BRANCHES OF ITALY'S COMPLETELY MOBILIZED ARMY WHICH NOW WILL SPRING TO MEET AUSTRIA

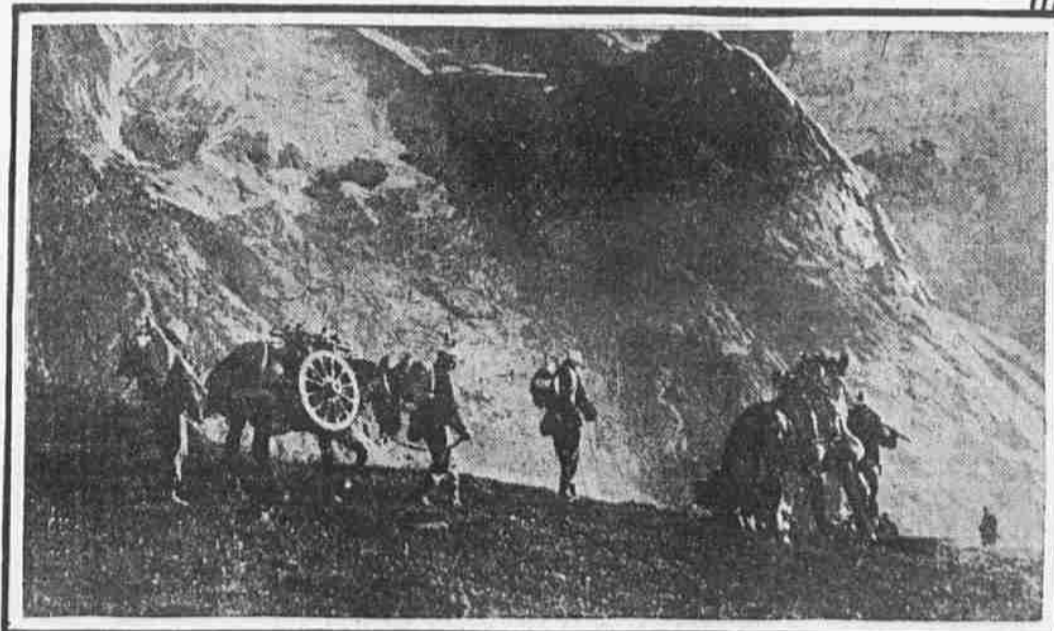

ITALY'S KING AND QUEEN
Sovereigns of the latest European nation to send its young manhood out to join in the European war.

COLUMN OF ALPINE TROOPS ON MARCH
Italy has eight regiments of these mountain chasseurs. On them the brunt of the early border fighting against Austria doubtless will fall.

DARING FEAT BY CAVALRYMAN
The pensinsular country boasts of some of the best riders in the world. It has 29 regiments of cavalry ready.

MULE BATTERY CROSSING THE ALPS
There are two regiments of mountain gunners, all trained for quick operations in a broken and difficult country.

TWO FIELD COMMANDERS
Generals Di Major and Peruchetti at a recent inspection of an aviation station.

CYCLE CORPS CARRYING OUT MANEUVERS IN PREPARATION FOR AUSTRIAN CAMPAIGN
Italy's total forces, including all branches, number about 2,065,000 men. Most of them have been mobilized and are ready to take the field.

TYPICAL ITALIAN INFANTRYMAN
Equipped with rifle and knapsack, ready to take the field.
