years ago, was almost as easily beaten by Roy D. Webb, of Englewood, the medal winner. The margin was 5 and 4. Maraton not only played fine golf, as shown by his medal round of 71, but he caught Kirkby off his guard. The cham-pion drove well enough: In fact, held his opponent nicely off the tee, but Marston, usually uncertain at the shorter game, was distinctly on his metile.

The pulled peak headed to first, and Smith sacrificed. The Wambsganss person got one on his elbow, and there were two on base with one down. O'Neil was out on a long fly. Mr. Morton chipped some lee for his own game by a two-bagger on a drive that was too much for Barry Southworth beat out a grounder. Malone then pulled a peach when he intercepted Lapp's throw to second on Southworth's article steal, and Morton was run down between third and home. It was a world's series play on Malone's part. Southworth more than proved the last half of his name in the third when he made a one-hand catch of Strunk's arp parently sure three-bagger. Right off the ground he got it and it took a triple some are the as weever made in the field suburbs. Southworth came from the mater for the south as ever made in the field suburbs. Southworth came from the American Association and his patron salnt is Jack Knight.
