Noted Little Trotter Being Groomed for Big Championship Events Soon.

One of the biggest surprises for years. one of the higgest surprises for years in light harness racing about this city and vicinity is that the little trotting mare, Guy Nella, 2.0754, by Guy Axworthy, owned by William J. Markle, of Nar-berth, will be converted into a pacer and will be extensively campaigned.

Under the pacing gait the Narberth entry is eligible to all classes, she being characterized as a green pacer. Last senson Guy Nella carned her fast-trotting mark of 2.07%, at Buffalo, under Pop Geers' guidance. She often dis-played a tendency toward pacing instead of trotting freely, and this suggested to both her owner and Mr. Geers that this would be her natural gait. According to reports her new gait is considerably faster and more accurate. considerably faster and more accurate. The veteran trainer, "Pop" Geers, one of the most prominent horsemen of the Grand C'rcuit today, will pilot the mare again this year. So much does he think of the converted daughter of Ax-worthy that he will try for the world's double-galted record, which is presently held by Ameonda, who is credited with performances of 2.09½ trotting, and 2.02½ pacing, or an average for both of 2.06. pacing, or an average for both of 2.06.
