Jail Awaits Husband . Whose Careless Handling of Explosive Will Cost Life.

The sacrifice of William Winans, who gave his blood to save his wife, a victim of his foolish whim, may be in vain. He is sitting by her bedwide at the University Hospital with the realization that only prison and wretchedness may be in store for him if the forgiving wife dies. It is believed she cannot recover.

Plans by Heacock & Hokanson, ar-chitects for the Philadelphia Motor Speedway Association, call for concrete grandstands seating 100,000 persons. There will be parking accommodations for 30,000 automobiles, it being expected that the majority of spectators will motor to the majority of spectators will motor to the races, the spectway being only 20 min-utes' run from the city. Excellent facil-ities for other spectators, however, are provided by the Reading Railway and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. Both will have terminals at the speedway. It is believed that the new project will be one of the most successful of its kind in the country. It is pointed out that its location is in the centre of a 100-mile radius having a population of 12,000,000 persons upon which it may draw. Sub-scriptions to the speedway are pouring in in such amounts that officers assert the success of the plan already assured. Sup-port of the project has been especially strong in Pennsylvania and neighboring

States. AUTOMOBILE RUN THURSDAY.

An automobile run to this city will begin on Thursday of this week under the auspices of the association. More than 1200 members from all parts of the State will participate in the event, and arriving in this city will compete for 75 cups in different motoring events.

His two little children. Richard and William, 2 and 4 years old, have been taken in charse by the dying woman's mother, Mrs. William Clements, and their home at 7825 Botanic avenue, which echoed with their laughter yesterday morning, now bears the appearance of Winans' desire to surprise his wife and Winans' desire to surprise his wife and little ones by making an improvised can-non is the cause of it all. He filled a long plece of gas pipe with powder and ignited it just as his wife came to the door. The pipe was blown to pleces and Mrs. Wi-nans was thrown to the ground. When the smoke had cleared away Winans saw that her right arm had been horribly mutilated. She was immediately rushed to the hospital. two children away while she was being removed and they only knew that "mamma was hort." Her husband went with her and readily agreed to a blood transfusion. He gave one quart of his blood and declared with tears in his eyes that he would give every drop in his body if it would save the life of the suffering woman.

Although greatly weakened by the sac-rifice, Winans went totteringly with a policeman to the 65th street and Woodland avenue station. He was held in $1000 bail by Magistrate Harris. He was asked numerous questions and answered in a dazed sort of manner. He agreed to anything in order to get back to the edside of his dying wife. He was rewarded with a faint smile when he reached her beside. But it was the smile of gratitude, the doctors said.

Four-year-old Francis Nolan, of 2425 Arlington street, is in the Northwestern General Hospital suffering from burns caused by fireworks. He was watching neighbors setting off skyrockets near his home late last night when sparks ignited his clothing, causing severe body burns. Bystanders extingulated the flames, and he was taken to the hospital in the patrol of the 20th and Berks streets police station. He is expected to recover Samuel Tolchinski, 14 years old, of 514 Susquehanna avenue, was shot in the neck last night by a cartridge placed on a trolley track at Reese street and Susquehanna avenue. Raymond Donnhue, 14. of 2213 Reese street. and William Stoneback, 13, of 2156 North Randolph street, were sent to the House of Deten-tion following their arrest for complicity in placing the cartridge on the track.

court. The State today showed a new angle of its case by calling former Harvard men to tell of Thaw's alleged actions when he was a student at Harvard. Frank K. Scribner, of New York, who was a law student at Harvard in 1891-92, when Thaw was a student there, testi-fied that, Thaw once threatened to shoot a cab driver. Fellow students disarmed him. Thaw, the witness said, had been drinking. James O. Nicholls, a New York lawyer and contemporary of Thaw at Harvard,

James O. Nicholls, a New York lawyer and contemporary of Thaw at Harvard, corroborated Scribner's testimony. Nicholls told of another occasion when Thaw flow into a fit of rase over a game of poker being played by stu-dents in Thaw's room, in which there was a 35 jackpot. Thaw pulled from the wall an ornamental brass dagrer, the witness said, and in the altercation feil or was pushed against a bookcase. The dagger broke the glass and Thaw's wrist was cut. This ended the alterca-tion. Mirs. Spyree, keeper of the board-ing house, bound up Thaw's wound. Just before receas Becker read the testimony given at one of the White Plains' hearings by Dr. Britton D. Evans, the alignist, who testified that he found Thaw to be a paramolae.
