What Milady Wears

While on a tour of the shops recently Mrs. Paul Denckla Mills wore a cool looking frock of midnight blue crepe and with it a large blue taffeta hat with a flat bow set in under the flare at the left side. The gown was quite simply made with a skirt puffed in panner effect, and the blouse had a collar and cuffs of sheer linen embroidered in Bavarian colors. In the same shop was seen on the beach wearing a fine hand-knit white with a skirt puffed in panner effect, and the blouse had a collar and cuffs of sheer linen embroidered in Bavarian colors. In the same shop was seen on the beach wearing a fine hand-knit white with a skirt puffed in panner effect, and the blouse had a collar and cuffs of sheer linen embroidered in Bavarian colors.

Mrs. Richard Norris, who is occupying her cottage as usual at Cape May, was seen on the beach wearing a fine hand-knit white with a skirt puffed in panner effect, and the blouse had a collar and cuffs of sheer linen embroidered in Bavarian colors. In the same shop was seen on the beach wearing a fine hand-knit white with a skirt puffed in panner effect, and the blouse had a collar and cuffs of sheer linen embroidered in Bavarian colors.

Another smartly attired matron who wears the sweater coat is Mrs. B. Dobson Altman. The coat is quite long and has a band of brown fur around the edge; also a wide collar and cuffs of the same fur. Mrs. Altman's hat is of straw with a top of black velvet. A black walking stick completes the attractive costume. Mrs. Andrew Wheeler wears on the beach a white linen skirt and fine blouse trimmed with flat lace collar and cuffs. Her hat is of straw in sailor shape, the crown and brim are covered with white taffeta and trimmed with fine feather fanics.

Miss Leta Sullivan has appeared in a most attractive frock of Belgian lace, the top of which is wide and gathered at the waist line, and the bodice trimmed with chiffon of the same shade. Her hat is of taffeta of the blue added the finishing touch to her costume.

Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle has been noticed in a gown of white net over satin. The skirt is composed of tiers of net, the second one being edged with a fold of white blue net. The bodice was simple in design and was finished with a belt of colored net. A leghorn hat with blue velvet and French flowers completed the costume.

Mrs. Harold A. Sands has been seen in a sports costume, consisting of a short white pleated skirt, enlaced blouse and black knitted silk sweater edged with fur. A small sports hat of blue is also worn.
