

GOVERNOR RIDES FOR FIRST TIME; INSPECTS GUARD

Division Inspection Gives Men Rest From Rigors of Close Order Drill.

Sham Battle Following Parade of Troops Expected to Draw Record Crowd to Camp Schall at Mt. Gretna—Wireless Interests State Soldiers.

By a Staff Correspondent. MT. GRETTA, Pa., July 14.—While Governor Brumbaugh and his staff and General Dougherty and his staff were inspecting the Third and Fourth Brigades of National Guard this morning, battalions of the First Brigade, the Philadelphia representation in Camp Schall, engaged in a sham battle on the rifle ranges.

The Governor rode a horse this morning for probably the first time in his life, and he rode like a veteran. He did not show a tremor, but did consent to wear an all-steel helmet and a pair of leather puttees. Upon his return to headquarters at noon he said the horse was a good friend of his and that the sham battle was a further proof of his riding at the chief Executive of the State is not now afraid of anything that walks or runs. He did entertain some fear of horses, but his charges in the morning behaved so peacefully, despite blaring bands and rifle firing, that the Governor is no longer nervous.

The Governor left camp for Harrisburg immediately after inspection, making the trip by motor. He will return tonight and will remain at camp all day tomorrow.

Because of division inspection today by the General Staff and the Governor and his staff, the troops encamped here had a much needed respite from the grilling work of war strength company close order drill. This work will not be resumed until Friday, because tomorrow is Governor's Day, when the Executive will review the troops. A sham battle is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. This will bring great crowds to the camp. On Friday the 3d and 4th Brigades will break camp. As the 1st Brigade arrived here one day after the other two, they will remain in the morning until Saturday.

According to the program, the troops will have a comparatively easy time of it for the remainder of the week. The wireless is attracting much attention from campers. The message received yesterday from Arlington, Va., was the first ever received at a divisional encampment of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. It was addressed to Division Commander Gen. C. B. Dougherty, and was posted at his headquarters. The plant is directly in front of division headquarters and is constantly surrounded by curious rookies. Civilians, too, who can succeed in getting within the lines are all attention when the crackling of the instrument is heard.

PRACTICE FOR BATTLE. Inspection this morning was followed by a resumption of target practice in preparation for the sham battle which will follow the Governor's review Thursday.

The Governor is enjoying camp life and declared yesterday that if possible he will remain until Friday night. Official business, however, demands his presence in Harrisburg daily.

This is not exactly his first experience in the open, although he never before in camp life nor slept under canvas. When he was in Porto Rico he frequently visited the camps of soldiers stationed there. He is delighted with the beauty of the country surrounding Camp Schall and makes it a point to arise with the dawn and get out for a morning walk before the sun touches the tent tops. And in this appreciation of the beauties of the woods and hills surrounding the city of tents the Governor is joined by his staff and camp officers. From the tent upon which headquarters tents are pitched an excellent view of the mist-draped mountains can be obtained—a view which impresses even the humblest mortal in camp.

Store officials say they have been missing articles from their store windows of late. The police arrested Holton as he was leaving the store and allege that stolen goods were found in his water pail. With almost incredible swiftness, John Gordon, 538 North 10th street, managed to pull the youngster out just in the nick of time. Gordon was warmly praised by a crowd which gathered. The driver was arrested. Patsy was taken to the hospital but will recover.

LEVY ON TELEPHONE COMPANY, $1,500,000 CONCERN

Business Said to Be to Supply News and Concerts by Wire.

A levy was made today by Constable Hauf, of Magistrate Tracy's office, against the Pennsylvania Telephone Company, for a bill of $137 due the Bulletin Building, where the company has offices, and for a salary bill of $60 due to Miss Cecelia M. Parratt, an employee of the concern. Miss Parratt is said to have run the office alone for the last year; she claims that her salary has not been paid for several weeks.

The Pennsylvania Telephone Company was incorporated under the laws of Delaware several years ago with a capitalization of $1,500,000. The object of the concern was said to be to install telephones in homes and stores in the city, to give the latest news of the day, sporting results and varied concerts, including even readings and lectures. Officers of the company are Albert D. Miller, president; Joseph W. Keefe, vice president; Charles F. Helm, treasurer; and E. B. Raup secretary. All are residents of Shamokin, Pa.

According to Miss Parratt, the company had been inactive since April, 1914. She said that business was booming when the company was first started, but that there has been a decided slump in the last year. Miss Parratt says the officers have been attempting to raise more capital.

PUBLICITY TO FORCE HALL FROM COUNCILS PLANNED BY CHAMBER

Leaders Will Institute Campaign to Get Convention Auditorium as Next Step Toward Bringing Republicans Here.

Concerted action to secure the erection of the proposed Convention Hall at an early date will be the next step taken by the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce in its effort to bring the Republican National Convention here in 1916. Yesterday the chamber extended a formal invitation to National Chairman Hill to have the convention meet here. A pledge has already been given that the fund necessary for the convention will be raised and the question of a convention hall is the only problem to be settled.

Leaders in the Chamber of Commerce are planning a publicity campaign to crystallize public sentiment on the question so that Councils will be forced to take action to provide for the erection of the hall immediately after they reassemble in September. Engineers consulted by members of the Chamber have declared that the convention hall can be made ready in time for the convention provided Councils act promptly in September.

The communication sent by the general secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to Chairman Hill, of the Republican National Committee, last night follows: "At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, held this day, I was instructed to extend to the Republican National Campaign Committee, through you, the invitation of this organization to hold the 1916 National Republican Convention in Philadelphia."

Alpha B. Johnson declared, following the meeting, that definite action must be taken at once by all interested if this city is to stand any chance of having the convention come here. "Henry Lincoln Johnson, National Republican Committeeman from Georgia, and former Recorder of Deeds at Washington, who is in this city attending the semiannual session of the Chamber of Commerce of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, said today: "No better place than Philadelphia can be selected for the next National Republican Convention, and nothing would delight more the colored delegates to the next convention than to come to Philadelphia."

Mr. Johnson said that the recent decision in regard to the "grandfather clause" has infused new energy and determination into the manhood of his race.

VARES AND M'NICHOL NEARING OPEN BREAK; LANE SEEKS HARMONY

Round Table Conference of Organization Leaders Tonight May Determine Whether They Will Fight Together or Split Party.

Senators McNichol and Vares will meet tonight to discuss formally the majority situation for the first time, when the general round table conference of the Republican Organization leaders will be held. The meeting has been called by City Chairman David H. Lane, and will be held in his rooms at the Strand Hotel, Atlantic City.

Negotiations that have been conducted until today for the making of an Organization candidate have placed McNichol and Vares on the verge of an open break. Whether there will be a bitter fight between these leaders at the primaries this year, or whether there will be the perfect "harmony" for which Lane has been working, will develop at tonight's conference.

Efforts to bring the Organization leaders together in the past have failed because the Vares have refused to take part in any round-table discussions. Many politicians, especially the Vares and his brother, however, believe that Vares again will seek the Majority, although his candidacy certainly will mean a fight in the Organization. Neither Senator Vares nor Congressman Vares has said anything that has indicated their plans.

The Senator, however, has let it become known that he is attending tonight's conference "in response to an invitation." That he and his brother have the other Organization leaders very much worried is shown by the fact that Congressman Vares is excluded from the round-table tonight. The attitude of the South Philadelphia leaders, however, will be definitely indicated.

Those who will attend the conference are Lane, Senator McNichol, Senator Vares, ex-Register of Wills David Martin, Common Councilman John F. Connelly and Select Councilman Charles P. Seaver. Senator Penrose will not attend, having indicated at conferences last week that he is leaving the situation to McNichol and Vares to settle between them, if this can be done.

Lane will continue to seek harmony among the Organization bosses and will submit a list of names for their consideration. Senator McNichol has announced that he feels certain that harmony will prevail, but at the same time he has said that he "will not stand for" the Vares naming the candidate, and that he will "throw the Vares out of City Hall" if Congressman Vares himself is a candidate.

The four men being most persistently urged by Lane as the harmony candidate are John T. Windin, Controller Walton, Congressman J. Hampton Moore and William C. Haddock, ex-Director of Public Works.

PURSuing CHURCH THIEVES

Two Glenolden Edifices Robbed of Rugs and Carpet.

Police in the suburbs are trying to catch a gang of church thieves who make a practice of robbing edifices on nights when no services are held.

The Tully Memorial Presbyterian Church, at Glenolden, was entered by thieves, who broke a glass door in the rear. They stole a rug, but were frightened off before they could get anything more valuable.

The same thieves, it is believed, stole two valuable pieces of carpet from the Presbyterian Church at Glenolden.

What ordinary soaps do to the skin

ORDINARY toilet soaps make your skin look white and clean to the naked eye—but look at it through a magnifying glass. You will find that the "free" alkali, which ordinary soap contains, has roughened, irritated and parched your skin; and this may in time cause blotches, pimples, blackheads and other skin troubles.

Resinol Soap cleans, soothes and protects the skin

You need a soap which not only cleans your skin, but also soothes, heals and protects it—that is why you should get a cake of Resinol Soap from your druggist. This pure and delightful toilet soap contains the same medication as Resinol Ointment, the standard prescription for skin troubles. It therefore affords an antiseptic protection to the skin, which merely pure soap does not do. Resinol Soap keeps the skin in a clean, healthy condition and insures a clear, natural complexion. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For trial size of each free. Write to Pathscope Exch. Co., Baltimore, Md.

JACOB PFEFFER The photo was taken yesterday by an Evening Ledger staff photographer on the 18th day of the editor's fast.

JACOB PFEFFER BEGINS 19TH DAY OF HIS FAST

Writer Who Says He Will Not Eat Until He Is Hungry Arises at Usual Hour.

Jacob Pfeffer, the man who will not eat again until he is hungry, arose today, the 19th day since food has passed his lips, at his usual hour.

He shaved himself, as is his custom, and after a hot and cold bath, went down to breakfast. He drank a glass of water while his family ate the conventional breakfast of oatmeal, eggs and coffee, and after a few minutes took a short walk along a country road. Then he returned to his room and spent the morning reading and writing in his remarkable diary.

Pfeffer, who is an associate editor of the Jewish World, is at Kreckentz's farm, on Evansburg road, near Collegeville, completing the fast which he began June 25 to cure indigestion of many years' standing.

"How long will he fast? He does not know—three months, or, if necessary, he says, a year. But he smiles as he says the last, for that is impossible. Nature, he explains, will give him the signal when it is time for him to begin eating again. That will be when he becomes hungry."

Pfeffer, who is a food expert and author on fasting, is confident that he has the cure for functional diseases. If it fails him, he will reject the theory, he declares. He has lost more than 50 pounds since he began fasting.

WIFE SHOTS MAN TO HELP GUNMAN FLEE

Husband Wounds Woman Who Quarreled With Her, and Then Escapes Crowd.

One of the principals in one of the most exciting shootings that have occurred in the Italian quarter in several months was still at large today, and Mrs. Rosalie Chille, of 308 South Reese street, his victim, has undergone an X-ray examination to locate a bullet in her thigh. Vincenzo Faciolo, of 1015 Reese street, the fugitive, interfered when his wife, Anselma, was quarreling with Mrs. Chille last night and fired a shot at her.

Pursued by Policeman Ward, of the 7th and Carpenter streets station, he ran to his home, where a struggle took place while Mrs. Faciolo held a crowd at bay with a .22-caliber rifle. In doing so she shot Joseph Busanolo, of 326 Carpenter street, in the leg. Faciolo eventually broke away from the policeman and effected his escape.

Mrs. Faciolo had a hearing before Magistrate Coward in the 7th and Carpenter streets police station today and was held in $500 bail for further hearing on July 21.

IMPROVE WHITE HORSE PIKE Prepared "Skin" Ordered Widened by County.

Improvements on the White Horse pike, of great importance to motorists who travel between Camden and the seashore resorts, were started upon this afternoon at a meeting of the Camden County Board of Freeholders. The amate covering on the pike will be extended to a uniform width of 20 feet, for the 17 miles between Camden and Berlin, and the bridge across the Newton Creek at Collingswood will be also widened.

The pike is 30 feet wide at all points, but the top dressing at some places is only 10 feet wide, making it inconvenient and sometimes unsafe for automobiles to pass.
