COLLEGE ATHLETES OF AMERICA PRIMED FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET

Records, the 440-yard Dash, Running High Jump, Hammer Throw and Two-mile Race in Danger-Only Miracle Can Keep Cornell From Victory.

at least four intercollegiate records are in danger when the pick of atica's college athletes compete here on May 28 and 29 for the 40th track a feld championship meet. This was strongly indicated by the dual meets on Saturday.

The marks likely to be drased are the 440-yard dash, in which the record 18 seconds; the running high Jump, in which the mark is 6 feet 314 ses; the hammer throw, which has remained at 164 feet 10 inches for 13 ert and the 2-mile run, in which Hoffmire, of Cornell, made a new record 1354-5 last year. All of these records already have been either beaten. ned or so nearly approached that the even competition which the big meet furnish may result in new figures all around. There is something more as even chance that new records will also be made in the half mile and

What these athletes did on Saturday is the best proof that when they enistronger competition two weeks hence and also reach their top-notch form, ords will tremble.

Meredith's Honors Are in Danger.

When Willcox won the quarter mile in the Yale meet in 48 seconds flat he same a serious contender with Ted Meredith, the Pennsylvania flyer, for to honor of being America's fastest quarter-miler. Meredith has never run 440 sels this fast, largely because he has never been compelled to do it. Willcox make him run to the limit, and the chances are that one of these men off not only better the existing record of 48 seconds, but equal or lower Maxey Leg's world mark of 47 4-5 seconds.

There isn't any question but that Alma Richards, of Cornell, can beat set's intercollegiate mark of 6 feet 314 inches in the high jump, because he se done 6 feet 4 inches twice this year and once 6 feet 5 inches. There is gen a possibilty that Oler, of Yale, can better Moffet's mark.

The hammer throw record is certainly at the mercy of H. P. Bailey, of sine. John DeWitt, of Princeton, made this mark in 1902, when he did 164 10 inches. Bailey has repeatedly bettered this mark, and he ought to do easily in this meet. When there are half a dozen 2-mile runners covering as distance in close to 9.30, a meeting between them is quite likely to be reductive of time close to 9.20, or possibly faster.

Great Kraenzlein Record May Fall

It would be a bold prediction to make that any of the present generation college men can better the intercollegiate mark of 24 feet 41/2 inches for broad jump made by A. C. Kraenzlein, of Pennsylvania, in 1899. But this ar's crop of broad jumpers is the best since Kraenzlein's day.

There will be four men in this event who have beaten 23 feet. They are sethington and Nordell, of Dartmouth; Richards, of Cornell, and Oler, of Yale. mer has done the best to date, for on Saturday he leaped 23 feet 11 inches. It be remembered that the present year is the first that Oler ever tried this event.

Richards, of Cornell, did 23 feet 4 inches on Saturday in his first and only mempt, so that either one of these men, as well as Worthington, may better Emenzlein's mark.

Whether or not a new record is made in the half-mile run will depend on whether or not Bingham, of Harvard; Hayes, of Princeton, or Windnagle Spelden, of Cornell, can make Ted Meredith run fast enough. The present record is 1.53 2-5, held by Caldwell, of Cornell.

The Penn and Cornell teams at Ithaca, and the Harvard and Yale men at New Haven did about as predicted, except that Cornell won by a bigger margin than anticipated, and Harvard gave Yale a close rub. There is certain to be casiderable disappointment among Pennsylvania men over the showing of the Onkers, particularly the sprinters. The weather conditions at Ithaca were very bad, for it was cold and a stiff wind blew down the straight.

Patterson, from whom so much was expected, finished fourth in both sprints. It is true that it was not good weather for sprinters who are just musting into form, but the Quakers will have to come fast to make the cleanup in the sprints that they must do if their team is to win.

Only Miracle Can Keep Cornell From Winning

Immediately after the relay carnival, it was remarked in this column that Corel looked to have the best team for the big meet. That conclusion was first emphasized on Saturday. The Ithacans have their share of stars, but was is quite as essential, they also have a bunch of men capable of getting birds, fourths and fifths scattered through the other events. They are almost wrain to score in 11 of 13 events, and if they do only a miracle can beat

Schoolboys Showed Excellent Form

There were some sterling performances by the schoolboys on Franklin Field aturday. Best of all was the 100-yard dash, by Brewer, of the St. Alban's School, of Washington. This youngster in his semi-final heat, won in $4-5 sconds, though in the final, his third race of the afternoon, he did only 10 one defeat in the box thus far this sea-The work of the Shields brothers in running practically a dead heat a the mile in 4.31 4-5, and of Runyan in winning the pole vault at 11 feet 9 sches, compared quite favorably with anything done on the track by the Luke's.

Yale Crew at Last Reaps Reward of Struggle

Tale men who have been mourning the loss of rowing prestige for so thy years may now lift up their heads and rejoice. That magnificent victory wer Cornell and Princeton, at Lake Carnegie, on Saturday, demonstrates that Cay Nickalls, as coach, and the new rowing committee have found the cause if Tale's long succession of defeats.

It was pure strength, which has not yet reached its limit, and genuine ethusiasm that enabled the Elis to shoot their shell over the line ahead of Corand Princeton. And there is still room for development in the Yale crew. Bay Nickalls says his men will do better for four miles than for two. That blag the case, Harvard might as well prepare for a Yale victory at New London

Guy Nickalls apparently knew he had an invincible crew by the remarks made a week before the race. He attributed Yale's strength then, not only to the power of the crew, but to the racing experience his men were getting. before Nickalls' day at Yale the Elis' rowing authorities neglected this feature a crew's development, and year after year sent their eight to New London silhout having previously engaged in a race with an outside opponent. Nickalls changed all this at once, for he realized that racing experience was half of a the strength. This he has already proved, and it isn't likely that Yale will sike this mistake a second time.

Cornell Probably Stronger Than Penn or Columbia

Princeton men need feel no chagrin over the defeat of their crew. Yale's by was won in so much faster time than the Tigers' race with Pennsylvania Columbia as to leave no room for doubt as to which had the best crew. 18 Yale and Cornell have more strength in their boats than Princeton. This means that Cornell is probably stronger than either Pennsylvania or

This week Pennsylvania and Columbia begin practice for the four-mile ed at Poughkeepsie. Cornell rows Harvard a two-mile race on Lake Cayuga Baturday, and then the Ithacans will begin working for the longer distance. Cornell-Harvard race will give the college world something by which to the strength of the Yale and Harvard crews. Yale has beaten Pennand Princeton, both of whose crews beat the Navy. The middles were beaten by Harvard, but Yale, at this moment, lookes to be the more trful crew.

As in the Interscholastic Basketball League campaign, when Southern High School played an important part in de-ciding the cage championship in favor of Northeast High School, the lowly downtown baseball nine also assisted the Red and Black to virtually win the Interscholastic Baseball League laurels. The Southwark five finished at the bot-tom in the basketball organization, and also will finish the baseball season in the cellar position. With West Philadelphia High School leading the circuit and practically assured of the championship, Coach Miller's nine sprang the biggest surprise of the baseball season by defeating the Orange and Blue, thereby enabling Northeast to take the lead. Since then the West Phillies have been in a slump, having dropped four straight games. The regular Tuesday Scholastic League schedule includes contests between West Philadelphia High School and Central High School and Southern High School and Northeast High School. Unless Coach Alker, of the Speedboys, shifts his line-up and gets the team out of the rut, Central High will go into second place in the event of a victory this afternoon. Southern High's star slabster, Frankel. is out of the game for the remainder of the season as a result of a sprainked ankle suffered while rounding third base in the contest with the West Phils. Besides showing up well on the mound, Frankel also is a good batsman.

Ceach Bromhead has his aggregation of cricketers in splendid shape for the match with Central High School at Manhelm this afternoon. Among the Academy players who have proved their worth as cricketera are Captain Moorhead, the I-eard boys, W. and D., Jones, Satter-field, Sharpless, Vall, Edmonds, Horton, Clothler and Taussig. A cricket match between Northeast High School and Frankford High School, at St. Martin's, also is scheduled today.

Friday afternoon, at the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. grounds, La Salle College will hold its annual track and field sports. Among the schools to be represented in the games are Villanova Prep, St. John's College, St. Francis' High School and St. Joseph's College. The Catholic grammar schools championship will be decided, with about a score of institutions represented in the events.

The annual intercolor contests of Germantown Friends' School will be held Friday afternoon. The captains of the different colors follow: Reeves Morgan, blues; Walter P. Shipley, Jr., whites; Gordon Strawbridge, reds, and Warden Bacon, purples. Bacon, purples.

JOE BUSH SELECTED TO FACE WHITE SOX

Faber Probably Rowland's Choice for Mound Duty. Jim Scott's Great Pitching.

CHICAGO, May 18.-Urban Faber and Jos Bush, who were the favorite selections for mound duty yesterday in the Sox-Athletics game, will take their turns this afternoon. When Manager Rowland suddenly switched to "Death Valley" Scott, Mack also switched, as he wants to send "Bullet Joe" in to put a stop to Faber's winning streak,

Faber has won seven games and lost but one, sharing with Alexander, of the Phillies, the honor of being the biggest winner in the big leagues, and Urban has been twirling some sensational games in that string of seven wins. The only game he lost was a low-score contest that ahould have been an easy victory. but the Sox passed up many chances

For two years Bush has had a habit of upsetting the favorites, and Connie has a hunch that Faber is due for a drubbing. The Mackmen are still in the throes of a batting slump, as was evident yesterday. Jim Scott held the champions to one hit that was a tainted affair. Had Weaver been playing in closer or the ball not persisted in hugging the earth Scott would have earned a place in the hall of fame with a hitless game.

While Lajole got the only hit, the veteran was outplayed by Eddle Collins, much to the delight of the local fans, who idolize Collins. Eddle has been in a bad batting slump, the worst of his career, and for the first time in three weeks showed signs of coming out of it.
