CAPTAIN DELK BLAMES JEALOUSY FOR CHARGES

Commander of Torpedoed Leelanaw Says Officers Resented Style of His Quarters

Captain Eugene B. Delk, who was com mander of the torpedoed American steamar Leelanaw, ascribes as the cause which prompted the charges against him made in New York last night by Robert Davis. ehief engineer of the vessel, and Charles Wurnenburg, second assistant enginext, that jealousy resulted, he said, from the fact that he was quartered in so much better style in Kirkwall, when they put into port, than his officers were put into port, than his officers were Delk's officers said their treatment in Kirkwall was "outrageous," and that six of them were placed in a room with but three beds, while Captain Delk stopped at the best hotel in town. They also assert that Captain Delk tried to have every man in the crew who was of German descent turned over to the British mill-ace authorities. tary authorities.

Captain Delk, at his home, 640 South sub street, said that he was unaware that his officers had not been quartered erompily. He admitted that he had stoppromptly. He addition and said that the adders were envious of this.

affers were environs or this. He discussed the charges that he had turned Germans over to the British Gov-eriment and admitted that he did have one man given into their custody, but that man was a reporter, for two German newspapers, the Fatherland and the Staats Zeitung.

Apother man, who was a German by birth and had papers to prove that he was German, showed these documents to the captain of the submarine. Captain Delk said, and the captain permitted him to remain aboard the submarine. A third man who was the captain's there to remain abound the submarine. A third man, who was the captain's personal steward, who a German who had come to this country as a boy and lived here all his life. Captain Delk asserted that this man succeeded in making the British au-thorities believe that he was a native of Holland

The captain has made public the name of the man he considers responsible for the charges made against him. That man, he says, is Thomas Sally, who was an he says, is Thomas Sally, who was an oller on the vessel and formerly employed in this country as a railroad detective. He said that his training "to look for something wrong" made him believe in-stinctively that conditions on the Leela-naw were not all they should have been. Davis and Wurnenburg, when seen in New York, characterized Capitain Delk's explanation and charges against Sally as "false and mal.clous."

SALE OF BIBLES DECREASES

Book Stores Report Rapid Disappearance of Effects of "Billy" Sunday's 11 Weeks' Revival

A slump in the sale of Bibles since "Rilly" Sunday's visit is reported by book-sellers of this city. Also the sale of books dealing with Sunday and his works has decreased considerably since the evangelist left town.

ooksellers pointed out that a decreas In the sale of books, such as "The Real "Billy Sunday" and "'Billy' Sunday, the 'Man and His Message," was to be expected when interest in the revivals waned with the departure of Mr. Sunday. But they say that it is a lasting testimonial to the efficacy of his work that the sale of hundreds of Bibles, in addition to the normal sales, resulted from his visit to Philadelphia.

At the American Baptist Publication So clety it was said that the sale of Bibles was almost doubled while Sunday was Since he left the sale has decreased unsiderably. The sale of books about Mr. Sunday has decreased so that now very few are sold. Sometimes as many as all or eight of these books are sold there in a week, but the average is much

The Presbyterian Book Store, in the Witherspoon Building, sold many more Bibles while the revival was in progress. The sale of books on Sunday, it was said. has dwindled so that weeks pass at times t n sale than two copies of these books in a week. was reported that during the revival thern was a heavy demand for these books At the Methodist Book Store it was ald that there was no great increase in the sale of Bibles while Mr. Sunday was been but there was a large sale of books relating to him. A slight increase in the sale of Sunday books was actively by but tale of Sunday books was noticeable, but it did not reach the large proportions re-ported elsewhere.

TO GIVE SUFFERERS SUNSHINE

Unfortunate Father, Unable to Move From Chair, His Sick Wife and Two Children to Benefit From Block Party

During four months he has been helpless and in great pain. His wife has suffered from tuberculosis for three years.

She lies on a couch near Brophy's chair, and on a cot in that room is little William, 2 years old, who is going blind.

One eye is sightless now. Marie, 4 years old, their other child, is at an aunt's home, and the little girl has failing sight.

Mrs. Brophy's mother is quite helpless

SOCIETY WOMAN ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Irene B. Polk Begins Proceedings

in Baltimore

FAMILY that has taken the full meas-ure of disaster with rare fortitude has little candy store, which failed. A ure of disaster with rare fortitude has stirred the sympathy of an entire neighborhood. John Brophy, helpless in a chair, must see his wife lie suffering and his little son lie suffering, and must know that, elsewhere, his small daughter lies suffering, and there is no help for it but that which kind souls can bring to make easier the afflictions. Therefore, a party will be given and many-colored lanterns will swing and sway in the breeze. They will shed soft raya of light upon young people while they dance, while they eat chocolate layer cake and drink lemonade. And all the money earned that night will go to the family that knows none of such pleasures. The block party will be given

One woman, Mrs. Nellie Langley, of 2303 East Clearfield street, has helped much, being a volunteer nurse for the whole family. The committee in charge of the on Memphis street, between Clearfield on Memphis street, between Clearned and Allegheny avenue, on the nights of August 13 and 14. Brophy is only 25 and his wife is three years younger. They were children and grew up together in the neighborhood where they live. Their home was at 2220 East Clearneld street. He was a driver until he lost his work. Then, becoming afflicted with dropsy, he tried to support

TWO HIGH GOVERNMENT POSTS SOON TO BE FILLED

Palmer Leads for Counselor, Connolly for Treasury Comptroller

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 .- Keen struggles were under way today for two choice filed suit for divorce from David Peale Government positions soon to be filled. Polk, son of Stewart Polk, a descendant President Wilson is expected soon to announce the appointment of a new coun-sel for the State Department and a new Comptroller of the Treasury. of President James K. Polk. Mr. Polk's sister Lucille obtained a divorce from her first husband, William E. Carter, shortly

A. Mitchell Paimer, of Pennsylvania, is generally believed to be the leading can-didate for the State Department berth. with their two children. Later Mrs. Car-Friends of Cone Jo present Solicitor in the State Department, present Solicitor in the State Department, are making a hard fight for his promo-tion, however. Maurice Connolly, of Iowa, is believed to be the strongest candidate for the Comptroller of the Treasury. Charles A. Korbly. of Indianapolis, is mentioned, however, as is W. W. Warwick, of Cin-cfinati. cinnati.

GRANGE PICNIC DRAWS BIG CROWD TO PITMAN

Alcyon Park the Scene of Assemblage Numbering Many Thousands

By a Staff Correspondent of the vast crowd attending the Grang- Bekirts of the little town, the train gathers' picnic at Alcyon Park yesterday afternoon, the merry-makers returned to this borough today by the thousands, until it appears that the attendance will be almost as large as on the previous two days of the frolic. Today, the last of the picnic, has been designated as sports day and a particularly elaborate program of motorcycle races and a ball game between the Pitman ushers and the Clay, ton teams have been arranged for the afternoon. Admission to these events and to an open-air vaudeville performance is what for. She nestled back into her seat, to be free.

The day's program was officially be The day's program was officially be-gun this morning with a concert by Cian-fonl's Band. This was followed by the resumption of the numerous machinery exhibits that have been a feature of the picnic since it opened. Particular inter-est is manifest among the farmers at-tending the picnic in the many mechan-ical power devices, which may be util-ized in almost every branch of farming at an immense saving of labor and time. Sec-ond only to these in popularity are the exhibits of automobiles, talking machines, piano-players and a host of other luxurexhibits of automobiles, talking machines, plano-players and a host of other luxur-les. The numerous orders booked by accuts for these commodities and the hundreds of automobiles parked in the environs of the park testify to the fact that the Jersey farmers are little if any behind their city friends in the realiza-tion of the comforts and conveniences of-fored in the markets of the world.

tion of the comforts and conveniences of-fered in the markets of the world. In the meantime the committee on ar-rangements is already discussing plans for the grangers' picnic next year and promises that the event will be carried out on an even greater scale than this year. Theodore Brown, secretary of the Depunders, volcad the opinion of his fel. Grangers, volced the opinion of his fel-low officers today when he said it has been "some picnic, all right, but next year we are going to show you some thing that will be the talk of the State."

$13,000 DUE CITY FOR POLES

Corporations Were Wrong

with rheumatism. Her husband, Michael Weldon. 70 years old, is the only one who has his health. He has gallantly gone about seeking work. But, if he has his health,he has not the youth that does his sick family good. The old man has had to accent the indimity of heims told he An inspection and census of the electric light, telephone and telegraph poles in the city by inspectors of the Electrical Bu-reau has disclosed that the corporations owning the poles owe the city more than $13,000 license money for poles unrecorded at the bureau before the inspection. Chief to accept the indignity of being told he is too old to be given a job, and not once but time and again, he has heard: "No, we can't take you on; you're too old." Pike, of the bureau, attributes the unreg-latered poles to errors on the part of cor-porations in making their returns,

The inspection lasted through two years and includes the viewing and testing of $8,000 poles and 19,000 miles of wire. There ere 1249 defective poles in the city, 1192 cases of defective wires and 547 other cases requiring attention, according to Chief

MeNICHOL UNDERBIDS VARE

Rival of South Philadelphia Leader Gets $212,500.74 Contract

State Senator James P. McNichol has underbid State Senator Edwin H. Vare on another South Philadelphia municipal contract. The McNichol bid of $22,500.74 for the widening and improving of Dela-Philadelphia society was interested to-day in dispatches from Baltimore to the effect that Mrs. Irene Brainerd Polk has itted

Although Senator Vare has considered South Philadelphia his private domain for mulicipal contracting work. Senator McNichól has twice this year bid tow for work. Recently a McNichol concern ob-tained the 475,000 work of repaying South after they had escaped from the Titanic street with wood block.

Kendrick Indorsed fer Councils

THE DAILY STORY Her Railway Journey

The bell rang. The engine took a long breath, the depot went the other way, and the people standing on the platform had a foolish, left look, as if they had been forgotten. Then the oval of green grass, with "Littleton" picked out in white shells, the pride of the Village Improvement League, slid past the window. Familiar houses flow past, each one fly PITMAN, N. J., Aug. 13-Undaunted by ing faster than the last, and as Winifred the rain which drenched many thousands Mayne caught the last flutter of the outered speed and settled down to the clank ing rhythm of the rails. "Going to take a little trip, Miss Winnie-do you goed," said the conductor, socially. He glanced at her ticket and noted with surprise her distant destina-

"Goin' clear through? You don't say," with frank curiosity.

But Miss Winnie did not explain. It was not necessary that all Littleton should know where she was going and Going to take a little trip, Mins Winniedo you good.

uching the red plush cushion with a she should not go in to dinner with him, and in the light and warmth of the dining car she lost ler tired look, bright furtive hand. How good it was to be going somewhere, to be out of the world again-to have all this luxury of swift movement without exc.tion, to get away from two little rooms. Putting her tele-scope on the sent beside her and her um-brelia standing in front of her like a sen-tinel less abe format it abe satisfied down color fluttered in .... cheeks, and they tinel, lest she forget it, she settled down between the high-backed seats with a sense of privacy. If only she could keep the seat to herself!

How good it was to be going somewhere! Even, she remembered with a shock, ashamed to be so glad, even on such a sad, hurried, sarrowful journey as this. For this was a journey with a telethis, For this was a journey with a tele-gram at one end of it and a dying man at the other. It was a wonderful tele-gram in that it not only told her to come quickly if she would see her brother alive, but had also put more money into her purse than had been there for many a day. She might have gone in the Pull-man coach; she might have fared rocally nan coach; she might have fared royall; in the dining car; but the ingrained thrifty instinct of long necessity made her put up a modest lunch and she hoped to be able to cat it in a seat all to her self.

She looked out of the window. Already the landscape began to be unfamiliar. (or she had made few journeys in the hard working years since she had come to Littleton. They were among the mountains now and she could see far; wide horizons, the rise and fall of ranges, great stretches of country flooded with light. She seemed above it all. It was the land of the sky By and by twilight blotted out the landscape and made the window pane an opaque mirror, and in it she could see her own face and her prim little hat, which revealed her forehead with its shadowing sweep of brown hair. Now that she had time to look about her she saw that the hats of other women were dragged dow think of such things? How could also think of anything, on such a sait, fur-ried, sorrowful journey as this, but of the brother she was going to see? "We are losing time constantly." In raid, commuting the table. "I won "We are losing time constanting." In said, consulting the time table. "I won-der what's the matter," and then with a shock and jar, the train stood still, with a broken down engine.

They had drifted apart-that was all. He had gone West and had written less and less often, and at last not at all. She had remained behind and taught school until her health broke down. Then she had made her bayonet charge on life with the point of a needle. Long prac-tice had made her past grand mistress of the art of making the best of things. A new conductor came on house and

A new conductor came on-brusque and unapproachable. She began to be tired; she wondered what time it was, and then the thing she dreaded happened-a big man stopped, a pleasant voice said, "Is this seat ocupied?"

The man sat down, in the impersonal fashion of the accustomed traveler.

Of course she never meant to talk to a stranger, but there was something rean-suring in the bearing of this one and she taked him what time it was.

"Rested?" he said, ir, a matter-of-course professional tone that put all em-barrassment to flight. "I'm so glad that you got your sleep. We are here yet you see. Now I will see if there's any chance for breakfast." He told her. "Cannot I make you a little more com-fortable" he asked as he put her tele-scope and umbrella up on the rack. "I wonder," she said timidly, "whether are on tin we are on time." The man caught the inarticulate howl of the brakeman at the door, and con-sulted his time table—the time table that was Greek to her—and said: "No, we are more than an hour late." "Oh, it will be after midnight when I are there."

"Please hand me down my telescope," she said, "I took dinner with you inst night; will you take breakfast with me this morning."

get there." "You are not the only one," he smiled, "It will be after midnight when I get there too."

Then he picked up the paper and show ed her a cartoon and talked about the news of the day. When she asked the conductor when they would reach Le Pere he looked at her with sudden interest.

"I am going to Le Pere," he said: "we shall be late and if I can be of any as-sistance, I hope you will allow me to be." "Oh, thank you," she said. "I am not used to traveling. This is unusual-very. I was sent for." "Yes?"

"Yes?" "Yes-it's my brothei-the only brother I have. I had a telegram. I am afraid he is very ill. Feople don't unually tele-sraph until they are-, do they?" She told him all about it. It seemed so much safer to talk to this utter stranger than to the Littleton conductor. "Perhaps if you are acquainted in Le Pere, you know my brother? I didn't know he had a sister. I am his friend and physician-perhap's you've heard him speak of Ned Hallam; I had a telegram also. No," in answer to her quick look of inquiry, "I know ne more than you do. I'm simply to get there as soon as

do. I'm simply to get there as soon as After that there was no reason why for the first time." They went in together, "Dear little girl-it's good to see you," said the sick man. "I was afraid I couldn't wait for you, but I seem to have come back. The doetor will know whether I've come back to stay." The keen, kind eyes that had been mearching him met his, the fingers that had already sought pulse and heart were laid reassuringly on his hand. "It looks as if you had, Johnny." he said, as a boy might have said it. "I'll never let you go again. Winnie." said the sick man. "I hope there's ne-body else to interfere with my claim." The day before how gially she would have assured him that there could be mo with a broken down engine. "You're dend thread," he said, two hours inter, "and there's no sleeper. They wave to put it on at the junction." She protested that she didn't mind; she was not sleepy. But has turned over the empty seat in front of them and made her put her feet up on it. He put on a traveling cap that made him look years younger, and settled himself for such rest as might be had. And slitting primity bolt upright, Miss Winnifred cheed her cress only to open them when the sum shone through the window the next morns-ing and to find her head resting config-ing, and to find her head reating cosils on a broad, square shoulder.

He came back. "This is a man's trag-dy," he said. "Nothing to eat! They ook the diner off."

She thought of the thrifty little tunch-not enough, she was sure, for two. But after a hungry near or two, she began to feel guilty, like one carrying concealed weapons.

"How good it is," said the man. "You are sure there isn't any more?" They beemed to have known each other for cears. In all her life she had never been so happy, so cared for. And he-in all his life he had never been so happy in caring for any one.

The nurse met them at the door. Mr. Mayne is much better. He slept all night, for the first time."

The day before how gladly she would have assured him that there could be no one else. But now-she looked appealing-ly at the doctor. He had been doing everything for her for the last 24 hours. "Yes, there is somebody else, John, Buyou and I won't quarrel over her." said the doctor. And even the nurse understood. (Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Soap plus Naptha means Washday minus Drudgery. And that's what a Fels-Naptha washday is.

Minus boiling, minus hard rubbing, minus a half day's hard work by the old-fashioned way. The combination of naptha and

HOLDS UP TRAIN WITH GUN

Pat Sullivan Objects to Speed of Train and Number of Cars, and Is Arrested

Pat Sullivan reached the limit of en-durance early today after losing years of sleep in the last few weeks. He send a shotgun, donned his red flannel reised a shotgun, donned his red fiannel mirt and rushing out, took up a position in the middle of the Philadelphia and Reding Railway track in front of his home at 1255 Cadwallader street. Presently, perhaps sooner, a shifting stellae trundled along with a half dozen tam behind it.

Treasulty, perhaps sooner, a shifting tasks trundled along with a half dozen tar behind it. "Halt?" said Pat, leveling the shotgun. If may be the engineer did not fear the game and the state of the said to halt. "Tou're running 25 miles an hour, and you're carrying too many care," said Pat. "You're making too much noise. Out it out." Andrew Trunk, the engineer, was at a hour for words. He did not know that afted J. Weiner, another engineer, had been for words. He did not know that afted J. Weiner, another engineer, had been held up in the same manner yesteriay morning by the trate Sullivan, and that as a consequence Special Pomenta Bender, of the Front and Master tare. Tout the therefore continued at a law for the same.

Trunk therefore continued at a loss for reminiutes while Pat did all the talk-a. Then Bender arrived. Magistrate Gimm held Sullivan in 1466 ball to keep be peace and let the shifting engines.

| the second se  | Mint . |
|--|--------|
| Observations at Philadelphia   | 121    |
| rature 23 bourses, 23 bourses, 76 Termination last 24 hourses, 4 milion Clear 26 hourses, 4 milion Clear 26 hourses, 80 hourses, 80 hourses, 72 hourse |        |
| On the Pacific Coast   |        |
| Almanac of the Day   | 1      |
| Time tomorrow. 7:01 p.m.5:02 a.m.5:02 a.m.211 p.m.211 p.m.   |        |
| Lampa to Be Lighted  | 1      |
| The TidesPORT RICHMOND,  | 個子     |
| saine tomorrys   |        |
| C Talas  |        |
| This is an a set of the set of th | 1      |

ter married George H. Brooke, of this city, in London. Mrs. Polk before her marriage lived at Chevy Chase, near Washington, in the society of which city she is prominent. She alleges desertion in her suit. Folk has filed an answer calling for proofs. They were married February 7, 1912, but lived together only four months.

Indorsement of William G. Kendrick's candidacy on the Republican ticket for Common Councilman from the 40th Ward, has been made by the Belmar Tennis Club, of which Mr. Kendrick is a mem-ber. At a stated meeting, the members of the club passed a resolution agreeing to do all in their power to aid Mr. Kendrick in the coming primary.

HEPPE

over their eyes, and she saw that her dainty three-buttoned kid glove, smooth over her slender wrist, should have been a mannish affair of dogskin, with one big button. Still she thought her clothes were good and-ladylike-she was sure of that, and at least, her chin did not sag. And then she caught herself up with sudden swift remorse. How could she other harmless cleansers does the hard work-not you.

Use Fels-Naptha for all soap-and-water work.

15 miles of the sec

This Victrola and 10 Records

The Heppe No. 14 Victor Outfit, consisting of this beautiful Mahogany (or oak) cabinet type Victrola XIV at $150 and 10 records (of your own selection) to the value of $10, making a total for the complete outfit of $160, may be purchased AT ITS CASH PRICE through the Heppe rental-payment plan on special low terms.

Pay $10 Down—$2 Weekly At Heppe's

These terms are for those who do not care to pay the full amount at the time of purchase. The price, however, is only $160, whether you settle in cash, or charge account, or by our rental-payment plan. This is but one of the features of buying through

Heppe Victor Service

Service at Heppe's includes not only attention and advice from trained musician salesmen, but it also includes accommodation from the store, in a rentalpayment service, charge account privileges, large, comfortable booths, messenger delivery service, free delivery to all parts of the United States.

All of these advantages are available to those who purchase this No. 14 outfit. If you find it inconvenient to call

Mail This Coupon

Full details of this outfit, together with large illustrated catalogs, will be sent on request.

Victrolas $15 Up

Victrola XIV, $150 Mahogany or oak

C. J. HEPPE & SON 1117-1119 Chestnut Street 6th and Thompson Streets

