

Evening ILLUSTRATED Ledger

THURSDAY
July 15, 1915

DIVERS SCENES AND PERSONS THAT FIGURE IN THE DAY'S NEWS OF A WORLD'S ACTIVITIES

HUNDREDS OF CAPTURED FRENCH AND BRITISH GUNS ON DISPLAY IN THE YARDS OF THE GREAT MUNITION WORKS AT ESSEN, GERMANY
Squadrons of airships from the camps of the Allies are reported to have been seen hovering over these works several times recently. It is believed these visits foreshadow a wholesale aerial attack in the near future, and the already strong fortifications at Essen are said to have been doubly reinforced and armed with the latest anti-aircraft guns. Photo by Ruscha.

CONTINENTAL BATHING COSTUMES REACH AMERICAN SHORES
The skirtless bathing suit and the bathing machine, which long have been favored at seashore resorts in Europe, like Ostend, Trouville and Scheveningen, are being tried out, as shown here, at City Island, New York. Photo by Underwood & Underwood.

CHURCH VESTRY TRANSFORMED INTO MUNITIONS FACTORY
This picture shows the remarkable situation that has arisen in England, where pastors are urging their congregations to aid in the making of powder and shells. The view here is from St. James' Church of Scotland, Lealwick, London.

PREACHER OF "COMMON SENSE" TO YOUNG MEN
Alvin Karpis believes he has a message for the youth of the land and he delivers it nightly from the street corners of the city. It is his aim to talk to every police district in Philadelphia. He has the support of many business men.

SEA SCOUTS HOLD BOAT RACES ON PRACTICE OUTING
Members of the nautical branch of the Philadelphia Boy Scouts are now learning the art of rowing on the houseboat Young America, which is based at Island Heights, N. J., in Barnegat Bay.