NOTES AND COMMENT ON NATIONAL PASTIME

The Cubs are at it again. Saler, builte and Phelan hit bome runs yester-y and beat the Dodgers. Brooklyn is some club that has had a hard time in west.

some fana think it is remarkable that e many home runs have been made by Phillies and Cubs in the last eight sp. There is nothing remarkable sut it when one considers that drives night field in both parks and to left right field in both parks and to term in this city go for home runs when by would be easy outs in almost any large park in either league.

Gene Dale seems to have the Phillies at his marry. Except for the slight flare-in in the ninth inning yesterday, the have been unable to do anything him in three games.

Many of the fans are under the imto hot so. He is a youngster, but is not so. He is close to or over years of age, and spent seven years the international and Eastern Leagues, a year or two ago in a smaller sother southpaw humbled Detroit years. Unless Detroit can arrange its line order somewhat different for throw pitchers, they will have a hard me sticking up in the race. Wellman but them out with four hits yesterday.

The Mackmen have this consolation-They cannot get much farther down.

By BLEECHER SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, June 21 .-Radical changes took place at Shibe Park today in the first line defense of the Mackmen just like Field Marshal Donovan led his seven-in-a-row Yanks to battle against the White Elephants. Barry, whose hand was injured Saturday, was not there when was injured Saturday, was not there when play started. Kopf. commonly yclept King, holding down the shortstop job. And at third base was a young man to whom a rank injustice has been done, although he may not know it; a young man intended as Mister Conway, which is said to be his real name. When Malone, of second base, first appeared, he was called Mister Ryan. Why shouldn't Conway, who halls from Georgetown, have had similar introductory advantages?

ing weather of last week. Returning to the subject of crowds, their size at Shibe Park is showing steady improvement, and it looks as though fandom is going to give Mack some recognition season ends.

Rube Bressler, who holds the distinction of being fully as erratic in his de-livery an any pitcher Mack has, was selected to hurl in the first game of the double-edged fray today.

In the first innings he made a season's record, passing but one Yankee player. This must have caused Wyckoff, Bush, et al. to turn green with envy.

The Yanks started to score in the third Indian. Their first run coming in on a sacrifice fly that Oldring got after a hard run, and the second on a Texas leaguer that Maione might have had if he hadn't slipped. Unfortunately he did Keating, the Yankee hurler, one of the clan surnamed Ray, was the choice of Wild William Donovan, and he started well. In the A's half of the third he fanned Kopf and Bressler.

The Mackmen got started in their half of the third inning, when Strunk singled, went to third on two successive outs and scored on McInnis' double. Unfortunate-ly they didn't keep it up and one lone ly they didn't keep it up and one lone run was the best they could do.

All that had gone before was forgotten in the eighth, when Mack sent out an army of pinch hitters, thus, Davies. Schang, Murphy and Lajole. But they couldn't get the wallop to break the tle.
Walsh went to third, Oldring to short, Lajole to second, Davies to lefts field, Strunk in centre and Murphy to right. Bush took up the pitching burden.
Walsh promptly made a beautiful stop and then threw the ball into the stands. There also was a shake-up, so called, in the batting order. Mister Conway being so much of an unknown quantity to bat in second place. Strunk got that position. Conway batting number six. The new youngster didn't seem to be as nervous as King Lear, his predecessor, who had two tries at third base and then was given transportation elsewhere to gain experience and confidence.

All things considered, it was a good crowd. The bleachers were simost filled and the "big money" seats also held a few lucrative thousands, as you might say. The day was ideal after the sweiter-

HERZOG TO BE TRADED IN BIG DEAL, IS REPORT

Three-Cornered Transfer Rumored for Cubs, Giants and Reds-Cincinnati's Chances.

Manager Herrog is doomed to meet the fate of his many predecessors, if reports from Cincinnati of a proposed deal that will involve three clubs are true. The story is that Herzog and Catcher Ivy Wingo are slated for the Cubs; Pitcher Cheney, Catcher Archer and Outfielder Schulte are to go to the Glants, and that the Reds will get Outfielder Murray, Pitcher Stroud and Infielder Brainerd, in addition to Jack Hendricks, of the Indianapolis American Association Club, as manager.

If the proposed deal goes through it will greatly beneat Chicago, as Manager Bresnahan feels that with a good shortstop the Cubs are almost sure pennant winners, while Wingo will add strength behind the bat, as Archer has not shown anything like his old-time form this year-New York is figuring in the deal because McGraw is went in the catching department, and besides figures prove that under his handling Cheney will prove a more consistent winner than he has at Chloses.

Judged by the owners of the Cincinnati Judged by the owners of the Cincinnati Club, Hersos has not proved a success as a manager, and, as the Reds have steadily gone back until they have touched bottom, the owners think it an opportune time to get rid of him with the least possible howl from the supporters of the team. The signing of Hendricks, one of the most successful minor league managers in the country, is expected to make Clincinnati fans forget the loss of the players.

It has been six years since a Western club won a pennant in the American League, and while both White Sox and Tigers are hustling with rare vigor, they have a harder ball club to beat out than most folks figure them to have. Another intersectional Melee
It has been five years since the West attached a pennant in the National League—back in 1810, when the Old Cubs shot their final boit. The West has at least one strong entry here in Chicago and an outside chance with St. Louis.
But so long as the Braves can linger within casy reach of the top, with Evers out and the pitching staff rickety, they must be figured with the best chances from July on, when they are due to sbfrom July on, when they are due to absorb a normal amount of pink back in their conditions or systems.

"I played badly," he said, "but I could have played worse. But that part of it didn't matter. I had a corking sood time, which is what I play golf for. I don't ever want to win another enampionship if tosing one is going to spell my week. For sometimes you can win and sometimes you can't, but in the end you generally get what is coming."

"When you are at the top of your game," added Ouimet, "the game plays itself. And when you are not at the top of your game you are not going to win, and it is worse than foolish to fret or bother about it, since there is nothing to be done except to take what you get."
