

NEW ITALIAN DIRIGIBLE WAR BALLOON CROSSING TIBER ON FLIGHT OVER APENNINE MOUNTAINS

STRIKING PICTURE OF MILITARY AIRSHIP OF HEAVY TYPE WHICH ITALY IS CONSTRUCTING FOR USE AGAINST THE AUSTRIANS
The dirigible shown here is of the "O" type, which the Italian Government is said to be rushing to completion in preparation for aerial attacks on Pola and other Austrian ports. The photograph was taken from one of the seven hills of Rome. In the foreground is the historic Tiber. Faintly visible in the distance are the towering crests of the Apennines. The long row of white buildings on the right of the centre of the picture belong to one of the great military hospitals.
