

Evening Illustrated Ledger

THURSDAY
June 10, 1915

A BREATH OF SALT SEA AIR AND A GLIMPSE OF SPORTS TO BRIGHTEN THE DAY'S WORK

THE "RAILBIRDS" AT ATLANTIC CITY WATCHING AND WISHING
June is now in midseason form, otherwise known as "the pink of condition." The crowds at the shore are divided between those who are in again and those who wish they were. Above are the latter.

"AS HAPPY AS A CHILD"
And who wouldn't be? She is one of a thousand enviable ones.

LOOKING OUT TO SEA
A pensive moment after the heyday of excitement on the beach.

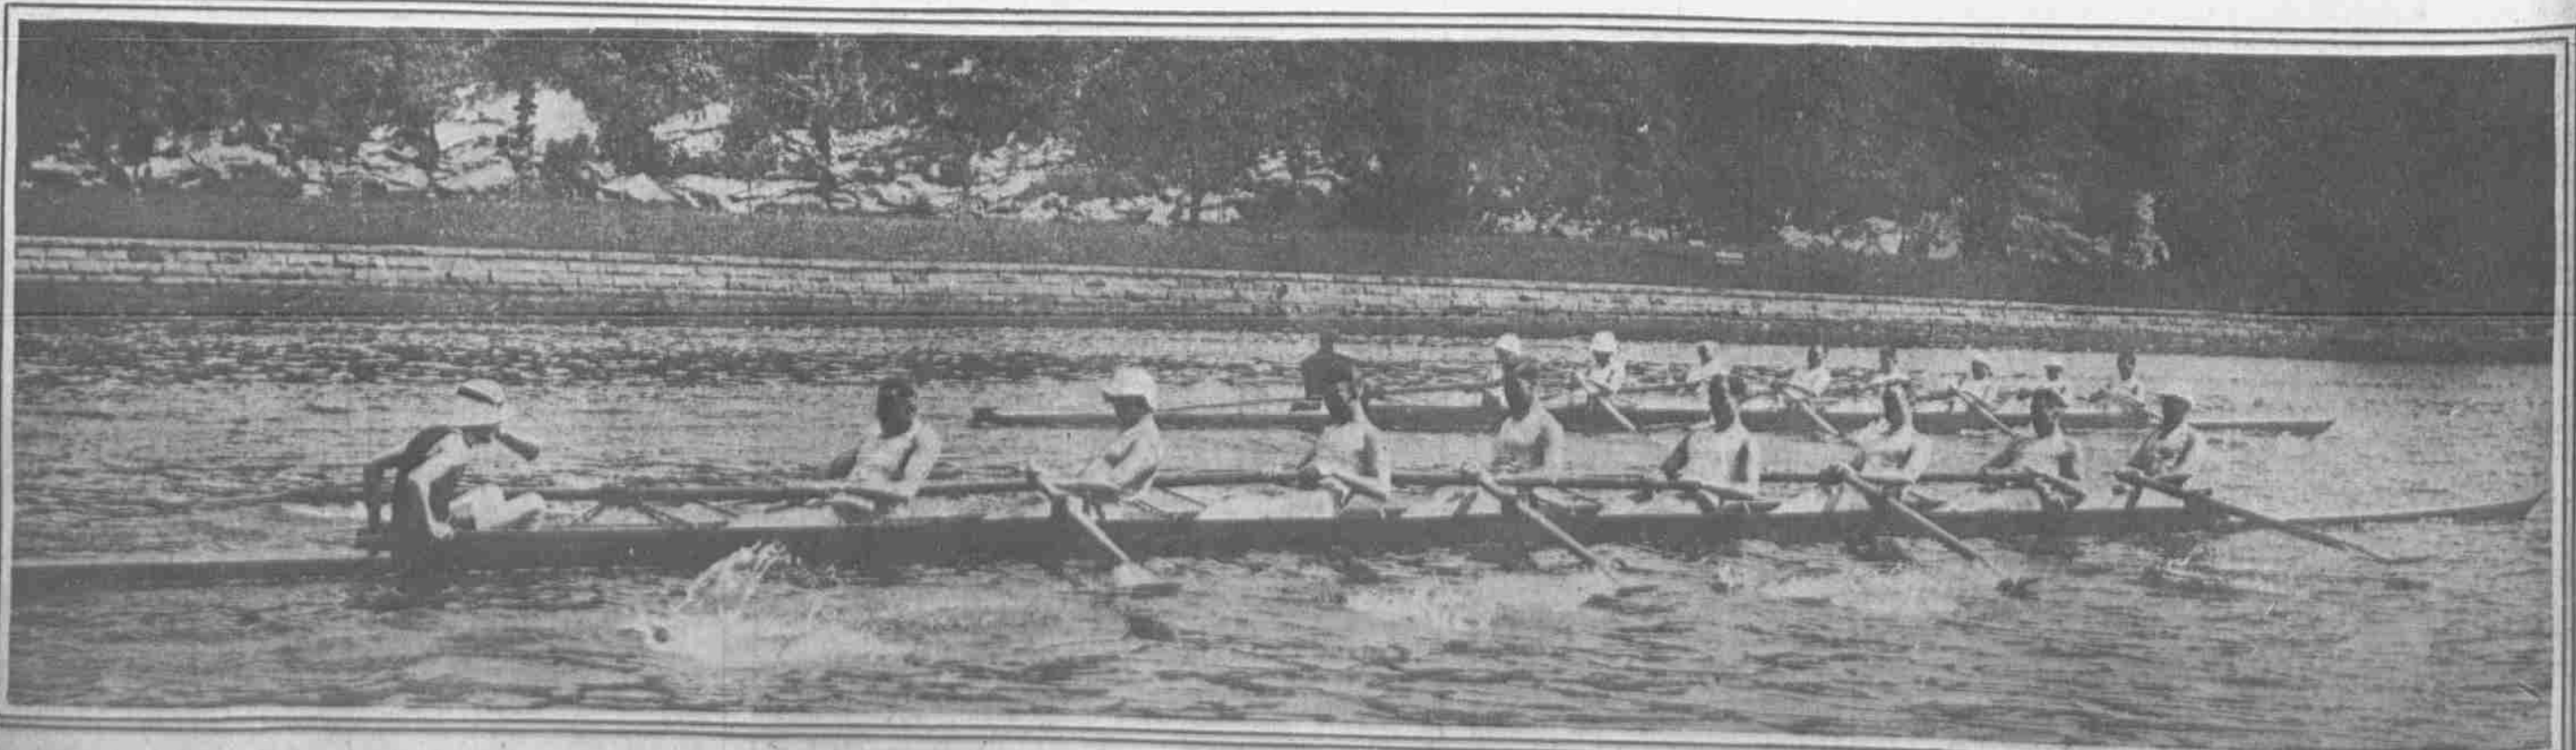

ELEANORA SEARS SMASHING
Miss Sears came to St. Martin's to play in the women's lawn tennis championship matches. She is playing today in the fourth round.

ABOUT TO DESCRIBE A BOW OF BEAUTY IN A PLUNGE
When "lovely woman" prepares for a high dive she presents a sight which may not be described—except by the camera, as above.

MISS SOPHIE NORRIS AFTER SERVICE
She was entered with Miss Mary Williams in the doubles championship, but was defeated in the first round.

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA CREW IN PRACTICE BEFORE LEAVING FOR POUGHKEEPSIE YESTERDAY
In preparation for the regatta of next week the Penn varsity crew has gone to Poughkeepsie for final training. The members of the crew are: Foster, coxswain; Marcy, stroke; Littleton, 7; Captain Merrick, 6; Garvin, 5; Gotham, 4; Weil, 3; Butler, 2; Chickering, bow.