TEUTON DRIVE OVER DNIESTER TAKES HALICZ

Force Crossing of River, Behind Which Slavs Are Entrenched, at Second Point.

Final Operation to Clear Galicia of Foe Gains Momentum. Chodorow Also Captured. German Offensive in North Poland Blocked.

German Report Failure of French Drive on Lille—Capture Ground on Ablain Road—Rush Reinforcements to Alsace to Stop March of Foe on Kolmar.

German troops occupied Halicz and crossed Dniester River today, it is officially announced.

The drive to clear Galicia is under way, despite admittedly strong Slav opposition behind their intrenchments on the north side of the river.

The Russian retreat is general on a 20-mile line from Klelec, Poland, to Burestyn, Galicia, Vienna announces officially. Austro-German forces are in hot pursuit and already menace the fortress of Ivangorod.

Berlin officially states that between Halicz and Chodorow (on the south bank, captured late last week) a column has again crossed the Dniester and stormed hills on the north side, as a temporary base for operations against the Slav left wing.

Russian forces are firmly holding their positions on the Dniester in southeast Galicia, covering their Bukovina operations. Austro-German forces, however, are delivering violent assaults, Petrograd admits.

The Slav right wing, which for a time offered stiff resistance east of Lemberg, has resumed its retreat to home and, Petrograd says, having fulfilled its function of covering the orderly withdrawal from Lemberg.

On the north Poland front the new German offensive has been blocked, according to the Russian War Office. Desperate fighting, however, continues south of Praznysyz in the apparent Warsaw drive planned by General von Hindenburg.

Berlin reports failure of great drive of French on Lille, which was completed in the last few weeks' fighting in the Arras region. The Germans assert that the French losses in the drive number 100,000.

A fierce battle in which both the French and Germans resorted to the use of hand grenades and the Germans were aided by liquid flames has been fought in the vicinity of Quennevierres and near the "Labyrinth." A German surprise attack at Arracourt has been beaten back by the French. North of Arras the Germans succeeded in capturing ground on the Creux d' Ablain road along a front of 600 feet. They were repulsed at Quennevierres and in the Argonne forest. All efforts of the Germans to capture the Calonne trench, on the Meuse heights, have been in vain.

Violent artillery fighting has occurred in Belgium and north of Arras.

TEUTONS TAKE HALICZ; OPEN FINAL GALICIAN DRIVE

Hold All Important Dniester Crossings, Berlin Declares.

BERLIN, June 28.—The final drive to clear Galicia of the enemy is now on. General Linsingen has advanced and captured the Russian fortified position at Halicz, north of Stanislaw, and has crossed Dniester, taking several thousand prisoners.

THE WEATHER

If you should ask us we should say that the shoddy weather that was visited upon us at the beginning of the month, or, to be more accurate, for well-nigh half of it, has been more than made up for by the climatic treatment administered to a long-suffering world during the last week. We did not go away as far as the stars for our holiday this week. We did not have to, we found, either, to have about as nice a one as one could wish for. In the country, of course, we were not but more than a few miles from the city. And there was real inspiration to us a week with this morning at the best of the world as we waited for the sun at the little station. Just a great mass of green and sparkling water and wonderful sunshine. And not a sound to be heard or break the spell.

FORECAST For Philadelphia and vicinity—For tonight and probably Tuesday; no decided change in temperature; light, variable winds.

MISS WANAMAKER GURNEE MUNN'S BRIDE AT NOON WEDDING

Many Guests From Other Cities Throng St. Mark's Episcopal Church. Gowns and Flowers Worth a Fortune.

Miss Marie Louise Wanamaker was married to Gurnee Munn, of Washington, at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, 16th and Locust streets, at noon today.

The church was thronged to the doors with guests from every big city of the East, and in the street a crowd of the curious, longing for a glimpse of the bride and bridegroom, waited. White roses nestling among festoons of greens made the interior of the church fragrant.

Shortly after entering the church the bride and bridegroom left the chancel and stepped into the Lady Chapel while the choir sang an anthem, returning after the last notes of the song had died away.

The event, socially, was one of the most important of the year and rivaled in point of widespread interest among society in general in this city and elsewhere only by the recent Duke-Biddle and Biddle-Duke weddings. The bride is the daughter of Rodman Wanamaker, and a granddaughter of John Wanamaker. She is also a niece of Barclay H. Warburton and related extensively among prominent families of the city.

Mr. Munn is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Munn of Washington, and a brother of Charles A. Munn, who married Miss Mary Drexel Paul, of this city, and lives at Radnor.

The ceremony was performed by the rector of St. Mark's, the Rev. Elliott White, assisted by the Rev. John Williams, rector of All Saints' Church, Atlantic City. Attending Miss Wanamaker was her sister, Mrs. Arturo de Heeren, as matron of honor. Mrs. de Heeren was formerly Miss Fernanda Wanamaker. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Miss Wanamaker's cousin; Miss Edwina Elkins Bruner, Miss Gretchen Clay, Miss Margaret Berwind, Miss Katherine H. Kremer, Miss Mary

CONNIE MACK ASKS WAIVERS ON SHAWKEY

Rumored That Athletics' Right-Hander Will Join New York Yankees.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Connie Mack stated this afternoon that he had asked waivers on Bob Shawkey, one of his right-handed pitchers, upon whom he had counted to do good work for him this season. There is a rumor in baseball circles that Shawkey will go to the New York Yankees. Mack would neither affirm nor deny this report.

"I have asked waivers on Shawkey," said Mack, "and that is all I can say at this time. We have not received an answer from the other clubs yet, consequently I cannot tell where Shawkey will go." Mack was also asked the reason for asking waivers on Shawkey, but his answer was noncommittal.

Shawkey went South with the Athletics in 1914. However, at the beginning of the season he was turned over to Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore International League team. In July of that same summer he was recalled by Mack, joining the Athletics in Chicago. He pitched good ball from then until the close of the season. Last year Shawkey did very well, and it was generally believed that he would be one of the mainstays of the team this year.

During the early part of this season, Shawkey pitched excellent ball, but he has not been doing so well recently. A few days ago the Athletic pitcher, together with Mrs. Shawkey, went to a summer resort.

In 1914 Shawkey was used by Mack in 25 games. He finished with an average of 2.73 runs per game.

Bob Shawkey, who joined the Athletics in midseason in 1913, coming from the Baltimore club of the International League, may join the New York Yankees. Connie Mack stated in Washington that he had asked waivers on Shawkey, but refused to discuss the matter further. Shawkey is not with the Mackmen at present.

CORNELL WINS JUNIOR EIGHT; BREAKS MARK

Syracuse Freshman Then Take Second Event on Poughkeepsie Regatta Program in 9 Minutes 29 1-5 Seconds.

Penn Oarsmen Rowed Second to Cornell in Junior Event, With Columbia Last—Winners Were Never Headed After the Mile Had Been Reached.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—Cornell's speedy junior eight-oared shell crew drew first blood in this afternoon's championship regatta when its representatives crossed the finish line just 10 minutes and 1-5 second after the start at 4:34, establishing a new record for that event.

In the next contest, likewise at two miles, the Freshman eight-oared crew of Syracuse surprised the knowing ones by forging to the front after the mile and winning with four lengths to spare over Cornell.

In the Junior race Cornell was a winner by a length and a half, with Pennsylvania second and Columbia last. The Freshmen finished in the following order: Syracuse, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania.

The Freshman crews were sent off in the race at 8:38 p. m. All four crews hit up a high stroke at the start and were bunched 100 yards from the start.

As they approached the quarter-mile point Cornell tried to pull away, but the other crews spurted and evened up matters.

Nearing the mile mark, Cornell was leading by half a length, with Syracuse second, Columbia third, and Pennsylvania bringing up the rear. Syracuse, however, overhauled Cornell, and passing the mile mark they were in the lead by a length. Columbia was third and Pennsylvania fourth.

As they neared the mile and quarter, Syracuse was a length and a half in the lead.
