HARRISBURG, May 11 .- The Patton jit-HARKIBBURG, May D.-The Patton fit-ney bus bill is expected to be finally passed by the Legislature this week. It is on first reading in the House today, and has already passed the Senate. The measure was reported out last night by the Judiciary General Committee of the House, amended so as to remove the provision requiring that owners of jitneys file bonds with the State. The Patton bill gives the city authori-ties in cities of the first, second and third classes complets jurisdiction over the ju-ney traffic. Mayor Stern, of Erie, ap-peared before the Judiciary General Committee last night and recommended that the bill be passed. It is generally believed here that Governor Brumbaugh will sign the Whitaker jitney bus bill, that was finally passed by the Legislature on Monday night. The Whitaker bill gives street rallway com-panies the right to operate the new busses.

TO REPORT SMALL CHANGE IN COMPENSATION MEASURE

Committee Suspends Operation Lien Clause in Certain Cases.

By a Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 13 .- The administration workmen's compensation measure will be reported with a favorable recommendation by the Corporations Committee of the Senate today, preparatory to being finally passed by the Legislature on next Monday night, with only one change from the form in which it was originally passed the House.

The amendment aboliabes liens against the property of employers that take out their own insurance. It has the sanction of Attorney General Brown. The original draft required that a lien be placed against the property of the employer every time a judgment was granted for compensation. The amendment provides that employers taking out their own in-surgace take out a bond that will fully cover the prohable judgments against them. Both the House and Senate are finally working full time in an effort to clear the calendars as quickly as possible in preparation for final adjournment on Thursday of next week. Sittings are be-ing held three times a day all of this week, so that little but the appropriation bills will be on the calendars next week.
