The Government of the United States notes with satisfaction that the Imperial German Government recognizes without reservation the validity of the principles insisted on in the several communica-tions which this Government has ad-dressed to the Imperial German Government with regard to its announcement of a war zone and the use of submarines against merchantmen on the high seas-the principle that the high seas are free, the principle that the high seas are free, that the character and cargo of a merchantman must first be ascertained before she can lawfully be selzed or destroyed, and that the lives of noncombatants may in no case be put in jeopardy unicas the vessel resists or secks to es-cape after being summoned to submit to examination, for a belligerent act of retaliation is per se an act beyond the law, and the defense of an act as re-taliatory is an admission that it is il-

The Imperial German Government will readily understand that the Government of the United States cannot discuss the policy of the Government of Great Britain with regard to neutral trade except with that Government of neutral trade except with that Government to neutral trade except with that Govern-ment itself, and that it must regard the conduct of other beiligerent governments as irrelevant to any discussion with the Imperial German Government of what this Government regards as grave and unjustifable violations of the rights of American citizens by German naval com-

> In view of the admission of illegality made by the Imperial Government when it pleaded the right of retaliation and de-fense of its acts, and in view of the manifest possibility of conforming to the established rules of naval warfare, the Government of the United States cannot believe that the Imperial Government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton act of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania, or from offering reparation for the American lives lost. so far as reparation can be made for a needless destruction of human life by an illegal act.

The very agreement would by implica-tion subject other vessels to illegal attack and would be a curtailment and therefore an abandonment of the principles for which this Government contends and which in times of calmer counsels every nation would concede as of course.

> FREEDOM OF SEA TO BE UPHELD. The Government of the United States and the Imperial German Government are contending for the same great object, have long stood together in urging the very principles upon which the Gov-ernment of the United States now so solemnly insists. They are both con-tending for the freedom of the seas. The Government of the United States will continue to contend for that freedom, from whatever quarter valiated without from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost. It invites the practical co-operation of the Impe-rial German Government at this time when co-operation may accomplish most and this great common object be most strikingly and effectively achieved.

The Imperial German Government expresses the hope that this object may in some measure accomplished even before the present war ends. It can be. AMUSEMENT MEN UNTIL FALL

By That Time the Atlantic City Season Will Be Over.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 24.—The 13 amusement managers, who pleaded guilty to the charge of keeping their places open last Sunday, were arraigned before the City Recorder yesterday afternoon. After a long, fatherly talk, he told them that they must report for sentence on September 15. By that time the season for sumer amusements will be over in Atlantic City, and it is believed that all the uproar over certain amusements running on Sunday will have died out.

In his speech to the men, the Recorder touched on one point of the open-Sunday question, which is causing a lot of trouble here. He said:

"While the laws of the city and State are against the operation of any amuse-ment device on Sunday, I am not one of the men who believe that one class of amusements should be smiled at and others prevented from running." A number of the "sentenced" men stated that they will wait next Sunday to see if any amusements open, and if they do they will also open their places and run. The general impression here is that any minor infraction of the laws hereafter will be winked at by the authorities. PRINCIPAL POINTS IN NOTES EXCHANGED BY TWO NATIONS

The principal points advanced by the United States in its notes to Germany and the essential arguments presented by Germany in reply, in chronological order, are as follows:

February 10—Protesting against Germany's plan of destroying merchant vessels in her proscribed war sone, President Wilson said "the Government of the United States would be constrained to hold the German Government to a strict accountability for such acts of their naval authorities and to take any steps it might be necessary to take to safeguard American lives and property to secure to American citizens the full enjoyment of their acknowledged rights on the high seas."

February 16—Germany agreed with the United States on the principle of neutral shipping, but cited the misuse of the United States flag by British merchantmen, and other matters relating to contraband of war shipped from the United States. Germany suggested that the United States convoy her own vessels, and expressed the hope that the United States "will recognize the full meaning of the severe struggle which Germany is conducting for her very existence."

May 13—President Wilson, following the sinking of the Lusitania on May 7, called on Germany to "make reparation so far as reparation is possible for injuries without measure," and informed the German Government that the United States would not "omit any word or act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizene."

May 30—Germany set up the contention that "the Lusitania had

United States and its citizens."

United States and its citizens."

May 30—Germany set up the contention that "the Lusitania had cannon aboard which were mounted and concealed below decks," and admitted that "German commanders are no longer able to observe the customary regulations of the prize law which they before always followed." Germany also declared: "The German Government believes that it was acting in justified self-defense in seeking with all the means of warfare at its disposition to protect the lives of its soldiers by destroying ammunition intended for the enemy."

June 10—President Wilson, in a second Lusitania note, denied Germany's allegations that the Lusitania was armed, and "once more with many's allegations that the Lusitania was armed, and "ence more with solemn emphasis" warned Germany. The United States, said President Wilson, "is contending for nothing less high and sacred than the rights of humanity, which every Government honors itself in respecting and which no Government is justified in resigning on behalf of those under its care and authority.

July 9—Germany reiterated that American ships engaged in legitimate trade would not be interfered with, expressed the hope that the imate trade would not be interfered with, expressed the hope that the United States would see to it that the ships did not carry contraband, suggested that four passenger ships, to be immune from attack, be placed in transatlantic service, but contended: "In particular the Imperial Government is unable to admit that American citizens can protect an enemy ship through the mere fact of their presence on board."

July 21—President Wilson sent what is regarded the final warning to Germany. He said that further attacks on ships carrying Americans would be regarded as "deliberately unfriendly," and declared that the United States would uphold the freedom of the seas "at any cost,"

GERMANY TO MOVE CAUTIOUSLY IN REPLY

rolled the document in a copy of an engineering magazine, and walked with it in his hand across the square from the embassy to the Foreign Office, where of late he has been so frequent a visitor that a preliminary appointment was recognity applicantly.

The transmission of the note was ac-complished this time without onble delays or confusion. The last note was delayed several hours in transit.

The message was transmitted in seven sections. sections.

The American Embassy declined to make public any hint of the contents of the note. The German Foreign Office gave advance information to a few prominent German editors.
Doctor von Jagow, the Foreign Minister, made a direct report upon the note to Doctor von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Chancellor.

Count Ernest von Reventlow, writing in the Tages Zeitung, says that the Germa submarine campaign will not be restricted, no matter how strong the American note may be.

U. S. NOTE PLAIN SPOKEN AND FIRM, LONDON VIEW

"The American note is decidedly firm in tone; it will make unpleasant reading for the Kaiser and his henchmen and exponents of frightfulness," said the Eve-ning News, whose attitude was typical of that of today's London evening newspapers on President Wilson's latest com-munication to Berlin. The text of the note reached here too late for editorful comment in the early editions of the afternoon papers. The majority of the papers, however, carried brief introductory comments.

The Evening Star headlined the note "Firm," and in its comment declared:

"America's message is couched in plain, unmistakable language, which will be lit-tle relished in Berlin. Thus Germany's entle efforts to tustify her piratical methods in the eyes of the people of the United States have definitely and finally failed. The note's grave tone is most accentuated in the concluding sentence, warning Germany that future attacks imperiling the lives of American citizens will be regarded as 'deliberately unfriendly.'"

TO CONCLUDE HIS VACATION

ON BOARD PRESIDENT WILSON'S TRAIN, HARTFORD, Conn., July 24.— Having placed his "final word" to Ger-many before the nation, President Wilson is once more speeding north to the quiet seclusion of the New Hampshire hills for a vacation of indefinite length. He will reach Cornish at 2 o'clock this ifternoon. Owing to his arduous labors of the last few days, the President is somewhat tired and worn, and he slept late this morning. The President does not ex-pect to return to Washington for 10 days unless urgent business requires him to do so. The pending British note will be sent to Cornish for his consideration by Secretary of State Lansing, and it is not thought probable the dispatch of this note will necessitate Mr. Wilson's return to the capital.

Special care is being taken to guard the President on the present trip and an extra police guard is out at many points

"FAIR, PRACTICAL AND RATIONAL DEFENSE" IS PRESIDENT'S PLAN

Wilson Calls for Reports on United States' Preparedness From Heads of the Navy and War Departments.

WASHINGTON, July M.—President Wilson will map out, on his return from Cornish, "a fair, reasonable and practicable" program of national defense, the White House announced today. This program will be based upon conferences between the President and the Secretaries of the Navy and War. During his stay at Cornish the President will devote much of his time to the defense problem, it The White House official statement fol-

Practical advice concerning national de-fenses is being sought from every avail-able professional source. It is known that the best minds of the military branches of the Government have been at work on these matters for some time.

Men of the army and navy who have been most directly in touch with modern conditions of defense have been called upon for their views. The President not upon for their views. The resident has only wishes advice from those who have knowledge of actual conditions of warfare existing in Europe today, but he is seeking light from those who are able to understand and comprehend all possible phases of altered conditions on both land phases of altered conditions on both land and sea. He particularly wishes the navy to stand upon equality with the most efficient and serviceable fighting sea force maintained by any Power. As to the army, it is known that the President is preparing to incorporate in his next message to Congress a definite program relating to the development and program relating to the development and equipment of this branch of the service. It will provide a plan for the proper military training of citizens in every way consistent with American traditions and national policy, and which the President believes will commend itself to all ident believes will commend itself to all patriotic and practical minds. It is un-derstood that on this portion of the President's general national defense program some very definite conclusions al-ready have been reached.
