

$25,000 BEQUEATHED TO U. OF P. IN WILL

Other Educational Institutions Also Remembered by Late Anna Yarnall.

The University of Pennsylvania, other educational institutions and friends of the late Anna Yarnall will receive bequests running into many thousands of dollars from the estate of the deceased, whose will was admitted to probate today.

Miss Yarnall, who was a daughter of the late Charles Yarnall, lived at 1227 Spruce street, and was well known in this city as an active member of the Society of Friends. She died on Tuesday of last week at Mount Pocono.

She will create a trust fund of $25,000, which will be placed in the hands of the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania, for the support of the botanical gardens of the Biological Hall at that institution. The income from this trust is to be continued for this purpose as long as the botanical garden is under the supervision of the head of the botanical department.

In the event of the removal of the gardens from this supervision the trust proceeds to be used for the maintenance of the library of the deceased in bequest to the Guilford College of North Carolina. A $15,000 trust fund is also created, the interest of which goes to Elizabeth C. Abbott. A similar fund is also established for Mildred Yarnall. Upon the death of these persons the incomes from the trusts are to be paid to the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania for the further maintenance of the botanical garden.

The testament proper makes a provision for the payment of $1000 to Margaret W. Roberts, former cook for the deceased. The residue of the estate is bequeathed to Haverford College in the form of a trust fund, the interest of which is to be used for the maintenance and enlargement of the library at that institution. The managers of the library are empowered to use the income at their discretion.

The codicils of the will revoke a few of the original bequests in the testament proper and in addition provide a bequest of $5000 for the Women's Medical College and the sum of $3000 for the monthly meeting of Friends of this city, for use in the western district.

The last codicil of the will provides a trust fund for the overseers of the public school "founded by charter in the town and county of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania," to publish and maintain a library consisting of standard reference books and works of literature.

This library is to be designated as the "Charles Yarnall Memorial Library" and provides further that the room used for the library shall contain a portrait of Charles Yarnall.

Among other wills probated today was that of John D. Groves, involving an estate of $37,700. The deceased died recently at Westville, N. J.

Other wills were those of Caroline J. Bonworth, of 106 South 42d street, involving an estate of $28,000, and of Lavina J. Hutchinson, 4137 Girard avenue, amounting to $7,500.

The personal estate of Mary B. C. Levinger was appraised at $94,482.33; of Madeline H. Moore at $36,304.19; of James A. McCaffrey at $30,743.49; of Ada Jones at $25,983.11; of Violetta R. Elliott at $5640.83; of William H. Bailey at $4633.22 and of Annie T. Farris at $3830.80.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD EXPLORER STRANDED ON HIS JOURNEY

Starts Out to See World, Calls Police to Aid, and Expects "Spanking."

A journey that was begun with the idea of seeing the world, ended abruptly today for 8-year-old Edward Bauer, of 211 Benner street, Fox Chase, when he was found at 3d and Somerset streets, wandering about aimlessly and hungry. He had been taken to the police station, where he was taken to the police station, where he was taken to the police station.

ROOM HITS HOSIERY MILLS

Manufacturers Reject War Order in Favor of Domestic Demand.

Hosiery manufacturers of this city announced today that they will not accept the demand for their product so great in this country during the last few months that they have recovered from the business depression experienced last fall and will be running overtime. The domestic demand has been so satisfactory that they have rejected contracts involving millions of dollars with the French and Italian governments.

STOKER "BROACHED CARGO" AND LANDS IN POLICE CELL

Whisky Proved Too Tempting to James Craig.

Six cases of whisky gathering strength in the hold of the British freighter Crown Point, which reached Philadelphia today from London, tempted James Craig, of Newcastle, England, out of the freight of the Crown Point and away from his stoking irons. Craig crawled down a hatch into the hold and emerged later with an armful of whisky bottles. That was late at night and no one saw him.

Next day, the fifth out from London, Craig sampled the whisky. From time to time he left his fires to try it again. By the end of the shift his condition attracted attention. Captain Forbes, who heard the story, summoned Craig into the cabin and verified it. Craig was drunk. He had two days off and then went back to the stokehole.

P. R. T. SAYS REPRISAL CHARGES ARE UNTRUE

Company Declares Financial Loss Made Necessary Step Against Taylor's Line.

Charges made by friends of Director Taylor that the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company abrogated its traffic and power agreement with the Philadelphia and West Chester Traction Company as a personal reprisal against Taylor, a personal reprisal against Taylor, a personal reprisal against Taylor.

The statement issued by the P. R. T. officials yesterday also complained that Director Taylor had given the impression that the abrogation of the agreements had come without notice, whereas notice that they would be canceled had been sent to the Philadelphia and West Chester Company several months ago.

Referring to the abrogation of the power contract, the statement issued by the P. R. T. declared that the West Chester Company was under no obligation to take power and that during the last 18 months it took power only to the amount of $69.18.

"The other contract," the statement continued, "directed the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company to operate that portion of the surface track of the Philadelphia and West Chester Traction Company extending from Cobbs Creek near 63d and Market streets, along the West Chester line to the elevated terminal at 63d street. The receipts from this operation for the year ended June 30, 1914, were $11,460.80. Under the contract the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company paid over to the Philadelphia and West Chester Traction Company $10,883.85 of this sum and retained the balance, $576.95, yet the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company was required to supply the cars, the power and pay all operating expenses. The loss to 1914 Locust street is about $4000. Two parrots and a cat owned by Samellan were burned to death in the house.

SKIDDING CAR INJURES BOYS

Two Youthful Cyclists Victims. Crimes and Casualties.

Two boys, with cuts and bruises all over their bodies were found in a helpless condition at 33d and Chestnut streets late last night by Motorman Halvey, of a West Spruce street trolley car. Beside them lay two bicycles, one of which was demolished. The boys were taken to the University Hospital where their condition was said to be serious. They are Matthew Teters, 17 years old, 57 North 53d street, and Edmund Jackson, 13 years old, of 1239 North Darton street.

U. S. Submarines to Try for Record

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Four of the newest submarines of the United States Navy will be sent under their own power from San Francisco to Honolulu during the month of September in the longest endurance run attempted by any vessel of this type in the navy. The units to be dispatched are the K-3, K-4, K-7 and K-8. The distance to be negotiated is 2000 miles, and this will be attempted in a continuous and uninterrupted run. The submarines will be accompanied by a convoy of submarine tenders to care for them in an emergency.

TERRIBLE HARDSHIPS ENDURED BY COUNCILMANIC JUNKETERS

LOUIS HUTT

"All is not gold that glitters," the councilmanic junketers have found on their Liberty Bell jaunt to the exposition. According to the Oregon Journal, of Portland, the members of the party are resentful because they say Philadelphia has been spreading malicious statements abroad, disguised as humor, that the trip is a junket.

Says Louis Hutt, Select Councilman from the 25th Ward, who is one of the party:

"If you could see us getting up at 3 o'clock in the morning to make patriotic speeches; if you could guess the number of times we respond to receptions and welcomes—if Philadelphia people could only realize the hard work we are doing from early in the morning until late at night, not only to exhibit the Liberty Bell, but to make Philadelphia known, they'd get as sore as we do at these malicious statements, disguised as humor, that we are junketing."

The trip to the coast is costing the city about $35,000.

PET DOG SAVES THREE IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

Arouses Family After Explosion Wrecks Little Locust Street Tailor Shop.

Two men and a woman jumped from second floor windows of 1024 Locust street early today when fire, started by an explosion of gasoline, swept through the store and dwellings. Another man, an invalid, was carried from an adjoining house by firemen. A dog aroused the occupants of the burning house and probably prevented them from being overcome by smoke.

The house was occupied as a dwelling and tailor store by Louis Samellan and his wife. A brother-in-law, Ernest Witanlansky, had a room on the second floor. Policeman Tucker heard the explosion at 2:45 o'clock. The bluecoat found it impossible to rouse any one by pounding on the door and went around to the rear.

Just as he arrived there Mr. and Mrs. Samellan, aroused by the frantic barking of their little white dog Buddy, staggered to the rear windows and jumped out. Both escaped unhurt. Witanlansky, a few minutes later, jumped from the second-story front window and was not injured.

Firemen found the entire dwelling ablaze when they arrived. They also found the street jammed with the residents of the numerous streets and alleys surrounding the house, formerly known as Hell's Half Acre. Edwin Barker, 1022 Locust street, was found partly overcome in the second floor of his home, and carried out by the firemen.

Several windows in adjoining homes were smashed by the force of the explosion. The occupants poured into the streets in their nightclothing by the scores. The loss to 1024 Locust street is about $4000. Two parrots and a cat owned by Samellan were burned to death in the house.

U. S. Consul Under Fire

WASHINGTON, July 21.—State Department officials have taken notice of a letter written by T. St. John Gaffney, American Consul General at Munich, and published this morning in a New York newspaper, comparing conditions in Germany to those in the allied countries in a manner decidedly unfavorable to the latter.

Some time ago Gaffney's conduct brought him into a controversy with the American consul at Dresden and the State Department met the situation by transferring him to Munich.

GERMANS, IRISH AND MAGISTRATE IN ROW

International Domestic Troubles Aired With Vehemence in Northeast Court.

International complications were narrowly avoided in the office of Magistrate Emery, Front street and Susquehanna avenue today, when a score of German women and a daughter of the Emerald Isle discussed each other's little failings, all talking at once. The Magistrate, several bluecoats, constables and assistants, curious hangers-on and helpless husbands of ten of the German women made up the audience.

Mrs. Pauline Liebenthal, 812 North Orianna street, started the trouble. She spent $2.50 for a warrant for Mrs. Amelia Baumgartner, 325 Brown street, in which the latter was accused of calling the former various names that would not go through the mails. The hearing was set for this morning.

Mrs. Liebenthal arrived first. A few minutes later Mrs. Baumgartner reached the office, followed by about 15 of her neighbors of German extraction and the lone Irish woman. The latter, it should be noted, was in black. When the Magistrate started to hear the case the followers of Mrs. Baumgartner asserted that Mrs. Liebenthal was the real neighborhood nuisance.

Women here and there in the room started to offer details. A flood of testimony was presented in the first few seconds, and then came the deluge. Everybody talked at once. Occasionally one woman managed to raise her voice above the din. In one of these spurts the Irish woman was accused of killing her husband, who died recently in a hospital. She made a supreme effort, and for an instant every one else became quiet while she roared out her opinion of every one in sight. Then the Magistrate talked.

"I'm ashamed of you German women," he said. "Just at this time of an international crisis when you have need of American sympathy you carry on like this. I am ashamed. Americans are accustomed to look on German wives as domesticated and quiet, and now look at this exhibition. I am ashamed."

HOUSING COMMISSION ACCUSES COUNCILMEN

Connelly and Seger Charged With Failure to Provide Enough Inspectors.

Chairman John P. Connelly, of Council Finance Committee, and Select Councilman Charles Seger, of the 7th Ward, were accused today by the Philadelphia Housing Commission of having violated their pledge to Governor Brumbaugh to have 50 new inspectors appointed in the new Division of Housing and Sanitation. Before Councils adjourned for the summer provision for the appointment of only five inspectors was made. The remainder of the $10,000 appropriated will be used in paying the salaries of stenographers, messengers, clerks, statisticians and a chief of the new bureau.

The promise to have 50 additional inspectors in the new department was made by Connelly and Seger just before Governor Brumbaugh signed the housing bill. Previous to that, Organization Republicans had attempted to pass a "toothless" housing bill in the Legislature.

Under the present housing law, Director of Health and Charities Ziegler has the power to transfer 48 inspectors from the Division of Sanitary and Tenement House Inspection to the newly formed bureau. Both Connelly and Seger agreed to have funds appropriated for the employment of 50 additional inspectors besides the 48 now attached to the Division of Sanitary and Tenement House Inspection.

Trained housing experts, who have been making a study of the housing situation in Philadelphia, said today that very few could be accomplished with five inspectors. They also pointed out that should the 48 inspectors be transferred to the new bureau very little relief for residents of the congested sections of the city could be looked for. It was pointed out that it is necessary to have a large corps of inspectors constantly on the job if the city is determined to locate violators of the tenement house laws.

"Connelly promised to have funds appropriated for 50 additional men," said Bernard J. Newman, secretary of the Philadelphia Housing Commission. "With 20 men and the additional 48 men from the old tenement bureau some good could have been accomplished. But Mr. Connelly and Mr. Seger have violated the promise they made to Governor Brumbaugh. Seger is now away on his junket trip. It certainly is funny that they had time to appropriate something like $2,000 for the California junket party, but when it came time to appropriate funds for the salaries of 50 inspectors they became dumb to their promises."

GLENDENNING MAKES TRIAL FLIGHT TODAY

Robert E. Glendenning, the Philadelphia broker-aviator, will make a trial flight in his new hydro-aeroplane this afternoon from Essington to the station of the Pennsylvania Aero Club at League Island. The flight will test the high-powered motor and the qualities of the machine in which he later intends to fly from League Island to Cape May in competition for the Curtiss Marine Trophy.

Mr. Glendenning will leave Essington at 5 o'clock and the flight will be 3 or 4 miles across country. Officials of the Pennsylvania Aero Club will be at the League Island station to observe the flight and inspect the machine.

It is the intention of Mr. Glendenning to perfect himself as an air pilot before attempting long or dangerous flights. Several members of the Pennsylvania Aero Club are rapidly acquiring aerial knowledge which will stand them in good stead when the new giant harbor at League Island is completed and the station is fully equipped.
