

JITNEY INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS PLANNED TO BE STARTED TODAY

Mayor John Weaver Scheduled to Ask Court to Prevent Restrictive Ordinance From Going Into Effect.

The hundred thousand little flags bearing the inscription "I am for the Jitney" are being offered for sale by members of the Jitney Auto Service Company today in an effort to raise funds for a legal contest against the provisions of the recently enacted ordinance of Councils, which, if it should become effective, would put the cars out of business.

The same time injunction proceedings were planned to be instituted by Mayor John Weaver, representing the Jitney company, in the Federal Court No. 1, in an effort to prevent the restrictive ordinance from going into effect.

The action follows closely a meeting of the three Philadelphia Jitney organizations, at which unsuccessful efforts were made to bring about harmony and unite their interests in raising a common front to fight the recently enacted legislation.

Accusations and recriminations were leveled back and forth at a great rate as the "harmony" room of the Jitney Auto Service Company. Delegates from the Philadelphia Jitney Association and the Philadelphia Jitney Owners' Association were present. The meeting developed a number of interesting and hitherto unknown facts concerning the movement of the Auto Service Company.

In the first place it was made evident that the company is a political asset of Mayor Weaver, and that it is under the control of Mayor Weaver.

The Philadelphia Jitney Association at its regular meeting tomorrow night will discuss the action it will take. This organization has retained the services of John H. Fow to guard its legal rights.

Mr. Fow, it is known, believes there are no questions raised by the action of the Jitney company, and that it is a matter of time before the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

These are the facts of the case, and it is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

It is believed that the city will be forced to pay a fine of $100,000 for the use of the cars.

MAN, 70, LOVED BRIDE OF 50 WHEN SHE WAS A Girl Opens at 8:30

Each Married—As Widower Widow They Meet.

The last chapter in a childhood romance was enacted this afternoon when Mr. Marcus, 70 years old, and Mrs. Ada Hoffheimer, 50 years old, were married at the Adath Jeshurun Synagogue by R. Max D. Klein. Marcus has eight children and the bride has one, but none attended the wedding.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip of a month. They will live then at the bride's home, 3721 North 19th street.

Marcus knew Mrs. Hoffheimer when she was a girl, and even then they were sweethearts. But fate parted them and they did not meet again until recently.

Mrs. Hoffheimer's husband died 15 years ago and Marcus' wife has been dead four years. Since that time he has been living with his daughter, Mrs. Jennie Oswald, of 3744 Chew street, Germantown.

The bridegroom said when a reporter called today:

"I'm glad about the young brides and grooms and love it alone. We need our own business, and that is a good thing for everybody to do."

Marcus is a retired shoe merchant and was well known in the central part of the city.

START FOR MT. GRENA CAMP
Troops Leave to Join National Guard Maneuvers.

Advance details from the 1st, 2d and 3d Regiments, National Guard of Pennsylvania, will leave for Mount Gretna tonight to prepare for the encampment of the 4th Brigade, which opens on Friday.

The field headquarters and supply companies, consisting of the 8th Regiment will leave tomorrow and the other troops will follow on Friday. A small advance detail left last night.

Lieutenant Colonel L. V. Ranshaw, keeper of the State arsenal, has had a force of men at Mount Gretna for the last three weeks, laying out camp sites and making general preparations for the troops.

U. S. TO QUIZ MAN WHO OUTWITS CENSOR

Dr. Kitsee, of Philadelphia, Who Sold Device to Germany, Told Not to Talk.

Investigation by the Department of Justice of reports that the Sayville station of the Telefunken Wireless Company is using a secret device to send military information to Germany without the knowledge of the United States censor board, will lead to the little alley court, known as Walnut place, opening off Walnut street below 4th, in which the appliance was invented and where an agent of the German Government inspected it with Dr. Isadore Kitsee, the inventor.

Dr. Kitsee was cautioned by telephone from New York this morning to refrain from further discussion of the situation that grew out of the disappearance of his appliance until Government agents have had a talk with him. Dr. Kitsee said today he will tell the whole story to the official investigators when they call on him.

It developed today that preliminaries for the transfer of the invention to the German Government were in progress between Dr. Kitsee and an agent of the Kaiser in the rear room of the doctor's office at 209 Walnut place. Later Dr. Kitsee turned over the invention to a friend who was to deliver it to the German Government.

He explained further today the manner in which Government censors could be tricked and whom he employed to deliver the device to the country on wireless outfits equipped with his invention.

It developed that not only is it impossible for outside stations to "tune in" and pick up the message, but even the device is used, but even the censor, stationed at the elbow of the operator sending at Sayville, could not learn the true meaning of apparently innocent commercial messages.

"Suppose I am the censor," said Dr. Kitsee, "and Mr. Rittenhouse, my assistant, is the operator. He may say, 'I want to send a message to Berlin asking a physician there to come to this country.' He may even ask me to write the message in my own way, and I, as a censor, having framed what I believe is a message saying only one thing, I write it. Very good, I think, but with my invention that apparently innocent message may mean that a British ship laden with arms has sailed from New York and will reach the war zone on a certain day."

Resists Back Pay for Reinstated Cops
Payment of $22,000 to 14 policemen, reinstated on the force after they had been convicted and exonerated of charges in successive trials before the police board, is being resisted by City Solicitor Ryan. The Supreme Court recently ordered the Civil Service Commission to reinstate Hugh Gallagher, one of the policemen formerly under fire. Counsel for the police are endeavoring to prove that all men suspended from the force and later reinstated are entitled to pay from the city during the interval of suspension, even though it is asserted a number of them were employed elsewhere during that period. Councils appropriated $22,000 to provide the "back pay." The application to the courts at present by attorneys of the policemen is for a mandamus to compel Director Porter, of the Department of Public Safety, to pay the men.

Mother Reproved for Suicide Attempt
Magistrate Scott reproved the mother of seven children in the Front and Master streets station today for attempting to take her life. He told her it was her duty to live so that she might protect and rear her children to be useful citizens. The woman was Mrs. Emma Lockhart, 125 S. Street. Yesterday she drank poison and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. She was discharged today and had a hearing in the police station. She told the Magistrate she had the toothache and that to relieve the pain she drank the liniment.

Woman Defies Men to Plant Pole
Workmen of the Philadelphia Electric Company dug a hole in front of the home of Mrs. Laura Finnette, 321 Pulaski avenue, and prepared to plant a pole. During their temporary absence the woman placed a board over the hole, and with an American flag in her hand, dared the men to move her. They erected the pole in front of an adjoining house.

Murderer Gets Life Sentence
BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 7.—Edward Westwell, of Patecon, N. Y., was sentenced today to life imprisonment in the Auburn State Prison for the murder of Detective Sergeant Charles Gradwell, at Bingham, N. Y., March 25, this year. The jury was 11 hours.

Engineer Killed by Locomotive
A. Lutz, 45 years old, 1206 Belt street, Baltimore, an employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was run over by a locomotive near the city of Baltimore. The body was not discovered until this morning. Lutz was killed by the engine. The body was found in a ditch near the railroad tracks. The engine was running on the main line. The accident occurred at about 10 o'clock.

Opera Opens at 8:30 -Crawford test Barga

morning at the second day of the 15th national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America was called off because several of the speakers failed to appear, and the attendance was not up to expectations. About 5000 delegates had been registered at noon, and it is not considered probable now that the figures will reach the 10,000 mark anticipated.

A movement was started among the delegates today to invite Mayor Riddle, of this city, to deliver an address at one of the sessions. It is meeting with strong opposition, owing to the Mayor's alleged desire for an open town, especially in view of the meeting of the Civic League last night, at which the Mayor was the principal speaker and at which pleas were made for more liberal Sunday laws.

Proclaimed criticism of Atlantic City's police authorities for permitting men and women to walk through the streets in bathing suits is being made in the corridors of the various hotels where the delegates are staying. Wives of ministers attending the convention are especially indignant and it would not be surprising if some of the delegates bring the question to the attention of the convention and ask that resolutions be passed demanding a more strict observance of the laws, or perhaps more stringent laws.

One of the most interesting addresses of the several delivered at the morning session was that of Mrs. Florence D. Richard, of Columbus, Ohio, president of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Richard is an ardent suffragist. She took occasion to work some of her arguments for "the cause" into her speech; in fact, it was as much anti-saloon as anti-temperance. The speaker told the delegates that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is the mother of the Anti-Saloon League.

"Some of you ask why the union doesn't merge with the league," she said. "The answer is that we're too intelligent. We all have heard of mothers who would live with their sons and finally wound up in the poorhouse, and the union does not intend to meet that fate."

A high tribute to the Rev. Father John J. Curran, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who presided at the morning session, was paid by Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of New York City, president of the Anti-Saloon League. He eulogized the famous Pennsylvania minister of the liquor traffic, saying he had accomplished as much in this line, if not more, than any other individual in the country.

It became known today that Booker T. Washington, the famous negro preacher and educator, will not appear as a speaker at the convention. He paid a hurried visit to Atlantic City last night, but had to leave immediately for New York. Today he wired the officials of the league, if he did not expect to be able to get back.

The speakers scheduled to make addresses this morning who failed to appear were Dr. T. Alexander Cairns, of Newark, and John J. Lents, of Columbus, O.

A special feature of the convention tonight will be the showing of a five-reel allegorical melodrama moving picture, entitled "Prohibition." The film is said to show William Jennings Bryan, former Secretary of State; Congressman Hobson and various other celebrities, all of whom smile approvingly for temperance.

ACKLEY STILL AT PIANO.
Benton D. Ackley, former pianist and music writer for "Billy" Sunday, who was reported yesterday as having dropped out from the music program of the convention, appeared at his piano in the Hippodrome last night. He played again today, and apparently is to continue with the convention.

A little incident at the Chalfonts, headquarters of the convention, this morning, indicates that there may be something to the charge against the liquor interests. A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

A man not known to any of the delegates rolled into the hotel apparently considerably intoxicated. They do say, however, that the liquor interests did their best to prevent Ackley from appearing as pianist for the league.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN
Old prize fighter, who "sassed" General Nelson A. Miles in note, due to the latter's refusal to preside if Sullivan spoke at Anti-Saloon League convention.

'LITTLE ITALY' MOURNS DEATH OF DR. MAZZA

Many at Funeral of Benefactor, Who Was Devoted to His People.

The whole of "Little Italy" was in mourning today for the funeral of Dr. Menotti Mazza, who died on Sunday. Thousands of Italians who had known Dr. Mazza or who had been helped by him crowded the streets about the home at 704 Catharine street this morning for a last view of the body. The funeral services were held at 9 o'clock this morning, but hours before that time the crowds began filing past the body of their late friend and benefactor.

Dr. Mazza's long life of service endeared him to the hearts of almost all Italians in this city. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in "Little Italy." Mazza was said to be the Catholic Church of St. Mary Magdalen de Fazzi, 8th and Montrose streets, by Father A. Isolari.

Addresses at the grave in Holy Cross Cemetery were made by Dr. Ignazio Cortese, Dr. D. P. Cubicciotti, Dr. Vincenzo de Virgillia, Dr. Ottavio Monticelli, Dr. Thomas Tigan and others. The pallbearers were fellow members of the Circolo Italiano, and representatives of all the important Italian societies attended.

Dr. Mazza was president of the Italian General Committee for the relief of families of Italian soldiers at the front, and was chairman of the Congress of Italians which met here in 1911. He was born 45 years ago in Calabria, Italy, and came to Philadelphia 13 years ago.

The pallbearers were Ernest La Place, L. H. Bernd, Giuseppe Fabiani, Alfredo Veneziale, Ottavio Monticelli and A. St. De Vecchia. They were followed by the Circolo Italiano, the Circolo Italiano, and other Italian societies attended.

CARBERRY, MURDER SUSPECT.
HAS POLICE RECORD IN CITY
Has Served Five Terms Here—Held Following Mt. Holly Strangling.

Daniel Carberry, under arrest on suspicion of having strangled Mrs. Celestine U. Dornau, of Palmyra, N. J., has a long police record in this city, it was learned today. He has been identified as having served twice in the Eastern Penitentiary and three times in the Philadelphia County Prison for breaking and entering.

Carberry is now a prisoner in the Mount Holly jail. He will have a hearing before Magistrate William E. Hires, at Mount Holly, tomorrow. The prisoner has repeatedly declared his innocence of the murder of Mrs. Dornau, who was 60 years old.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

Carberry, the police say, was released about two years ago from the Eastern Penitentiary, where he had served a two-year term. Before moving to Palmyra he lived on North Cleveland avenue above Cayuga street, this city. In Palmyra his house adjoined that of Mrs. Dornau. It was he who notified the police last Sunday that something was wrong in the aged woman's house. The police made an investigation and found that on Saturday night some one had broken into her home and strangled her in bed. The slayer then was questioned closely by County Detective Parker last Sunday. He was not arrested, however, until yesterday.

U. S. BREAKS UP RECRUITING FOR MONTENEGRIN ARMY

Arrest of Officers in Various Cities Follows Investigation.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The arrest of Montenegrin army officers in Chicago, Portland, Ore., and New York Tuesday was believed by the Justice Department today to mean the breaking up of an extensive recruiting scheme, which it was believed was being carried on in violation of American neutrality.

It was hinted that with a "round-up" of Italians all offenses of this kind against United States neutrality laws will be stopped.

Officials explained that Montenegro, Italy, England and some of the other European countries stand in a different relation to American laws from Germany and France, inasmuch as French and German reservists are carried on the army rolls at home, and it requires no overt act against the United States neutrality statutes for such a reservist to rejoin the colors, while in the case of the other countries French enlistment is necessary in this country. Such enlistments, it was stated, are violation of law.

LEAVES BULK OF FORTUNE TO CHARITIES OF CHURCH
St. Charles Borromeo Seminary Also Remembered by Woman.

Bequests of $200 to the Seminary of St. Charles Borromeo, at Overbrook, and $200 to the Annie M. Lowery Home, at Elmhurst, Pa., are made in the will of Ellen Devine, who died at 920 Greenwich street, June 27, leaving $228.

Her will, admitted to probate today, further directs the executor to dispose of her property at 920 Greenwich street and household effects, and give the net revenue to St. Joseph's House for Homeless Boys. A cousin is to receive $500, and $1250 is to go for masses. The residue of the estate is bequeathed to the Little Sisters of the Poor.

Emma B. Summer, late of 711 Clearfield street, left an $8500 estate in private bequests.

Personal property of Emma A. Moyer has been appraised at $12,295.63.

MRS. MARCELLUS COXE WINS DIVORCE DECREE

Case Heard Before a Master and Details of Proceedings Not Made Public.

News of the divorce of Mrs. Florence Sellers Cox from Marcellus Cox, of 2221 Locust street, reached friends of the Coxes today. The decree was granted yesterday in Common Pleas Court No. 5. Mr. and Mrs. Cox were married 30 years ago and since then have lived in Philadelphia. They are well known socially.

Mr. Cox is a prominent clubman. The divorce was not a surprise to friends, as it had been known for some time that relations were strained. Details of Mrs. Cox's accusations were not made public, the case being heard before a master.

There is one son in the family. He is Travis Cox, an attaché in the diplomatic service, at present stationed in Havana, Cuba. Mrs. Cox was married two years ago in Cuba. During the winter of 1913 Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Cox introduced Miss Ellen Jaquet Sellers, their niece, who was married in April to Richard McCally of Philadelphia.

LUMBER FACTS

Standing Timber
We control several hundred thousand acres of growing timber—ample for years to come.

Mills and Railroads
We have at our command lumber and pulp mills with latest equipment and have constructed during our operations 150 miles of logging railroad.

Past Record
The 40 years of our history have proved our ability to fulfill contracts satisfactorily.

Correspondence Invited
Wm. Whitmer & Sons, Inc.
Established 1888
Manufacturers of and wholesale dealers in lumber
Franklin Bank Bldg., Philadelphia

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1650

Autocars have standardized delivery service
CHASSIS PRICE $1